NOTE: This edition is based on the second (1999) edition of the translation and incorporates ma revisions and additions reflecting archaeological and scholarly research since 1985, as submitted b our readers. Corrections have been made in typography, punctuation, and in the rendering of references to God. As in the first edition (and in Hebrew), masculine terms for God such as "He" should be understood as gender neutral unless the imagery of their context requires otherwise.

PREFACE TO THE 1999 HEBREW-ENGLISH EDITION

A court of law relies on witnesses to establish the facts of a case. But for those who seek the "facts" of the original biblical texts, no firsthand witnesses exist. We have only the testimony of various manuscripts, produced hundreds of years after the Bible's books were completed. And even if we had an autograph copy of, say, the Book of Ezra, it would not answer all our questions, for it was created at a time (2400 years ago) when writing was imprecise—even before the invention of punctuation.

Through the intervening centuries, scribes have figured out how to record the oral traditions more precisely. At the same time, during each transmission of the books from person to person, uncertainty has grown. For schools have sometimes disagreed on pronunciation. Handwriting has not always been legible. And every scribe has occasionally made mistakes in copying.

Witnesses testifying in court often disagree. Little surprise, then, that the Bible's textual "witnesses"—farther removed from the original "event"—differ from each other in a wide range of small ways: spelling, punctuation, layout of poetry, and so on. Sometimes entire verses appear in only a few manuscripts.

So which version is true? This was the first question we faced in preparing our Hebrew text.

THE UNBROKEN CHAIN OF UNCERTAINTY

Accuracy has been ensured via side documentation—part of what is called masorah.[1] This gives rise to a "masoretic text"—a Bible that accords with the masorah. Yet the number of details has been too vast for masorah to address all room for disagreement. And the masoretic notes have been neglected through the ages; written in shorthand, they are often vague, and their own textual witnesses sometimes disagree.

1 Masorah refers to everything transmitted with the biblical text except its consonants. It includes: vowel signs, accent signs, arrangements of poetry, marginal notes and endnotes, as well as separate treatises on the copying and use of manuscripts. Masorah exists independently of halakhah (rabbinic law). The early medieval masters of the biblical text who developed this documentation are known in English as "masoretes." Many masoretic annotations seem designed to reduce loss or distortion in transmission of the text.

Much masorah seems to have been created only after problems arose; in such cases, it could only reinforce the torn textual fabric, not mend the hole. Unable or unwilling to choose between variants, scribes sometimes preserved two versions of a word side by side—transmitting both.

Furthermore, by nature the Bible is not predictable. Because of its spiritual subject matter, its choice of words must be improbable at times. So is a given puzzling phrase due to scribal error—or religious mystery? When to expect the text to follow rules of grammar—and when to allow for artistic expression?

Despite these pitfalls, Bible scholars have always refined the text as they found it. Each expert begins with a different set of available manuscripts, from scribes of varying (and uncertain) reliability. They each use different methods for resolving textual problems. So the experts come to different conclusions as to what is the "best" Bible text.

Ironically, the result is a Bible whose text continually evolves—the changes being justified to preserve the accuracy of tradition. Thus, an early printed Bible edited in Italy by R. Jacob ben Hayyim Ibn-Adoniyah (1525 C.E.) reconstructed the work of the Tiberian textual tradition from six hundred years earlier. His effort was impressive enough that soon afterward, owners of old manuscripts all across Europe altered their parchments to match his newly authoritative book.

As mistakes were corrected, new ones appeared. R. Meir Letteris of Austria edited a Hebrew Bible first published in 1852 C.E., based on lists of "corrections" by experts who perceived mistakes in earlier editions. It became the standard Hebrew text among many Jews to this day. Yet like all prior printed Bibles, it contained hundreds of its own typographical errors.

Meanwhile, in the modern era, certain early medieval manuscripts—safeguarded in isolated Middle Eastern communities—were brought to the attention of Bible scholars. These have proven to be the oldest known witnesses of the now-standard Tiberian tradition. Only recently has the wider, evolutionary, corrective process taken these unusually reliable texts into account. These manuscripts still contain inconsistencies and differ slightly from each other. But on the whole, they confirm the "received" (evolutionary European) traditions of the Bible text, especially for the Torah.

Amazingly, manuscript differences are truly minor. More than 99.9 percent of the time, the masoretic Bible's witnesses give identical accounts. Rarely does the variation impact the meaning of a given verse. Yet even this small uncertainty can vex a publisher who—for each detail of the text—must pick one possibility over another.

If a definitive text of the Hebrew Bible does not exist, the best a publisher can do is produce a defensible text that is sufficiently accurate for the edition's intended purpose. Therefore I shall now explain our text's history and our approach to editing it—and let the reader judge its soundness.

THE HISTORY OF OUR HEBREW TEXT

Since ancient times, Jews have traced the chain of transmission of Scripture: "Moses received Torah at Sinai and handed it on to Joshua, Joshua to the elders, and the elders to the prophets. And the prophets handed it on to the Great Assembly..." (Mishnah Avot 1:1). For the present volume, the textual transmission history is as follows.

Aaron ben Moses Ben-Asher (Tiberias, c. 930 C.E.)

An industrious family of masoretes once lived in the Galilean town of Tiberias (an ancient center of Jewish scholarship). The last in their line of scholars was Aaron ben Moses Ben-Asher, who flourished circa 930 C.E. He authored a classic masoretic treatise. He is the first known scribe to complete a manuscript of the entire Bible (whose books had been preserved somewhat independently). An important part of his work included the proofreading of others' manuscripts, which is how he enters into our picture.[2]

Samuel ben Jacob (Egypt, 1010 C.E.)

Two generations later, a scribe in Fostat (Egypt's thriving center of trade and learning) spent years composing a Bible codex.[3] Noting its completion in 4770 A.M. (1010 C.E.), he recorded that he copied from several manuscripts into this one volume: "Samuel ben Jacob wrote out the consonants, vowels, punctuation, accents, and annotations of this codex of Scripture from the texts checked and corrected by the late master Aaron ben Moses Ben-Asher; it has been checked and corrected per tradition."[4]

2 Two centuries after Aaron Ben-Asher's death, mastery of the masorah vanished (except in the isolated community of Yemen), probably degraded by continual invasions and war in the Land of Israel. Scribes blended different textual traditions and copied the masorah without understanding it, multiplying inconsistencies and errors. Ironically, while Ben-Asher's authority was then invoked to the exclusion of other masoretes, manuscripts that consistently reflected his teaching became rare.

3 For about eight hundred years before the invention of printing, Jewish books were written on parchment in two formats, scroll or codex. A codex was made of bound folios; it was easier to use for study, and it could hold far more information. In manuscripts, the entire Bible has appeared only as a codex, never as a scroll. Classical Hebrew terms for a codex are maḥzor, mitzḥaf, and keter.

4 A local teacher and jurisconsult (a public servant of high standing among rabbinic Jews in Egypt) had ordered this codex for his own study. Samuel ben Jacob produced it singlehandedly—a rare feat; usually, a masoretic Bible's three facets (consonants, vowels/accents, and masoretic notes) were each written by a specialist.

Samuel's Bible contains sixty thousand marginal notes on the text, including more than a thousand divergences between consonantal text (kethib) and reading tradition (qere).[5]

In proofreading and correcting his work, Samuel ben Jacob missed (or let stand) hundreds of errors—which is actually an impressive result, given the millions of characters in a Hebrew Bible. As the contemporary scholar E.J. Revell comments, "This is a long way from perfection, but it is close to ideal when compared to the situation in most [later] medieval manuscripts."

Recent Editions of the Leningrad Codex

Today, Samuel ben Jacob's work is the oldest known complete Hebrew Bible, and the oldest complete representative of the Ben-Asher tradition.[6] For centuries, however, it was kept out of circulation, unknown to historians or Bible editors. Then in 1840 C.E., a manuscript collector announced possession of this Bible—which has since become known as the Leningrad Codex.[7]

Repeatedly since then, international teams of Christian and Jewish scholars (both religious and academic) have edited this codex for modern use. The first group, led by Rudolph Kittel and Paul Kahle, made it the base text for a critical edition, Biblia Hebraica Kittel (BHK, 1937). After World War II, another team revised BHK, producing Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia (BHS, 1967–1977), for which Karl Elliger, Wilhelm Rudolph, and Gérard Weil served as lead editors. Then, at the University of Michigan, H. Van Dyke Parunak and Robert Eckert devised computer-readable codes for the biblical text's characters and main features; Parunak oversaw the transcription of BHS into three megabytes of data (1982). Soon thereafter, Richard E. Whitaker of the Claremont Graduate Schools coordinated revisions. Finally, J. Alan Groves of Westminster Theological Seminary (Philadelphia) with Emanuel Tov of The Hebrew University (Jerusalem) directed a proofreading team (1987), a project that JPS helped to fund.

5 The number of words accorded this treatment varies greatly among manuscripts and editions. What the kethib/qere system means is not certain; it appears to contain a mix of intended corrections, variant readings, and guidance for pronouncing words with odd spelling. Ultimately, even though the qere was preserved only in the margin (if written down at all), the masoretes gave it greater weight, for they transmitted the kethib with consonants only. (Therefore, unless stated otherwise, our translation is based on the qere.)

6 Only for a few dozen characters is this codex not clearly legible—given some parchment stains, flaked ink, and ambiguous pen strokes.

7 When this manuscript gained renown as the only known direct evidence of Aaron Ben-Asher's work, the city in which it was housed was called Leningrad (now St. Petersburg). There, in the Russian National Library, this codex is officially catalogued as "Firkovich B19A."

The result is called the Michigan-Claremont-Westminster (MCW) electronic BHS. It has provided JPS with a text nearly identical to the Leningrad Codex manuscript. Each round of revision has corrected previous typographic errors and misreadings while introducing a smaller number of other typos and mistakes. Its machine-readable text format has nearly precluded new typos in our own production process. Meanwhile, BHS notes have provided vital supporting documentation.

To aid modern readers, its various editors have brought the codex's outward features in line with the more familiar evolution of Bibles, by:

- adding chapter and verse numbers (invented after the codex was written);
- changing the order of books (putting Chronicles at the end, rather than before Psalms);
- redividing Psalms to show 150 chapters rather than the codex's 149;
- adding end-of-verse punctuation where Samuel ben Jacob had omitted it;
- inserting typographic markers to show the codex's paragraphing;
- placing each qere entry in the text (rather than in the margin), following its kethib, and transferring pointing to the qere consonants—which occasionally meant inferring pointing (a dagesh or maqqef) not in the codex;
- omitting the diacritical sign rafé (ubiquitous in the codex) in all but six places, which most modern Bibles have dropped as superfluous and hard to print;
- turning many marginal notes on superfluous letters (yatér) into qere entries;
- tripling the number of masoretic notes by filling in cross-references; and
- flagging the apparent scribal errors.

EDITING THE JPS HEBREW BIBLE TEXT

This section details our editing approach, which is summarized by the table on page xv.

Intended Audience. This is a study Bible, for readers who want to explore the meaning of the masoretic Hebrew text. Hence, our designers focused on reducing the work of reading. Our edition features clear type, reader would normally pause—we bring out the poetic rhythm, reduce reading effort, and speed the reader's recourse to the translation.[12]

Verse Numbering. Numerals of the same type font in both columns ease one's navigation through the Bible. The same goes for numbers printed within the text—showing clearly which verse is which. (Many editions have instead used Hebrew letters for verse numbers and placed them in the margin.)

Division of Books. English translations usually list thirty-nine books of the Bible. Meanwhile, Hebrew Bibles classically have presented twenty-four books—counting the following groups as one book each: the two parts of Samuel; the two parts of Kings; the Twelve ("Minor") Prophets; Ezra and Nehemiah; and the two parts of Chronicles.

Some aspects of our book design presume the thirty-nine-book division: the tables, book openings, and chapter numbers. But we ended only the conventional twenty-four books with a closing prayer ("Hereby completed—praise to God, creator of the cosmos!") and with the sum total of verses.[13]

Order of Books. The Leningrad Codex reflects a sequence found in Middle Eastern and Spanish manuscripts. But the Writings are arranged differently in most modern Bibles, following the German manuscript tradition. We chose the modern sequence—more likely to be familiar to our readers—for quicker navigation.

Spelling Variants (Orthography). Many words are not spelled the same way throughout the Bible.[14] In masoretic tradition, a marginal note fixes a correct spelling for nearly all those words in each place they occur (although each manuscript's set of notes is incomplete). However, in the Ben-Asher study Bibles, when their text's spelling was contradicted by a marginal note (written in a later pass through the manuscript), masoretic scribes usually let the "mistake" stand—perhaps because variant spelling affected neither meaning nor pronunciation. We too let stand about ninety spellings known to differ from both "received" and Yemenite Torah texts. At the same time, to represent our codex's Torah accurately, we took into account its marginal notes; sometimes (as BHS's editor of masoretic notes pointed out) the weight of internal evidence favors a marginal note over the text.[15] As a result we altered the spelling 12 Poetic line breaks in the two columns do not always match, due to the differing syntax of the two languages.

13 Also, we divided the Book of Psalms into five collections, according to an ancient tradition lacking in the Leningrad Codex.

14 When the letters alef, heh, waw, and yod represent certain vowel sounds rather than consonants, the same word can be spelled either with or without them.

15 Discrepancies in spelling between a manuscript's text and its marginal notes may be due not only to errors in the text; they may reflect errors in the notes or the traditions of different schools.

of twenty-nine words. Coincidentally, twenty-eight of them now match the "received" and Yemenite texts.

In Prophets and Writings—historically, regulated less precisely than Torah—we printed the codex text regardless of marginal notes. For those two sections, our codex's spelling is already closer to masoretic tradition than that of the "received" editions (as exemplified by Letteris and Koren).

Hymns. Song of the Sea (Exodus 15) and Song of Deborah (Judges 5) are national anthems. We reproduced ancient graphic designs that adorn their lyrics, following the traditionally recommended practice of setting written gaps at syntactic pauses. Another hymn, the Song of Moses (Deuteronomy 32), we treated differently in accord with its lesser distinctiveness in later tradition. In all three cases we enabled the reader to correlate text with translation.

Lists. Our codex displayed many sections in a traditional list format, which we employed only in the cases required by masorah and halakhah: the conquered kings (Joshua 12) and Haman's sons (Esther 9).

Weekly Torah Portions. We divided the Torah into parashiyot—the weekly portions within an annual public reading cycle according to Babylonian Jewish tradition—because contemporary Torah study often refers to them. We did not show the older division into smaller sections (sedarim) per Levantine Jewish tradition, no longer in common use.

Reading Tradition Versus Writing Tradition. Previous editions set the qere consonants in the margin, which has proven awkward in use; pronouncing the qere has required simultaneously looking for consonants in the margin while looking for vowels in the text. In contrast, our side-by-side, in-the-text format preserves the distinctness of the two forms while making it easy to read the qere.

This edition contains 1,322 kethib/qere instances located as per MCW (see above, page xii note 5 and page xiii), with two cases added for clarity: the form of na'ara(h) in Genesis (for which we adopted the masoretic practice in Deuteronomy), and Numbers 10:36.

Letter Size. Masoretic tradition was not consistent about writing certain letters larger or smaller than normal. The meaning of letter size is only occasionally clear. Later manuscripts (and modern printed editions) tend to have more odd-sized letters than earlier ones. In Torah we set odd-sized letters according to modern practice, noting our sources. In Prophets and Writings, we went according to our codex text.

Nequdot (Extraordinary Points). Traditionally, a point that marks uncertainty is placed atop and/or below certain letters. The number and placement of these obscure markers varies among the sources. In Torah, we placed these points at ten locations according to the modern editions.

In Prophets and Writings, we placed them at five locations according to the Leningrad Codex.

Transcription Errors. Research in the past decade with high-resolution photographs of our codex has continued to clear up earlier misreadings and typos. To match revisions in recent editions of BHS (1990, 1997), we corrected MCW (1987) in several hundred places. Then, checking selectively in a large facsimile edition (1998) of the codex, we found eight more instances where BHS editors had misread the manuscript. Further, we found seventeen MCW typos. (All told, this codex is closer to the "received" traditions than previously thought.)

Scribal Errors. Bible scholar and editor R. Mordechai Breuer has noted, "The Leningrad Codex... is one of the best of the ancient manuscripts as far as its vocalization and accentuation are concerned." Yet a lack of pointing where the rules of Hebrew call for it must be a scribal oversight. Conversely, excessive pointing must also be a mistake. Rather than needlessly puzzle our readers, we fixed both types of errors; we added about 150 pointing characters (and subtracted a few) as implied, and in accord with the manuscripts and editions noted by BHS.

Other anomalies may reflect a variant reading tradition, an idiosyncrasy of the scribe's graphical system, a dialect—or an outright error. In any event, we judged the codex's reading to be impossible by modern standards—and significant enough to trip up most readers—in forty-three words, which we changed to match the "received" masoretic texts.[16]

Hebrew Footnotes. Like the medieval scribes, we culled most of our nearly six hundred notes from the larger body of masoretic lore (roughly two hundred thousand notes!); we do not pretend to have been exhaustive. We composed such notes either in the classic Aramaic shorthand or in Hebrew terms similar to the Letteris Bible's notes—but spelled out and reworded for clarity. Many of these notes point out a textual anomaly (in spelling, vocalization, accentuation, punctuation, grammar, or meaning), lest the reader be puzzled or think it a mistake. Other notes relate to counting: the total number of verses in each book, halfway point of each book, variant counting traditions, or aspects of the text that affect the count.[17] Our glossary explains the Hebrew footnotes.

16 In those forty-three words, we only moved or changed pointing, except for deleting one superfluous waw and changing one prefixed kaf to a bet. Probable scribal errors that we let stand typically involve a missing dagesh (a dot to show either that the letter is doubled or pronounced with a stop). Apparent errors in this codex are well documented—in BHS, the Dotan/Adi edition, and R. Breuer's lists. We therefore trust that those for whom such errors matter have the wherewithal to determine a reading that will satisfy them.

17 Where masoretic traditions give more than one verse total or halfway point, we checked the calculations ourselves and noted discrepancies.

We also included notes of our own. Most of these give variant readings preferred by our translators from other Bible manuscripts. A few notes mark where our edition differs from its sources, either BHS or the Leningrad Codex itself (styled as "our manuscript").

In closing, we at the Jewish Publication Society hope that this edition opens up the richness of the Hebrew Bible to our readers. "How much better to acquire wisdom than gold; / To acquire understanding is preferable to silver" (Proverbs 16.16).

PREFACE TO THE 1985 ENGLISH EDITION

This translation of Tanakh, the Holy Scriptures, produced by the Jewish Publication Society, was made directly from the traditional Hebrew text into the idiom of modern English. It represents the collaboration of academic scholars with rabbis from the three largest branches of organized Jewish religious life in America. Begun in 1955, the ongoing translation was published in three main stages: The Torah in 1962, The Prophets (Nevi'im) in 1978, and The Writings (Kethuvim) in 1982. These three volumes, with revisions, are now brought together in a complete English Tanakh (Torah-Nevi'im-Kethuvim), the latest link in the chain of Jewish Bible translations.

ON THE HISTORY OF BIBLE TRANSLATION

Bible translation began about 2200 years ago, in the third century B.C.E., as the large Jewish population of Alexandria, Egypt, came under the influence of Hellenism. When the Greek language replaced Hebrew and Aramaic as their vernacular, and the Torah in its Hebrew original was no longer commonly understood, a translation into Greek was made for the Jewish community of Alexandria. This translation came to be known as the Septuagint, Latin for "seventy," because of the legend that the committee of translators numbered seventy-two, six elders from each of the twelve tribes of Israel.

In the last few centuries B.C.E., the Jews who lived to the north and east of Judea also found the Hebrew Bible difficult to understand, for their spoken language had become largely Aramaic. Translations into Aramaic, first of the Torah and then of the rest of the Bible, became known as the Targums.

The Septuagint and the Targums are not only the oldest translations of the Bible but also the most influential. Down to our own day, virtually every Christian translation has followed the methods of the Jewish translators who created the Septuagint, and generally followed their renderings of the Hebrew as well. The Christian translators also were influenced by the interpretation of the Hebrew text set forth in the Targums (much of it in oral form at the time) and by the writings of the Jewish philosopher-interpreter Philo of Alexandria (died about 45 C.E.).

The forerunners and leaders of the Renaissance and the Reformation (fourteenth–fifteenth centuries), and especially Martin Luther and William Tyndale (sixteenth century), made use of Latin translations of the classic Jewish commentators Rashi, Ibn Ezra, and Kimhi (eleventh–thirteenth centuries), whose works were imbued with the direct knowledge of the Targums. Luther was greatly indebted to Nicholas of Lyre (1270–1349), who had adopted Rashi's exegesis for his Latin Bible commentary. Rashi's influence on all authorized and most unofficial English translations of the Hebrew Bible becomes evident when Tyndale's dependence on Luther is considered. Tyndale is central to many subsequent English translations: the King James Version of 1611, the (British) Revised Version of 1881–1885, the American Standard Version of 1901, and especially the Revised Standard Version of 1952.

Alongside the close, literal method of Bible translation, the earliest Jewish translators were also influenced by the widely held view that, along with the Written Law (torah she-bikhtav), God had given Moses on Mount Sinai an Oral Law (torah she-be'al peh) as well; so that to comprehend God's Torah fully and correctly, it was essential to make use of both. Thus, when a translation of the Hebrew Bible into the Judeo-Arabic vernacular was deemed necessary for Jewry in Moslem countries toward the end of the first millennium, the noted philologian, philosopher, and community leader Saadia Gaon (882–942) produced a version that incorporated traditional Jewish interpretation but was not based on word-for-word translation; at the same time, it was a model of clarity and stylistic elegance. The present version is in the spirit of Saadia.

With the growth of Christianity in the first century, the Church adopted the Septuagint as its Bible, and the Septuagint was translated into the languages of the various Christian communities. As Greek began to give way to Latin in the Roman Empire, it was only a matter of time before a Latin translation of Scripture became the recognized Bible of the Church. The Church father Jerome (c. 340–420) produced the official Latin version. Drawing on Jewish tradition and consulting Jewish teachers, he achieved what came to be known as the Vulgate, the Bible in the language of the common people. The Vulgate, the Bible of European Christianity until the Reformation, is clearly the most significant Bible translation after the Septuagint.

With the rise of Protestantism in Europe, scholars within this movement set themselves the task of making the Bible available in the various vernaculars of the time. By 1526 the first parts of two notable translations began to appear: Martin Luther's in German and William Tyndale's in English. The latter, by way of several subsequent revisions, became the King James Version of 1611. The more modern English versions—such as The Holy Scriptures by the American rabbi Isaac Leeser (1855), the (British) Revised Version (1881–1885), the American Standard Version (1901), the Jewish Publication Society's The Holy Scriptures (1917), and the (American) Revised Standard Version (1952)—made extensive use of the King James.

ON THE MAKING OF THE NEW TRANSLATION

After World War II, when the Jewish Publication Society began to consider a new edition of the Bible, the idea of a modest revision of the 1917 translation met with resistance, and the concept of a completely new translation gradually took hold. The proposed translation would reproduce the Hebrew idiomatically and reflect contemporary scholarship, thus laying emphasis upon intelligibility and correctness. It would make critical use of the early rabbinic and medieval Jewish commentators, grammarians, and philologians and would rely on the traditional Hebrew text, avoiding emendations. The need for this new translation was the focus of the Jewish Publication Society's annual meeting in 1953. Later that year the Society announced its intention to proceed with the project, and in 1955 the committee of translators began their task.

Harry M. Orlinsky, Professor of Bible at Hebrew Union College–Jewish Institute of Religion (New York), was asked to serve as editor-in-chief for the new translation, along with H. L. Ginsberg, Professor of Bible at the Jewish Theological Seminary, and Ephraim A. Speiser, Professor of Semitic and Oriental Languages at the University of Pennsylvania, as fellow editors. Associated with them were three rabbis: Max Arzt, Bernard J. Bamberger, and Harry Freedman, representing the Conservative, Reform, and Orthodox branches of organized Jewish religious life. Solomon Grayzel, editor of the Jewish Publication Society, served as secretary of the committee.

The committee profited much from the work of previous translators; the present rendering, however, is essentially a new translation. A few of its characteristics may be noted. The committee undertook to follow faithfully the traditional Hebrew text, but there were certain points at which footnotes appeared necessary: (1) where the committee had to admit that it did not understand a word or passage; (2) where an alternative rendering was possible; (3) where an old rendering, no longer retained, was so well known that it would very likely be missed, in which case the traditional translation was given in the name of "Others" (usually referring to the Society's version of 1917); (4) where the understanding of a passage could be facilitated by reference to another passage elsewhere in the Bible; and (5) where important textual variants are to be found in some of the ancient manuscripts or versions of the Bible.

The translators avoided obsolete words and phrases and, whenever possible, rendered Hebrew idioms by means of their normal English equivalents. For the second person singular, the modern "you" was used instead of the archaic "thou," even when referring to the Deity ("You"). A further obvious difference between this translation and most of the older ones is in the rendering of the Hebrew particle waw, which is usually translated "and." Biblical Hebrew demanded the frequent use of the waw, but in that style it had the force not only of "and" but also of "however," "but," "yet," "when," and any number of other such words and particles, or none at all that can be translated into English. Always to render it as "and" is to misrepresent the Hebrew rather than be faithful to it. Consequently, the committee translated the particle as the sense required, or left it untranslated.

The chapter and verse divisions found in the printed Bible are indispensable as a system of precise reference, but they do not always coincide with the organic divisions of the text. The chapter divisions, whose origin is neither ancient nor Jewish but medieval Christian, sometimes join or separate the wrong paragraphs, sentences, or even parts of sentences. The verse divisions, though considerably older and of Jewish origin, sometimes join together parts of different sentences or separate from each other parts of the same sentence. The translation of Saadia Gaon often does not correspond to our chapter divisions, which did not exist in his day. More noteworthy is the readiness with which he joined separate verses of the Hebrew text (whose authority he did not question) into single sentences when the sense required it. Thus, in joining Genesis 7.24 and 8.1 into a single sentence, or combining the last part of 1 Kings 6.38 with 7.1, the present translation is following the example of Saadia. The attentive reader will discover other instances in which the translators have followed what they considered to be the logical units of meaning even when they did not coincide with the conventional chapters and verses. The latter, however, are marked and numbered throughout.

The preface to the first edition of The Torah was dated September 25, 1962, Erev Rosh Ha-Shanah 5723. A second edition, incorporating some changes by the translators, came out five years later. The committee also produced translations of The Five Megilloth and Jonah (1969), Isaiah (1973), and Jeremiah (1974). The latter two books and Jonah were incorporated, with some corrections and revisions, into the complete translation of The Prophets (Nevi'im). For this volume, which was published in 1978, Professor Ginsberg served as editor, in association with Professor Orlinsky. Whereas Professor Orlinsky had initially prepared a draft translation of the entire Torah, individual members of the committee undertook to prepare a draft of an entire prophetic book or part of a book; but, as in translating the Torah, everyone had an opportunity to criticize the draft and to offer detailed suggestions at periodic committee sessions, which were presided over by Rabbi Bamberger. Differences of opinion were settled by majority vote.

In preparing the translation of The Prophets, the translators faced a recurring problem that deserves special mention. The prophetic books contain many passages whose meaning is uncertain. Thus, in order to provide an intelligible rendering, modern scholars have resorted to emending the Hebrew text. Some of these emendations derive from the ancient translators, especially of the Septuagint and the Targums, who had before them a Hebrew text that sometimes differed from today's traditional text. Where these ancient versions provide no help, some scholars have made conjectural emendations of their own. Many modern English versions contain translations of emended texts, sometimes without citing any departure from the traditional Hebrew text.

Like the translation of The Torah, the present translation of the prophetic books adheres strictly to the traditional Hebrew text; but where the text remains obscure and an alteration provides marked clarification, a footnote is offered with a rendering of the suggested emendation. If the emendation is based on one or two ancient versions, they are mentioned by name; if more than two versions agree, they are summed up as "ancient versions." Conjectural emendations are introduced by "Emendation yields." Sometimes, however, it was deemed sufficient to offer only a change of vowels, and such modifications are indicated by "Change of vocalization yields." In all cases, the emendation is given in a footnote, which may be readily disregarded by those who reject it on either scholarly or religious grounds. The only exceptions involve such changes in grammatical form as those, say, from second person to third or from singular to plural. In such rare instances, the change is incorporated in the text, and the traditional Hebrew is translated in a footnote.

The committee of translators for The Writings (Kethuvim), the third part of the Hebrew Bible, was set up by the Jewish Publication Society in 1966. It consisted of Moshe Greenberg, now Professor of Bible at the Hebrew University, Jonas C. Greenfield, then Professor of Semitic Languages at the Hebrew University, and Nahum M. Sarna, then Professor of Biblical Studies at Brandeis University, in association with Rabbis Saul Leeman, Martin S. Rozenberg, and David Shapiro of the Conservative, Reform, and Orthodox movements. Chaim Potok, then editor of the Society, served as secretary of the committee.

The present English rendering of Kethuvim, like Torah and Nevi'im, is based on the traditional Hebrew text—its consonants, vowels, and syntactical divisions—although the traditional accentuation occasionally has been replaced by an alternative construction. Following the approach of the original committee, the entire gamut of biblical interpretation, ancient and modern, Jewish and non-Jewish, has been consulted, and, whenever possible, the results of modern study of the languages and cultures of the ancient Near East have been brought to bear on the biblical text. In choosing between alternatives, however, just as antiquity was not in itself a disqualification, so modernity was not in itself a recommendation. Divergences of the present translation from recent renderings reflect the committee's judgment that certain innovations, though interesting, are too speculative for adoption in the present state of knowledge. The as-yet-imperfect understanding of the language of the Bible, or what appears to be some disorder in the Hebrew text, makes sure translation of many passages impossible. This uncertainty in Kethuvim is indicated in a note, and, where the Hebrew text permits, alternative renderings have been offered. However, emendations of the text of Kethuvim—except for the five Megilloth—were not proposed, and notes were kept to a minimum.

Some passages in Kethuvim are identical or very similar to passages in Torah and Nevi'im. The rendering of these passages in Kethuvim generally follows the wording in the earlier books; on occasion, however, owing to various considerations, divergences in style and translation will be found. For example, in the presentation of the poetry of the Psalms, it was deemed fitting, because of their liturgical use, to indicate the thought units through appropriate indentation. The text of Kethuvim frequently presented the translators with extraordinary difficulties, for it is hardly possible to convey in English the fullness of the Hebrew, with its ambiguities, its overtones, and the richness that it carries from centuries of use. Still, it was their goal to transmit something of the directness, the simplicity, and the uniquely Israelite expressions of piety that are so essential to the sublimity of the Hebrew Bible.

The committee's translation of The Psalms appeared in 1973; of The Book of Job, in 1980. The two were incorporated, with revisions, into the complete translations of The Writings (Kethuvim), which appeared in 1982.

For this one-volume English edition of Tanakh, the translation of The Torah, first published twenty years earlier, underwent more revision than the more recent publications of The Prophets and The Writings. A number of the changes had already been projected in Notes on the New Translation of the Torah, edited by Harry M. Orlinsky and published by the Society in 1969. Subsequent research on the text has led to further revisions in the translation of Torah and some revisions in Nevi'im as well.

Ephraim Speiser, of the original committee, died in June 1965. Max Arzt, also an active member of the original committee, died in 1975, when the work of translating the prophetic books was almost complete. Since the appearance of The Prophets and The Writings, Bernard J. Bamberger, Solomon Grayzel, and Harry Freedman have also passed on.* Their memory, and their scholarship, will be for a blessing.

The Jewish Publication Society joins the members of the committees of translators in the hope that the results of their labors will find favor with God and man.

When God began to create[a] heaven and earth—2the earth being unformed and void, with darkness over the surface of the deep and a wind from[b] God sweeping over the water—3God said, "Let there be light"; and there was light. 4God saw that the light was good, and God separated the light from the darkness. 5God called the light Day, and the darkness He called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, a first day.[c] 6God said, "Let there be an expanse in the midst of the water, that it may separate water from water." 7God made the expanse, and it separated the water which was below the expanse from the water which was above the expanse. And it was so. 8God called the expanse Sky. And there was evening and there was morning, a second day.

9God said, "Let the water below the sky be gathered into one area, that the dry land may appear." And it was so. 10God called the dry land Earth, and the gathering of waters He called Seas. And God saw that this was good. 11And God said, "Let the earth sprout vegetation: seed-bearing plants, fruit trees of every kind on earth that bear fruit with the seed in it." And it was so. 12The earth brought forth vegetation: seed-bearing plants of every kind, and trees of every kind bearing fruit with the seed in it. And God saw that this was good. 13And there was evening and there was morning, a third day.

of the sky to separate day from night; they shall serve as signs for the set times—the days and the years; [15]and they shall serve as lights in the expanse of the sky to shine upon the earth." And it was so. [16]God made the two great lights, the greater light to dominate the day and the lesser light to dominate the night, and the stars. [17]And God set them in the expanse of the sky to shine upon the earth, [18]to dominate the day and the night, and to separate light from darkness. And God saw that this was good. [19]And there was evening and there was morning, a fourth day.

[20]God said, "Let the waters bring forth swarms of living creatures, and birds that fly above the earth across the expanse of the sky." [21]God created the great sea monsters, and all the living creatures of every kind that creep, which the waters brought forth in swarms, and all the winged birds of every kind. And God saw that this was good. [22]God blessed them, saying, "Be fertile and increase, fill the waters in the seas, and let the birds increase on the earth." [23]And there was evening and there was morning, a fifth day.

[24]God said, "Let the earth bring forth every kind of living creature: cattle, creeping things, and wild beasts of every kind." And it was so. [25]God made wild beasts of every kind and cattle of every kind, and all kinds of creeping things of the earth. And God saw that this was good. [26]And God said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. They shall rule the fish of the sea, the birds of the sky, the cattle, the whole earth, and all the creeping things that creep on earth." [27]And God created man in His image, in the image of God He created him; male and female He created them. [28]God blessed them and God said to them, "Be fertile and increase, fill the earth and master it; and rule the fish of the sea, the birds of the sky, and all the living things that creep on earth."

[8]The LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and placed there the man whom He had formed. [9]And from the ground the LORD God caused to grow every tree that was pleasing to the sight and good for food, with the tree of life in the middle of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and bad.

10 A river issues from Eden to water the garden, and it then divides and becomes four branches. 11 The name of the first is Pishon, the one that winds through the whole land of Havilah, where the gold is. (12 The gold of that land is good; bdellium is there, and lapis lazuli.[d]) 13 The name of the second river is Gihon, the one that winds through the whole land of Cush. 14 The name of the third river is Tigris, the one that flows east of Asshur. And the fourth river is the Euphrates.

15 The LORD God took the man and placed him in the garden of Eden, to till it and tend it. 16 And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, "Of every tree of the garden you are free to eat; 17 but as for the tree of knowledge of good and bad, you must not eat of it; for as soon as you eat of it, you shall die."

18 The LORD God said, "It is not good for man to be alone; I will make a fitting helper for him." 19 And the LORD God formed out of the earth all the wild beasts and all the birds of the sky, and brought them to the man to see what he would call them; and whatever the man called each living creature, that would be its name. 20 And the man gave names to all the cattle and to the birds of the sky and to all the wild beasts; but for Adam no fitting helper was found. 21 So the LORD God cast a deep sleep upon the man; and, while he slept, He took one of his ribs and closed up the flesh at that spot. 22 And the LORD God fashioned the rib that He had taken from the man into a woman; and He brought her to the man. 23 Then the man said,

"This one at last
Is bone of my bones
And flesh of my flesh.
This one shall be called Woman,[e]
For from man[f] was she taken."

[1]Now the serpent was the shrewdest of all the wild beasts that the LORD God had made. He said to the woman, "Did God really say: You shall not eat of any tree of the garden?" [2]The woman replied to the serpent, "We may eat of the fruit of the other trees of the garden. [3]It is only about fruit of the tree in the middle of the garden that God said: 'You shall not eat of it or touch it, lest you die.'" [4]And the serpent said to the woman, "You are not going to die, [5]but God knows that as soon as you eat of it your eyes will be opened and you will be like [a]-divine beings who know-[a] good and bad." [6]When the woman saw that the tree was good for eating and a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was desirable as a source of wisdom, she took of its fruit and ate. She also gave some to her husband, and he ate. [7]Then the eyes of both of them were opened and they perceived that they were naked; and they sewed together fig leaves and made themselves loincloths.

is this you have done!" The woman replied, "The serpent duped me, and I ate." [14]Then the LORD God said to the serpent,

"Because you did this,
More cursed shall you be
Than all cattle
And all the wild beasts:
On your belly shall you crawl
And dirt shall you eat
All the days of your life.

Between you and the woman,
And between your offspring and hers;
They shall strike at your head,
And you shall strike at their heel."

In pain shall you bear children.
Yet your urge shall be for your husband,
And he shall rule over you."

Cursed be the ground because of you;
By toil shall you eat of it
All the days of your life:
[18]Thorns and thistles shall it sprout for you.
But your food shall be the grasses of the field;

Shall you get bread to eat,
Until you return to the ground—
For from it you were taken.
For dust you are,
And to dust you shall return."

Now the man knew[a] his wife Eve, and she conceived and bore Cain, saying, "I have gained[b] a male child with the help of the LORD." [2]She then bore his brother Abel. Abel became a keeper of sheep, and Cain became a tiller of the soil. [3]In the course of time, Cain brought an offering to the LORD from the fruit of the soil; [4]and Abel, for his part, brought the choicest of the firstlings of his flock. The LORD paid heed to Abel and his offering, [5]but to Cain and his offering He paid no heed. Cain was much distressed and his face fell. [6]And the LORD said to Cain,

"Why are you distressed,

There is uplift.
But if you do not do right
Sin couches at the door;
Its urge is toward you, your brother's blood cries out to Me from the ground! [11]Therefore, you shall be more cursed than the ground,[e] which opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand. [12]If you till the soil, it shall no longer yield its strength to you. You shall become a ceaseless wanderer on earth."

[13]Cain said to the LORD, "My punishment is too great to bear! [14]Since You have banished me this day from the soil, and I must avoid Your presence and become a restless wanderer on earth—anyone who meets me may kill me!" [15]The LORD said to him, "I promise, if anyone kills Cain, sevenfold vengeance shall be taken on him." And the LORD put a mark on Cain, lest anyone who met him should kill him. [16]Cain left the presence of the LORD and settled in the land of Nod, east of Eden.

[17]Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. And he then founded a city, and named the city after his son Enoch. [18]To Enoch was born Irad, and Irad begot Mehujael, and Mehujael[f] begot Methusael, and Methusael begot Lamech. [19]Lamech took to himself two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other was Zillah. [20]Adah bore Jabal; he was the ancestor of those who dwell in tents and amidst herds. [21]And the name of his brother was Jubal; he was the ancestor of all who play the lyre and the pipe. [22]As for Zillah, she bore Tubal-cain, who forged all implements of copper and iron. And the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

[23]And Lamech said to his wives,
"Adah and Zillah, hear my voice;
O wives of Lamech, give ear to my speech.
I have slain a man for wounding me,
And a lad for bruising me.
[24]If Cain is avenged sevenfold,
Then Lamech seventy-sevenfold."

[25]Adam knew his wife again, and she bore a son and named him Seth, meaning, "God has [g]provided me with[g] another offspring in place of Abel," for Cain had killed him. [26]And to Seth, in turn, a son was born, and he named him Enosh. It was then that men began to invoke the LORD by name.

5 This is the record of Adam's line.—When God created man, He made him in the likeness of God; [2]male and female He created them. And when they were created, He blessed them and called them Man.—[3]When Adam had lived 130 years, he begot a son in his likeness after his image, and he named him Seth. pleased them.—[3]The LORD said, "My breath shall not abide[b] in man forever, since he too is flesh; let the days allowed him be one hundred and twenty years."—[4]It was then, and later too, that the Nephilim appeared on earth—when the divine beings cohabited with the daughters of men, who bore them offspring. They were the heroes of old, the men of renown.

[5]The LORD saw how great was man's wickedness on earth, and how every plan devised by his mind was nothing but evil all the time. [6]And the LORD regretted that He had made man on earth, and His heart was saddened. [7]The LORD said, "I will blot out from the earth the men whom I created—men together with beasts, creeping things, and birds of the sky; for I regret that I made them." [8]But Noah found favor with the LORD.

NOAḤ

[9]This is the line of Noah.—Noah was a righteous man; he was blameless in his age; Noah walked with God.—[10]Noah begot three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

[11]The earth became corrupt before God; the earth was filled with lawlessness. [12]When God saw how corrupt the earth was, for all flesh had corrupted its ways on earth, [13]God said to Noah, "I have decided to put an end to all flesh, for the earth is filled with lawlessness because of them: I am about to destroy them with the earth. [14]Make yourself an ark of gopher wood; make it an ark with compartments, and cover it inside and out with pitch. [15]This is how you shall make it: the length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, its width fifty cubits, and its height thirty cubits. [16]Make an opening for daylight in the ark, and [c]terminate it within a cubit of the top.[c] Put the entrance to the ark in its side; make it with bottom, second, and third decks.

[17]"For My part, I am about to bring the Flood—waters upon the earth—to destroy all flesh under the sky in which there is breath of life; everything on earth shall perish. [18]But I will establish My covenant with you, and you shall enter the ark, with your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives. [19]And of all that lives, of all flesh, you shall take two of each into the ark to keep alive with you; they shall be male and female. [20]From birds of every kind, cattle of every kind, every kind of creeping thing on earth, two of each shall come to you to stay alive. [21]For your part, take of everything that is eaten and store it away, to serve as food for you and for them." [22]Noah did so; just as God commanded him, so he did.

Then the LORD said to Noah, "Go into the ark, with all your household, for you alone have I found righteous before Me in this generation. [2]Of every clean animal you shall take seven pairs, males and their mates, and of every animal that is not clean, two, a male and its mate; [3]of the birds of the sky also, seven pairs, male and female, to keep seed alive upon all the earth. [4]For in seven days' time I will make it rain upon the earth, forty days and forty nights, and I will blot out from the earth all existence that I created." [5]And Noah did just as the LORD commanded him.

[6]Noah was six hundred years old when the Flood came, waters upon the earth. [7]Noah, with his sons, his wife, and his sons' wives, went into the ark because of the waters of the Flood. [8]Of the clean animals, of the animals that are not clean, of the birds, and of everything that creeps on the ground, [9]two of each, male and female, came to Noah into the ark, as God had commanded Noah. [10]And on the seventh day the waters of the Flood came upon the earth.

[11]In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on that day

All the fountains of the great deep burst apart,
And the floodgates of the sky broke open.

([12]The rain fell on the earth forty days and forty nights.) [13]That same day Noah and Noah's sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, went into the ark, with Noah's wife and the three wives of his sons—[14]they and all beasts of every kind, all cattle of every kind, all creatures of every kind that creep on the earth, and all birds of every kind, every bird, every winged thing. [15]They came to Noah into the ark, two each of all flesh in which there was breath of life. [16]Thus they that entered comprised male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him. And the LORD shut him in.

[17]The Flood continued forty days on the earth, and the waters increased and raised the ark so that it rose above the earth. [18]The waters swelled and increased greatly upon the earth, and the ark drifted upon the waters. [19]When the waters had swelled much more upon the earth, all the highest mountains everywhere under the sky were covered. [20]Fifteen cubits higher did the waters swell, as the mountains were covered. [21]And all flesh that stirred on earth perished—birds, cattle, beasts, and all the things that swarmed upon the earth, and all mankind. [22]All in whose nostrils was the merest breath of life, all that was on dry land, died. [23]All existence on earth was blotted out—man, cattle, creeping things, and birds of the sky; they were blotted out from the earth. Only Noah was left, and those with him in the ark.

[1]God remembered Noah and all the beasts and all the cattle that were with him in the ark, and God caused a wind to blow across the earth, and the waters subsided. [2]The fountains of the deep and the floodgates of the sky were stopped up, and the rain from the sky was held back; [3]the waters then receded steadily from the earth. At the end of one hundred and fifty days the waters diminished, [4]so that in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, the ark came to rest on the mountains of Ararat. [5]The waters went on diminishing until the tenth month; in the tenth month, on the first of the month, the tops of the mountains became visible.

[6]At the end of forty days, Noah opened the window of the ark that he had made [7]and sent out the raven; it went to and fro until the waters had dried up from the earth. [8]Then he sent out the dove to see whether the waters had decreased from the surface of the ground. [9]But the dove could not find a resting place for its foot, and returned to him to the ark, for there was water over all the earth. So putting out his hand, he took it into the ark with him. [10]He waited another seven days, and again sent out the dove from the ark. [11]The dove came back to him toward evening, and there in its bill was a plucked-off olive leaf! Then Noah knew that the waters had decreased on the earth. [12]He waited still another seven days and sent the dove forth; and it did not return to him any more.

[13]In the six hundred and first year, in the first month, on the first of the month, the waters began to dry from the earth; and when Noah removed the covering of the ark, he saw that the surface of the ground was drying. [14]And in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was dry.

[15]God spoke to Noah, saying, [16]"Come out

[20]Then Noah built an altar to the LORD and, taking of every clean animal and of every clean bird, he offered burnt offerings on the altar. [21]The LORD smelled the pleasing odor, and the LORD said to Himself: "Never again will I doom the earth because of man, since the devisings of man's mind are evil from his youth; nor will I ever again destroy every living being, as I have done.

8 And God said to Noah and to his sons with him, 9 "I now establish My covenant with you and your offspring to come, 10 and with every living thing that is with you—birds, cattle, and every wild beast as well—all that have come out of the ark, every living thing on earth. 11 I will maintain My covenant with you: never again shall all flesh be cut off by the waters of a flood, and never again shall there be a flood to destroy the earth."

12 God further said, "This is the sign that I set for the covenant between Me and you, and every living creature with you, for all ages to come. 13 I have set My bow in the clouds, and it shall serve as a sign of the covenant between Me and the earth. 14 When I bring clouds over the earth, and the bow appears in the clouds, 15 I will remember My covenant between Me and you and every living creature among all flesh, so that the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh. 16 When the bow is in the clouds, I will see it and remember the everlasting covenant between God and all living creatures, all flesh that is on earth. 17 That," God said to Noah, "shall be the sign of the covenant that I have established between Me and all flesh that is on earth."

18 The sons of Noah who came out of the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth—Ham being the father of Canaan. 19 These three were the sons of Noah, and from these the whole world branched out.

[23]But Shem and Japheth took a cloth, placed it against both their backs and, walking backward, they covered their father's nakedness; their faces were turned the other way, so that they did not see their father's nakedness. [24]When Noah woke up from his wine and learned what his youngest son had done to him, [25]he said,

"Cursed be Canaan;
The lowest of slaves
Shall he be to his brothers."

These are the lines of Shem, Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah: sons were born to them after the Flood.

[2]The descendants of Japheth: Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. [3]The descendants of Gomer: Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah. [4]The descendants of Javan: Elishah and Tarshish, the Kittim and the Dodanim.[a] [5]From these the maritime nations branched out. [These are the descendants of Japheth][b] by their lands—each with its language—their clans and their nations.

[6]The descendants of Ham: Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan. [7]The descendants of Cush:

[8]Cush also begot Nimrod, who was the first man of might on earth. [9]He was a mighty hunter by the grace of the LORD; hence the saying, "Like Nimrod a mighty hunter by the grace of the LORD." [10]The mainstays of his kingdom were Babylon, Erech, Accad, and Calneh[c] in the land of Shinar. [11]From that land Asshur went forth and built Nineveh, Rehoboth-ir, Calah, [12]and Resen between Nineveh and Calah, that is the great city.

[13]And Mizraim begot the Ludim, the Anamim, the Lehabim, the Naphtuhim, [14]the Pathrusim, the Casluhim, and the Caphtorim,[d] whence the Philistines came forth.

[15]Canaan begot Sidon, his first-born, and Heth; [16]and the Jebusites, the Amorites, the Girgashites, [17]the Hivites, the Arkites, the Sinites, [18]the Arvadites, the Zemarites, and the Hamathites. Afterward the clans of the Canaanites spread out. ([19]The [original] Canaanite territory extended from Sidon as far as Gerar, near Gaza, and as far as Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, near Lasha.) [20]These are the descendants of Ham, according to their clans and languages, by their lands and nations.

[21]Sons were also born to Shem, ancestor of all the descendants of Eber and older brother of Japheth. [22]The descendants of Shem: Elam, Asshur, Arpachshad, Lud, and Aram. [23]The descendants of Aram: Uz, Hul, Gether, and Mash. [24]Arpachshad begot Shelah, and Shelah begot Eber. [25]Two sons were born to Eber: the name of the first was Peleg, for in his days the earth was divided;[e] and the name of his brother was Joktan. [26]Joktan begot Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, [27]Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah, [28]Obal, Abimael, Sheba, [29]Ophir, Havilah, and [32]These are the groupings of Noah's descendants, according to their origins, by their nations; and from these the nations branched out over the earth after the Flood.

Everyone on earth had the same language and the same words. [2]And as they migrated from the east, they came upon a valley in the land of Shinar and settled there. [3]They said to one another, "Come, let us make bricks and burn them hard."—Brick served them as stone, and bitumen served them as mortar.— [4]And they said, "Come, let us build us a city, and a tower with its top in the sky, to make a name for ourselves; else we shall be scattered all over the world." [5]The LORD came down to look at the city and tower that man had built, [6]and the LORD said, "If, as one people with one language for all, this is how they have begun to act, then nothing that they may propose to do will be out of their reach. [7]Let us, then, go down and confound their speech there, so that they shall not understand one another's speech." [8]Thus the LORD scattered them from there over the face of the whole earth; and they stopped building the city. [9]That is why it was called Babel,[a] because there the LORD confounded[b] the speech of the whole earth; and from there the LORD scattered them over the face of the whole earth.

after the Flood. [11]After the birth of[c] Arpachshad, Shem lived 500 years and begot sons and daughters.

[12]When Arpachshad had lived 35 years, he begot Shelah. [13]After the birth of Shelah, Arpachshad lived 403 years and begot sons and daughters.

[14]When Shelah had lived 30 years, he begot Eber. [15]After the birth of Eber, Shelah lived 403 years and begot sons and daughters.

[26]When Terah had lived 70 years, he begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran. [27]Now this is the line of Terah: Terah begot Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran begot Lot. [28]Haran died in the lifetime of his father Terah, in his native land, Ur of the Chaldeans. [29]Abram and Nahor took to themselves wives, the name of Abram's wife being Sarai and that of Nahor's wife Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah and Iscah. [30]Now Sarai was barren, she had no child.

[31]Terah took his son Abram, his grandson Lot the son of Haran, and his daughter-in-law Sarai, the wife of his son Abram, and they set out together from Ur of the Chaldeans for the land

12 LEKH LEKHA

The LORD said to Abram, "Go forth from your native land and from your father's house to the land that I will show you.

[2]I will make of you a great nation,
And I will bless you;
I will make your name great,
And you shall be a blessing.[a]
[3]I will bless those who bless you
And curse him that curses you;
And all the families of the earth
Shall bless themselves by you."

[4]Abram went forth as the LORD had commanded him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he left Haran. [5]Abram took his wife Sarai and his brother's son Lot, and all the wealth that they had amassed, and the persons that they had acquired in Haran; and they set out for the land of Canaan. When they arrived in the land of Canaan, [6]Abram passed through the land as far as the site of Shechem, at the terebinth of Moreh. The Canaanites were then in the land.

[7]The LORD appeared to Abram and said, "I will assign this land to your offspring." And he built an altar there to the LORD who had appeared to him. [8]From there he moved on to the hill country east of Bethel and pitched his tent, with Bethel on the west and Ai on the east; and he built there an altar to the LORD and invoked the LORD by name. [9]Then Abram journeyed by stages toward the Negeb.

a I.e., a standard by which blessing is invoked; cf. v. 3 end.

[10]There was a famine in the land, and Abram went down to Egypt to sojourn there, for the famine was severe in the land. [11]As he was about to enter Egypt, he said to his wife Sarai, "I know[b] what a beautiful woman you are. [12]If the Egyptians see you, and think, 'She is his wife,' they will kill me and let you live. [13]Please say that you are my sister, that it may go well with me because of you, and that I may remain alive thanks to you."

[14]When Abram entered Egypt, the Egyptians saw how very beautiful the woman was. [15]Pharaoh's courtiers saw her and praised her to Pharaoh, and the woman was taken into Pharaoh's palace. [16]And because of her, it went well with Abram; he acquired sheep, oxen, asses, male and female slaves, she-asses, and camels.

[17]But the LORD afflicted Pharaoh and his household with mighty plagues on account of Sarai, the wife of Abram. [18]Pharaoh sent for Abram and said, "What is this you have done to me! Why did you not tell me that she was your wife? [19]Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' so that I took her as my wife? Now, here is your wife; take her and begone!" [20]And Pharaoh put men in charge of him, and they sent him off with his wife and all that he possessed.

From Egypt, Abram went up into the Negeb, with his wife and all that he possessed, together with Lot. [2]Now Abram was very rich in cattle, silver, and gold. [3]And he proceeded by stages from the Negeb as far as Bethel, to the place where his tent had been formerly, between Bethel and Ai, [4]the site of the altar that he had built there at first; and there Abram invoked the LORD by name.

[5]Lot, who went with Abram, also had flocks and herds and tents, [6]so that the land could not support them staying together; for their possessions were so great that they could not remain together. 7And there was quarreling between the herdsmen of Abram's cattle and those of Lot's cattle.—The Canaanites and Perizzites were then dwelling in the land.—8Abram said to Lot, "Let there be no strife between you and me, between my herdsmen and yours, for we are kinsmen. 9Is not the whole land before you? Let us separate:[a] if you go north, I will go south; and if you go south, I will go north." 10Lot looked about him and saw how well watered was the whole plain of the Jordan, all of it—this was before the LORD had destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah—all the way to Zoar, like the garden of the LORD, like the land of Egypt. 11So Lot chose for himself the whole plain of the Jordan, and Lot journeyed eastward. Thus they parted from each other; 12Abram remained in the land of Canaan, while Lot settled in the cities of the Plain, pitching his tents near Sodom. 13Now the inhabitants of Sodom were very wicked sinners against the LORD.

14And the LORD said to Abram, after Lot had parted from him, "Raise your eyes and look out from where you are, to the north and south, to the east and west, 15for I give all the land that you see to you and your offspring forever. 16I will make your offspring as the dust of the earth, so that if one can count the dust of the earth, then your offspring too can be counted. 17Up, walk about the land, through its length and its breadth, for I give it to you." 18And Abram moved his tent, and came to dwell at the terebinths of Mamre, which are in Hebron; and he built an altar there to the LORD.

King Bera of Sodom, King Birsha of Gomorrah, King Shinab of Admah, King Shemeber of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar, [3]all the latter joined forces at the Valley of Siddim, now the Dead Sea.[a] [4]Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled. [5]In the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him came and defeated the Rephaim at Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim at Ham, the Emim at Shaveh-kiriathaim, [6]and the Horites in their hill country of Seir as far as El-paran, which is by the wilderness. [7]On their way back they came to En-mishpat, which is Kadesh, and subdued all the territory of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites who dwelt in Hazazon-tamar. [8]Then the king of Sodom, the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar, went forth and engaged them in battle in the Valley of Siddim: [9]King Chedorlaomer of Elam, King Tidal of Goiim, King Amraphel of Shinar, and King Arioch of Ellasar—four kings against those five.

[10]Now the Valley of Siddim was dotted with bitumen pits; and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah, in their flight, threw themselves into them, while the rest escaped to the hill country. [11][The invaders] seized all the wealth of Sodom and Gomorrah and all their provisions, and went their way. [12]They also took Lot, the son of Abram's brother, and his possessions, and departed; for he had settled in Sodom.

[13]A fugitive brought the news to Abram the Hebrew, who was dwelling at the terebinths of Mamre the Amorite, kinsman of Eshkol and Aner, these being Abram's allies. [14]When Abram heard that his kinsman had been taken captive, he mustered his retainers,[b] born into his household, numbering three hundred and eighteen, and went in pursuit as far as Dan. [15]At night, he and his servants deployed against them and defeated them; and he pursued them as far as Hobah, which is north of Damascus. [16]He brought back all the possessions; he also brought back his kinsman Lot and his possessions, and the women and the rest of the people.

[17]When he returned from defeating Chedorlaomer and the kings with him, the king of Sodom came out to meet him in the Valley of Shaveh, which is the Valley of the King. [18]And King Melchizedek of Salem brought out bread and wine; he was a priest of God Most High.[c] [19]He blessed him, saying,

"Blessed be Abram of God Most High,
Creator of heaven and earth.
[20]And blessed be God Most High,
Who has delivered your foes into your hand."

And [Abram] gave him a tenth of everything.

[21]Then the king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the persons, and take the possessions for yourself." [22]But Abram said to the king of Sodom, "I swear[d] to the LORD, God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth: [23]I will not take so much as a thread or a sandal strap of what is yours; you shall not say, 'It is I who made Abram rich.' [24]For me, nothing but what my servants have used up; as for the share of the men who went with me—Aner, Eshkol, and Mamre—let them take their share."

Eliezer!"-[a] [3]Abram said further, "Since You have granted me no offspring, my steward will be my heir." [4]The word of the LORD came to him in reply, "That one shall not be your heir; none but your very own issue shall be your heir." [5]He took him outside and said, "Look toward heaven and count the stars, if you are able to count them." And He added, "So shall your offspring be." [6]And because he put his trust in the LORD, He reckoned it to his merit.

[7]Then He said to him, "I am the LORD who brought you out from Ur of the Chaldeans to assign this land to you as a possession." [8]And he said, "O Lord GOD, how shall I know that I am to possess it?" [9]He answered, "Bring Me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old she-goat, a three-year-old ram, a turtledove, and a young bird." [10]He brought Him all these and cut them in two, placing each half opposite the other; but he did not cut up the bird. [11]Birds of prey came down upon the carcasses, and Abram drove them away. [12]As the sun was about to set, a deep sleep fell upon Abram, and a great dark dread descended upon him. [13]And He said to Abram, "Know well that your offspring shall be strangers in a land not theirs, and they shall be enslaved and oppressed four hundred years; [14]but I will execute judgment on the nation they shall serve, and in the end they shall go free with great wealth. [15]As for you,

You shall go to your fathers in peace;
You shall be buried at a ripe old age.

[16]And they shall return here in the fourth generation, for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet complete."

[17]When the sun set and it was very dark, there appeared a smoking oven, and a flaming torch which passed between those pieces. [18]On that day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying, "To your offspring I assign this land, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Euphrates: [19]the Kenites, the Kenizzites, the Sarai, Abram's wife, had borne him no children. She had an Egyptian maidservant whose name was Hagar. [2]And Sarai said to Abram, "Look, the LORD has kept me from bearing. Consort with my maid; perhaps I shall have a son[a] through her." And Abram heeded Sarai's request. [3]So Sarai, Abram's wife, took her maid, Hagar the Egyptian—after Abram had dwelt in the land of Canaan ten years—and gave her to her husband Abram as concubine. [4]He cohabited with Hagar and she conceived; and when she saw that she had conceived, her mistress was lowered in her esteem. [5]And Sarai said to Abram, "The wrong done me is your fault! I myself put my maid in your bosom; now that she sees that she is pregnant, I am lowered in her esteem. The LORD decide between you and me!" [6]Abram said to Sarai, "Your maid is in your hands. Deal with her as you think right." Then Sarai treated her harshly, and she ran away from her.

[7]An angel of the LORD found her by a spring of water in the wilderness, the spring on the road to Shur, [8]and said, "Hagar, slave of Sarai, where have you come from, and where are you going?" And she said, "I am running away from my mistress Sarai."

[9]And the angel of the LORD said to her, "Go back to your mistress, and submit to her harsh treatment." [10]And the angel of the LORD said to her,

"I will greatly increase your offspring,
And they shall be too many to count."

[11]The angel of the LORD said to her further,
"Behold, you are with child you and your offspring to come, all the land of Canaan, as an everlasting holding. I will be their God."

9God further said to Abraham, "As for you, you and your offspring to come throughout the ages shall keep My covenant. 10Such shall be the covenant between Me and you and your offspring to follow which you shall keep: every male among you shall be circumcised. 11You shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskin, and that shall be the sign of the covenant between Me and you. 12And throughout the generations, every male among you shall be circumcised at the age of eight days. As for the homeborn slave and the one bought from an outsider who is not of your offspring, 13they must be circumcised, homeborn, and purchased alike. Thus shall My covenant be marked in your flesh as an everlasting pact. 14And if any male who is uncircumcised fails to circumcise the flesh of his foreskin, that person shall be cut off from his kin; he has broken My covenant."

15And God said to Abraham, "As for your wife Sarai, you shall not call her Sarai, but her name shall be Sarah.[c] 16I will bless her; indeed, I will give you a son by her. I will bless her so that she shall give rise to nations; rulers of peoples shall issue from her." 17Abraham threw himself on his face and laughed, as he said to himself, "Can a child be born to a man a hundred years old, or can Sarah bear a child at ninety?" 18And Abraham said to God, "O that Ishmael might live by Your favor!" 19God said, "Nevertheless, Sarah your wife shall bear you a son, and you shall name him Isaac;[d] and I will maintain My covenant with him as an everlasting covenant for his offspring to come. 20As for Ishmael, I have heeded you.[e] I hereby bless him. The LORD appeared to him by the terebinths of Mamre; he was sitting at the entrance of the tent as the day grew hot. [2]Looking up, he saw three men standing near him. As soon as he saw them, he ran from the entrance of the tent to greet them and, bowing to the ground, [3]he said, "My lords,[a] if it please you, do not go on past your servant. [4]Let a little water be brought; bathe your feet and recline under the tree. [5]And let me fetch a morsel of bread that you may refresh yourselves; then go on—seeing that you have come your servant's way." They replied, "Do as you have said."

[6]Abraham hastened into the tent to Sarah, and said, "Quick, three *seah*s of choice flour! Knead and make cakes!" [7]Then Abraham ran to the herd, took a calf, tender and choice, and gave it to a servant-boy, who hastened to prepare it. [8]He took curds and milk and the calf that had been prepared and set these before them; and he waited on them under the tree as they ate.

[9]They said to him, "Where is your wife Sarah?" And he replied, "There, in the tent." [10]Then one said, "I will return to you next year,[b] and your wife Sarah shall have a son!" Sarah was listening at the entrance of the tent, which was behind him. [11]Now Abraham and Sarah were old, advanced in years; Sarah had stopped having the periods of women. [12]And Sarah laughed to herself, saying, "Now that I am withered, am I to have enjoyment—with my husband so old?" [13]Then the LORD said to Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh, saying, 'Shall I in truth bear a child, old as I am?' [14]Is anything too wondrous for the LORD? I will return to you at the same season next year, and Sarah shall have a son." [15]Sarah lied, saying, "I did not laugh," for she was frightened. But He replied, "You did laugh."

[16]The men set out from there and looked down toward Sodom, Abraham walking with them to see them off. [17]Now the LORD had said, "Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, [18]since Abraham is to become a great and populous nation and all the nations of the earth are to bless themselves by him? [19]For I have singled him out, that he may instruct his children and his posterity to keep the way of the LORD by doing what is just and right, in order that the LORD may bring about for Abraham what He has promised him." [20]Then the LORD said, "The outrage of Sodom and Gomorrah is so great, and their sin so grave! [21]I will go down to see whether they have acted altogether according to the outcry that has reached Me; if not, I will take note."

[22]The men went on from there to Sodom, while Abraham remained standing before the LORD. [23]Abraham came forward and said, "Will You sweep away the innocent along with the guilty? 24What if there should be fifty innocent within the city; will You then wipe out the place and not forgive it for the sake of the innocent fifty who are in it? 25Far be it from You to do such a thing, to bring death upon the innocent as well as the guilty, so that innocent and guilty fare alike. Far be it from You! Shall not the Judge of all the earth deal justly?" 26And the LORD answered, "If I find within the city of Sodom fifty innocent ones, I will forgive the whole place for their sake." 27Abraham spoke up, saying, "Here I venture to speak to my Lord, I who am but dust and ashes: 28What if the fifty innocent should lack five? Will You destroy the whole city for want of the five?" And He answered, "I will not destroy if I find forty-five there." 29But he spoke to Him again, and said, "What if forty should be found there?" And He answered, "I will not do it, for the sake of the forty." 30And he said, "Let not my Lord be angry if I go on: What if thirty should be found there?" And He answered, "I will not do it if I find thirty there." 31And he said, "I venture again to speak to my Lord: What if twenty should be found there?" And He answered, "I will not destroy, for the sake of the twenty." 32And he said, "Let not my Lord be angry if I speak but this last time: What if ten should be found there?" And He answered, "I will not destroy, for the sake of the ten."

33When the LORD had finished speaking to Abraham, He departed; and Abraham returned to his place.

The two angels arrived in Sodom in the evening, as Lot was sitting in the gate of Sodom. When Lot saw them, he rose to greet them and, bowing low with his face to the ground, 2he said, "Please, my lords, turn aside to your servant's house to spend the night, and bathe your feet; then you may be on your way early." But they said, "No, we will spend the night in the square." 3But he urged them strongly, so they turned his way and entered his house. He prepared a feast for them and baked unleavened bread, and they ate.

4They had not yet lain down, when the townspeople, the men of Sodom, young and old—all the people to the last man—gathered about the house. 5And they shouted to Lot and said to him, "Where are the men who came to you tonight? Bring them out to us, that we may be intimate with them." 6So Lot went out to them to the entrance, shut the door behind him, 7and said, "I beg you, my friends, do not commit such a wrong. 8Look, I have two daughters who have not known a man. Let me bring them out to you, and you may do to them as you please; but do not do anything to these men, since they have come under the shelter of my roof." 9But they said, "Stand back! The fellow," they said, "came here as an alien, and already he acts the ruler! Now we will deal worse with you than with them." And they pressed hard against the person of Lot, and moved forward to break the door. 10But the men stretched out their hands and pulled Lot into the house with them, and shut the door. 11And the people who were at the entrance of the house, young and old, they struck with blinding light, so that they were helpless to find the entrance.

12Then the men said to Lot, "Whom else have you here? Sons-in-law, your sons and daughters, or anyone else that you have in the city—bring them out of the place. 13For we are about to destroy this place; because the outcry against them before the LORD has become so great that the LORD has sent us to destroy it." 14So Lot went out and spoke to his sons-in-law, who had married his daughters, and said, "Up, get out of this place, for the LORD is about to destroy the city." But he seemed to his sons-in-law as one who jests.

[15]As dawn broke, the angels urged Lot on, saying, "Up, take your wife and your two remaining daughters, lest you be swept away because of the iniquity of the city." [16]Still he delayed. So the men seized his hand, and the hands of his wife and his two daughters—in the LORD's mercy on him—and brought him out and left him outside the city. [17]When they had brought them outside, one said, "Flee for your life! Do not look behind you, nor stop anywhere in the Plain; flee to the hills, lest you be swept away." [18]But Lot said to them, "Oh no, my lord! [19]You have been so gracious to your servant, and have already shown me so much kindness in order to save my life; but I cannot flee to the hills, lest the disaster overtake me and I die. [20]Look, that town there is near enough to flee to; it is such a little place! Let me flee there—it is such a little place—and let my life be saved." [21]He replied, "Very well, I will grant you this favor too, and I will not annihilate the town of which you have spoken. [22]Hurry, flee there, for I cannot do anything until you arrive there." Hence the town came to be called Zoar.[a]

[23]As the sun rose upon the earth and Lot entered Zoar, [24]the LORD rained upon Sodom and Gomorrah sulfurous fire from the LORD out of heaven. [25]He annihilated those cities and the entire Plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities and the vegetation of the ground. [26]Lot's[b] wife looked back,[c] and she thereupon turned into a pillar of salt.

[27]Next morning, Abraham hurried to the place where he had stood before the LORD, [28]and, looking down toward Sodom and Gomorrah and all the land of the Plain, he saw the smoke of the land rising like the smoke of a kiln.

[29]Thus it was that, when God destroyed the cities of the Plain and annihilated the cities where Lot dwelt, God was mindful of Abraham and removed Lot from the midst of the upheaval.

[30]Lot went up from Zoar and settled in the hill country with his two daughters, for he was afraid to dwell in Zoar; and he and his two daughters lived in a cave. [31]And the older one said to the younger, "Our father is old, and there is not a man on earth to consort with us in the way of all the world. [32]Come, let us make our father drink wine, and let us lie with him, that we may maintain life through our father." [33]That night they made their father drink wine, and the older one went in and lay with her father; he did not know when she lay down or when she rose. [34]The next day the older one said to the younger, "See, I lay with Father last night; let us make him drink wine tonight also, and you go and lie with him, that we may maintain life through our father." [35]That night also they made their father drink wine, and the younger one went and lay with him; he did not know when she lay down or when she rose.

[36]Thus the two daughters of Lot came to be with child by their father. [37]The older one bore a son and named him Moab;[d] he is the father of the Moabites of today. [38]And the younger also bore a son, and she called him Ben-ammi;[e] he is the father of the Ammonites of today.

Abraham journeyed from there to the region of the Negeb and settled between Kadesh and Shur. While he was sojourning in Gerar, [2]Abraham said of Sarah his wife, "She is my sister." So King Abimelech of Gerar had Sarah brought to him. [3]But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night and said to him, "You are to die because of the woman that you have taken, for she is a married woman." [4]Now

Abimelech had not approached her. He said, "O Lord, will You slay people even though innocent? [5]He himself said to me, 'She is my sister!' And she also said, 'He is my brother.' When I did this, my heart was blameless and my hands were clean." [6]And God said to him in the dream, "I knew that you did this with a blameless heart, and so I kept you from sinning against Me. That was why I did not let you touch her. [7]Therefore, restore the man's wife—since he is a prophet, he will intercede for you—to save your life. If you fail to restore her, know that you shall die, you and all that are yours."

[8]Early next morning, Abimelech called his servants and told them all that had happened; and the men were greatly frightened. [9]Then Abimelech summoned Abraham and said to him, "What have you done to us? What wrong have I done that you should bring so great a guilt upon me and my kingdom? You have done to me things that ought not to be done. [10]What, then," Abimelech demanded of Abraham, "was your purpose in doing this thing?" [11]"I thought," said Abraham, "surely there is no fear of God in this place, and they will kill me because of my wife. [12]And besides, she is in truth my sister, my father's daughter though not my mother's; and she became my wife. [13]So when God made me wander from my father's house, I said to her, 'Let this be the kindness that you shall do me: whatever place we come to, say there of me: He is my brother.'"

[14]Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and male and female slaves, and gave them to Abraham; and he restored his wife Sarah to him. [15]And Abimelech said, "Here, my land is before you; settle wherever you please." [16]And to Sarah he said, "I herewith give your brother a thousand pieces of silver; this will serve you as vindication[a] before all who are with you, and

21 The LORD took note of Sarah as He had promised, and the LORD did for Sarah as He had spoken. [2]Sarah conceived and bore a son to Abraham in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken. [3]Abraham gave his newborn son, whom Sarah had borne him, the name of Isaac. [4]And when his son Isaac was eight days old, Abraham circumcised him, as God had commanded him. [5]Now Abraham was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him. [6]Sarah said, "God has brought me laughter; everyone who hears will laugh with[a] me." [7]And she added,

"Who would have said to Abraham
That Sarah would suckle children!
Yet I have borne a son in his old age."

[8]The child grew up and was weaned, and Abraham held a great feast on the day that Isaac was weaned.

[9]Sarah saw the son whom Hagar the Egyptian had borne to Abraham playing. [10]She said to Abraham, "Cast out that slave-woman and her son, for the son of that slave shall not share in the inheritance with my son Isaac." [11]The matter distressed Abraham greatly, for it concerned a son of his. [12]But God said to Abraham, "Do not be distressed over the boy or your slave; whatever Sarah tells you, do as she says, for it is through Isaac that offspring shall be continued[b] for you. [13]As for the son of the slave-woman, I will make a nation of him, too, for he is your seed."

14Early next morning Abraham took some bread and a skin of water, and gave them to Hagar. He placed them over her shoulder, together with the child, and sent her away. And she wandered about in the wilderness of Beer-sheba. 15When the water was gone from the skin, she left the child under one of the bushes, 16and went and sat down at a distance, a bowshot away; for she thought, "Let me not look on as the child dies." And sitting thus afar, she burst into tears.

17God heard the cry of the boy, and an angel of God called to Hagar from heaven and said to her, "What troubles you, Hagar? Fear not, for God has heeded the cry of the boy where he is. 18Come, lift up the boy and hold him by the hand, for I will make a great nation of him." 19Then God opened her eyes and she saw a well of water. She went and filled the skin with water, and let the boy drink. 20God was with the boy and he grew up; he dwelt in the wilderness and became a bowman. 21He lived in the wilderness of Paran; and his mother got a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

22At that time Abimelech and Phicol, chief of his troops, said to Abraham, "God is with you in everything that you do. 23Therefore swear to me here by God that you will not deal falsely with me or with my kith and kin, but will deal with me and with the land in which you have sojourned as loyally as I have dealt with you." 24And Abraham said, "I swear it."

25Then Abraham reproached Abimelech for the well of water which the servants of Abimelech had seized. 26But Abimelech said, "I do not know who did this; you did not tell me, nor have I heard of it until today." 27Abraham took sheep and oxen and gave them to Abimelech, and the two of them made a pact. 28Abraham then set seven ewes of the flock by themselves, [29]and Abimelech said to Abraham, "What mean these seven ewes which you have set apart?" [30]He replied, "You are to accept these seven ewes from me as proof that I dug this well." [31]Hence that place was called Beer-sheba,[c] for there the two of them swore an oath. [32]When they had concluded the pact at Beer-sheba, Abimelech and Phicol, chief of his troops, departed and returned to the land of the Philistines. [33][Abraham] planted a tamarisk at Beer-sheba, and invoked there the name of the LORD, the Everlasting God. [34]And Abraham resided in the land of the Philistines a long time.

Some time afterward, God put Abraham to the test. He said to him, "Abraham," and he answered, "Here I am." [2]And He said, "Take your son, your favored one, Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a burnt offering on one of the heights that I will point out to you." [3]So early next morning, Abraham saddled his ass and took with him two of his servants and his son Isaac. He split the wood for the burnt offering, and he set out for the place of which God had told him. [4]On the third day Abraham looked up and saw the place from afar. [5]Then Abraham said to his servants, "You stay here with the ass. The boy and I will go up there; we will worship and we will return to you."

[6]Abraham took the wood for the burnt offering and put it on his son Isaac. He himself took the firestone[a] and the knife; and the two walked off together. [7]Then Isaac said to his father Abraham, "Father!" And he answered, "Yes, my son." And he said, "Here are the firestone and the wood; but where is the sheep for the burnt offering?" [8]And Abraham said,

"God will see to the sheep for His burnt offering, my son." And the two of them walked on together.

9They arrived at the place of which God had told him. Abraham built an altar there; he laid out the wood; he bound his son Isaac; he laid him on the altar, on top of the wood. 10And Abraham picked up the knife to slay his son. 11Then an angel of the LORD called to him from heaven: "Abraham! Abraham!" And he answered, "Here I am." 12And he said, "Do not raise your hand against the boy, or do anything to him. For now I know that you fear God, since you have not withheld your son, your favored one, from Me." 13When Abraham looked up, his eye fell upon a[b] ram, caught in the thicket by its horns. So Abraham went and took the ram and offered it up as a burnt offering in place of his son. 14And Abraham named that site Adonai-yireh,[c] whence the present saying, "On the mount of the LORD there is vision."[d]

15The angel of the LORD called to Abraham a second time from heaven, 16and said, "By Myself I swear, the LORD declares: Because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your favored one, 17I will bestow My blessing upon you and make your descendants as numerous as the stars of heaven and the sands on the seashore; and your descendants shall seize the gates of their foes. 18All the nations of the earth shall bless themselves by your descendants, because you have obeyed My command." 19Abraham then returned to his servants, and they departed together for Beer-sheba; and Abraham stayed in Beer-sheba.

23 ḤAYYEI SARAH

Sarah's lifetime—the span of Sarah's life—came to one hundred and twenty-seven years. [2]Sarah died in Kiriath-arba—now Hebron—in the land of Canaan; and Abraham proceeded to mourn for Sarah and to bewail her. [3]Then Abraham rose from beside his dead, and spoke to the Hittites, saying, [4]"I am a resident alien among you; sell me a burial site among you, that I may remove my dead for burial." [5]And the Hittites replied to Abraham, saying to him, [6]"Hear us, my lord: you are the elect of God among us. Bury your dead in the choicest of our burial places; none of us will withhold his burial place from you for burying your dead." [7]Thereupon Abraham bowed low to the people of the land, the Hittites, [8]and he said to them, "If it is your wish that I remove my dead for burial, you must agree to intercede for me with Ephron son of Zohar. [9]Let him sell me the cave of Machpelah that he owns, which is at the edge of his land. Let him sell it to me, at the full price, for a burial site in your midst."

[10]Ephron was present among the Hittites; so Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the hearing of the Hittites, all who entered the gate of his town,[a] saying, [11]"No, my lord, hear me: I give you the field and I give you the cave that is in it; I give it to you in the presence of my people. Bury your dead." [12]Then Abraham bowed low before the people of the land, [13]and spoke to Ephron in the hearing of the people of the land, saying, "If only you would hear me out! Let me pay the price of the land; accept it from me, that I may bury my dead there." [14]And Ephron replied to Abraham, saying to him, [15]"My lord, do hear me! A piece of land worth four hundred shekels of silver—what is that between you and me? Go and bury your dead." [16]Abraham accepted Ephron's terms. Abraham paid out to Ephron the money that he had named in the hearing of the Hittites—four hundred shekels of silver at the going merchants' rate.

[17]So Ephron's land in Machpelah, near Mamre—the field with its cave and all the trees anywhere within the confines of that field—passed [18]to Abraham as his possession, in the presence of the Hittites, of all who entered the gate of his town.[a] [19]And then Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the cave of the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre—now Hebron—in the land of Canaan. [20]Thus the field with its cave passed from the Hittites to Abraham, as a burial site.

Abraham was now old, advanced in years, and the LORD had blessed Abraham in all things. [2]And Abraham said to the senior servant of his household, who had charge of all that he owned, "Put your hand under my thigh [3]and I will make you swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I dwell, [4]but will go to the land of my birth and get a wife for my son Isaac." [5]And the servant said to him, "What if the woman does not consent to follow me to this land, shall I then take your son back to the land from which you came?" [6]Abraham answered him, "On no account must you take

[8]And if the woman does not consent to follow you, you shall then be clear of this oath to me; but do not take my son back there." [9]So the servant put his hand under the thigh of his master Abraham and swore to him as bidden.[a]

[10]Then the servant took ten of his master's camels and set out, taking with him all the bounty of his master; and he made his way to Aram-naharaim, to the city of Nahor. [11]He made the camels kneel down by the well outside the city, at evening time, the time when women come out to draw water. [12]And he said, "O LORD, God of my master Abraham, grant me good fortune this day, and deal graciously with my master Abraham: [13]Here I stand by the spring as the daughters of the townsmen come out to draw water; [14]let the maiden to whom I say, 'Please, lower your jar that I may drink,' and who replies, 'Drink, and I will also water your camels'—let her be the one whom You have decreed for Your servant Isaac. Thereby shall I know that You have dealt graciously with my master."

[15]He had scarcely finished speaking, when Rebekah, who was born to Bethuel, the son of Milcah the wife of Abraham's brother Nahor, came out with her jar on her shoulder. [16]The maiden was very beautiful, a virgin whom no man had known. She went down to the spring, filled her jar, and came up. [17]The servant ran toward her and said, "Please, let me sip a little water from your jar." [18]"Drink, my lord," she said, and she quickly lowered her jar upon her hand and let him drink. camels, until they finish drinking." 20Quickly emptying her jar into the trough, she ran back to the well to draw, and she drew for all his camels.

21The man, meanwhile, stood gazing at her, silently wondering whether the LORD had made his errand successful or not. 22When the camels had finished drinking, the man took a gold nose-ring weighing a half-shekel,[b] and two gold bands for her arms, ten shekels in weight. 23"Pray tell me," he said, "whose daughter are you? Is there room in your father's house for us to spend the night?" 24She replied, "I am the daughter of Bethuel the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor." 25And she went on, "There is plenty of straw[c] and feed at home, and also room to spend the night." 26The man bowed low in homage to the LORD 27and said, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who has not withheld His steadfast faithfulness from my master. For I have been guided on my errand by the LORD, to the house of my master's kinsmen."

28The maiden ran and told all this to her mother's household. 29Now Rebekah had a brother whose name was Laban. Laban ran out to the man at the spring—30when he saw the nose-ring and the bands on his sister's arms, and when he heard his sister Rebekah say, "Thus the man spoke to me." He went up to the man, who was still standing beside the camels at the spring. 31"Come in, O blessed of the LORD," he said, "why do you remain outside, when I have made ready the house and a place for the camels?" 32So the man entered the house, and the camels were unloaded. The camels were given straw and feed, and water was brought to bathe his feet and the feet of the men with him. 33But when food was set before him, he said, "I will not eat until I have told my tale." He said, "Speak, then."

34"I am Abraham's servant," he began. 35"The Lord has greatly blessed my master, and he has become rich: He has given him sheep and cattle, silver and gold, male and female slaves, camels and asses. 36And Sarah, my master's wife, bore my master a son in her old age, and he has assigned to him everything he owns. 37Now my master made me swear, saying, 'You shall not get a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites in whose land I dwell; 38but you shall go to my father's house, to my kindred, and get a wife for my son.' 39And I said to my master, 'What if the woman does not follow me?' 40He replied to me, 'The Lord, whose ways I have followed, will send His angel with you and make your errand successful; and you will get a wife for my son from my kindred, from my father's house. 41Thus only shall you be freed from my adjuration: if, when you come to my kindred, they refuse you—only then shall you be freed from my adjuration.'

42"I came today to the spring, and I said: O Lord, God of my master Abraham, if You would indeed grant success to the errand on which I am engaged! 43As I stand by the spring of water, let the young woman who comes out to draw and to whom I say, 'Please, let me drink a little water from your jar,' 44and who answers, 'You may drink, and I will also draw for your camels'—let her be the wife whom the Lord has decreed for my master's son.' 45I had scarcely finished praying in my heart, when Rebekah came out with her jar on her shoulder, and went down to the spring and drew. And I said to her, 'Please give me a drink.' 46She quickly lowered her jar and said, 'Drink, and I will also water your camels.' So I drank, and she also watered the camels. 47I inquired of her, 'Whose daughter are you?' And she said, 'The daughter of the camels, and followed the man. So the servant took Rebekah and went his way.

[62]Isaac had just come back from the vicinity of Beer-lahai-roi, for he was settled in the region of the Negeb. [63]And Isaac went out walking[e] in the field toward evening and, looking up, he saw camels approaching. [64]Raising her eyes, Rebekah saw Isaac. She alighted from the camel [65]and said to the servant, "Who is that man walking in the field toward us?" And the servant said, "That is my master." So she took her veil and covered herself. [66]The servant told Isaac all the things that he had done. [67]Isaac then brought her into the tent of his mother Sarah, and he took Rebekah as his wife. Isaac loved her, and thus found comfort after his mother's death.

Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah. [2]She bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. [3]Jokshan begot Sheba and Dedan. The descendants of Dedan were the Asshurim, the Letushim, and the Leummim. [4]The descendants of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Enoch,[a] Abida, and Eldaah. All these were descendants of Keturah. [5]Abraham willed all that he owned to Isaac; [6]but to Abraham's sons by concubines Abraham gave gifts while he was still living, and he sent them away from his son Isaac eastward, to the land of the East.

[7]This was the total span of Abraham's life: one hundred and seventy-five years. [8]And Abraham breathed his last, dying at a good ripe age, old and contented; and he was gathered to his kin. [9]His sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron son of Zohar the Hittite, facing Mamre, [10]the field that Abraham had bought from the Hittites; there Abraham was buried, and Sarah his wife. [11]After the death of Abraham, God blessed his son Isaac. And Isaac settled near Beer-lahai-roi.

[12]This is the line of Ishmael, Abraham's son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's slave, bore to Abraham. [13]These are the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, in the order of their birth: Nebaioth, the first-born of Ishmael, Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, [14]Mishma, Dumah, Massa, [15]Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedmah. [16]These are the sons of Ishmael and these are their names by their villages and by their encampments: twelve chieftains of as many tribes.—[17]These were the years of the life of Ishmael: one hundred and thirty-seven years; then he breathed his last and died, and was gathered to his kin.—[18]They dwelt from Havilah, by Shur, which is close to Egypt, all the way to Asshur; they camped alongside all their kinsmen.

TOLEDOT

[19]This is the story of Isaac, son of Abraham. Abraham begot Isaac. [20]Isaac was forty years old when he took to wife Rebekah, daughter of Bethuel the Aramean of Paddan-aram, sister of Laban the Aramean. [21]Isaac pleaded with the LORD on behalf of his wife, because she was barren; and the LORD responded to his plea, and his wife Rebekah conceived. [22]But the children struggled in her womb, and she said, "If so, why do I exist?"[b] She went to inquire of the LORD, [23]and the LORD answered her,

"Two nations are in your womb,
Two separate peoples shall issue from your body;
One people shall be mightier than the other,
And the older shall serve the younger."

[24]When her time to give birth was at hand, there were twins in her womb. 25The first one emerged red, like a hairy mantle all over; so they named him Esau.[c] 26Then his brother emerged, holding on to the heel of Esau; so they named him Jacob.[d] Isaac was sixty years old when they were born.

27When the boys grew up, Esau became a skillful hunter, a man of the outdoors; but Jacob was a mild man who stayed in camp. 28Isaac favored Esau because [e]he had a taste for game;[-e] but Rebekah favored Jacob. 29Once when Jacob was cooking a stew, Esau came in from the open, famished. 30And Esau said to Jacob, "Give me some of that red stuff to gulp down, for I am famished"—which is why he was named Edom.[f] 31Jacob said, "First sell me your birthright." 32And Esau said, "I am at the point of death, so of what use is my birthright to me?" 33But Jacob said, "Swear to me first." So he swore to him, and sold his birthright to Jacob. 34Jacob then gave Esau bread and lentil stew; he ate and drank, and he rose and went away. Thus did Esau spurn the birthright.

There was a famine in the land—aside from the previous famine that had occurred in the days of Abraham—and Isaac went to Abimelech, king of the Philistines, in Gerar. 2The LORD had appeared to him and said, "Do not go down to Egypt; stay in the land which I point out to you. 3Reside in this land, and I will be with you and bless you; I will assign all these lands to you and to your heirs, fulfilling the oath that I swore to your father Abraham. 4I will make your heirs as numerous as the stars of heaven, and assign to your heirs all these lands, so that all the nations of the earth shall bless themselves by your heirs—5inasmuch as Abraham obeyed Me and kept My charge: My commandments, My laws, and My teachings."

[6]So Isaac stayed in Gerar. [7]When the men of the place asked him about his wife, he said, "She is my sister," for he was afraid to say "my wife," thinking, "The men of the place might kill me on account of Rebekah, for she is beautiful." [8]When some time had passed, Abimelech king of the Philistines, looking out of the window, saw Isaac fondling his wife Rebekah. [9]Abimelech sent for Isaac and said, "So she is your wife! Why then did you say: 'She is my sister?'" Isaac said to him, "Because I thought I might lose my life on account of her." [10]Abimelech said, "What have you done to us! One of the people might have lain with your wife, and you would have brought guilt upon us." [11]Abimelech then charged all the people, saying, "Anyone who molests this man or his wife shall be put to death."

[12]Isaac sowed in that land and reaped a hundredfold the same year. The LORD blessed him, [13]and the man grew richer and richer until he was very wealthy: [14]he acquired flocks and herds, and a large household, so that the Philistines envied him. [15]And the Philistines stopped up all the wells which his father's servants had dug in the days of his father Abraham, filling them with earth. [16]And Abimelech said to Isaac, "Go away from us, for you have become far too big for us."

[17]So Isaac departed from there and encamped in the wadi of Gerar, where he settled. [18]Isaac dug anew the wells which had been dug in the days of his father Abraham and which the Philistines had stopped up after Abraham's death; and he gave them the same names that his father had given them. [19]But when Isaac's servants, digging in the wadi, found there a well of spring water, [20]the herdsmen of Gerar quarreled with Isaac's herdsmen, saying, "The water is ours."

He named that well Esek,[a] because they contended with him. [21]And when they dug another well, they disputed over that one also; so he named it Sitnah.[b] [22]He moved from there and dug yet another well, and they did not quarrel over it; so he called it Rehoboth, saying, "Now at last the LORD has granted us ample space[c] to increase in the land."

[23]From there he went up to Beer-sheba. [24]That night the LORD appeared to him and said, "I am the God of your father Abraham. Fear not, for I am with you, and I will bless you and increase your offspring for the sake of My servant Abraham." [25]So he built an altar there and invoked the LORD by name. Isaac pitched his tent there and his servants started digging a well. [26]And Abimelech came to him from Gerar, with Ahuzzath his councilor and Phicol chief of his troops. [27]Isaac said to them, "Why have you come to me, seeing that you have been hostile to me and have driven me away from you?" [28]And they said, "We now see plainly that the LORD has been with you, and we thought: Let there be a sworn treaty between our two parties, between you and us. Let us make a pact with you [29]that you will not do us harm, just as we have not molested you but have always dealt kindly with you and sent you away in peace. From now on, be you blessed of the LORD!" [30]Then he made for them a feast, and they ate and drank.

[31]Early in the morning, they exchanged oaths. Isaac then bade them farewell, and they departed from him in peace. [32]That same day Isaac's servants came and told him about the well they had dug, and said to him, "We have found water!" [33]He named it Shibah;[d] therefore the name of the city is Beer-sheba to this day.

[34]When Esau was forty years old, he took to wife Judith daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath daughter of Elon the Hittite; [35]and they were a source of bitterness to Isaac and Rebekah.

When Isaac was old and his eyes were too dim to see, he called his older son Esau and said to him, "My son." He answered, "Here I am." [2]And he said, "I am old now, and I do not know how soon I may die. [3]Take your gear, your quiver and bow, and go out into the open and hunt me some game. [4]Then prepare a dish for me such as I like, and bring it to me to eat, so that I may give you my innermost blessing before I die."

[5]Rebekah had been listening as Isaac spoke to his son Esau. When Esau had gone out into the open to hunt game to bring home, [6]Rebekah said to her son Jacob, "I overheard your father speaking to your brother Esau, saying, [7]'Bring me some game and prepare a dish for me to eat, that I may bless you, with the LORD's approval, before I die.' [8]Now, my son, listen carefully as I instruct you. [9]Go to the flock and fetch me two choice kids, and I will make of them a dish for your father, such as he likes. [10]Then take it to your father to eat, in order that he may bless you before he dies." [11]Jacob answered his mother Rebekah, "But my brother Esau is a hairy man and I am smooth-skinned. [12]If my father touches me, I shall appear to him as a trickster and bring upon myself a curse, not a blessing." [13]But his mother said to him, "Your curse, my son, be upon me! Just do as I say and go fetch them for me."

[14]He got them and brought them to his mother, and his mother prepared a dish such as his father liked. [15]Rebekah then took the best clothes of her older son Esau, which were there in the house, and had her younger son Jacob put them on; [16]and she covered his hands and the hairless part of his neck with the skins of the kids. [17]Then she put in the hands of her son Jacob the dish and the bread that she had prepared.

[18]He went to his father and said, "Father." And he said, "Yes, which of my sons are you?" [19]Jacob said to his father, "I am Esau, your first-born; I have done as you told me. Pray sit up and eat of my game, that you may give me your innermost blessing." [20]Isaac said to his son, "How did you succeed so quickly, my son?" And he said, "Because the LORD your God granted me good fortune." [21]Isaac said to Jacob, "Come closer that I may feel you, my son—whether you are really my son Esau or not." [22]So Jacob drew close to his father Isaac, who felt him and wondered. "The voice is the voice of Jacob, yet the hands are the hands of Esau." [23]He did not recognize him, because his hands were hairy like those of his brother Esau; and so he blessed him.

[24]He asked, "Are you really my son Esau?" And when he said, "I am," [25]he said, "Serve me and let me eat of my son's game that I may give you my innermost blessing." So he served him and he ate, and he brought him wine and he drank. [26]Then his father Isaac said to him, "Come close and kiss me, my son"; [27]and he went up and kissed him. And he smelled his clothes and he blessed him, saying, "Ah, the smell of my son is like the smell of the fields that the LORD has blessed.

[30]No sooner had Jacob left the presence of his father Isaac—after Isaac had finished blessing Jacob—than his brother Esau came back from his hunt. [31]He too prepared a dish and brought it to his father. And he said to his father, "Let my father sit up and eat of his son's game, so that you may give me your innermost blessing." [32]His father Isaac said to him, "Who are you?" And he said, "I am your son, Esau, your first-born!" [33]Isaac was seized with very violent trembling. "Who was it then," he demanded, "that hunted game and brought it to me? Moreover, I ate of it before you came, and I blessed him; now he must remain blessed!" [34]When Esau heard his father's words, he burst into wild and bitter sobbing, and said to his father, "Bless me too, Father!" [35]But he answered, "Your brother came with guile and took away your blessing." [36][Esau] said, "Was he, then, named Jacob that he might supplant[a] me these two times? First he took away my birthright and now he has taken away my blessing!" And he added, "Have you not reserved a blessing for me?" [37]Isaac answered, saying to Esau, "But I have made him master over you: I have given him all his brothers for servants, and sustained him with grain and wine. What, then, can I still do for you, my son?" [38]And Esau said to his father, "Have you but one blessing, Father? Bless me too, Father!" And Esau wept aloud. [39]And his father Isaac answered, saying to him,

"See, your abode shall [b]enjoy the fat of the earth
And[b] the dew of heaven above.
[40]Yet by your sword you shall live,
And you shall serve your brother;
But when you grow restive,
You shall break his yoke from your neck."

[41]Now Esau harbored a grudge against Jacob because of the blessing which his father had given him, and Esau said to himself, "Let but the mourning period of my father come, and I will kill my brother Jacob." [42]When the words of her older son Esau were reported to Rebekah, she sent for her younger son Jacob and said to him, "Your brother Esau is consoling himself by planning to kill you. [43]Now, my son, listen to me. Flee at once to Haran, to my brother Laban. [44]Stay with him a while, until your brother's fury subsides—[45]until your brother's anger against you subsides—and he forgets what you have done to him. Then I will fetch you from there. Let me not lose you both in one day!"

[46]Rebekah said to Isaac, "I am disgusted with my life because of the Hittite women. If Jacob marries a Hittite woman like these, from among the native women, what good will life be to me?"

[1]So Isaac sent for Jacob and blessed him. He instructed him, saying, "You shall not take a wife from among the Canaanite women. [2]Up, go to Paddan-aram, to the house of Bethuel, your mother's father, and take a wife there from among the daughters of Laban, your mother's brother, [3]May El Shaddai[a] bless you, make you fertile and numerous, so that you become an assembly of peoples. [4]May He grant the blessing of Abraham to you and your offspring, that you may possess the land where you are sojourning, which God assigned to Abraham."

[5]Then Isaac sent Jacob off, and he went to Paddan-aram, to Laban the son of Bethuel the Aramean, the brother of Rebekah, mother of Jacob and Esau.

[6]When Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and sent him off to Paddan-aram to take a wife from there, charging him, as he blessed him,

"You shall not take a wife from among the Canaanite women," 7and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother and gone to Paddan-aram, 8Esau realized that the Canaanite women displeased his father Isaac. 9So Esau went to Ishmael and took to wife, in addition to the wives he had, Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael son of Abraham, sister of Nebaioth.

VA-YETSE'

10Jacob left Beer-sheba, and set out for Haran. 11He came upon a certain place and stopped there for the night, for the sun had set. Taking one of the stones of that place, he put it under his head and lay down in that place. 12He had a dream; a stairway[b] was set on the ground and its top reached to the sky, and angels of God were going up and down on it. 13And the LORD was standing beside him and He said, "I am the LORD, the God of your father Abraham and the God of Isaac: the ground on which you are lying I will assign to you and to your offspring. 14Your descendants shall be as the dust of the earth; you shall spread out to the west and to the east, to the north and to the south. All the families of the earth shall bless themselves by you and your descendants. 15Remember, I am with you: I will protect you wherever you go and will bring you back to this land. I will not leave you until I have done what I have promised you."

16Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, "Surely the LORD is present in this place, and I did not know it!" 17Shaken, he said, "How awesome is this place! This is none other than the abode of God, and that is the gateway to heaven." 18Early in the morning, Jacob took the stone that he had put under his head and set it up as a pillar and poured oil on the top of it. 19He named that site Bethel;[c] but previously the name of the city had been Luz.

Jacob [a]resumed his journey[a] and came to the land of the Easterners. [2]There before his eyes was a well in the open. Three flocks of sheep were lying there beside it, for the flocks were watered from that well. The stone on the mouth of the well was large. [3]When all the flocks were gathered there, the stone would be rolled from the mouth of the well and the sheep watered; then the stone would be put back in its place on the mouth of the well.

[4]Jacob said to them, "My friends, where are you from?" And they said, "We are from Haran." [5]He said to them, "Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?" And they said, "Yes, we do." [6]He continued, "Is he well?" They answered, "Yes, he is; and there is his daughter Rachel, coming with the flock." [7]He said, "It is still broad daylight, too early to round up the animals; water the flock and take them to pasture." [8]But they said, "We cannot, until all the flocks are rounded up; then the stone is rolled off the mouth of the well and we water the sheep."

[9]While he was still speaking with them, Rachel came with her father's flock; for she was a shepherdess. [10]And when Jacob saw Rachel, the daughter of his uncle[b] Laban, and the flock of his uncle Laban, Jacob went up and rolled the stone off the mouth of the well, and watered the flock of his uncle Laban. [11]Then Jacob kissed Rachel, and broke into tears. [12]Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's kinsman, that he was Rebekah's son; and she ran and told her father. 13On hearing the news of his sister's son Jacob, Laban ran to greet him; he embraced him and kissed him, and took him into his house. He told Laban all that had happened, 14and Laban said to him, "You are truly my bone and flesh."

When he had stayed with him a month's time, 15Laban said to Jacob, "Just because you are a kinsman, should you serve me for nothing? Tell me, what shall your wages be?" 16Now Laban had two daughters; the name of the older one was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel. 17Leah had weak eyes; Rachel was shapely and beautiful. 18Jacob loved Rachel; so he answered, "I will serve you seven years for your younger daughter Rachel." 19Laban said, "Better that I give her to you than that I should give her to an outsider. Stay with me." 20So Jacob served seven years for Rachel and they seemed to him but a few days because of his love for her.

21Then Jacob said to Laban, "Give me my wife, for my time is fulfilled, that I may cohabit with her." 22And Laban gathered all the people of the place and made a feast. 23When evening came, he took his daughter Leah and brought her to him; and he cohabited with her.—24Laban had given his maidservant Zilpah to his daughter Leah as her maid.—25When morning came, there was Leah! So he said to Laban, "What is this you have done to me? I was in your service for Rachel! Why did you deceive me?" 26Laban said, "It is not the practice in our place to marry off the younger before the older. 27Wait until the bridal week of this one is over and we will give you that one too, provided you serve me another seven years." 28Jacob did so; he waited out the bridal week of the one, and then he gave him his daughter Rachel as wife.—29Laban had given his maidservant Bilhah to his daughter Rachel as her maid.—[30]And Jacob cohabited with Rachel also; indeed, he loved Rachel more than Leah. And he served him another seven years.

[31]The LORD saw that Leah was unloved and he opened her womb; but Rachel was barren. [32]Leah conceived and bore a son, and named him Reuben;[c] for she declared, "It means: 'The LORD has seen[d] my affliction'; it also means: 'Now my husband will love me.'"[e] [33]She conceived again and bore a son, and declared, "This is because the LORD heard[f] that I was unloved and has given me this one also"; so she named him Simeon. [34]Again she conceived and bore a son and declared, "This time my husband will become attached[g] to me, for I have borne him three sons." Therefore he was named Levi. [35]She conceived again and bore a son, and declared, "This time I will praise[h] the LORD." Therefore she named him Judah. Then she stopped bearing.

When Rachel saw that she had borne Jacob no children, she became envious of her sister; and Rachel said to Jacob, "Give me children, or I shall die." [2]Jacob was incensed at Rachel, and said, "Can I take the place of God, who has denied you fruit of the womb?" [3]She said, "Here is my maid Bilhah. Consort with her, that she may bear on my knees and that through her I too may have children." [4]So she gave him her maid Bilhah as concubine, and Jacob cohabited with her. [5]Bilhah conceived and bore Jacob a son. [6]And Rachel said, "God has vindicated me;[a] indeed, He has heeded my plea and given me a son." Therefore she named him Dan.

[7]Rachel's maid Bilhah conceived again and bore Jacob a second son. [8]And Rachel said, [b-]"A fateful contest I waged[-b] with my sister; yes, and I have prevailed." So she named him Naphtali.

[9]When Leah saw that she had stopped bearing, she took her maid Zilpah and gave her to Jacob as concubine. [10]And when Leah's maid Zilpah bore Jacob a son, [11]Leah said, "What luck!"[c] So she named him Gad. [12]When Leah's maid Zilpah bore Jacob a second son, [13]Leah declared, "What fortune!"[d] meaning, "Women will deem me fortunate." So she named him Asher.

[14]Once, at the time of the wheat harvest, Reuben came upon some mandrakes in the field and brought them to his mother Leah. Rachel said to Leah, "Please give me some of your son's mandrakes." [15]But she said to her, "Was it not enough for you to take away my husband, that you would also take my son's mandrakes?" Rachel replied, "I promise, he shall lie with you tonight, in return for your son's mandrakes." [16]When Jacob came home from the field in the evening, Leah went out to meet him and said, "You are to sleep with me, for I have hired you with my son's mandrakes." And he lay with her that night. [17]God heeded Leah, and she conceived and bore him a fifth son. [18]And Leah said, "God has given me my reward[e] for having given my maid to my husband." So she named him Issachar. [19]When Leah conceived again and bore Jacob a sixth son, [20]Leah said, "God has given me a choice gift;[f] this time my husband will exalt me,[g] for I have borne him six sons." So she named him Zebulun. [21]Last, she bore him a daughter, and named her Dinah.

25 After Rachel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, "Give me leave to go back to my own homeland. 26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served you, that I may go; for well you know what services I have rendered you." 27 But Laban said to him, "If you will indulge me,[j] I have learned by divination that the LORD has blessed me on your account." 28 And he continued, "Name the wages due from me, and I will pay you." 29 But he said, "You know well how I have served you and how your livestock has fared with me. 30 For the little you had before I came has grown to much, since the LORD has blessed you wherever I turned. And now, when shall I make provision for my own household?" 31 He said, "What shall I pay you?" And Jacob said, "Pay me nothing! If you will do this thing for me, I will again pasture and keep your flocks: 32 let me pass through your whole flock today, removing from there every speckled and spotted animal—every dark-colored sheep and every spotted and speckled goat. Such shall be my wages. 33 In the future when you go over my wages, let my honesty toward you testify for me: if there are among my goats any that are not speckled or spotted or any sheep that are not dark-colored, they got there by theft." 34 And Laban said, "Very well, let it be as you say."

distance of three days' journey between himself and Jacob, while Jacob was pasturing the rest of Laban's flock.

[37]Jacob then got fresh shoots of poplar, and of almond and plane, and peeled white stripes in them, laying bare the white of the shoots. [38]The rods that he had peeled he set up in front of the goats[k] in the troughs, the water receptacles, that the goats came to drink from. Their mating occurred when they came to drink, [39]and since the goats mated by the rods, the goats brought forth streaked, speckled, and spotted young. [40]But Jacob dealt separately with the sheep; he made these animals face the streaked or wholly dark-colored animals in Laban's flock. And so he produced special flocks for himself, which he did not put with Laban's flocks. [41]Moreover, when the sturdier[l] animals were mating, Jacob would place the rods in the troughs, in full view of the animals, so that they mated by the rods; [42]but with the feebler[m] animals he would not place them there. Thus the feeble ones[m] went to Laban and the sturdy to Jacob. [43]So the man grew exceedingly prosperous, and came to own large flocks, maidservants and menservants, camels and asses.

Now he heard the things that Laban's sons were saying: "Jacob has taken all that was our father's, and from that which was our father's he has built up all this wealth." [2]Jacob also saw that Laban's manner toward him was not as it had been in the past. [3]Then the LORD said to Jacob, "Return to the land of your fathers where you were born, and I will be with you." [4]Jacob had Rachel and Leah called to the field, where his flock was, [5]and said to them, "I see that your father's manner toward me is not as it has been in the past. But the God of my father has been with me. [6]As you know, I have served your father with all my might; [7]but your father has cheated me, changing my wages time and again.[a] God, however, would not let him do me harm. [8]If he said thus, 'The speckled shall be your wages,' then all the flocks would drop speckled young; and if he said thus, 'The streaked shall be your wages,' then all the flocks would drop streaked young. [9]God has taken away your father's livestock and given it to me.

[10]"Once, at the mating time of the flocks, [b-]I had a dream in which I saw[-b] that the he-goats mating with the flock were streaked, speckled, and mottled. [11]And in the dream an angel of God said to me, 'Jacob!' 'Here,' I answered. [12]And he said, 'Note well that all the he-goats which are mating with the flock are streaked, speckled, and mottled; for I have noted all that Laban has been doing to you. [13]I am the God of Bethel, where you anointed a pillar and where you made a vow to Me. Now, arise and leave this land and return to your native land.'"

[14]Then Rachel and Leah answered him, saying, "Have we still a share in the inheritance of our father's house? [15]Surely, he regards us as outsiders, now that he has sold us and has used up our purchase price. [16]Truly, all the wealth that God has taken away from our father belongs to us and to our children. Now then, do just as God has told you."

[17]Thereupon Jacob put his children and wives on camels; [18]and he drove off all his livestock and all the wealth that he had amassed, the livestock in his possession that he had acquired in Paddan-aram, to go to his father Isaac in the land of Canaan.

[19]Meanwhile Laban had gone to shear his sheep, and Rachel stole her father's household idols. [20]Jacob [c-]kept Laban the Aramean in the dark,[-c] not telling him that he was fleeing, [21]and fled with all that he had. Soon he was across the Euphrates and heading toward the hill country of Gilead.

[22]On the third day, Laban was told that Jacob had fled. [23]So he took his kinsmen with him and pursued him a distance of seven days, catching up with him in the hill country of Gilead. [24]But God appeared to Laban the Aramean in a dream by night and said to him, "Beware of attempting anything with Jacob, good or bad."

[25]Laban overtook Jacob. Jacob had pitched his tent on the Height, and Laban with his kinsmen encamped in the hill country of Gilead. [26]And Laban said to Jacob, "What did you mean by keeping me in the dark and carrying off my daughters like captives of the sword? [27]Why did you flee in secrecy and mislead me and not tell me? I would have sent you off with festive music, with timbrel and lyre. [28]You did not even let me kiss my sons and daughters good-by! It was a foolish thing for you to do. [29]I have it in my power to do you harm; but the God of your father said to me last night, 'Beware of attempting anything with Jacob, good or bad.' [30]Very well, you had to leave because you were longing for your father's house; but why did you steal my gods?"

[31]Jacob answered Laban, saying, "I was afraid because I thought you would take your daughters from me by force. [32]But anyone with whom you find your gods shall not remain alive! In the presence of our kinsmen, point out what I have of yours and take it." Jacob, of course, did not know that Rachel had stolen them.

[33]So Laban went into Jacob's tent and Leah's tent and the tents of the two maidservants; but he did not find them. Leaving Leah's tent, he entered Rachel's tent. [34]Rachel, meanwhile, had taken the idols and placed them in the camel cushion and sat on them; and Laban rummaged through the tent without finding them. [35]For she said to her father, "Let not my lord take it amiss that I cannot rise before you, for the period of women is upon me." Thus he searched, but could not find the household idols.

[36]Now Jacob became incensed and took up his grievance with Laban. Jacob spoke up and said to Laban, "What is my crime, what is my guilt that you should pursue me? [37]You rummaged through all my things; what have you found of all your household objects? Set it here, before my kinsmen and yours, and let them decide between us two.

[38]"These twenty years I have spent in your service, your ewes and she-goats never miscarried, nor did I feast on rams from your flock. [39]That which was torn by beasts I never brought to you; I myself made good the loss; you exacted it of me, whether snatched by day or snatched by night. [40]Often,[d] scorching heat ravaged me by day and frost by night; and sleep fled from my eyes. [41]Of the twenty years that I spent in your household, I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years for your flocks; and you changed my wages time and again.[e] [42]Had not the God of my father, the God of Abraham and the Fear[f] of Isaac, been with me, you would have sent me away empty-handed. But God took notice of my plight and the toil of my hands, and He gave judgment last night."

[43]Then Laban spoke up and said to Jacob, "The daughters are my daughters, the children are my children, and the flocks are my flocks; all that you see is mine. Yet what can I do now about my daughters or the children they have borne? [44]Come, then, let us make a pact, you and I, that there may be a witness between you and me." [45]Thereupon Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar. [46]And Jacob said to his kinsmen, "Gather stones." So they took stones and made a mound; and they partook of a meal there by the mound. [47]Laban named it Yegar-sahadutha,[g] but Jacob named it Gal-ed.[h] [48]And Laban declared, "This mound is a witness between you and me this day." That is why it was named Gal-ed; [49]and [it was called] Mizpah, because he said, "May the LORD watch[i] between you and me, when we are out of sight of each other. [50]If you ill-treat my daughters or take other wives besides my daughters—though no one else be about, remember, God Himself will be witness between you and me."

[51]And Laban said to Jacob, "Here is this mound and here the pillar which I have set up between you and me: [52]this mound shall be witness and this pillar shall be witness that I am not to cross to you past this mound, and that you are not to cross to me past this mound and this pillar, with hostile intent. [53]May the God of Abraham and the god of Nahor"—their ancestral deities—"judge between us." And Jacob swore by the Fear[j] of his father Isaac. [54]Jacob then offered up a sacrifice on the Height, and invited his kinsmen to partake of the meal. After the meal, they spent the night on the Height.

Early in the morning, Laban kissed his sons and daughters and bade them good-by; then Laban left on his journey homeward. [2]Jacob went on his way, and angels of God encountered him. [3]When he saw them, Jacob said, "This is God's camp." So he named that place Mahanaim.[a]

[4]Jacob sent messengers ahead to his brother Esau in the land of Seir, the country of Edom, [5]and instructed them as follows, [b-]"Thus shall you say, 'To my lord Esau, thus says your servant Jacob:[-b] I stayed with Laban and remained until now; [6]I have acquired cattle, asses, sheep, and male and female slaves; and I send this message to my lord in the hope of gaining your favor.'" [7]The messengers returned to Jacob, saying, "We came to your brother Esau; he himself is coming to meet you, and there are four hundred men with him." [8]Jacob was greatly frightened; in his anxiety, he divided the people with him, and the flocks and herds and camels, into two camps, [9]thinking, "If Esau comes to the one camp and attacks it, the other camp may yet escape."

[10]Then Jacob said, "O God of my father Abraham and God of my father Isaac, O LORD, who said to me, 'Return to your native land and I will deal bountifully with you'! [11]I am unworthy of all the kindness that You have so steadfastly shown Your servant: with my staff alone I crossed this Jordan, and now I have become two camps. [12]Deliver me, I pray, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau; else, I fear, he may come and strike me down, mothers and children alike. [13]Yet You have said, 'I will deal bountifully with you and make your offspring as the sands of the sea, which are too numerous to count.'"

[14]After spending the night there, he selected from what was at hand these presents for his brother Esau: [15]200 she-goats and 20 he-goats; 200 ewes and 20 rams; [16]30 milch camels with their colts; 40 cows and 10 bulls; 20 she-asses and 10 he-asses. [17]These he put in the charge of his servants, drove by drove, and he told his servants, "Go on ahead, and keep a distance between droves." [18]He instructed the one in front as follows, "When my brother Esau meets you and asks you, 'Whose man are you? Where are you going? And whose [animals] are these ahead of you?' [19]you shall answer, 'Your servant Jacob's; they are a gift sent to my lord Esau; and [Jacob] himself is right behind us.'" [20]He gave similar instructions to the second one, and the third, and all the others who followed the droves, namely, "Thus and so shall you say to Esau when you reach him. [21]And you shall add, 'And your servant Jacob himself is right behind us.'" For he reasoned, "If I propitiate him with presents in advance, and then face him, perhaps he will show me favor." [22]And so the gift went on ahead, while he remained in camp that night.

[23]That same night he arose, and taking his two wives, his two maidservants, and his eleven children, he crossed the ford of the Jabbok. [24]After taking them across the stream, he sent across all his possessions. [25]Jacob was left alone. And a man wrestled with him until the break of dawn. [26]When he saw that he had not prevailed against him, he wrenched Jacob's hip at its socket, so that the socket of his hip was strained as he wrestled with him. [27]Then he said, "Let me go, for dawn is breaking." But he answered, "I will not let you go, unless you bless me." [28]Said the other, "What is your name?" He replied, "Jacob." [29]Said he, "Your name shall no longer be Jacob, but Israel, for you have striven[c] with [d]beings divine and human,[-d] and have prevailed." [30]Jacob asked, "Pray tell me your name." But he said, "You must not ask my name!" And he took leave of him there. [31]So Jacob named the place Peniel,[e] meaning, "I have seen a divine being face to face, yet my life has been preserved." [32]The sun rose upon him as he passed Penuel, limping on his hip. [33]That is why the children of Israel to this day do not eat the thigh muscle that is on the socket of the hip, since Jacob's hip socket was wrenched at the thigh muscle.

33 Looking up, Jacob saw Esau coming, accompanied by four hundred men. He divided the children among Leah, Rachel, and the two maids, [2]putting the maids and their children first, Leah and her children next, and Rachel and Joseph last. [3]He himself went on ahead and bowed low to the ground seven times until he was near his brother. [4]Esau ran to greet him. He embraced him and, falling on his neck, he kissed him; and they wept. [5]Looking about, he saw the women and the children. "Who," he asked, "are these with you?" He answered, "The children with whom God has favored your servant." [6]Then the maids, with their children, came forward and bowed low; [7]next Leah, with her children, came forward and bowed low; and last, Joseph and Rachel came forward and bowed low. [8]And he asked, "What do you mean by all this company which I have met?" He answered, "To gain my lord's favor." [9]Esau said, "I have enough, my brother; let what you have remain yours." [10]But Jacob said, "No, I pray you; if you would do me this favor, accept from me this gift; for to see your face is like seeing the face of God, and you have received me favorably. [11]Please accept my present which has been brought to you, for God has favored me and I have plenty." And when he urged him, he accepted.

[12]And [Esau] said, "Let us start on our journey, and I will proceed at your pace." [13]But he said to him, "My lord knows that the children are frail and that the flocks and herds, which are nursing, are a care to me; if they are driven hard a single day, all the flocks will die. [14]Let my lord go on ahead of his servant, while I travel slowly, at the pace of the cattle before me and at the pace of the children, until I come to my lord in Seir."

15Then Esau said, "Let me assign to you some of the men who are with me." But he said, "Oh no, my lord is too kind to me!" 16So Esau started back that day on his way to Seir. 17But Jacob journeyed on to Succoth, and built a house for himself and made stalls for his cattle; that is why the place was called Succoth.[a]

18Jacob arrived safe in the city of Shechem which is in the land of Canaan—having come thus from Paddan-aram—and he encamped before the city. 19The parcel of land where he pitched his tent he purchased from the children of Hamor, Shechem's father, for a hundred kesitahs.[b] 20He set up an altar there, and called it El-elohe-yisrael.[c]

Now Dinah, the daughter whom Leah had borne to Jacob, went out to visit the daughters of the land. 2Shechem son of Hamor the Hivite, chief of the country, saw her, and took her and lay with her by force. 3Being strongly drawn to Dinah daughter of Jacob, and in love with the maiden, he spoke to the maiden tenderly. 4So Shechem said to his father Hamor, "Get me this girl as a wife."

5Jacob heard that he had defiled his daughter Dinah; but since his sons were in the field with his cattle, Jacob kept silent until they came home. 6Then Shechem's father Hamor came out to Jacob to speak to him. 7Meanwhile Jacob's sons, having heard the news, came in from the field. The men were distressed and very angry, because he had committed an outrage in Israel by lying with Jacob's daughter—a thing not to be done.

[8]And Hamor spoke with them, saying, "My son Shechem longs for your daughter. Please give her to him in marriage. [9]Intermarry with us: give your daughters to us, and take our daughters for yourselves: [10]You will dwell among us, and the land will be open before you; settle, move about, and acquire holdings in it." [11]Then Shechem said to her father and brothers, "Do me this favor, and I will pay whatever you tell me. [12]Ask of me a bride-price ever so high, as well as gifts, and I will pay what you tell me; only give me the maiden for a wife."

[13]Jacob's sons answered Shechem and his father Hamor—speaking with guile because he had defiled their sister Dinah—[14]and said to them, "We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to a man who is uncircumcised, for that is a disgrace among us. [15]Only on this condition will we agree with you; that you will become like us in that every male among you is circumcised. [16]Then we will give our daughters to you and take your daughters to ourselves; and we will dwell among you and become as one kindred. [17]But if you will not listen to us and become circumcised, we will take our daughter and go."

[18]Their words pleased Hamor and Hamor's son Shechem. [19]And the youth lost no time in doing the thing, for he wanted Jacob's daughter. Now he was the most respected in his father's house. [20]So Hamor and his son Shechem went to the [a]public place[a] of their town and spoke to their fellow townsmen, saying, [21]"These people are our friends; let them settle in the land and move about in it, for the land is large enough for them; we will take their daughters to ourselves as wives and give our daughters to them. [22]But only on this condition will the men agree with us to dwell among us and be as one kindred: that all our males become circumcised

[24]All b-who went out of the gate of his town-b heeded Hamor and his son Shechem, and all males, b-all those who went out of the gate of his town,-b were circumcised.

[25]On the third day, when they were in pain, Simeon and Levi, two of Jacob's sons, brothers of Dinah, took each his sword, came upon the city unmolested, and slew all the males. [26]They put Hamor and his son Shechem to the sword, took Dinah out of Shechem's house, and went away. [27]The other sons of Jacob came upon the slain and plundered the town, because their sister had been defiled. [28]They seized their flocks and herds and asses, all that was inside the town and outside; [29]all their wealth, all their children, and their wives, all that was in the houses, they took as captives and booty.

[30]Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You have brought trouble on me, making me odious among the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites and the Perizzites; my men are few in number, so that if they unite against me and attack me, I and my house will be destroyed." [31]But they answered, "Should our sister be treated like a whore?"

God said to Jacob, "Arise, go up to Bethel and remain there; and build an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you were fleeing from your brother Esau." [2]So Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, "Rid yourselves of the alien gods in your midst, purify yourselves, and change your clothes. [3]Come, let us go up to Bethel, and I will build an altar there to the God who answered me when I was in distress and who has been with me wherever I have gone." [4]They gave to Jacob all the alien gods that they had, and the rings that were in their ears, and Jacob buried them under the terebinth that was near Shechem. [5]As they set out, a terror from God fell on the cities round about, so that they did not pursue the sons of Jacob.

[6]Thus Jacob came to Luz—that is, Bethel—in the land of Canaan, he and all the people who were with him. [7]There he built an altar and named the site El-bethel,[a] for it was there that God had revealed Himself to him when he was fleeing from his brother.

[8]Deborah, Rebekah's nurse, died, and was buried under the oak below Bethel; so it was named Allon-bacuth.[b]

[9]God appeared again to Jacob on his arrival from Paddan-aram, and He blessed him. [10]God said to him,

"You whose name is Jacob,
You shall be called Jacob no more,
But Israel shall be your name."

Thus He named him Israel.

[11]And God said to him,

"I am El Shaddai.[c]
Be fertile and increase;
A nation, yea an assembly of nations,
Shall descend from you.
Kings shall issue from your loins.
[12]The land that I assigned to Abraham and Isaac
I assign to you;
And to your offspring to come
Will I assign the land."

[13]God parted from him at the spot where He had spoken to him; [14]and Jacob set up a pillar at the site where He had spoken to him, a pillar of stone, and he offered a libation on it and poured oil upon it. [15]Jacob gave the site, where God had spoken to him, the name of Bethel.

16They set out from Bethel; but when they were still some distance short of Ephrath, Rachel was in childbirth, and she had hard labor. 17When her labor was at its hardest, the midwife said to her, "Have no fear, for it is another boy for you." 18But as she breathed her last—for she was dying—she named him Ben-oni;[d] but his father called him Benjamin.[e] 19Thus Rachel died. She was buried on the road to Ephrath—now Bethlehem. 20Over her grave Jacob set up a pillar; it is the pillar at Rachel's grave to this day. 21Israel journeyed on, and pitched his tent beyond Migdal-eder.

22While Israel stayed in that land, Reuben went and lay with Bilhah, his father's concubine; and Israel found out.

Now the sons of Jacob were twelve in number. 23The sons of Leah: Reuben—Jacob's first-born—Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun. 24The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin. 25The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's maid: Dan and Naphtali. 26And the sons of Zilpah, Leah's maid: Gad and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Paddan-aram.

27And Jacob came to his father Isaac at Mamre, at Kiriath-arba—now Hebron—where Abraham and Isaac had sojourned. 28Isaac was a hundred and eighty years old 29when he breathed his last and died. He[f] was gathered to his kin in ripe old age; and he was buried by his sons Esau and Jacob.

This is the line of Esau—that is, Edom. 2Esau took his wives from among the Canaanite women—Adah daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Oholibamah daughter of Anah daughter of Zibeon the Hivite[a]—[3]and also Basemath daughter of Ishmael and sister of Nebaioth. [4]Adah bore to Esau Eliphaz; Basemath bore Reuel; [5]and Oholibamah bore Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. Those were the sons of Esau, who were born to him in the land of Canaan.

[6]Esau took his wives, his sons and daughters, and all the members of his household, his cattle and all his livestock, and all the property that he had acquired in the land of Canaan, and went to another land because of his brother Jacob. [7]For their possessions were too many for them to dwell together, and the land where they sojourned could not support them because of their livestock. [8]So Esau settled in the hill country of Seir—Esau being Edom.

[9]This, then, is the line of Esau, the ancestor of the Edomites, in the hill country of Seir.

[10]These are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz, the son of Esau's wife Adah; Reuel, the son of Esau's wife Basemath. [11]The sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz. Those were the descendants of Esau's wife Basemath. [14]And these were the sons of Esau's wife Oholibamah, daughter of Anah daughter of Zibeon: she bore to Esau Jeush, Jalam, and Korah.

Now Jacob was settled in the land where his father had sojourned, the land of Canaan. 2This, then, is the line of Jacob:

At seventeen years of age, Joseph tended the flocks with his brothers, as a helper to the sons of his father's wives Bilhah and Zilpah. And Joseph brought bad reports of them to their father. 3Now Israel loved Joseph best of all his sons, for he was the child of his old age; and he had made him an ornamented tunic.[a] 4And when his brothers saw that their father loved him more than any of his brothers, they hated him so that they could not speak a friendly word to him.

5Once Joseph had a dream which he told to his brothers; and they hated him even more. 6He said to them, "Hear this dream which I have dreamed: 7There we were binding sheaves in the field, when suddenly my sheaf stood up and remained upright; then your sheaves gathered around and bowed low to my sheaf." 8His brothers answered, "Do you mean to reign over us? Do you mean to rule over us?" And they hated him even more for his talk about his dreams.

[9]He dreamed another dream and told it to his brothers, saying, "Look, I have had another dream: And this time, the sun, the moon, and eleven stars were bowing down to me." [10]And when he told it to his father and brothers, his father berated him. "What," he said to him, "is this dream you have dreamed? Are we to come, I and your mother and your brothers, and bow low to you to the ground?" [11]So his brothers were wrought up at him, and his father kept the matter in mind.

[12]One time, when his brothers had gone to pasture their father's flock at Shechem, [13]Israel said to Joseph, "Your brothers are pasturing at Shechem. Come, I will send you to them." He answered, "I am ready." [14]And he said to him, "Go and see how your brothers are and how the flocks are faring, and bring me back word." So he sent him from the valley of Hebron.

When he reached Shechem, [15]a man came upon him wandering in the fields. The man asked him, "What are you looking for?" [16]He answered, "I am looking for my brothers. Could you tell me where they are pasturing?" [17]The man said, "They have gone from here, for I heard them say: Let us go to Dothan." So Joseph followed his brothers and found them at Dothan.

[18]They saw him from afar, and before he came close to them they conspired to kill him. [19]They said to one another, "Here comes that dreamer! [20]Come now, let us kill him and throw him into one of the pits; and we can say, 'A savage beast devoured him.' We shall see what comes of his dreams!" [21]But when Reuben heard it, he tried to save him from them. He said, "Let us not take his life." [22]And Reuben went on, "Shed no blood! Cast him into that pit out in the wilderness, but do not touch him yourselves"—intending to save him from them and restore him to his father. [23]When Joseph came up to his brothers, they stripped Joseph of his tunic, the ornamented tunic that he was wearing, [24]and took him and cast him into the pit. The pit was empty; there was no water in it.

[25]Then they sat down to a meal. Looking up, they saw a caravan of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead, their camels bearing gum, balm, and ladanum to be taken to Egypt. [26]Then Judah said to his brothers, "What do we gain by killing our brother and covering up his blood? [27]Come, let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, but let us not do away with him ourselves. After all, he is our brother, our own flesh." His brothers agreed. [28]When Midianite traders passed by, they pulled Joseph up out of the pit. They sold Joseph for twenty pieces of silver to the Ishmaelites, who brought Joseph to Egypt.

[29]When Reuben returned to the pit and saw that Joseph was not in the pit, he rent his clothes. [30]Returning to his brothers, he said, "The boy is gone! Now, what am I to do?" [31]Then they took Joseph's tunic, slaughtered a kid, and dipped the tunic in the blood. [32]They had the ornamented tunic taken to their father, and they said, "We found this. Please examine it; is it your son's tunic or not?" [33]He recognized it, and said, "My son's tunic! A savage beast devoured him! Joseph was torn by a beast!" [34]Jacob rent his clothes, put sackcloth on his loins, and observed mourning for his son many days. [35]All his sons and daughters sought to comfort him; but he refused to be comforted, saying, "No, I will go down mourning to my son in Sheol." Thus his father bewailed him.

[36]The Midianites,[b] meanwhile, sold him in Egypt to Potiphar, a courtier of Pharaoh and his chief steward.

b Heb. "Medanites."

38 About that time Judah left his brothers and camped near a certain Adullamite whose name was Hirah. 2There Judah saw the daughter of a certain Canaanite whose name was Shua, and he married her and cohabited with her. 3She conceived and bore a son, and he named him Er. 4She conceived again and bore a son, and named him Onan. 5Once again she bore a son, and named him Shelah; he was at Chezib when she bore him.

6Judah got a wife for Er his first-born; her name was Tamar. 7But Er, Judah's first-born, was displeasing to the LORD, and the LORD took his life. 8Then Judah said to Onan, "Join with your brother's wife and do your duty by her as a brother-in-law,[a] and provide offspring for your brother." 9But Onan, knowing that the seed would not count as his, let it go to waste[b] whenever he joined with his brother's wife, so as not to provide offspring for his brother. 10What he did was displeasing to the LORD, and He took his life also. 11Then Judah said to his daughter-in-law Tamar, "Stay as a widow in your father's house until my son Shelah grows up"—for he thought, "He too might die like his brothers." So Tamar went to live in her father's house.

she saw that Shelah was grown up, yet she had not been given to him as wife. [15]When Judah saw her, he took her for a harlot; for she had covered her face. [16]So he turned aside to her by the road and said, "Here, let me sleep with you"—for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. "What," she asked, "will you pay for sleeping with me?" [17]He replied, "I will send a kid from my flock." But she said, "You must leave a pledge until you have sent it." [18]And he said, "What pledge shall I give you?" She replied, "Your seal and cord, and the staff which you carry." So he gave them to her and slept with her, and she conceived by him. [19]Then she went on her way. She took off her veil and again put on her widow's garb.

[20]Judah sent the kid by his friend the Adullamite, to redeem the pledge from the woman; but he could not find her. [21]He inquired of the people of that town, "Where is the cult prostitute, the one at Enaim, by the road?" But they said, "There has been no prostitute here." [22]So he returned to Judah and said, "I could not find her; moreover, the townspeople said: There has been no prostitute here." [23]Judah said, "Let her keep them, lest we become a laughingstock. I did send her this kid, but you did not find her."

[24]About three months later, Judah was told, "Your daughter-in-law Tamar has played the harlot; in fact, she is with child by harlotry." "Bring her out," said Judah, "and let her be burned." [25]As she was being brought out, she sent this message to her father-in-law, "I am with child by the man to whom these belong." And she added, "Examine these: whose seal and cord and staff are these?" [26]Judah recognized them, and said, "She is more in the right than I, inasmuch as I did not give her to my son Shelah." And he was not intimate with her again.

When Joseph was taken down to Egypt, a certain Egyptian, Potiphar, a courtier of Pharaoh and his chief steward, bought him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him there. [2]The LORD was with Joseph, and he was a successful man; and he stayed in the house of his Egyptian master. [3]And when his master saw that the LORD was with him and that the LORD lent success to everything he undertook, [4]he took a liking to Joseph. He made him his personal attendant and put him in charge of his household, placing in his hands all that he owned. [5]And from the time that the Egyptian put him in charge of his household and of all that he owned, the LORD blessed his house for Joseph's sake, so that the blessing of the LORD was upon everything that he owned, in the house and outside. [6]He left all that he had in Joseph's hands and, with him there, he paid attention to nothing save the food that he ate. Now Joseph was well built and handsome.

[7]After a time, his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph and said, "Lie with me." [8]But he refused. He said to his master's wife, "Look, with me here, my master gives no thought to anything in this house, and all that he owns he has placed in my hands. [9]He wields no more authority in this house than I, and he has withheld nothing from me except yourself, since you are his wife. How then could I do this most wicked thing, and sin before God?" [10]And much as she coaxed Joseph day after day, he did not yield to her request to lie beside her, to be with her.

[11]One such day, he came into the house to do his work. None of the household being there inside, [12]she caught hold of him by his garment and said, "Lie with me!" But he left his garment in her hand and got away and fled outside. [13]When she saw that he had left it in her hand and had fled outside, [14]she called out to her servants and said to them, "Look, he had to bring us a Hebrew to dally with us! This one came to lie with me; but I screamed loud. [15]And when he heard me screaming at the top of my voice, he left his garment with me and got away and fled outside." [16]She kept his garment beside her, until his master came home. [17]Then she told him the same story, saying, "The Hebrew slave whom you brought into our house came to me to dally with me; [18]but when I screamed at the top of my voice, he left his garment with me and fled outside."

[19]When his master heard the story that his wife told him, namely, "Thus and so your slave did to me," he was furious. [20]So Joseph's master had him put in prison, where the king's prisoners were confined. But even while he was there in prison, [21]the LORD was with Joseph: He extended kindness to him and disposed the chief jailer favorably toward him. [22]The chief jailer put in Joseph's charge all the prisoners who were in that prison, and he was the one to carry out everything that was done there. [23]The chief jailer did not supervise anything that was in Joseph's[a] charge, because the LORD was with him, and whatever he did the LORD made successful.

40 Some time later, the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt gave offense to their lord the king of Egypt. [2]Pharaoh was angry with his two courtiers, the chief cupbearer and the chief baker, [3]and put them in custody, in the house of the chief steward, in the same prison house where Joseph was confined. [4]The chief steward assigned Joseph to them, and he attended them.

When they had been in custody for some time, [5]both of them—the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt, who were confined in the prison—dreamed in the same night, each his own dream and each dream with its own meaning. [6]When Joseph came to them in the morning, he saw that they were distraught. [7]He asked Pharaoh's courtiers, who were with him in custody in his master's house, saying, "Why do you appear downcast today?" [8]And they said to him, "We had dreams, and there is no one to interpret them." So Joseph said to them, "Surely God can interpret! Tell me [your dreams]."

[9]Then the chief cupbearer told his dream to Joseph. He said to him, "In my dream, there was a vine in front of me. [10]On the vine were three branches. It had barely budded, when out came its blossoms and its clusters ripened into grapes. [11]Pharaoh's cup was in my hand, and I took the grapes, pressed them into Pharaoh's cup, and placed the cup in Pharaoh's hand." [12]Joseph said to him, "This is its interpretation: The three branches are three days. [13]In three days Pharaoh will pardon you[a] and restore you to your post; you will place Pharaoh's cup in his hand, as was your custom formerly when you were his cupbearer. [14]But think of me when all is well with you again, and do me the kindness of mentioning me to Pharaoh, so as to free me from this place. [15]For in truth, I was kidnapped from the land of the Hebrews; nor have I done anything here that they should have put me in the dungeon."

[16]When the chief baker saw how favorably he had interpreted, he said to Joseph, "In my dream, similarly, there were three openwork baskets[b] on my head. [17]In the uppermost basket were all kinds of food for Pharaoh that a baker prepares; and the birds were eating it out of the basket above my head." [18]Joseph answered, "This is its interpretation: The three baskets are three days. [19]In three days Pharaoh will lift off your head and impale you upon a pole; and the birds will pick off your flesh."

[20]On the third day—his birthday—Pharaoh made a banquet for all his officials, and he singled out[c] his chief cupbearer and his chief baker from among his officials. [21]He restored the chief cupbearer to his cupbearing, and he placed the cup in Pharaoh's hand; [22]but the chief baker he impaled—just as Joseph had interpreted to them.

After two years' time, Pharaoh dreamed that he was standing by the Nile, [2]when out of the Nile there came up seven cows, handsome and sturdy, and they grazed in the reed grass. [3]But presently, seven other cows came up from the Nile close behind them, ugly and gaunt, and stood beside the cows on the bank of the Nile; [4]and the ugly gaunt cows ate up the seven handsome sturdy cows. And Pharaoh awoke.

[5]He fell asleep and dreamed a second time: Seven ears of grain, solid and healthy, grew on a single stalk. [6]But close behind them sprouted seven ears, thin and scorched by the east wind.

7And the thin ears swallowed up the seven solid and full ears. Then Pharaoh awoke: it was a dream!

8Next morning, his spirit was agitated, and he sent for all the magicians of Egypt, and all its wise men; and Pharaoh told them his dreams, but none could interpret them for Pharaoh.

9The chief cupbearer then spoke up and said to Pharaoh, "I must make mention today of my offenses. 10Once Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and placed me in custody in the house of the chief steward, together with the chief baker. 11We had dreams the same night, he and I, each of us a dream with a meaning of its own. 12A Hebrew youth was there with us, a servant of the chief steward; and when we told him our dreams, he interpreted them for us, telling each of the meaning of his dream. 13And as he interpreted for us, so it came to pass: I was restored to my post, and the other was impaled."

14Thereupon Pharaoh sent for Joseph, and he was rushed from the dungeon. He had his hair cut and changed his clothes, and he appeared before Pharaoh. 15And Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I have had a dream, but no one can interpret it. Now I have heard it said of you that for you to hear a dream is to tell its meaning." 16Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, "Not I! God will see to Pharaoh's welfare."

17Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "In my dream, I was standing on the bank of the Nile, 18when out of the Nile came up seven sturdy and well-formed cows and grazed in the reed grass. 19Presently there followed them seven other cows, scrawny, ill-formed, and emaciated—never had I seen their likes for ugliness in all the land of Egypt! 20And the seven lean and ugly cows ate up the first seven cows, the sturdy ones; 21but when they had consumed them, one could not tell that they had consumed them, for they looked just as bad as before. I awoke. [22]In my other dream, I saw seven ears of grain, full and healthy, growing on a single stalk; [23]but right behind them sprouted seven ears, shriveled, thin, and scorched by the east wind. [24]And the thin ears swallowed the seven healthy ears. I have told my magicians, but none has an explanation for me."

[25]And Joseph said to Pharaoh, "Pharaoh's dreams are one and the same: God has told Pharaoh what He is about to do. [26]The seven healthy cows are seven years, and the seven healthy ears are seven years; it is the same dream. [27]The seven lean and ugly cows that followed are seven years, as are also the seven empty ears scorched by the east wind; they are seven years of famine. [28]It is just as I have told Pharaoh: God has revealed to Pharaoh what He is about to do. [29]Immediately ahead are seven years of great abundance in all the land of Egypt. [30]After them will come seven years of famine, and all the abundance in the land of Egypt will be forgotten. As the land is ravaged by famine, [31]no trace of the abundance will be left in the land because of the famine thereafter, for it will be very severe. [32]As for Pharaoh having had the same dream twice, it means that the matter has been determined by God, and that God will soon carry it out.

[33]"Accordingly, let Pharaoh find a man of discernment and wisdom, and set him over the land of Egypt. [34]And let Pharaoh take steps to appoint overseers over the land, and organize[a] the land of Egypt in the seven years of plenty. [35]Let all the food of these good years that are coming be gathered, and let the grain be collected under Pharaoh's authority as food to be stored in the cities. [36]Let that food be a reserve for the land for the seven years of famine which will come upon the land of Egypt, so that the land may not perish in the famine."

[37]The plan pleased Pharaoh and all his court-

iers. [38]And Pharaoh said to his courtiers, "Could we find another like him, a man in whom is the spirit of God?" [39]So Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Since God has made all this known to you, there is none so discerning and wise as you. [40]You shall be in charge of my court, and by your command shall all my people be directed;[b] only with respect to the throne shall I be superior to you." [41]Pharaoh further said to Joseph, "See, I put you in charge of all the land of Egypt." [42]And removing his signet ring from his hand, Pharaoh put it on Joseph's hand; and he had him dressed in robes of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck. [43]He had him ride in the chariot of his second-in-command, and they cried before him, "Abrek!"[c] Thus he placed him over all the land of Egypt.

[44]Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I am Pharaoh; yet without you, no one shall lift up hand or foot in all the land of Egypt." [45]Pharaoh then gave Joseph the name Zaphenath-paneah;[d] and he gave him for a wife Asenath daughter of Poti-phera, priest of On. Thus Joseph emerged in charge of the land of Egypt.—[46]Joseph was thirty years old when he entered the service of Pharaoh king of Egypt.—Leaving Pharaoh's presence, Joseph traveled through all the land of Egypt.

[47]During the seven years of plenty, the land produced in abundance. [48]And he gathered all the grain of [e]the seven years that the land of Egypt was enjoying,[-e] and stored the grain in the cities; he put in each city the grain of the fields around it. [49]So Joseph collected produce in very large quantity, like the sands of the sea, until he ceased to measure it, for it could not be measured.

[50]Before the years of famine came, Joseph became the father of two sons, whom Asenath daughter of Poti-phera, priest of On, bore to him. [51]Joseph named the first-born Manasseh, meaning, "God has made me forget[f] completely my hardship and my parental home." [52]And the second he named Ephraim, meaning, "God has made me fertile[g] in the land of my affliction."

[53]The seven years of abundance that the land of Egypt enjoyed came to an end, [54]and the seven years of famine set in, just as Joseph had foretold. There was famine in all lands, but throughout the land of Egypt there was bread. [55]And when all the land of Egypt felt the hunger, the people cried out to Pharaoh for bread; and Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, "Go to Joseph; whatever he tells you, you shall do."— [56]Accordingly, when the famine became severe in the land of Egypt, Joseph laid open all that was within, and rationed out grain to the Egyptians. The famine, however, spread over the whole world. [57]So all the world came to Joseph in Egypt to procure rations, for the famine had become severe throughout the world.

When Jacob saw that there were food rations to be had in Egypt, he[a] said to his sons, "Why do you keep looking at one another? [2]Now I hear," he went on, "that there are rations to be had in Egypt. Go down and procure rations for us there, that we may live and not die." [3]So ten of Joseph's brothers went down to get grain rations in Egypt; [4]for Jacob did not send Joseph's brother Benjamin with his brothers, since he feared that he might meet with disaster. [5]Thus the sons of Israel were among those who came to procure rations, for the famine extended to the land of Canaan.

[6]Now Joseph was the vizier of the land; it was he who dispensed rations to all the people of the land. And Joseph's brothers came and bowed low to him, with their faces to the ground. [7]When Joseph saw his brothers, he recognized them; but he acted like a stranger toward them and spoke harshly to them. He asked them, "Where do you come from?" And they said, "From the land of Canaan, to procure food." [8]For though Joseph recognized his brothers, they did not recognize him. [9]Recalling the dreams that he had dreamed about them, Joseph said to them, "You are spies, you have come to see the land in its nakedness." [10]But they said to him, "No, my lord! Truly, your servants have come to procure food. [11]We are all of us sons of the same man; we are honest men; your servants have never been spies!" [12]And he said to them, "No, you have come to see the land in its nakedness!" [13]And they replied, "We your servants were twelve brothers, sons of a certain man in the land of Canaan; the youngest, however, is now with our father, and one is no more." [14]But Joseph said to them, "It is just as I have told you: You are spies! [15]By this you shall be put to the test: unless your youngest brother comes here, by Pharaoh, you shall not depart from this place! [16]Let one of you go and bring your brother, while the rest of you remain confined, that your words may be put to the test whether there is truth in you. Else, by Pharaoh, you are nothing but spies!" [17]And he confined them in the guardhouse for three days.

[18]On the third day Joseph said to them, "Do this and you shall live, for I am a God-fearing man. [19]If you are honest men, let one of you brothers be held in your place of detention, while the rest of you go and take home rations for your starving households; [20]but you must bring me your youngest brother, that your words may be verified and that you may not die." And they did accordingly. [21]They said to one another, "Alas, we are being punished on account of our brother, because we looked on at his anguish, yet paid no heed as he pleaded with us. That is why this distress has come upon us." [22]Then Reuben spoke up and said to them, "Did I not tell you, 'Do no wrong to the boy'? But you paid no heed. Now comes the reckoning for his blood." [23]They did not know that Joseph understood, for there was an interpreter between him and them. [24]He turned away from them and wept. But he came back to them and spoke to them; and he took Simeon from among them and had him bound before their eyes. [25]Then Joseph gave orders to fill their bags with grain, return each one's money to his sack, and give them provisions for the journey; and this was done for them. [26]So they loaded their asses with the rations and departed from there.

[27]As one of them was opening his sack to give feed to his ass at the night encampment, he saw his money right there at the mouth of his bag. [28]And he said to his brothers, "My money has been returned! It is here in my bag!" Their hearts sank; and, trembling, they turned to one another, saying, "What is this that God has done to us?"

[29]When they came to their father Jacob in the land of Canaan, they told him all that had befallen them, saying, [30]"The man who is lord of the land spoke harshly to us and accused us of spying on the land. [31]We said to him, 'We are honest men; we have never been spies! [35]As they were emptying their sacks, there, in each one's sack, was his money-bag! When they and their father saw their money-bags, they were dismayed. [36]Their father Jacob said to them, "It is always me that you bereave: Joseph is no more and Simeon is no more, and now you would take away Benjamin. These things always happen to me!" [37]Then Reuben said to his father, "You may kill my two sons if I do not bring him back to you. Put him in my care, and I will return him to you." [38]But he said, "My son must not go down with you, for his brother is dead and he alone is left. If he meets with disaster on the journey you are taking, you will send my white head down to Sheol in grief."

But the famine in the land was severe. [2]And when they had eaten up the rations which they had brought from Egypt, their father said to them, "Go again and procure some food for us." [3]But Judah said to him, "The man warned us, [a-]'Do not let me see your faces[-a] unless your brother is with you.' [4]If you will let our brother go with us, we will go down and procure food for you; [5]but if you will not let him go, we will not go down, for the man said to us, [a-]'Do not let me see your faces[-a] unless your brother is with you.'" [6]And Israel said, "Why did you serve me so ill as to tell the man that you had another brother?" [7]They replied, "But the man kept asking about us and our family, saying, 'Is your father still living? Have you another brother?' And we answered him accordingly. How were we to know that he would say, 'Bring your brother here'?"

[8]Then Judah said to his father Israel, "Send

11Then their father Israel said to them, "If it must be so, do this: take some of the choice products of the land in your baggage, and carry them down as a gift for the man—some balm and some honey, gum, ladanum, pistachio nuts, and almonds. 12And take with you double the money, carrying back with you the money that was replaced in the mouths of your bags; perhaps it was a mistake. 13Take your brother too; and go back at once to the man. 14And may El Shaddai dispose the man to mercy toward you, that he may release to you your other brother, as well as Benjamin. As for me, if I am to be bereaved, I shall be bereaved."

15So the men took that gift, and they took with them double the money, as well as Benjamin. They made their way down to Egypt, where they presented themselves to Joseph. 16When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to his house steward, "Take the men into the house; slaughter and prepare an animal, for the men will dine with me at noon." 17The man did as Joseph said, and he brought the men into Joseph's house. 18But the men were frightened at being brought into Joseph's house. "It must be," they thought, "because of the money replaced in our bags the first time that we have been brought inside, as a pretext to attack us and seize us as slaves, with our pack animals." 19So they went up to Joseph's house steward and spoke to him at the entrance of the house. 20"If you please, my lord," they said, "we came down once before to procure food. 21But when we arrived at the night en-

[22]And we have brought down with us other money to procure food. We do not know who put the money in our bags." [23]He replied, "All is well with you; do not be afraid. Your God, the God of your father, must have put treasure in your bags for you. I got your payment." And he brought out Simeon to them.

[24]Then the man brought the men into Joseph's house; he gave them water to bathe their feet, and he provided feed for their asses. [25]They laid out their gifts to await Joseph's arrival at noon, for they had heard that they were to dine there.

[26]When Joseph came home, they presented to him the gifts that they had brought with them into the house, bowing low before him to the ground. [27]He greeted them, and he said, "How is your aged father of whom you spoke? Is he still in good health?" [28]They replied, "It is well with your servant our father; he is still in good health." And they bowed and made obeisance.

[29]Looking about, he saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son, and asked, "Is this your youngest brother of whom you spoke to me?" And he went on, "May God be gracious to you, my boy." [30]With that, Joseph hurried out, for he was overcome with feeling toward his brother and was on the verge of tears; he went into a room and wept there. [31]Then he washed his face, reappeared, and—now in control of himself—gave the order, "Serve the meal." [32]They served him by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves; for the Egyptians could not dine with the Hebrews, since that would be abhorrent to the Egyptians. seniority to the youngest in the order of his youth, the men looked at one another in astonishment. [34]Portions were served them from his table; but Benjamin's portion was several[c] times that of anyone else. And they drank their fill with him.

Then he instructed his house steward as follows, "Fill the men's bags with food, as much as they can carry, and put each one's money in the mouth of his bag. [2]Put my silver goblet in the mouth of the bag of the youngest one, together with his money for the rations." And he did as Joseph told him.

[3]With the first light of morning, the men were sent off with their pack animals. [4]They had just left the city and had not gone far, when Joseph said to his steward, "Up, go after the men! And when you overtake them, say to them, 'Why did you repay good with evil? [5]It is the very one from which my master drinks and which he uses for divination. It was a wicked thing for you to do!'"

[6]He overtook them and spoke those words to them. [7]And they said to him, "Why does my lord say such things? Far be it from your servants to do anything of the kind! [8]Here we brought back to you from the land of Canaan the money that we found in the mouths of our bags. How then could we have stolen any silver or gold from your master's house! [9]Whichever of your servants it is found with shall die; the rest of us, moreover, shall become slaves to my lord." [10]He replied, "Although what you are proposing is right, only the one with whom it is found shall be my slave; but the rest of you shall go free."

[11]So each one hastened to lower his bag to the ground, and each one opened his bag. [12]He searched, beginning with the oldest and ending with the youngest; and the goblet turned up in 18Then Judah went up to him and said, "Please, my lord, let your servant appeal to my lord, and do not be impatient with your servant, you who are the equal of Pharaoh. 19My lord asked his servants, 'Have you a father or another brother?' 20We told my lord, 'We have an old father, and there is a child of his old age, the youngest; his full brother is dead, so that he alone is left of his mother, and his father dotes on him.' 21Then you said to your servants, 'Bring him down to me, that I may set eyes on him.' 22We said to my lord, 'The boy cannot leave his father; if he were to leave him, his father would die.' 23But you said to your servants, 'Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, do not let me see your faces.' 24When we came back to your servant my father, we reported my lord's words to him.

25"Later our father said, 'Go back and procure some food for us.' 26We answered, 'We cannot go down; only if our youngest brother is with us can we go down, for we may not [a]-show our faces to the man-[a] unless our youngest brother is with us.' [27]Your servant my father said to us, 'As you know, my wife bore me two sons. [28]But one is gone from me, and I said: Alas, he was torn by a beast! And I have not seen him since. [29]If you take this one from me, too, and he meets with disaster, you will send my white head down to Sheol in sorrow.'

[30]"Now, if I come to your servant my father and the boy is not with us—since his own life is so bound up with his—[31]when he sees that the boy is not with us, he will die, and your servants will send the white head of your servant our father down to Sheol in grief. [32]Now your servant has pledged himself for the boy to my father, saying, 'If I do not bring him back to you, I shall stand guilty before my father forever.' [33]Therefore, please let your servant remain as a slave to my lord instead of the boy, and let the boy go back with his brothers. [34]For how can I go back to my father unless the boy is with me? Let me not be witness to the woe that would overtake my father!"

Joseph could no longer control himself before all his attendants, and he cried out, "Have everyone withdraw from me!" So there was no one else about when Joseph made himself known to his brothers. [2]His sobs were so loud that the Egyptians could hear, and so the news reached Pharaoh's palace.

[3]Joseph said to his brothers, "I am Joseph. Is my father still well?" But his brothers could not answer him, so dumfounded were they on account of him.

[4]Then Joseph said to his brothers, "Come forward to me." And when they came forward, he said, "I am your brother Joseph, he whom you sold into Egypt. 5 Now, do not be distressed or reproach yourselves because you sold me hither; it was to save life that God sent me ahead of you. 6 It is now two years that there has been famine in the land, and there are still five years to come in which there shall be no yield from tilling. 7 God has sent me ahead of you to ensure your survival on earth, and to save your lives in an extraordinary deliverance. 8 So, it was not you who sent me here, but God; and He has made me a father to Pharaoh, lord of all his household, and ruler over the whole land of Egypt.

9 "Now, hurry back to my father and say to him: Thus says your son Joseph, 'God has made me lord of all Egypt; come down to me without delay. 10 You will dwell in the region of Goshen, where you will be near me—you and your children and your grandchildren, your flocks and herds, and all that is yours. 11 There I will provide for you—for there are yet five years of famine to come—that you and your household and all that is yours may not suffer want.' 12 You can see for yourselves, and my brother Benjamin for himself, that it is indeed I who am speaking to you. 13 And you must tell my father everything about my high station in Egypt and all that you have seen; and bring my father here with all speed."

14 With that he embraced[a] his brother Benjamin around the neck and wept, and Benjamin wept on his neck. 15 He kissed all his brothers and wept upon them; only then were his brothers able to talk to him.

16 The news reached Pharaoh's palace: "Joseph's brothers have come." Pharaoh and his courtiers were pleased. 17 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Say to your brothers, 'Do as follows: load up your beasts and go at once to the land of Canaan. 18 Take your father and your house-

[20]And never mind your belongings, for the best of all the land of Egypt shall be yours.’”

[21]The sons of Israel did so; Joseph gave them wagons as Pharaoh had commanded, and he supplied them with provisions for the journey. [22]To each of them, moreover, he gave a change of clothing; but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver and several[b] changes of clothing. [23]And to his father he sent the following: ten he-asses laden with the best things of Egypt, and ten she-asses laden with grain, bread, and provisions for his father on the journey. [24]As he sent his brothers off on their way, he told them, “Do not be quarrelsome on the way.”

[25]They went up from Egypt and came to their father Jacob in the land of Canaan. [26]And they told him, “Joseph is still alive; yes, he is ruler over the whole land of Egypt.” His heart went numb, for he did not believe them. [27]But when they recounted all that Joseph had said to them, and when he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent to transport him, the spirit of their father Jacob revived. [28]“Enough!” said Israel. “My son Joseph is still alive! I must go and see him before I die.”

So Israel set out with all that was his, and he came to Beer-sheba, where he offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. [2]God called to Israel in a vision by night: “Jacob! Jacob!” He answered, “Here.” [3]And He said, “I am God, the God of your father. Fear not to go down to Egypt, for I will make you there into [5]So Jacob set out from Beer-sheba. The sons of Israel put their father Jacob and their children and their wives in the wagons that Pharaoh had sent to transport him; [6]and they took along their livestock and the wealth that they had amassed in the land of Canaan. Thus Jacob and all his offspring with him came to Egypt: [7]he brought with him to Egypt his sons and grandsons, his daughters and granddaughters—all his offspring.

[8]These are the names of the Israelites, Jacob and his descendants, who came to Egypt.

Jacob's first-born Reuben; [9]Reuben's sons: Enoch,[a] Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. [10]Simeon's sons: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Saul[b] the son of a Canaanite woman. [11]Levi's sons: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [12]Judah's sons: Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah—but Er and Onan had died in the land of Canaan; and Perez's sons were Hezron and Hamul. [13]Issachar's sons: Tola, Puvah, Iob, and Shimron. [14]Zebulun's sons: Sered, Elon, and Jahleel. [15]Those were the sons whom Leah bore to Jacob in Paddan-aram, in addition to his daughter Dinah. Persons in all, male and female: 33.[c]

[16]Gad's sons: Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli. [17]Asher's sons: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah, and their sister Serah. Beriah's sons: Heber and Malchiel. [18]These were the descendants of Zilpah, whom Laban had given to his daughter Leah. These she bore to Jacob—16 persons.

[19]The sons of Jacob's wife Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin. [20]To Joseph were born in the land of Egypt Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath daughter of Poti-phera priest of On bore to him. [21]Benjamin's sons: Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim, and Ard. [22]These were the descendants of Rachel who were born to Jacob—14 persons in all.

[23]Dan's son:[d] Hushim. [24]Naphtali's sons: Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem. [25]These were the descendants of Bilhah, whom Laban had given to his daughter Rachel. These she bore to Jacob—7 persons in all.

[26]All the persons belonging to Jacob who came to Egypt[e]—his own issue, aside from the wives of Jacob's sons—all these persons numbered 66. [27]And Joseph's sons who were born to him in Egypt were two in number. Thus the total of Jacob's household who came to Egypt was seventy persons.[f]

[28]He had sent Judah ahead of him to Joseph, to point the way before him to Goshen. So when they came to the region of Goshen, [29]Joseph ordered[g] his chariot and went to Goshen to meet his father Israel; he presented himself to him and, embracing him around the neck, he wept on his neck a good while. [30]Then Israel said to Joseph, "Now I can die, having seen for myself that you are still alive."

[31]Then Joseph said to his brothers and to his father's household, "I will go up and tell the news to Pharaoh, and say to him, 'My brothers and my father's household, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me. [32]The men are shepherds; they have always been breeders of livestock, and they have brought with them their flocks and herds and all that is theirs.' [33]So when Pharaoh summons you and asks, 'What is your occupation?' [34]you shall answer, 'Your servants have been breeders of livestock from the start until now, both we and our fathers'—so that you may stay in the region of Goshen. For all shepherds are abhorrent to Egyptians."

47 Then Joseph came and reported to Pharaoh, saying, "My father and my brothers, with their flocks and herds and all that is theirs, have come from the land of Canaan and are now in the region of Goshen." [2]And selecting a few[a] of his brothers, he presented them to Pharaoh. [3]Pharaoh said to his brothers, "What is your occupation?" They answered Pharaoh, "We your servants are shepherds, as were also our fathers. [4]We have come," they told Pharaoh, "to sojourn in this land, for there is no pasture for your servants' flocks, the famine being severe in the land of Canaan. Pray, then, let your servants stay in the region of Goshen." [5]Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, "As regards your father and your brothers who have come to you, [6]the land of Egypt is open before you: settle your father and your brothers in the best part of the land; let them stay in the region of Goshen. And if you know any capable men among them, put them in charge of my livestock."

[7]Joseph then brought his father Jacob and presented him to Pharaoh; and Jacob greeted Pharaoh. [8]Pharaoh asked Jacob, "How many are the years of your life?" [9]And Jacob answered Pharaoh, "The years of my sojourn [on earth] are one hundred and thirty. Few and hard have been the years of my life, nor do they come up to the life spans of my fathers during their sojourns." [10]Then Jacob bade Pharaoh farewell, and left Pharaoh's presence.

[11]So Joseph settled his father and his brothers, giving them holdings in the choicest part of the land of Egypt, in the region of Rameses, as Pharaoh had commanded. [12]Joseph sustained his father, and his brothers, and all his father's household with bread, down to the little ones.

[13]Now there was no bread in all the world, for the famine was very severe; both the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan languished because of the famine. [14]Joseph gathered in all the money that was to be found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, as payment for the rations that were being procured, and Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's palace. [15]And when the money gave out in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and said, "Give us bread, lest we die before your very eyes; for the money is gone!" [16]And Joseph said, "Bring your livestock, and I will sell to you against your livestock, if the money is gone." [17]So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for the horses, for the stocks of sheep and cattle, and the asses; thus he provided them with bread that year in exchange for all their livestock. [18]And when that year was ended, they came to him the next year and said to him, "We cannot hide from my lord that, with all the money and animal stocks consigned to my lord, nothing is left at my lord's disposal save our persons and our farmland. [19]Let us not perish before your eyes, both we and our land. Take us and our land in exchange for bread, and we with our land will be serfs to Pharaoh; provide the seed, that we may live and not die, and that the land may not become a waste."

[20]So Joseph gained possession of all the farm land of Egypt for Pharaoh, every Egyptian having sold his field because the famine was too much for them; thus the land passed over to Pharaoh. [21]And he removed the population town by town,[b] from one end of Egypt's border to the other. [22]Only the land of the priests he did not take over, for the priests had an allotment from Pharaoh, and they lived off the allotment which Pharaoh had made to them; therefore they did not sell their land.

[23]Then Joseph said to the people, "Whereas I have this day acquired you and your land for [25]And they said, "You have saved our lives! We are grateful to my lord, and we shall be serfs to Pharaoh." [26]And Joseph made it into a land law in Egypt, which is still valid, that a fifth should be Pharaoh's; only the land of the priests did not become Pharaoh's.

[28]Jacob lived seventeen years in the land of Egypt, so that the span of Jacob's life came to one hundred and forty-seven years. [29]And when the time approached for Israel to die, he summoned his son Joseph and said to him, "Do me this favor, place your hand under my thigh as a pledge of your steadfast loyalty: please do not bury me in Egypt. [30]When I lie down with my fathers, take me up from Egypt and bury me in their burial-place." He replied, "I will do as you have spoken." [31]And he said, "Swear to me." And he swore to him. Then Israel bowed at the head of the bed.

to your offspring to come for an everlasting possession.' [5]Now, your two sons, who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, shall be mine; Ephraim and Manasseh shall be mine no less than Reuben and Simeon. [6]But progeny born to you after them shall be yours; they shall be recorded instead[a] of their brothers in their inheritance. [7]I [do this because], when I was returning from Paddan, Rachel died, to my sorrow, while I was journeying in the land of Canaan, when still some distance short of Ephrath; and I buried her there on the road to Ephrath"—now Bethlehem.

[8]Noticing Joseph's sons, Israel asked, "Who are these?" [9]And Joseph said to his father, "They are my sons, whom God has given me here." "Bring them up to me," he said, "that I may bless them." [10]Now Israel's eyes were dim with age; he could not see. So [Joseph] brought them close to him, and he kissed them and embraced them. [11]And Israel said to Joseph, "I never expected to see you again, and here God has let me see your children as well."

"The God in whose ways my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked,
The God who has been my shepherd from my birth to this day—
[16]The Angel who has redeemed me from all harm—Bless the lads.

a Lit. "under the name."

In them may my name be recalled,
And the names of my fathers Abraham and Isaac,
And may they be teeming multitudes upon the earth."

[17]When Joseph saw that his father was placing his right hand on Ephraim's head, he thought it wrong; so he took hold of his father's hand to move it from Ephraim's head to Manasseh's. [18]"Not so, Father," Joseph said to his father, "for the other is the first-born; place your right hand on his head." [19]But his father objected, saying, "I know, my son, I know. He too shall become a people, and he too shall be great. Yet his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his offspring shall be plentiful enough for nations." [20]So he blessed them that day, saying, "By you shall Israel invoke blessings, saying: God make you like Ephraim and Manasseh." Thus he put Ephraim before Manasseh.

[21]Then Israel said to Joseph, "I am about to die; but God will be with you and bring you back to the land of your fathers. [22]And now, I assign to you one portion[b] more than to your brothers, which I wrested from the Amorites with my sword and bow."

[5]Simeon and Levi are a pair;
Their weapons are tools of lawlessness.
[6]Let not my person be included in their council,
Let not my being be counted in their assembly.
For when angry they slay men,
And when pleased they maim oxen.
[7]Cursed be their anger so fierce,
And their wrath so relentless.
I will divide them in Jacob,
Scatter them in Israel.

[8]You, O Judah, your brothers shall praise;
Your hand shall be on the nape of your foes;
Your father's sons shall bow low to you.
[9]Judah is a lion's whelp;
On prey, my son, have you grown.
He crouches, lies down like a lion,
Like [a]the king of beasts[a]—who dare rouse him?
[10]The scepter shall not depart from Judah,
Nor the ruler's staff from between his feet;
So that tribute shall come to him[b]
And the homage of peoples be his.

[11]He tethers his ass to a vine,
His ass's foal to a choice vine;
He washes his garment in wine,
His robe in blood of grapes.

His teeth are whiter than milk.[c]

[13]Zebulun shall dwell by the seashore;
He shall be a haven for ships,
And his flank shall rest on Sidon.

Bury me with my fathers in the cave which is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, 30 the cave which is in the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre, in the land of Canaan, the field that Abraham bought from Ephron the Hittite for a burial site—31 there Abraham and his wife Sarah were buried; there Isaac and his wife Rebekah were buried; and there I buried Leah—32 the field and the cave in it, bought from the Hittites." 33 When Jacob finished his instructions to his sons, he drew his feet into the bed and, breathing his last, he was gathered to his people.

appeal before Pharaoh: 5'My father made me swear, saying, "I am about to die. Be sure to bury me in the grave which I made ready for myself in the land of Canaan." Now, therefore, let me go up and bury my father; then I shall return.'" 6And Pharaoh said, "Go up and bury your father, as he made you promise on oath."

7So Joseph went up to bury his father; and with him went up all the officials of Pharaoh, the senior members of his court, and all of Egypt's dignitaries, 8together with all of Joseph's household, his brothers, and his father's household; only their children, their flocks, and their herds were left in the region of Goshen. 9Chariots, too, and horsemen went up with him; it was a very large troop.

10When they came to Goren[a] ha-Atad, which is beyond the Jordan, they held there a very great and solemn lamentation; and he observed a mourning period of seven days for his father. 11And when the Canaanite inhabitants of the land saw the mourning at Goren ha-Atad, they said, "This is a solemn mourning on the part of the Egyptians." That is why it was named Abel-mizraim,[b] which is beyond the Jordan. 12Thus his sons did for him as he had instructed them. 13His sons carried him to the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah, the field near Mamre, which Abraham had bought for a burial site from Ephron the Hittite. 14After burying his father, Joseph returned to Egypt, he and his brothers and all who had gone up with him to bury his father.

15When Joseph's brothers saw that their father was dead, they said, "What if Joseph still bears a grudge against us and pays us back for all the wrong that we did him!" 16So they sent this message to Joseph, "Before his death your father left this instruction: [17]So shall you say to Joseph, 'Forgive, I urge you, the offense and guilt of your brothers who treated you so harshly.' Therefore, please forgive the offense of the servants of the God of your father." And Joseph was in tears as they spoke to him.

[18]His brothers went to him themselves, flung themselves before him, and said, "We are prepared to be your slaves." [19]But Joseph said to them, "Have no fear! Am I a substitute for God? [20]Besides, although you intended me harm, God intended it for good, so as to bring about the present result—the survival of many people. [21]And so, fear not. I will sustain you and your children." Thus he reassured them, speaking kindly to them.

[22]So Joseph and his father's household remained in Egypt. Joseph lived one hundred and ten years. [23]Joseph lived to see children of the third generation of Ephraim; the children of Machir son of Manasseh were likewise born upon Joseph's knees. [24]At length, Joseph said to his brothers, "I am about to die. God will surely take notice of you and bring you up from this land to the land that He promised on oath to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob." [25]So Joseph made the sons of Israel swear, saying, "When God has taken notice of you, you shall carry up my bones from here."

1 These are the names of the sons of Israel who came to Egypt with Jacob, each coming with his household: 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah; 3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin; 4 Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher. 5 The total number of persons that were of Jacob's issue came to seventy, Joseph being already in Egypt. 6 Joseph died, and all his brothers, and all that generation. 7 But the Israelites were fertile and prolific; they multiplied and increased very greatly, so that the land was filled with them.

8 A new king arose over Egypt who did not know Joseph. 9 And he said to his people, "Look, the Israelite people are much too numerous for us. 10 Let us deal shrewdly with them, so that they may not increase; otherwise in the event of war they may join our enemies in fighting against us and a-rise from the ground."-a 11 So they set taskmasters over them to oppress them with forced labor; and they built garrison cities[b] for Pharaoh: Pithom and Rameses. 12 But the more they were oppressed, the more they increased and spread out, so that the [Egyptians] came to dread the Israelites.

13 The Egyptians ruthlessly imposed upon the Israelites 14 c-the various labors that they made them perform. Ruthlessly-c they made life bitter for them with harsh labor at mortar and bricks and with all sorts of tasks in the field.

15 The king of Egypt spoke to the Hebrew midwives, one of whom was named Shiphrah and the other Puah, [16]saying, "When you deliver the Hebrew women, look at the birthstool:[d] if it is a boy, kill him; if it is a girl, let her live." [17]The midwives, fearing God, did not do as the king of Egypt had told them; they let the boys live. [18]So the king of Egypt summoned the midwives and said to them, "Why have you done this thing, letting the boys live?" [19]The midwives said to Pharaoh, "Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women: they are vigorous. Before the midwife can come to them, they have given birth." [20]And God dealt well with the midwives; and the people multiplied and increased greatly. [21]And because the midwives feared God, He established households[e] for them. [22]Then Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, "Every boy that is born you shall throw into the Nile, but let every girl live."

A certain man of the house of Levi went and married a Levite woman. [2]The woman conceived and bore a son; and when she saw how beautiful he was, she hid him for three months. [3]When she could hide him no longer, she got a wicker basket for him and caulked it with bitumen and pitch. She put the child into it and placed it among the reeds by the bank of the Nile. [4]And his sister stationed herself at a distance, to learn what would befall him.

[5]The daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe in the Nile, while her maidens walked along the Nile. She spied the basket among the reeds and sent her slave girl to fetch it. [6]When she opened it, she saw that it was a child, a boy crying. She took pity on it and said, "This must be a Hebrew child." [7]Then his sister said to Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and get you a Hebrew nurse to suckle the child for you?" [8]And Pharaoh's daughter answered, "Yes." So the girl went and called the child's mother. 9And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Take this child and nurse it for me, and I will pay your wages." So the woman took the child and nursed it. 10When the child grew up, she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, who made him her son. She named him Moses,[a] explaining, "I drew him out of the water."

11Some time after that, when Moses had grown up, he went out to his kinsfolk and witnessed their labors. He saw an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, one of his kinsmen. 12He turned this way and that and, seeing no one about, he struck down the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. 13When he went out the next day, he found two Hebrews fighting; so he said to the offender, "Why do you strike your fellow?" 14He retorted, "Who made you chief and ruler over us? Do you mean to kill me as you killed the Egyptian?" Moses was frightened, and thought: Then the matter is known! 15When Pharaoh learned of the matter, he sought to kill Moses; but Moses fled from Pharaoh. He arrived[b] in the land of Midian, and sat down beside a well.

16Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters. They came to draw water, and filled the troughs to water their father's flock; 17but shepherds came and drove them off. Moses rose to their defense, and he watered their flock. 18When they returned to their father Reuel, he said, "How is it that you have come back so soon today?" 19They answered, "An Egyptian rescued us from the shepherds; he even drew water for us and watered the flock." 20He said to his daughters, "Where is he then? Why did you leave the man? Ask him in to break bread." 21Moses consented to stay with the man, and

3 Now Moses, tending the flock of his father-in-law Jethro, the priest of Midian, drove the flock into the wilderness, and came to Horeb, the mountain of God. [2]An angel of the LORD appeared to him in a blazing fire out of a bush. He gazed, and there was a bush all aflame, yet the bush was not consumed. [3]Moses said, "I must turn aside to look at this marvelous sight; why doesn't the bush burn up?" [4]When the LORD saw that he had turned aside to look, God called to him out of the bush: "Moses! Moses!" He answered, "Here I am." [5]And He said, "Do not come closer. Remove your sandals from your feet, for the place on which you stand is holy ground. [6]I am," He said, "the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

But Moses spoke up and said, "What if they do not believe me and do not listen to me, but say: The LORD did not appear to you?" [2]The LORD said to him, "What is that in your hand?" And he replied, "A rod." [3]He said, "Cast it on the ground." He cast it on the ground and it became a snake; and Moses recoiled from it. [4]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Put out your hand and grasp it by the tail"—he put out his hand and seized it, and it became a rod in his hand—[5]"that they may believe that the LORD, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, did appear to you."

[6]The LORD said to him further, "Put your hand into your bosom." He put his hand into his bosom; and when he took it out, his hand was encrusted with snowy scales![a] [7]And He said, "Put your hand back into your bosom."—He put his hand back into his bosom; and when he took it out of his bosom, there it was again like the rest of his body.—[8]"And if they do not believe you or pay heed to the first sign, they will believe the second. [10]But Moses said to the LORD, "Please, O Lord, I have never been a man of words, either in times past or now that You have spoken to Your servant; I am slow of speech and slow of tongue." [11]And the LORD said to him, "Who gives man speech? Who makes him dumb or deaf, seeing or blind? Is it not I, the LORD? [12]Now go, and I will be with you as you speak and will instruct you what to say." [13]But he said, "Please, O Lord, make someone else Your agent."[b] [14]The LORD became angry with Moses, and He said, "There is your brother Aaron the Levite. He, I know, speaks readily. Even now he is setting out to meet you, and he will be happy to see you. [15]You shall speak to him and put the words in his mouth—I will be with you and with him as you speak, and tell both of you what to do—[16]and he shall speak for you to the people. Let us go, we pray, a distance of three days into the wilderness to sacrifice to the LORD our God, lest He strike us with pestilence or sword." [4]But the king of Egypt said to them, "Moses and Aaron, why do you distract the people from their tasks? Get to your labors!" [5]And Pharaoh continued, [a-]"The people of the land are already so numerous,[-a] and you would have them cease from their labors!"[b]

[6]That same day Pharaoh charged the taskmasters and foremen of the people, saying, [7]"You shall no longer provide the people with straw for making bricks as heretofore; let them go and gather straw for themselves. [8]But impose upon them the same quota of bricks as they have been making heretofore; do not reduce it, for they are shirkers; that is why they cry, 'Let us go and sacrifice to our God!' [9]Let heavier work be laid upon the men; let them keep at it and not pay attention to deceitful promises."

[10]So the taskmasters and foremen of the people went out and said to the people, "Thus says Pharaoh: I will not give you any straw. [11]You must go and get the straw yourselves wherever you can find it; but there shall be no decrease whatever in your work." [12]Then the people scattered throughout the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw. [13]And the taskmasters pressed them, saying, "You must complete the same work assignment each day as when you had straw." [20]Amram took to wife his father's sister Jochebed, and she bore him Aaron and Moses; and the span of Amram's life was 137 years. [21]The sons of Izhar: Korah, Nepheg, and Zichri. [22]The sons of Uzziel: Mishael, Elzaphan, and Sithri. [23]Aaron took to wife Elisheba, daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon, and she bore him Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. [24]The sons of Korah: Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph. Those are the families of the Korahites. [25]And Aaron's son Eleazar took to wife one of Putiel's daughters, and she bore him Phinehas. Those are the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites by their families.

[26]It is the same Aaron and Moses to whom the LORD said, "Bring forth the Israelites from the land of Egypt, troop by troop." [27]It was they who spoke to Pharaoh king of Egypt to free the Israelites from the Egyptians; these are the same Moses and Aaron. [28]For when the LORD spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt [29]and the LORD said to Moses, "I am the LORD; speak to Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I will tell you," [30]Moses appealed to the LORD, saying, "See, I am of impeded speech; how then should Pharaoh heed me!"

The LORD replied to Moses, "See, I place you in the role of God to Pharaoh, with your brother Aaron as your prophet.[a] [2]You shall repeat all that I command you, and your brother Aaron shall speak to Pharaoh to let the Israelites depart from his land. [3]But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, that I may multiply My signs and marvels in the land of Egypt. [4]When Pharaoh does not heed you, I will lay My hand upon Egypt and deliver My ranks, My people the Israelites, from the land of Egypt with extraordinary chastisements. 5And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I stretch out My hand over Egypt and bring out the Israelites from their midst." 6This Moses and Aaron did; as the LORD commanded them, so they did. 7Moses was eighty years old and Aaron eighty-three, when they made their demand on Pharaoh.

8The LORD said to Moses and Aaron, 9"When Pharaoh speaks to you and says, 'Produce your marvel,' you shall say to Aaron, 'Take your rod and cast it down before Pharaoh.' It shall turn into a serpent." 10So Moses and Aaron came before Pharaoh and did just as the LORD had commanded: Aaron cast down his rod in the presence of Pharaoh and his courtiers, and it turned into a serpent. 11Then Pharaoh, for his part, summoned the wise men and the sorcerers; and the Egyptian magicians, in turn, did the same with their spells; 12each cast down his rod, and they turned into serpents. But Aaron's rod swallowed their rods. 13Yet Pharaoh's heart stiffened and he did not heed them, as the LORD had said.

14And the LORD said to Moses, "Pharaoh is stubborn; he refuses to let the people go. 15Go to Pharaoh in the morning, as he is coming out to the water, and station yourself before him at the edge of the Nile, taking with you the rod that turned into a snake. 16And say to him, 'The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, sent me to you to say, "Let My people go that they may worship Me in the wilderness." But you have paid no heed until now. 17Thus says the LORD, "By this you shall know that I am the LORD." See, I shall strike the water in the Nile with the rod that is in my hand, and it will be turned into blood; 18and the fish in the Nile will die. The Nile will stink so that the Egyptians will find it impossible to drink the water of the Nile.'"

[19]And the LORD said to Moses, "Say to Aaron: Take your rod and hold out your arm over the waters of Egypt—its rivers, its canals, its ponds, all its bodies of water—that they may turn to blood; there shall be blood throughout the land of Egypt, even in vessels of wood and stone." [20]Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD commanded: he lifted up the rod and struck the water in the Nile in the sight of Pharaoh and his courtiers, and all the water in the Nile was turned into blood [21]and the fish in the Nile died. The Nile stank so that the Egyptians could not drink water from the Nile; and there was blood throughout the land of Egypt. [22]But when the Egyptian magicians did the same with their spells, Pharaoh's heart stiffened and he did not heed them—as the LORD had spoken. [23]Pharaoh turned and went into his palace, paying no regard even to this. [24]And all the Egyptians had to dig round about the Nile for drinking water, because they could not drink the water of the Nile.

[25]When seven days had passed after the LORD struck the Nile, [26]the LORD said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: Let My people go that they may worship Me. 8 And the LORD said to Moses, "Say to Aaron: Hold out your arm with the rod over the rivers, the canals, and the ponds, and bring up the frogs on the land of Egypt." [2]Aaron held out his arm over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt. [3]But the magicians did the same with their spells, and brought frogs upon the land of Egypt.

[4]Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "Plead with the LORD to remove the frogs from me and my people, and I will let the people go to sacrifice to the LORD." [5]And Moses said to Pharaoh, "You may have this triumph over me: for what time shall I plead in behalf of you and your courtiers and your people, that the frogs be cut off from you and your houses, to remain only in the Nile?" [6]"For tomorrow," he replied. And [Moses] said, "As you say—that you may know that there is none like the LORD our God; [7]the frogs shall retreat from you and your courtiers and your people; they shall remain only in the Nile." [8]Then Moses and Aaron left Pharaoh's presence, and Moses cried out to the LORD in the matter of the frogs which He had inflicted upon Pharaoh. [9]And the LORD did as Moses asked; the frogs died out in the houses, the courtyards, and the fields. [10]And they piled them up in heaps, till the land stank. [11]But when Pharaoh saw that there was relief, he became stubborn and would not heed them, as the LORD had spoken.

[12]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Say to Aaron: Hold out your rod and strike the dust of the earth, and it shall turn to lice throughout the land of Egypt." [13]And they did so. Aaron held out his arm with the rod and struck the dust of the earth, and vermin came upon man and beast; all the dust of the earth turned to lice throughout the land of Egypt. [14]The magicians did the like with their spells to produce lice, but they could not. The vermin remained upon man and beast; [15]and the magicians said to Pharaoh, "This is the finger of God!" But Pharaoh's heart stiffened and he would not heed them, as the LORD had spoken.

[16]And the LORD said to Moses, "Early in the morning present yourself to Pharaoh, as he is coming out to the water, and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: Let My people go that they may worship Me. [17]For if you do not let My people go, I will let loose [a]-swarms of insects-[a] against you and your courtiers and your people and your houses; the houses of the Egyptians, and the very ground they stand on, shall be filled with swarms of insects. [18]But on that day I will set apart the region of Goshen, where My people dwell, so that no swarms of insects shall be there, that you may know that I the LORD am in the midst of the land. [19]And I will make a distinction[b] between My people and your people. Tomorrow this sign shall come to pass.'" [20]And the LORD did so. Heavy swarms of insects invaded Pharaoh's palace and the houses of his courtiers; throughout the country of Egypt the land was ruined because of the swarms of insects.

[21]Then Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "Go and sacrifice to your God within the land." [22]But Moses replied, "It would not be right to do this, for what we sacrifice to the LORD our God is untouchable to the Egyptians. If we sacrifice that which is untouchable to the Egyptians before their very eyes, will they not stone us! [23]So we must go a distance of three days into the wilderness and sacrifice to the LORD our God as He may command us." [24]Pharaoh said, "I will let you go to sacrifice to the LORD your God in the wilderness; but do not go very far. Plead, then, for me." [25]And Moses said, "When I leave your presence, I will plead with the LORD that the swarms of insects depart tomorrow from Pharaoh and his courtiers and his people; but let not Pharaoh again act deceitfully, not letting the people go to sacrifice to the LORD."

[26]So Moses left Pharaoh's presence and pleaded with the LORD. [27]And the LORD did as Moses asked: He removed the swarms of insects from Pharaoh, from his courtiers, and from his people; not one remained. [28]But Pharaoh became stubborn this time also, and would not let the people go.

9 The LORD said to Moses, "Go to Pharaoh and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: Let My people go to worship Me. [2]For if you refuse to let them go, and continue to hold them, [3]then the hand of the LORD will strike your livestock in the fields—the horses, the asses, the camels, the cattle, and the sheep—with a very severe pestilence. [4]But the LORD will make a distinction between the livestock of Israel and the livestock of the Egyptians, so that nothing shall die of all that belongs to the Israelites. [5]The LORD has fixed the time: tomorrow the LORD will do this thing in the land.'" [6]And the LORD did so the next day: all the livestock of the Egyptians died, but of the livestock of the Israelites not a beast died. [7]When Pharaoh inquired, he found that not a head of the livestock of Israel had died; yet Pharaoh remained stubborn, and he would not let the people go.

[8]Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Each of you take handfuls of soot from the kiln, and let Moses throw it toward the sky in the sight of Pharaoh. [9]It shall become a fine dust all over the land of Egypt, and cause an inflammation breaking out in boils on man and beast throughout the land of Egypt." [10]So they took soot of the kiln and appeared before Pharaoh; Moses threw it toward the sky, and it caused an inflammation breaking out in boils on man and beast. 11The magicians were unable to confront Moses because of the inflammation, for the inflammation afflicted the magicians as well as all the other Egyptians. 12But the LORD stiffened the heart of Pharaoh, and he would not heed them, just as the LORD had told Moses.

13The LORD said to Moses, "Early in the morning present yourself to Pharaoh and say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews: Let My people go to worship Me. 14For this time I will send all My plagues upon your person, and your courtiers, and your people, in order that you may know that there is none like Me in all the world. 15I could have stretched forth My hand and stricken you and your people with pestilence, and you would have been effaced from the earth. 16Nevertheless I have spared you for this purpose: in order to show you My power, and in order that My fame may resound throughout the world. 17Yet you continue to thwart[a] My people, and do not let them go! 18This time tomorrow I will rain down a very heavy hail, such as has not been in Egypt from the day it was founded until now. 19Therefore, order your livestock and everything you have in the open brought under shelter; every man and beast that is found outside, not having been brought indoors, shall perish when the hail comes down upon them!'" 20Those among Pharaoh's courtiers who feared the LORD's word brought their slaves and livestock indoors to safety; 21but those who paid no regard to the word of the LORD left their slaves and livestock in the open.

22The LORD said to Moses, "Hold out your arm toward the sky that hail may fall on all the land of Egypt, upon man and beast and all the grasses of the field in the land of Egypt." 23So Moses held out his rod toward the sky, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and fire streamed down to the ground, as the LORD rained down hail upon the land of Egypt. [24]The hail was very heavy—fire flashing in the midst of the hail—such as had not fallen on the land of Egypt since it had become a nation. [25]Throughout the land of Egypt the hail struck down all that were in the open, both man and beast; the hail also struck down all the grasses of the field and shattered all the trees of the field. [26]Only in the region of Goshen, where the Israelites were, there was no hail.

[27]Thereupon Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron and said to them, "I stand guilty this time. The LORD is in the right, and I and my people are in the wrong. [28]Plead with the LORD that there may be an end of God's thunder and of hail. I will let you go; you need stay no longer." [29]Moses said to him, "As I go out of the city, I shall spread out my hands to the LORD; the thunder will cease and the hail will fall no more, so that you may know that the earth is the LORD's. [30]But I know that you and your courtiers do not yet fear the LORD God."—[31]Now the flax and barley were ruined, for the barley was in the ear and the flax was in bud; [32]but the wheat and the emmer[b] were not hurt, for they ripen late.—[33]Leaving Pharaoh, Moses went outside the city and spread out his hands to the LORD: the thunder and the hail ceased, and no rain came pouring down upon the earth. [34]But when Pharaoh saw that the rain and the hail and the thunder had ceased, he became stubborn and reverted to his guilty ways, as did his courtiers. [35]So Pharaoh's heart stiffened and he would not let the Israelites go, just as the LORD had foretold through Moses.

hearts of his courtiers, in order that I may display these My signs among them, [2]and that you may recount in the hearing of your sons and of your sons' sons how I made a mockery of the Egyptians and how I displayed My signs among them—in order that you may know that I am the LORD." [3]So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and said to him, "Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, 'How long will you refuse to humble yourself before Me? Let My people go that they may worship Me. [4]For if you refuse to let My people go, tomorrow I will bring locusts on your territory. [5]They shall cover the surface of the land, so that no one will be able to see the land. They shall devour the surviving remnant that was left to you after the hail; and they shall eat away all your trees that grow in the field. [6]Moreover, they shall fill your palaces and the houses of all your courtiers and of all the Egyptians—something that neither your fathers nor fathers' fathers have seen from the day they appeared on earth to this day.'" With that he turned and left Pharaoh's presence.

[7]Pharaoh's courtiers said to him, "How long shall this one be a snare to us? Let the men go to worship the LORD their God! Are you not yet aware that Egypt is lost?" [8]So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh and he said to them, "Go, worship the LORD your God! Who are the ones to go?" [9]Moses replied, "We will all go, young and old: we will go with our sons and daughters, our flocks and herds; for we must observe the LORD's festival." [10]But he said to them, "The LORD be with you the same as I mean to let your children go with you! Clearly, you are bent on mischief. [11]No! You menfolk go and worship the LORD, since that is what you want." And they were expelled from Pharaoh's presence.

[12]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Hold out your arm over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come upon the land of Egypt and eat up all the grasses in the land, whatever the hail has left." [13]So Moses held out his rod over the land of Egypt, and the LORD drove an east wind over the land all that day and all night; and when morning came, the east wind had brought the locusts. [14]Locusts invaded all the land of Egypt and settled within all the territory of Egypt in a thick mass; never before had there been so many, nor will there ever be so many again. [15]They hid all the land from view, and the land was darkened; and they ate up all the grasses of the field and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left, so that nothing green was left, of tree or grass of the field, in all the land of Egypt.

[16]Pharaoh hurriedly summoned Moses and Aaron and said, "I stand guilty before the LORD your God and before you. [17]Forgive my offense just this once, and plead with the LORD your God that He but remove this death from me." [18]So he left Pharaoh's presence and pleaded with the LORD. [19]The LORD caused a shift to a very strong west wind, which lifted the locusts and hurled them into the Sea of Reeds;[a] not a single locust remained in all the territory of Egypt. [20]But the LORD stiffened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let the Israelites go.

[21]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Hold out your arm toward the sky that there may be darkness upon the land of Egypt, a darkness that can be touched." [22]Moses held out his arm toward the sky and thick darkness descended upon all the land of Egypt for three days. [23]People could not see one another, and for three days no one could get up from where he was; but all the Israelites enjoyed light in their dwellings.

[24]Pharaoh then summoned Moses and said, "Go, worship the LORD! Only your flocks and your herds shall be left behind; even your children may go with you." [25]But Moses said, "You yourself must provide us with sacrifices and burnt offerings to offer up to the LORD our God; [26]our own livestock, too, shall go along with us—not a hoof shall remain behind: for we must select from it for the worship of the LORD our God; and we shall not know with what we are to worship the LORD until we arrive there." [27]But the LORD stiffened Pharaoh's heart and he would not agree to let them go. [28]Pharaoh said to him, "Be gone from me! Take care not to see me again, for the moment you look upon my face you shall die." [29]And Moses replied, "You have spoken rightly. I shall not see your face again!"

11 And the LORD said to Moses, "I will bring but one more plague upon Pharaoh and upon Egypt; after that he shall let you go from here; indeed, when he lets you go, he will drive you out of here one and all. [2]Tell the people to borrow, each man from his neighbor and each woman from hers, objects of silver and gold." [3]The LORD disposed the Egyptians favorably toward the people. Moreover, Moses himself was much esteemed in the land of Egypt, among Pharaoh's courtiers and among the people.

[4]Moses said, "Thus says the LORD: Toward midnight I will go forth among the Egyptians, [5]and every first-born in the land of Egypt shall die, from the first-born of Pharaoh who sits on his throne to the first-born of the slave girl who is behind the millstones; and all the first-born of the cattle. [6]And there shall be a loud cry in all the land of Egypt, such as has never been or will ever be again; [7]but not a dog shall snarl[a] at any of the Israelites, at man or beast—in order that you may know that the LORD makes a distinction between Egypt and Israel.

8"Then all these courtiers of yours shall come down to me and bow low to me, saying, 'Depart, you and all the people who follow you!' After that I will depart." And he left Pharaoh's presence in hot anger.

9Now the LORD had said to Moses, "Pharaoh will not heed you, in order that My marvels may be multiplied in the land of Egypt." 10Moses and Aaron had performed all these marvels before Pharaoh, but the LORD had stiffened the heart of Pharaoh so that he would not let the Israelites go from his land.

The LORD said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt: 2This month shall mark for you the beginning of the months; it shall be the first of the months of the year for you. 3Speak to the whole community of Israel and say that on the tenth of this month each of them shall take a lamb[a] to a family, a lamb to a household. 4But if the household is too small for a lamb, let him share one with a neighbor who dwells nearby, in proportion to the number of persons: you shall contribute for the lamb according to what each household will eat. 5Your lamb shall be without blemish, a yearling male; you may take it from the sheep or from the goats. 6You shall keep watch over it until the fourteenth day of this month; and all the assembled congregation of the Israelites shall slaughter it at twilight. 7They shall take some of the blood and put it on the two doorposts and the lintel of the houses in which they are to eat it. 8They shall eat the flesh that same night; they shall eat it roasted over the fire, with unleavened bread and with bitter herbs. 9Do not eat any of it raw, or cooked in any way with water, but roasted—head, legs, and entrails—over the fire. 10You shall not leave any of it over until morning;

if any of it is left until morning, you shall burn it.

[11]This is how you shall eat it: your loins girded, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand; and you shall eat it hurriedly: it is a passover offering[b] to the LORD. [12]For that night I will go through the land of Egypt and strike down every first-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and I will mete out punishments to all the gods of Egypt, I the LORD. [13]And the blood on the houses where you are staying shall be a sign for you: when I see the blood I will pass over you, so that no plague will destroy you when I strike the land of Egypt.

[14]This day shall be to you one of remembrance: you shall celebrate it as a festival to the LORD throughout the ages; you shall celebrate it as an institution for all time. [15]Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread; on the very first day you shall remove leaven from your houses, for whoever eats leavened bread from the first day to the seventh day, that person shall be cut off from Israel.

[16]You shall celebrate a sacred occasion on the first day, and a sacred occasion on the seventh day; no work at all shall be done on them; only what every person is to eat, that alone may be prepared for you. [17]You shall observe the [Feast of] Unleavened Bread, for on this very day I brought your ranks out of the land of Egypt; you shall observe this day throughout the ages as an institution for all time. [18]In the first month, from the fourteenth day of the month at evening, you shall eat unleavened bread until the twenty-first day of the month at evening. [19]No leaven shall be found in your houses for seven days. For whoever eats what is leavened, that person shall be cut off from the community of Israel, whether he is a stranger or a citizen of the country. [20]You shall eat nothing leavened;

in all your settlements you shall eat unleavened bread.

21 Moses then summoned all the elders of Israel and said to them, "Go, pick out lambs for your families, and slaughter the passover offering. 22 Take a bunch of hyssop, dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and apply some of the blood that is in the basin to the lintel and to the two doorposts. None of you shall go outside the door of his house until morning. 23 For when the LORD goes through to smite the Egyptians, He will see the blood on the lintel and the two doorposts, and the LORD will pass over[c] the door and not let the Destroyer enter and smite your home.

24 "You shall observe this as an institution for all time, for you and for your descendants. 25 And when you enter the land that the LORD will give you, as He has promised, you shall observe this rite. 26 And when your children ask you, 'What do you mean by this rite?' 27 you shall say, 'It is the passover sacrifice to the LORD, because He passed over the houses of the Israelites in Egypt when He smote the Egyptians, but saved our houses.'"

The people then bowed low in homage. 28 And the Israelites went and did so; just as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

29 In the middle of the night the LORD struck down all the first-born in the land of Egypt, from the first-born of Pharaoh who sat on the throne to the first-born of the captive who was in the dungeon, and all the first-born of the cattle. 30 And Pharaoh arose in the night, with all his courtiers and all the Egyptians—because there was a loud cry in Egypt; for there was no house where there was not someone dead. 31 He summoned Moses and Aaron in the night and said, "Up, depart from among my people, you and the Israelites with you! Go, worship the LORD as you said! 32Take also your flocks and your herds, as you said, and begone! And may you bring a blessing upon me also!"

33The Egyptians urged the people on, impatient to have them leave the country, for they said, "We shall all be dead." 34So the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading bowls wrapped in their cloaks upon their shoulders. 35The Israelites had done Moses' bidding and borrowed from the Egyptians objects of silver and gold, and clothing. 36And the LORD had disposed the Egyptians favorably toward the people, and they let them have their request; thus they stripped the Egyptians.

40The length of time that the Israelites lived in Egypt was four hundred and thirty years; 41at the end of the four hundred and thirtieth year, to the very day, all the ranks of the LORD departed from the land of Egypt. 42That was for the LORD a night of vigil to bring them out of the land of Egypt; that same night is the LORD's, one of vigil for all the children of Israel throughout the ages.

43The LORD said to Moses and Aaron: This is the law of the passover offering: No foreigner shall eat of it. 44But any slave a man has bought may eat of it once he has been circumcised. 45No bound or hired laborer shall eat of it. 46It shall be eaten in one house: you shall not take any

Now the Israelites went up armed[d] out of the land of Egypt. [19]And Moses took with him the bones of Joseph, who had exacted an oath from the children of Israel, saying, "God will be sure to take notice of you: then you shall carry up my bones from here with you."

[20]They set out from Succoth, and encamped at Etham, at the edge of the wilderness. [21]The LORD went before them in a pillar of cloud by day, to guide them along the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to give them light, that they might travel day and night. [22]The pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night did not depart from before the people.

The LORD said to Moses: [2]Tell the Israelites to turn back and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, before Baal-zephon; you shall encamp facing it, by the sea. [3]Pharaoh will say of the Israelites, "They are astray in the land; the wilderness has closed in on them." [4]Then I will stiffen Pharaoh's heart and he will pursue them, that I may gain glory through Pharaoh and all his host; and the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD.

And they did so.

[5]When the king of Egypt was told that the people had fled, Pharaoh and his courtiers had a change of heart about the people and said, "What is this we have done, releasing Israel from our service?" [6]He ordered[a] his chariot and took his men with him; [7]he took six hundred of his picked chariots, and the rest of the chariots of Egypt, with officers[b] in all of them. [8]The LORD stiffened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he gave chase to the Israelites. As the Israelites were departing defiantly,[c] [9]the Egyptians gave chase to them, and all the chariot horses of Pharaoh, his horsemen, and his warriors overtook them encamped by the sea, near Pi-hahiroth, before Baal-zephon.

10As Pharaoh drew near, the Israelites caught sight of the Egyptians advancing upon them. Greatly frightened, the Israelites cried out to the LORD. 11And they said to Moses, "Was it for want of graves in Egypt that you brought us to die in the wilderness? What have you done to us, taking us out of Egypt? 12Is this not the very thing we told you in Egypt, saying, 'Let us be, and we will serve the Egyptians, for it is better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in the wilderness'?" 13But Moses said to the people, "Have no fear! Stand by, and witness the deliverance which the LORD will work for you today; for the Egyptians whom you see today you will never see again. 14The LORD will battle for you; you hold your peace!"

15Then the LORD said to Moses, "Why do you cry out to Me? Tell the Israelites to go forward. 16And you lift up your rod and hold out your arm over the sea and split it, so that the Israelites may march into the sea on dry ground. 17And I will stiffen the hearts of the Egyptians so that they go in after them; and I will gain glory through Pharaoh and all his warriors, his chariots and his horsemen. 18Let the Egyptians know that I am LORD, when I gain glory through Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen."

19The angel of God, who had been going ahead of the Israelite army, now moved and followed behind them; and the pillar of cloud shifted from in front of them and took up a place behind them, 20and it came between the army of the Egyptians and the army of Israel. Thus there was the cloud with the darkness, and it cast a spell[d] upon the night, so that the one could not come near the other all through the night.

[21]Then Moses held out his arm over the sea and the LORD drove back the sea with a strong east wind all that night, and turned the sea into dry ground. The waters were split, [22]and the Israelites went into the sea on dry ground, the waters forming a wall for them on their right and on their left. [23]The Egyptians came in pursuit after them into the sea, all of Pharaoh's horses, chariots, and horsemen. [24]At the morning watch, the LORD looked down upon the Egyptian army from a pillar of fire and cloud, and threw the Egyptian army into panic. [25]He locked[e] the wheels of their chariots so that they moved forward with difficulty. And the Egyptians said, "Let us flee from the Israelites, for the LORD is fighting for them against Egypt."

[26]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Hold out your arm over the sea, that the waters may come back upon the Egyptians and upon their chariots and upon their horsemen." [27]Moses held out his arm over the sea, and at daybreak the sea returned to its normal state, and the Egyptians fled at its approach. But the LORD hurled the Egyptians into the sea. [28]The waters turned back and covered the chariots and the horsemen—Pharaoh's entire army that followed them into the sea; not one of them remained. [29]But the Israelites had marched through the sea on dry ground, the waters forming a wall for them on their right and on their left.

[30]Thus the LORD delivered Israel that day from the Egyptians. Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the shore of the sea. [31]And when Israel saw the wondrous power which the LORD had wielded against the Egyptians, the people feared the LORD; they had faith in the LORD and His servant Moses.

15 Then Moses and the Israelites sang this song to the LORD. They said:
I will sing to the LORD, for He has triumphed gloriously;
Horse and driver He has hurled into the sea.
2The LORD[a] is my strength and might;[b]
He is become my deliverance.
This is my God and I will enshrine[c] Him;
The God of my father, and I will exalt Him.
3The LORD, the Warrior—
LORD is His name!
4Pharaoh's chariots and his army
He has cast into the sea;
And the pick of his officers
Are drowned in the Sea of Reeds.
5The deeps covered them;
They went down into the depths like a stone.
6Your right hand, O LORD, glorious in power,
Your right hand, O LORD, shatters the foe!
7In Your great triumph You break Your opponents;
You send forth Your fury, it consumes them like straw.
8At the blast of Your nostrils the waters piled up,
The floods stood straight like a wall;
The deeps froze in the heart of the sea.
9The foe said,
"I will pursue, I will overtake,
I will divide the spoil;
My desire shall have its fill of them.
I will bare my sword—
My hand shall subdue them."
10You made Your wind blow, the sea covered them;
They sank like lead in the majestic waters.
11Who is like You, O LORD, among the celestials;[d]
Who is like You, majestic in holiness,
Awesome in splendor, working wonders!
12You put out Your right hand,
The earth swallowed them.
13In Your love You lead the people You redeemed;
In Your strength You guide them to Your holy abode.
14The peoples hear, they tremble;
Agony grips the dwellers in Philistia.
15Now are the clans of Edom dismayed;
The tribes of Moab—trembling grips them;
All the dwellers in Canaan are aghast.
16Terror and dread descend upon them;
Through the might of Your arm they are still as stone—
Till Your people cross over, O LORD,
Till Your people cross whom You have ransomed.
17You will bring them and plant them in Your own mountain,
The place You made to dwell in, O LORD,
The sanctuary, O LORD, which Your hands established.
18The LORD will reign for ever and ever!

19 For the horses of Pharaoh, with his chariots and horsemen, went into the sea; and the LORD turned back on them the waters of the sea; but the Israelites marched on dry ground in the midst of the sea.

20 Then Miriam the prophetess, Aaron's sister, took a timbrel in her hand, and all the women went out after her in dance with timbrels. 21 And Miriam chanted for them:

> Sing to the LORD, for He has triumphed gloriously;
> Horse and driver He has hurled into the sea.

22 Then Moses caused Israel to set out from the Sea of Reeds. They went on into the wilderness of Shur; they traveled three days in the wilderness and found no water. 23 They came to Marah, but they could not drink the water of Marah because it was bitter; that is why it was named Marah.[e] 24 And the people grumbled against Moses, saying, "What shall we drink?" 25 So he cried out to the LORD, and the LORD showed him a piece of wood; he threw it into the water and the water became sweet.

There He made for them a fixed rule, and there He put them to the test. 26 He said, "If you will heed the LORD your God diligently, doing what is upright in His sight, giving ear to His commandments and keeping all His laws, then I will not bring upon you any of the diseases that I brought upon the Egyptians, for I the LORD am your healer."

27 And they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees; and they encamped there beside the water.

Setting out from Elim, the whole Israelite community came to the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from the land of Egypt. [2]In the wilderness, the whole Israelite community grumbled against Moses and Aaron. [3]The Israelites said to them, "If only we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the fleshpots, when we ate our fill of bread! For you have brought us out into this wilderness to starve this whole congregation to death."

[4]And the LORD said to Moses, "I will rain down bread for you from the sky, and the people shall go out and gather each day that day's portion—that I may thus test them, to see whether they will follow My instructions or not. [5]But on the sixth day, when they apportion what they have brought in, it shall prove to be double the amount they gather each day." [6]So Moses and Aaron said to all the Israelites, "By evening you shall know it was the LORD who brought you out from the land of Egypt; [7]and in the morning you shall behold the Presence[a] of the LORD, because He has heard your grumblings against the LORD. For who are we that you should grumble against us? [8]Since it is the LORD," Moses continued, "who will give you flesh to eat in the evening and bread in the morning to the full, because the LORD has heard the grumblings you utter against Him, what is our part? Your grumbling is not against us, but against the LORD!"

[9]Then Moses said to Aaron, "Say to the whole Israelite community: Advance toward the LORD, for He has heard your grumbling." [10]And as Aaron spoke to the whole Israelite community, they turned toward the wilderness, and there, in a cloud, appeared the Presence of the LORD.

[11]The LORD spoke to Moses: [12]"I have heard the grumbling of the Israelites. Speak to them and say: By evening you shall eat flesh, and in the morning you shall have your fill of bread; and you shall know that I the LORD am your God."

[13]In the evening quail appeared and covered the camp; in the morning there was a fall of dew about the camp. [14]When the fall of dew lifted, there, over the surface of the wilderness, lay a fine and flaky substance, as fine as frost on the ground. [15]When the Israelites saw it, they said to one another, "What is it?"[b]—for they did not know what it was. And Moses said to them, "That is the bread which the LORD has given you to eat. [16]This is what the LORD has commanded: Gather as much of it as each of you requires to eat, an omer to a person for as many of you as there are; each of you shall fetch for those in his tent."

[17]The Israelites did so, some gathering much, some little. [18]But when they measured it by the omer, he who had gathered much had no excess, and he who had gathered little had no deficiency: they had gathered as much as they needed to eat. [19]And Moses said to them, "Let no one leave any of it over until morning." [20]But they paid no attention to Moses; some of them left of it until morning, and it became infested with maggots and stank. And Moses was angry with them.

[21]So they gathered it every morning, each as much as he needed to eat; for when the sun grew hot, it would melt. [22]On the sixth day they gathered double the amount of food, two *omer*s for each; and when all the chieftains of the community came and told Moses, [23]he said to them, "This is what the LORD meant: Tomorrow is a day of rest, a holy sabbath of the LORD. Bake what you would bake and boil what you would boil; and all that is left put aside to be kept until morning." 24So they put it aside until morning, as Moses had ordered; and it did not turn foul, and there were no maggots in it. 25Then Moses said, "Eat it today, for today is a sabbath of the LORD; you will not find it today on the plain. 26Six days you shall gather it; on the seventh day, the sabbath, there will be none."

27Yet some of the people went out on the seventh day to gather, but they found nothing. 28And the LORD said to Moses, "How long will you men refuse to obey My commandments and My teachings? 29Mark that the LORD has given you the sabbath; therefore He gives you two days' food on the sixth day. Let everyone remain where he is: let no one leave his place on the seventh day." 30So the people remained inactive on the seventh day.

31The house of Israel named it manna;[c] it was like coriander seed, white, and it tasted like wafers[d] in honey. 32Moses said, "This is what the LORD has commanded: Let one omer of it be kept throughout the ages, in order that they may see the bread that I fed you in the wilderness when I brought you out from the land of Egypt." 33And Moses said to Aaron, "Take a jar, put one omer of manna in it, and place it before the LORD, to be kept throughout the ages." 34As the LORD had commanded Moses, Aaron placed it before the Pact,[e] to be kept. 35And the Israelites ate manna forty years, until they came to a settled land; they ate the manna until they came to the border of the land of Canaan. 36The omer is a tenth of an ephah.

17 From the wilderness of Sin the whole Israelite community continued by stages as the LORD would command. They encamped at Rephidim, and there was no water for the people to drink. [2]The people quarreled with Moses. "Give us water to drink," they said; and Moses replied to them, "Why do you quarrel with me? Why do you try the LORD?" [3]But the people thirsted there for water; and the people grumbled against Moses and said, "Why did you bring us up from Egypt, to kill us and our children and livestock with thirst?" [4]Moses cried out to the LORD, saying, "What shall I do with this people? Before long they will be stoning me!" [5]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Pass before the people; take with you some of the elders of Israel, and take along the rod with which you struck the Nile, and set out. [6]I will be standing there before you on the rock at Horeb. Strike the rock and water will issue from it, and the people will drink." And Moses did so in the sight of the elders of Israel. [7]The place was named Massah[a] and Meribah,[b] because the Israelites quarreled and because they tried the LORD, saying, "Is the LORD present among us or not?"

[8]Amalek came and fought with Israel at Rephidim. [9]Moses said to Joshua, "Pick some men for us, and go out and do battle with Amalek. Tomorrow I will station myself on the top of the hill, with the rod of God in my hand." [10]Joshua did as Moses told him and fought with Amalek, while Moses, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the hill. [11]Then, whenever Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed; but whenever he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed. [12]But Moses' hands grew heavy; so they took a stone and put it under him and he sat on it, while Aaron and Hur, one on each side, supported his hands; thus his hands remained steady until the sun set. [13]And Joshua overwhelmed the people of Amalek[c] with the sword.

[14]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Inscribe this in a document as a reminder, and read it aloud to Joshua: I will utterly blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven!" 18 YITRO

Jethro priest of Midian, Moses' father-in-law, heard all that God had done for Moses and for Israel His people, how the LORD had brought Israel out from Egypt. [2]So Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, took Zipporah, Moses' wife, after she had been sent home, [3]and her two sons—of whom one was named Gershom, that is to say, "I have been a stranger[a] in a foreign land"; [4]and the other was named Eliezer,[b] meaning, "The God of my father was my help, and He delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh." [5]Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, brought Moses' sons and wife to him in the wilderness, where he was encamped at the mountain of God. [6]He sent word to Moses, "I, your father-in-law Jethro, am coming to you, with your wife and her two sons." [7]Moses went out to meet his father-in-law; he bowed low and kissed him; each asked after the other's welfare, and they went into the tent.

[8]Moses then recounted to his father-in-law everything that the LORD had done to Pharaoh and to the Egyptians for Israel's sake, all the hardships that had befallen them on the way, and how the LORD had delivered them. [9]And Jethro rejoiced over all the kindness that the LORD had shown Israel when He delivered them from the Egyptians. [10]"Blessed be the LORD," Jethro said, "who delivered you from the Egyptians and from Pharaoh, and who delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians. [11]Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods, [c]yes, by the result of their very schemes against [the people]."[c] [12]And Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, brought a burnt offering and sacrifices for God; and Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to partake of the meal before God with Moses' father-in-law.

[13]Next day, Moses sat as magistrate among the people, while the people stood about Moses from morning until evening. [14]But when Moses' father-in-law saw how much he had to do for the people, he said, "What is this thing that you are doing to the people? Why do you act[d] alone, while all the people stand about you from morning until evening?" [15]Moses replied to his father-in-law, "It is because the people come to me to inquire of God. [16]When they have a dispute, it comes before me, and I decide between one person and another, and I make known the laws and teachings of God."

[17]But Moses' father-in-law said to him, "The thing you are doing is not right; [18]you will surely wear yourself out, and these people as well. For the task is too heavy for you; you cannot do it alone. [19]Now listen to me. I will give you counsel, and God be with you! the people capable men who fear God, trustworthy men who spurn ill-gotten gain. Set these over them as chiefs of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens, and [22]let them judge the people at all times. Have them bring every major dispute to you, but let them decide every minor dispute themselves. Make it easier for yourself by letting them share the burden with you. [23]If you do this—and God so commands you—you will be able to bear up; and all these people too will go home unwearied."

[24]Moses heeded his father-in-law and did just as he had said. [25]Moses chose capable men out of all Israel, and appointed them heads over the people—chiefs of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens; [26]and they judged the people at all times: the difficult matters they would bring to Moses, and all the minor matters they would decide themselves. [27]Then Moses bade his father-in-law farewell, and he went his way to his own land.

On the third new moon after the Israelites had gone forth from the land of Egypt, on that very day, they entered the wilderness of Sinai. [2]Having journeyed from Rephidim, they entered the wilderness of Sinai and encamped in the wilderness. Israel encamped there in front of the mountain, [3]and Moses went up to God. The LORD called to him from the mountain, saying, "Thus shall you say to the house of Jacob and declare to the children of Israel: [4]'You have seen what I did to the Egyptians, how I bore you on eagles' wings and brought you to Me. [5]Now then, if you will obey Me faithfully and keep My covenant, you shall be My treasured possession among all the peoples. Indeed, all the earth is Mine, [6]but you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.' These are the words that you shall speak to the children of Israel."

[7]Moses came and summoned the elders of the people and put before them all that the LORD had commanded him. [8]All the people answered as one, saying, "All that the LORD has spoken we will do!" And Moses brought back the people's words to the LORD. [9]And the LORD said to Moses, "I will come to you in a thick cloud, in order that the people may hear when I speak with you and so trust you ever after." Then Moses reported the people's words to the LORD, [10]and the LORD said to Moses, "Go to the people and warn them to stay pure[a] today and tomorrow. Let them wash their clothes. [11]Let them be ready for the third day; for on the third day the LORD will come down, in the sight of all the people, on Mount Sinai. [12]You shall set bounds for the people round about, saying, 'Beware of going up the mountain or touching the border of it. Whoever touches the mountain shall be put to death: [13]no hand shall touch him, but he shall be either stoned or shot; beast or man, he shall not live.' When the ram's horn [b-]sounds a long blast,[-b] they may go up on the mountain."

[14]Moses came down from the mountain to the people and warned the people to stay pure, and they washed their clothes. [15]And he said to the people, "Be ready for the third day: do not go near a woman."

[16]On the third day, as morning dawned, there was thunder, and lightning, and a dense cloud upon the mountain, and a very loud blast of the horn; and all the people who were in the camp trembled. [17]Moses led the people out of the camp toward God, and they took their places at the foot of the mountain.

[18]Now Mount Sinai was all in smoke, for the LORD had come down upon it in fire; the smoke rose like the smoke of a kiln, and the whole mountain[c] trembled violently. [19]The blare of the horn grew louder and louder. As Moses spoke, God answered him in thunder. [20]The LORD came down upon Mount Sinai, on the top of the mountain, and the LORD called Moses to the top of the mountain and Moses went up. [21]The LORD said to Moses, "Go down, warn the people not to break through to the LORD to gaze, lest many of them perish. [22]The priests also, who come near the LORD, must stay pure, lest the LORD break out against them." [23]But Moses said to the LORD, "The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai, for You warned us saying, 'Set bounds about the mountain and sanctify it.'" [24]So the LORD said to him, "Go down, and come back together with Aaron; but let not the priests or the people break through to come up to the LORD, lest He break out against them." [25]And Moses went down to the people and spoke to them.

of the LORD your God; for the LORD will not clear one who swears falsely by His name.

[8]Remember the sabbath day and keep it holy. [9]Six days you shall labor and do all your work, [10]but the seventh day is a sabbath of the LORD your God: you shall not do any work—you, your son or daughter, your male or female slave, or your cattle, or the stranger who is within your settlements. [11]For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth and sea, and all that is in them, and He rested on the seventh day; therefore the LORD blessed the sabbath day and hallowed it.

[12]Honor your father and your mother, that you may long endure on the land that the LORD your God is assigning to you.

[13]You shall not murder.

You shall not commit adultery.

You shall not steal.

You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

[14]You shall not covet your neighbor's house: you shall not covet your neighbor's wife, or his male or female slave, or his ox or his ass, or anything that is your neighbor's.

[15]All the people witnessed the thunder and lightning, the blare of the horn and the mountain smoking; and when the people saw it, they fell back and stood at a distance. [16]"You speak to us," they said to Moses, "and we will obey; but let not God speak to us, lest we die." [17]Moses answered the people, "Be not afraid; for God has come only in order to test you, and in order that the fear of Him may be ever with you, so that you do not go astray." [18]So the people remained at a distance, while Moses approached the thick cloud where God was.

[19]The LORD said to Moses:

Thus shall you say to the Israelites: You yourselves saw that I spoke to you from the very

These are the rules that you shall set before them:

[2]When you acquire a Hebrew slave, he shall serve six years; in the seventh year he shall go free, without payment. [3]If he came single, he shall leave single; if he had a wife, his wife shall leave with him. [4]If his master gave him a wife, and she has borne him children, the wife and her children shall belong to the master, and he shall leave alone. [5]But if the slave declares, "I love my master, and my wife and children: I do not wish to go free," [6]his master shall take him before God.[a] He shall be brought to the door or the doorpost, and his master shall pierce his ear with an awl; and he shall then remain his slave for life.

[7]When a man sells his daughter as a slave, she shall not be freed as male slaves are. [8]If she proves to be displeasing to her master, who designated her for himself, he must let her be redeemed; he shall not have the right to sell her to outsiders, since he broke faith with her. [9]And if he designated her for his son, he shall deal with [12]He who fatally strikes a man shall be put to death. [13]If he did not do it by design, but it came about by an act of God, I will assign you a place to which he can flee.

[14]When a man schemes against another and kills him treacherously, you shall take him from My very altar to be put to death.

[15]He who strikes his father or his mother shall be put to death.

[16]He who kidnaps a man—whether he has sold him or is still holding him—shall be put to death.

[17]He who insults[c] his father or his mother shall be put to death.

[18]Whoever lies with a beast shall be put to death.

[19]Whoever sacrifices to a god other than the LORD alone shall be proscribed.[h]

[20]You shall not wrong a stranger or oppress him, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt.

[21]You shall not ill-treat any widow or orphan. [22]If you do mistreat them, I will heed their outcry as soon as they cry out to Me, [23]and My anger shall blaze forth and I will put you to the sword, and your own wives shall become widows and your children orphans.

[24]If you lend money to My people, to the poor among you, do not act toward them as a creditor; exact no interest from them. [25]If you take your neighbor's garment in pledge, you must return it to him before the sun sets; [26]it is his only clothing, the sole covering for his skin. In what else shall he sleep? Therefore, if he cries out to Me, I will pay heed, for I am compassionate.

[27]You shall not revile God, nor put a curse upon a chieftain among your people.

[28]You shall not [i]-put off the skimming of the first yield of your vats.-[i] You shall give Me the first-born among your sons. [29]You shall do the same with your cattle and your flocks: seven days it[j] shall remain with its mother; on the eighth day you shall give it to Me.

[30]You shall be holy people to Me: you must not eat flesh torn by beasts in the field; you shall cast it to the dogs.

You must not carry false rumors; you shall not join hands with the guilty to act as a malicious witness: [2]You shall neither side with the mighty[a] to do wrong—you shall not give perverse testimony in a dispute so as to pervert it in favor of the mighty[a]—[3]nor shall you show deference to a poor man in his dispute.

[4]When you encounter your enemy's ox or ass wandering, you must take it back to him.

[5]When you see the ass of your enemy lying under its burden and would refrain from raising[b] it, you must nevertheless raise it with him.

[6]You shall not subvert the rights of your needy in their disputes. [7]Keep far from a false charge; do not bring death on those who are innocent and in the right, for I will not acquit the wrongdoer. [8]Do not take bribes, for bribes blind the clear-sighted and upset the pleas of those who are in the right.

[9]You shall not oppress a stranger, for you know the feelings of the stranger, having yourselves been strangers in the land of Egypt.

[10]Six years you shall sow your land and gather in its yield; [11]but in the seventh you shall let it rest and lie fallow. Let the needy among your people eat of it, and what they leave let the wild beasts eat. You shall do the same with your vineyards and your olive groves.

[12]Six days you shall do your work, but on the seventh day you shall cease from labor, in order that your ox and your ass may rest, and that your bondman and the stranger may be refreshed.

[13]Be on guard concerning all that I have told you. Make no mention of the names of other gods; they shall not be heard on your lips.

[14]Three times a year you shall hold a festival for Me: [15]You shall observe the Feast of Unleavened Bread—eating unleavened bread for seven days as I have commanded you—at the set time in the month[c] of Abib, for in it you went forth from Egypt; and none shall appear before Me empty-handed; [16]and the Feast of the Harvest, of the first fruits of your work, of what you sow in the field; and the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in the results of your work from the field. [17]Three times a year all your males shall appear before the Sovereign, the LORD.

[18]You shall not offer the blood of My sacrifice with anything leavened; and the fat of My festal offering shall not be left lying until morning.

[19]The choice first fruits of your soil you shall bring to the house of the LORD your God.

You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

[20]I am sending an angel before you to guard you on the way and to bring you to the place that I have made ready. [21]Pay heed to him and obey him. Do not defy him, for he will not pardon your offenses, since My Name is in him; [22]but if you obey him and do all that I say, I will be an enemy to your enemies and a foe to your foes.

[23]When My angel goes before you and brings you to the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I annihilate them, [24]you shall not bow down to their gods in worship or follow their practices, but shall tear them down and smash their pillars to bits. [30]I will drive them out before you little by little, until you have increased and possess the land. Then He said to Moses, "Come up to the LORD, with Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy elders of Israel, and bow low from afar. [2]Moses alone shall come near the LORD; but the others shall not come near, nor shall the people come up with him."

[3]Moses went and repeated to the people all the commands of the LORD and all the rules; and all the people answered with one voice, saying, "All the things that the LORD has commanded we will do!" [4]Moses then wrote down all the commands of the LORD.

Early in the morning, he set up an altar at the foot of the mountain, with twelve pillars for the twelve tribes of Israel. [5]He designated some young men among the Israelites, and they offered burnt offerings and sacrificed bulls as offerings of well-being to the LORD. [6]Moses took one part of the blood and put it in basins, and the other part of the blood he dashed against the altar. [7]Then he took the record of the covenant and read it aloud to the people. And they said, "All that the LORD has spoken [a]we will faithfully do!"[a] [8]Moses took the blood and dashed it on the people and said, "This is the blood of the covenant that the LORD now makes with you concerning all these commands."

[9]Then Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy elders of Israel ascended; [10]and they saw the God of Israel: under His feet there was the likeness of a pavement of sapphire, like the very sky for purity. [11]Yet He did not raise His hand against the leaders[b] of the Israelites; they beheld God, and they ate and drank.

[12]The LORD said to Moses, "Come up to Me on the mountain and wait there, and I will give you the stone tablets with the teachings and commandments which I have inscribed to instruct them." [13]So Moses and his attendant Joshua arose, and Moses ascended the mountain of God. [14]To the elders he had said, "Wait here for us until we return to you. You have Aaron and Hur with you; let anyone who has a legal matter approach them."

[15]When Moses had ascended the mountain, the cloud covered the mountain. [16]The Presence of the LORD abode on Mount Sinai, and the cloud hid it for six days. On the seventh day He called to Moses from the midst of the cloud. [17]Now the Presence of the LORD appeared in the sight of the Israelites as a consuming fire on the top of the mountain. [18]Moses went inside the cloud and ascended the mountain; and Moses remained on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Tell the Israelite people to bring Me gifts; you shall accept gifts for Me from every person whose heart so moves him. [3]And these are the gifts that you shall accept from them: gold, silver, and copper; [4]blue, purple, and crimson yarns, fine linen, goats' hair; [5]tanned ram skins,[a] dolphin[b] skins, and acacia wood; [6]oil for lighting, spices for the anointing oil and for the aromatic incense; [7]lapis lazuli[c] and other stones for setting, for the ephod and for the breastpiece. [8]And let them make Me a sanctuary that I may dwell among them. [9]Exactly as I show you—the pattern of the Tabernacle and the pattern of all its furnishings—so shall you make it.

[10]They shall make an ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high. [11]Overlay it with pure gold—overlay it inside and out—and make upon it a gold molding round about. [12]Cast four gold rings for it, to be attached to its four feet, two rings on one of its side walls and two on the other. [13]Make poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold; [14]then insert the poles into the rings on the side walls of the ark, for carrying the ark. [15]The poles shall remain in the rings of the ark: they shall not be removed from it. [16]And deposit in the Ark [the tablets of] the Pact which I will give you.

[17]You shall make a cover of pure gold, two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide. [18]Make two cherubim of gold—make them of hammered work—at the two ends of the cover. [19]Make one cherub at one end and the other cherub at the other end; of one piece with the cover shall you make the cherubim at its two ends. [20]The cherubim shall have their wings spread out above, shielding the cover with their wings. They shall confront each other, the faces of the cherubim being turned toward the cover. 21Place the cover on top of the Ark, after depositing inside the Ark the Pact that I will give you. 22There I will meet with you, and I will impart to you—from above the cover, from between the two cherubim that are on top of the Ark of the Pact—all that I will command you concerning the Israelite people.

31You shall make a lampstand of pure gold; the lampstand shall be made of hammered work; its base and its shaft, its cups, calyxes, and petals shall be of one piece. 32Six branches shall issue from its sides; three branches from one side of the lampstand and three branches from the other side of the lampstand. 33On one branch there shall be three cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, and on the next branch there shall be three cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals; so for all six branches issuing from the lampstand. 34And on the lampstand itself there shall be four cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals: 35a calyx, of one piece with it, under a pair of branches; and a calyx, of one piece with it, under the sec-of the tent. [10]Make fifty loops on the edge of the outermost cloth of the one set, and fifty loops on the edge of the cloth of the other set. [11]Make fifty copper clasps, and fit the clasps into the loops, and couple the tent together so that it becomes one whole. [12]As for the overlapping excess of the cloths of the tent, the extra half-cloth shall overlap the back of the Tabernacle, [13]while the extra cubit at either end of each length of tent cloth shall hang down to the bottom of the two sides of the Tabernacle and cover it. [14]And make for the tent a covering of tanned ram skins, and a covering of dolphin skins above.

[15]You shall make the planks for the Tabernacle of acacia wood, upright. [16]The length of each plank shall be ten cubits and the width of each plank a cubit and a half. [17]Each plank shall have two tenons, parallel[b] to each other; do the same with all the planks of the Tabernacle. [18]Of the planks of the Tabernacle, make twenty planks on the south[c] side: [19]making forty silver sockets under the twenty planks, two sockets under the one plank for its two tenons and two sockets under each following plank for its two tenons; [20]and for the other side wall of the Tabernacle, on the north side, twenty planks, [21]with their forty silver sockets, two sockets under the one plank and two sockets under each following plank. [22]And for the rear of the Tabernacle, to the west, make six planks; [23]and make two planks for the corners of the Tabernacle at the rear. [24]d-They shall match at the bottom, and terminate alike at the top inside one ring;-d thus shall it be with both of them: they shall form the two corners. [25]Thus there shall be eight planks with their sockets of silver: sixteen sockets, two sockets under the first plank, and two sockets under each of the other planks.

[18]The length of the enclosure shall be a hundred cubits, and the width fifty throughout; and the height five cubits—[with hangings] of fine twisted linen. The sockets shall be of copper: [19]all the utensils of the Tabernacle,[b] for all its service, as well as all its pegs and all the pegs of the court, shall be of copper.

[20]You shall further instruct the Israelites to bring you clear oil of beaten olives for lighting, for kindling lamps regularly. [21]Aaron and his sons shall set them up in the Tent of Meeting, outside the curtain which is over [the Ark of] the Pact, [to burn] from evening to morning before the LORD. It shall be a due from the Israelites for all time, throughout the ages.

You shall bring forward your brother Aaron, with his sons, from among the Israelites, to serve Me as priests: Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, the sons of Aaron. [2]Make sacral vestments for your brother Aaron, for dignity and adornment. [3]Next you shall instruct all who are [a-]skillful, whom I have endowed with the gift of skill,[-a] to make Aaron's vestments, for consecrating him to serve Me as priest. [4]These are the vestments they are to make: a breastpiece, an ephod, a robe, a fringed[b] tunic, a headdress, and a sash. They shall make those sacral vestments for your brother Aaron and his sons, for priestly service to Me; 5they, therefore, shall receive the gold, the blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and the fine linen.

15You shall make a breastpiece of decision,[c] worked into a design; make it in the style of the ephod: make it of gold, of blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and of fine twisted linen. 16It shall be square and doubled, a span in length and a span in width. 17Set in it mounted stones, in four rows of stones. The first row shall be a row of [d]carnelian, chrysolite, and emerald; 18the second row: a turquoise, a sapphire, and an amethyst; 19the third row: a jacinth, an agate, and a crystal; 20and the fourth row: a beryl, a lapis lazuli, and a jasper. They shall be framed with gold in their mountings. [21]The stones shall correspond [in number] to the names of the sons of Israel: twelve, corresponding to their names. They shall be engraved like seals, each with its name, for the twelve tribes.

[22]On the breastpiece make braided chains of corded work in pure gold. [23]Make two rings of gold on the breastpiece, and fasten the two rings at the two ends of the breastpiece, [24]attaching the two golden cords to the two rings at the ends of the breastpiece. [25]Then fasten the two ends of the cords to the two frames, which you shall attach to the shoulder-pieces of the ephod, at the front. [26]Make two rings of gold and attach them to the two ends of the breastpiece, at its inner edge, which faces the ephod. [27]And make two other rings of gold and fasten them on the front of the ephod, low on the two shoulder-pieces, close to its seam above the decorated band. [28]The breastpiece shall be held in place by a cord of blue from its rings to the rings of the ephod, so that the breastpiece rests on the decorated band and does not come loose from the ephod. [29]Aaron shall carry the names of the sons of Israel on the breastpiece of decision over his heart, when he enters the sanctuary, for remembrance before the LORD at all times. [30]Inside the breastpiece of decision you shall place the Urim and Thummim,[e] so that they are over Aaron's heart when he comes before the LORD. Thus Aaron shall carry the instrument of decision for the Israelites over his heart before the LORD at all times.

[31]You shall make the robe of the ephod of pure blue.[f] [32]The opening for the head shall be in the middle of it; the opening shall have a binding of woven work round about—it shall be like the opening of a coat of mail—so that it does not tear. [33]On its hem make pomegranates of 36You shall make a frontlet of pure gold and engrave on it the seal inscription: "Holy to the LORD." 37Suspend it on a cord of blue, so that it may remain on the headdress; it shall remain on the front of the headdress. 38It shall be on Aaron's forehead, that Aaron may take away any sin arising from the holy things that the Israelites consecrate, from any of their sacred donations; it shall be on his forehead at all times, to win acceptance for them before the LORD.

39You shall make the fringed tunic of fine linen.

You shall make the headdress of fine linen.

You shall make the sash of embroidered work.

40And for Aaron's sons also you shall make tunics, and make sashes for them, and make turbans for them, for dignity and adornment. 41Put these on your brother Aaron and on his sons as well; anoint them, and ordain them[g] and consecrate them to serve Me as priests.

42You shall also make for them linen breeches to cover their nakedness; they shall extend from the hips to the thighs. 43They shall be worn by Aaron and his sons when they enter the Tent of Meeting or when they approach the altar to officiate in the sanctuary, so that they do not incur punishment and die. It shall be a law for all time for him and for his offspring to come.

young bull of the herd and two rams without blemish; [2]also unleavened bread, unleavened cakes with oil mixed in, and unleavened wafers spread with oil—make these of choice wheat flour. [3]Place these in one basket and present them in the basket, along with the bull and the two rams. [4]Lead Aaron and his sons up to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and wash them with water. [5]Then take the vestments, and clothe Aaron with the tunic, the robe of the ephod, the ephod, and the breastpiece, and gird him with the decorated band of the ephod. [6]Put the headdress on his head, and place the holy diadem upon the headdress. [7]Take the anointing oil and pour it on his head and anoint him. [8]Then bring his sons forward; clothe them with tunics [9]and wind turbans upon them. And gird both Aaron and his sons with sashes. And so they shall have priesthood as their right for all time.

You shall then ordain Aaron and his sons. [10]Lead the bull up to the front of the Tent of Meeting, and let Aaron and his sons lay their hands upon the head of the bull. [11]Slaughter the bull before the LORD, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, [12]and take some of the bull's blood and put it on the horns of the altar with your finger; then pour out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. of the ram into smoke upon the altar. It is a burnt offering to the LORD, a pleasing odor, an offering by fire to the LORD.

[19]Then take the other ram, and let Aaron and his sons lay their hands upon the ram's head. [20]Slaughter the ram, and take some of its blood and put it on the ridge[a] of Aaron's right ear and on the ridges of his sons' right ears, and on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the big toes of their right feet; and dash the rest of the blood against every side of the altar round about. [21]Take some of the blood that is on the altar and some of the anointing oil and sprinkle upon Aaron and his vestments, and also upon his sons and his sons' vestments. Thus shall he and his vestments be holy, as well as his sons and his sons' vestments.

[22]You shall take from the ram the fat parts—the broad tail, the fat that covers the entrails, the protuberance on the liver, the two kidneys with the fat on them—and the right thigh; for this is a ram of ordination. [23]Add one flat loaf of bread, one cake of oil bread, and one wafer, from the basket of unleavened bread that is before the LORD. [24]Place all these on the palms of Aaron and his sons, and offer them as an elevation offering before the LORD. [25]Take them from their hands and turn them into smoke upon the altar with the burnt offering, as a pleasing odor before the LORD; it is an offering by fire to the LORD.

[26]Then take the breast of Aaron's ram of ordination and offer it as an elevation offering before the LORD; it shall be your portion. [27]You shall consecrate the breast that was offered as an elevation offering and the thigh that was offered as a gift offering from the ram of ordination—from that which was Aaron's and from that which was his sons'—[28]and those parts shall be a due for all time from the Israelites to Aaron and his descendants. For they are a gift; and so shall they be a gift from the Israelites, their gift to the LORD out of their sacrifices of well-being.

29The sacral vestments of Aaron shall pass on to his sons after him, for them to be anointed and ordained in. 30He among his sons who becomes priest in his stead, who enters the Tent of Meeting to officiate within the sanctuary, shall wear them seven days.

35Thus you shall do to Aaron and his sons, just as I have commanded you. You shall ordain them through seven days, 36and each day you shall prepare a bull as a sin offering for expiation; you shall purge the altar by performing purification upon it, and you shall anoint it to consecrate it. 37Seven days you shall perform purification for the altar to consecrate it, and the altar shall become most holy; whatever touches the altar shall become consecrated.

38Now this is what you shall offer upon the altar: two yearling lambs each day, regularly. 39You shall offer the one lamb in the morning, and you shall offer the other lamb at twilight. 40There shall be a tenth of a measure of choice flour with a quarter of a hin of beaten oil mixed in, and a libation of a quarter hin of wine for one lamb; 41and you shall offer the other lamb at twilight, repeating with it the meal offering

[11]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [12]When you take a census of the Israelite people according to their enrollment, each shall pay the LORD a ransom for himself on being enrolled, that no plague may come upon them through their being enrolled. [13]This is what everyone who is entered in the records shall pay: a half-shekel by the sanctuary weight—twenty gerahs to the shekel—a half-shekel as an offering to the LORD. [14]Everyone who is entered in the records, from the age of twenty years up, shall give the LORD's offering: [15]the rich shall not pay more and the poor shall not pay less than half a shekel when giving the LORD's offering as expiation for your persons. [16]You shall take the expiation money from the Israelites and assign it to the service of the Tent of Meeting; it shall serve the Israelites as a reminder before the LORD, as expiation for your persons.

11 וַיְדַבֵּר יְהוָה אֶל־מֹשֶׁה לֵּאמֹר׃ 12 כִּי תִשָּׂא אֶת־רֹאשׁ בְּנֵי־יִשְׂרָאֵל לִפְקֻדֵיהֶם וְנָתְנוּ אִישׁ כֹּפֶר נַפְשׁוֹ לַיהוָה בִּפְקֹד אֹתָם וְלֹא־יִהְיֶה בָהֶם נֶגֶף בִּפְקֹד אֹתָם׃ 13 זֶה ׀ יִתְּנוּ כָּל־הָעֹבֵר עַל־הַפְּקֻדִים מַחֲצִית הַשֶּׁקֶל בְּשֶׁקֶל הַקֹּדֶשׁ עֶשְׂרִים גֵּרָה הַשֶּׁקֶל מַחֲצִית הַשֶּׁקֶל תְּרוּמָה לַיהוָה׃ 14 כֹּל הָעֹבֵר עַל־הַפְּקֻדִים מִבֶּן עֶשְׂרִים שָׁנָה וָמָעְלָה יִתֵּן תְּרוּמַת יְהוָה׃ 15 הֶעָשִׁיר לֹא־יַרְבֶּה וְהַדַּל לֹא יַמְעִיט מִמַּחֲצִית הַשָּׁקֶל לָתֵת אֶת־תְּרוּמַת יְהוָה לְכַפֵּר עַל־נַפְשֹׁתֵיכֶם׃ 16 וְלָקַחְתָּ אֶת־כֶּסֶף הַכִּפֻּרִים מֵאֵת בְּנֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל וְנָתַתָּ אֹתוֹ עַל־עֲבֹדַת אֹהֶל מוֹעֵד וְהָיָה לִבְנֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל לְזִכָּרוֹן לִפְנֵי יְהוָה לְכַפֵּר עַל־נַפְשֹׁתֵיכֶם׃ פ

[17]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [18]Make a laver of copper and a stand of copper for it, for washing; and place it between the Tent of Meeting and the altar. Put water in it, [19]and let Aaron and his sons wash their hands and feet [in water drawn] from it. [20]When they enter the Tent of Meeting they shall wash with water, that they may not die; or when they approach the altar to serve, to turn into smoke an offering by fire to the LORD, [21]they shall wash their hands and feet, that they may not die. It shall be a law for all time for them—for him and his offspring—throughout the ages.

17 וַיְדַבֵּר יְהוָה אֶל־מֹשֶׁה לֵּאמֹר׃ 18 וְעָשִׂיתָ כִּיּוֹר נְחֹשֶׁת וְכַנּוֹ נְחֹשֶׁת לְרָחְצָה וְנָתַתָּ אֹתוֹ בֵּין־אֹהֶל מוֹעֵד וּבֵין הַמִּזְבֵּחַ וְנָתַתָּ שָׁמָּה מָיִם׃ 19 וְרָחֲצוּ אַהֲרֹן וּבָנָיו מִמֶּנּוּ אֶת־יְדֵיהֶם וְאֶת־רַגְלֵיהֶם׃ 20 בְּבֹאָם אֶל־אֹהֶל מוֹעֵד יִרְחֲצוּ־מַיִם וְלֹא יָמֻתוּ אוֹ בְגִשְׁתָּם אֶל־הַמִּזְבֵּחַ לְשָׁרֵת לְהַקְטִיר אִשֶּׁה לַיהוָה׃ 21 וְרָחֲצוּ יְדֵיהֶם וְרַגְלֵיהֶם וְלֹא יָמֻתוּ וְהָיְתָה לָהֶם חָק־עוֹלָם לוֹ וּלְזַרְעוֹ לְדֹרֹתָם׃ פ

[22]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [23]Next take choice spices: five hundred weight of solidified[b] myrrh, half as much—two hundred and fifty—of fragrant cinnamon, two hundred and fifty of aromatic cane, [24]five hundred—by the sanctuary weight—of cassia, and a hin of olive oil. [25]Make of this a sacred anointing oil, a compound of ingredients expertly blended, to serve as sacred anointing oil. [26]With it anoint the Tent of Meeting, the Ark of the Pact, [27]the table and all its utensils, the lampstand and all its fittings, the altar of incense, [28]the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the laver and its stand. [29]Thus you shall consecrate them so that they may be most holy; whatever touches them shall be consecrated. [30]You shall also anoint Aaron and his sons, consecrating them to serve Me as priests.

[31]And speak to the Israelite people, as follows: This shall be an anointing oil sacred to Me throughout the ages. [32]It must not be rubbed on any person's body, and you must not make anything like it in the same proportions; it is sacred, to be held sacred by you. [33]Whoever compounds its like, or puts any of it on a layman, shall be cut off from his kin.

[34]And the LORD said to Moses: Take the herbs stacte, onycha, and galbanum—these herbs together with pure frankincense; let there be an equal part of each. [35]Make them into incense, a compound expertly blended, refined, pure, sacred. [36]Beat some of it into powder, and put some before the Pact in the Tent of Meeting, where I will meet with you; it shall be most holy to you. [37]But when you make this incense, you must not make any in the same proportions for yourselves; it shall be held by you sacred to the LORD. [38]Whoever makes any like it, to smell of it, shall be cut off from his kin.

The LORD spoke to Moses: [2]See, I have singled out by name Bezalel son of Uri son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. [3]I have endowed him with a divine spirit of skill, ability, and knowledge in every kind of craft; [4]to make designs for work in gold, silver, and copper, [5]to cut stones for setting and to carve wood—to work in every kind of craft. [6]Moreover, I have assigned to him Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan; and I have also granted skill to all who are skillful, that they may make everything that I have commanded you: [7]the Tent of Meeting, the Ark for the Pact and the cover upon it, and all the furnishings of the Tent; [8]the table and its utensils, the pure lampstand[a] and all its fittings, and the altar of incense; [9]the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the laver and its stand; [10]the service[b] vestments, the sacral vestments of Aaron the priest and the vestments of his sons, for their service as priests; [11]as well as the anointing oil and the aromatic incense for the sanctuary. Just as I have commanded you, they shall do.

[12]And the LORD said to Moses: [13]Speak to the Israelite people and say: Nevertheless, you must keep My sabbaths, for this is a sign between Me and you throughout the ages, that you may know that I the LORD have consecrated you. [14]You shall keep the sabbath, for it is holy for you. He who profanes it shall be put to death: whoever does work on it, that person shall be cut off from among his kin. [15]Six days may work be done, but on the seventh day there shall be a sabbath of complete rest, holy to the LORD; whoever does work on the sabbath day shall be put to death. [16]The Israelite people shall keep the sabbath, observing the sabbath throughout the ages as a covenant for all time: [17]it shall be a sign for all time between Me and the people 32 When the people saw that Moses was so long in coming down from the mountain, the people gathered against Aaron and said to him, "Come, make us a god who shall go before us, for that man Moses, who brought us from the land of Egypt—we do not know what has happened to him." [2]Aaron said to them, "Take off the gold rings that are on the ears of your wives, your sons, and your daughters, and bring them to me." [3]And all the people took off the gold rings that were in their ears and brought them to Aaron. [4]This he took from them and a-cast in a mold,-a and made it into a molten calf. And they exclaimed, b-"This is your god,-b O Israel, who brought you out of the land of Egypt!" [5]When Aaron saw this, he built an altar before it; and Aaron announced: "Tomorrow shall be a festival of the LORD!" [6]Early next day, the people offered up burnt offerings and brought sacrifices of well-being; they sat down to eat and drink, and then rose to dance.

[9]The LORD further said to Moses, "I see that this is a stiffnecked people. [10]Now, let Me be, that My anger may blaze forth against them and that I may destroy them, and make of you a great nation." [11]But Moses implored the LORD his God, saying, "Let not Your anger, O LORD, blaze forth against Your people, whom You delivered from the land of Egypt with great power and with a mighty hand. [12]Let not the Egyptians say, 'It was with evil intent that He delivered them, only to kill them off in the mountains and annihilate them from the face of the earth.' Turn from Your blazing anger, and renounce the plan to punish Your people. [13]Remember Your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, how You swore to them by Your Self and said to them: I will make your offspring as numerous as the stars of heaven, and I will give to your offspring this whole land of which I spoke, to possess forever." [14]And the LORD renounced the punishment He had planned to bring upon His people.

[15]Thereupon Moses turned and went down from the mountain bearing the two tablets of the Pact, tablets inscribed on both their surfaces: they were inscribed on the one side and on the other. [16]The tablets were God's work, and the writing was God's writing, incised upon the tablets. [17]When Joshua heard the sound of the people in its boisterousness, he said to Moses, "There is a cry of war in the camp." [18]But he answered,

"It is not the sound of the tune of triumph,
Or the sound of the tune of defeat;
It is the sound of song that I hear!"

[19]As soon as Moses came near the camp and saw the calf and the dancing, he became enraged; and he hurled the tablets from his hands and shattered them at the foot of the mountain. [20]He took the calf that they had made and burned it; he ground it to powder and strewed

[21]Moses said to Aaron, "What did this people do to you that you have brought such great sin upon them?" [22]Aaron said, "Let not my lord be enraged. You know that this people is bent on evil. [23]They said to me, 'Make us a god to lead us; for that man Moses, who brought us from the land of Egypt—we do not know what has happened to him.' [24]So I said to them, 'Whoever has gold, take it off!' They gave it to me and I hurled it into the fire and out came this calf!"

[25]Moses saw that the people were out of control—since Aaron had let them get out of control—so that they were a menace[c] to any who might oppose them. [26]Moses stood up in the gate of the camp and said, "Whoever is for the LORD, come here!" And all the Levites rallied to him. [27]He said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Each of you put sword on thigh, go back and forth from gate to gate throughout the camp, and slay brother, neighbor, and kin." [28]The Levites did as Moses had bidden; and some three thousand of the people fell that day. [29]And Moses said, "Dedicate yourselves[d] to the LORD this day—for each of you has been against son and brother—that He may bestow a blessing upon you today."

[30]The next day Moses said to the people, "You have been guilty of a great sin. Yet I will now go up to the LORD; perhaps I may win forgiveness for your sin." [31]Moses went back to the LORD and said, "Alas, this people is guilty of a great sin in making for themselves a god of gold. [32]Now, if You will forgive their sin [well and good]; but if not, erase me from the record which You have written!" [33]But the LORD said to Moses, "He who has sinned against Me, him only will I erase from My record. [34]Go now, lead the people where I told you. See, My angel shall

33 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Set out from here, you and the people that you have brought up from the land of Egypt, to the land of which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, 'To your offspring will I give it'—[2]I will send an angel before you, and I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites—[3]a land flowing with milk and honey. But I will not go in your midst, since you are a stiffnecked people, lest I destroy you on the way."

[4]When the people heard this harsh word, they went into mourning, and none put on his finery.

[5]The LORD said to Moses, "Say to the Israelite people, 'You are a stiffnecked people. If I were to go in your midst for one moment, I would destroy you. Now, then, leave off your finery, and I will consider what to do to you.'" [6]So the Israelites remained stripped of the finery from Mount Horeb on.

[7]Now Moses would take the Tent and pitch it outside the camp, at some distance from the camp. It was called the Tent of Meeting, and whoever sought the LORD would go out to the Tent of Meeting that was outside the camp. [8]Whenever Moses went out to the Tent, all the people would rise and stand, each at the entrance of his tent, and gaze after Moses until he had entered the Tent. [9]And when Moses entered the Tent, the pillar of cloud would descend and stand at the entrance of the Tent, while He spoke with Moses. [10]When all the people saw the pillar of cloud poised at the entrance of the Tent, all

[12]Moses said to the LORD, "See, You say to me, 'Lead this people forward,' but You have not made known to me whom You will send with me. Further, You have said, 'I have singled you out by name, and you have, indeed, gained My favor.' [13]Now, if I have truly gained Your favor, pray let me know Your ways, that I may know You and continue in Your favor. Consider, too, that this nation is Your people." [14]And He said, [a-]"I will go in the lead and will[-a] lighten your burden." [15]And he said to Him, "Unless You go in the lead, do not make us leave this place. [16]For how shall it be known that Your people have gained Your favor unless You go with us, so that we may be distinguished, Your people and I, from every people on the face of the earth?"

[17]And the LORD said to Moses, "I will also do this thing that you have asked; for you have truly gained My favor and I have singled you out by name." [18]He said, "Oh, let me behold Your Presence!" [19]And He answered, "I will make all My goodness pass before you, and I will proclaim before you the name LORD, [b-]and the grace that I grant and the compassion that I show.[-b] [20]But," He said, "you cannot see My face, for man may not see Me and live." [21]And the LORD said, "See, there is a place near Me. Station yourself on the rock [22]and, as My Presence passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock and shield you with My hand until I have passed by. [23]Then I will take My hand away and you will see My back; but My face must not be seen."

The LORD said to Moses: "Carve two tablets of stone like the first, and I will inscribe upon the tablets the words that were on the first tablets, which you shattered. [2]Be ready by morning, and in the morning come up to Mount Sinai and present yourself there to Me, on the top of the mountain. [3]No one else shall come up with you, and no one else shall be seen anywhere on the mountain; neither shall the flocks and the herds graze at the foot of this mountain."

[4]So Moses carved two tablets of stone, like the first, and early in the morning he went up on Mount Sinai, as the LORD had commanded him, taking the two stone tablets with him. [5]The LORD came down in a cloud; He stood with him there, and proclaimed the name LORD. [6]The LORD passed before him [a]-and proclaimed: "The LORD! the LORD!-[a] a God compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, abounding in kindness and faithfulness, [7]extending kindness to the thousandth generation, forgiving iniquity, transgression, and sin; yet He does not remit all punishment, but visits the iniquity of parents upon children and children's children, upon the third and fourth generations."

[8]Moses hastened to bow low to the ground in homage, [9]and said, "If I have gained Your favor, O Lord, pray, let the Lord go in our midst, even though this is a stiffnecked people. Pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for Your own!"

[10]He said: I hereby make a covenant. Before all your people I will work such wonders as have not been wrought on all the earth or in any nation; and all the people [b]-who are with you-[b] shall see how awesome are the LORD's deeds which I will perform for you. [11]Mark well what

v. 7 נ׳ רבתי לפי נוסחים מקובלים

I command you this day. I will drive out before you the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. [12]Beware of making a covenant with the inhabitants of the land against which you are advancing, lest they be a snare in your midst. [13]No, you must tear down their altars, smash their pillars, and cut down their sacred posts; [14]for you must not worship any other god, because the LORD, whose name is Impassioned, is an impassioned God. [15]You must not make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, for they will lust after their gods and sacrifice to their gods and invite you, and you will eat of their sacrifices. [16]And when you take wives from among their daughters for your sons, their daughters will lust after their gods and will cause your sons to lust after their gods.

[17]You shall not make molten gods for yourselves.

[18]You shall observe the Feast of Unleavened Bread—eating unleavened bread for seven days, as I have commanded you—at the set time of the month[c] of Abib, for in the month of Abib you went forth from Egypt.

[19]Every first issue of the womb is Mine, from all your livestock that drop a male[d] as firstling, whether cattle or sheep. [20]But the firstling of an ass you shall redeem with a sheep; if you do not redeem it, you must break its neck. And you must redeem every first-born among your sons.

None shall appear before Me empty-handed.

[21]Six days you shall work, but on the seventh day you shall cease from labor; you shall cease from labor even at plowing time and harvest time.

[22]You shall observe the Feast of Weeks, of the first fruits of the wheat harvest; and the Feast of Ingathering at the turn of the year. [23]Three times a year all your males shall appear before the Sovereign LORD, the God of Israel. [24]I will drive out nations from your path and enlarge your territory; no one will covet your land when you go up to appear before the LORD your God three times a year.

[25]You shall not offer the blood of My sacrifice with anything leavened; and the sacrifice of the Feast of Passover shall not be left lying until morning.

[26]The choice first fruits of your soil you shall bring to the house of the LORD your God.

You shall not boil a kid in its mother's milk.

[27]And the LORD said to Moses: Write down these commandments, for in accordance with these commandments I make a covenant with you and with Israel.

[28]And he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights; he ate no bread and drank no water; and he wrote down on the tablets the terms of the covenant, the Ten Commandments.

[29]So Moses came down from Mount Sinai. And as Moses came down from the mountain bearing the two tablets of the Pact, Moses was not aware that the skin of his face was radiant, since he had spoken with Him. [30]Aaron and all the Israelites saw that the skin of Moses' face was radiant; and they shrank from coming near him. [31]But Moses called to them, and Aaron and all the chieftains in the assembly returned to him, and Moses spoke to them. [32]Afterward all the Israelites came near, and he instructed them concerning all that the LORD had imparted to him on Mount Sinai. [33]And when Moses had finished speaking with them, he put a veil over his face.

[34]Whenever Moses went in before the LORD to speak with Him, he would leave the veil off until he came out; and when he came out and told the Israelites what he had been com-

Moses then convoked the whole Israelite community and said to them:

These are the things that the LORD has commanded you to do: 2On six days work may be done, but on the seventh day you shall have a sabbath of complete rest, holy to the LORD; whoever does any work on it shall be put to death. 3You shall kindle no fire throughout your settlements on the sabbath day.

4Moses said further to the whole community of Israelites:

This is what the LORD has commanded: 5Take from among you gifts to the LORD; everyone whose heart so moves him shall bring them—gifts for the LORD: gold, silver, and copper; 6[a]blue, purple, and crimson yarns, fine linen, and goats' hair; 7tanned ram skins, dolphin skins, and acacia wood; 8oil for lighting, spices for the anointing oil and for the aromatic incense; 9lapis lazuli and other stones for setting, for the ephod and the breastpiece.

altar of burnt offering, its copper grating, its poles, and all its furnishings; the laver and its stand; [17]the hangings of the enclosure, its posts and its sockets, and the screen for the gate of the court; [18]the pegs for the Tabernacle, the pegs for the enclosure, and their cords; [19]the service vestments for officiating in the sanctuary, the sacral vestments of Aaron the priest and the vestments of his sons for priestly service.

[20]So the whole community of the Israelites left Moses' presence. [21]And everyone who excelled in ability and everyone whose spirit moved him came, bringing to the LORD his offering for the work of the Tent of Meeting and for all its service and for the sacral vestments. [22]Men and women, all whose hearts moved them, all who would make an elevation offering of gold to the LORD, came bringing brooches, earrings, rings, and pendants[b]—gold objects of all kinds. [23]And everyone who had in his possession blue, purple, and crimson yarns, fine linen, goats' hair, tanned ram skins, and dolphin skins, brought them; [24]everyone who would make gifts of silver or copper brought them as gifts for the LORD; and everyone who had in his possession acacia wood for any work of the service brought that. [25]And all the skilled women spun with their own hands, and brought what they had spun, in blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and in fine linen. [26]And all the women who excelled in that skill spun the goats' hair. [27]And the chieftains brought lapis lazuli and other stones for setting, for the ephod and for the breastpiece; [28]and spices and oil for lighting, for the anointing oil, and for the aromatic incense. [29]Thus the Israelites, all the men and women whose hearts moved them to bring anything for the work that the LORD, through Moses, had commanded to be done, brought it as a freewill offering to the LORD.

[30]And Moses said to the Israelites: See, the LORD has singled out by name Bezalel, son of Uri son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. [31]He has endowed him with a divine spirit of skill, ability, and knowledge in every kind of craft [32]and [c]has inspired him[c] to make designs for work in gold, silver, and copper, [33]to cut stones for setting and to carve wood—to work in every kind of designer's craft—[34]and to give directions. He and Oholiab son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan [35]have been endowed with the skill to do any work—of the carver, the designer, the embroiderer in blue, purple, crimson yarns, and in fine linen, and of the weaver—as workers in all crafts and as makers of designs.

36 [1]Let, then, Bezalel and Oholiab and all the skilled persons whom the LORD has endowed with skill and ability to perform expertly all the tasks connected with the service of the sanctuary carry out all that the LORD has commanded.

[2]Moses then called Bezalel and Oholiab, and every skilled person whom the LORD had endowed with skill, everyone who excelled in ability, to undertake the task and carry it out. [3]They took over from Moses all the gifts that the Israelites had brought, to carry out the tasks connected with the service of the sanctuary. But when these continued to bring freewill offerings to him morning after morning, [4]all the artisans who were engaged in the tasks of the sanctuary came, each from the task upon which he was engaged, [5]and said to Moses, "The people are bringing more than is needed for the tasks entailed in the work that the LORD has commanded to be done." [6]Moses thereupon had this proclamation made throughout the camp: "Let no man or woman make further effort toward gifts for the sanctuary!" So the people stopped bringing: [7]their efforts had been more than enough for all the tasks to be done.

[8]Then all the skilled among those engaged in the work made the Tabernacle of ten strips of cloth, which they made of fine twisted linen, blue, purple, and crimson yarns; into these they worked a design of cherubim. [9]The length of each cloth was twenty-eight cubits, and the width of each cloth was four cubits, all cloths having the same measurements. [10]They joined five of the cloths to one another, and they joined the other five cloths to one another. [11]They made loops of blue wool on the edge of the outermost cloth of the one set, and did the same on the edge of the outermost cloth of the other set: [12]they made fifty loops on the one cloth, and they made fifty loops on the edge of the end cloth of the other set, the loops being opposite one another. [13]And they made fifty gold clasps and coupled the units[a] to one another with the clasps, so that the Tabernacle became one whole.

[14]They made cloths of goats' hair for a tent over the Tabernacle; they made the cloths eleven in number. [15]The length of each cloth was thirty cubits, and the width of each cloth was four cubits, the eleven cloths having the same measurements. [16]They joined five of the cloths by themselves, and the other six cloths by themselves. [17]They made fifty loops on the edge of the outermost cloth of the one set, and they made fifty loops on the edge of the end cloth of the other set. [18]They made fifty copper clasps to couple the Tent together so that it might become one whole. [19]And they made a covering of tanned ram skins for the tent, and a covering of dolphin skins above.

[20]They made the planks for the Tabernacle of acacia wood, upright. [21]The length of each plank was ten cubits, the width of each plank a cubit and a half. [22]Each plank had two tenons, parallel[b] to each other; they did the same with all the planks of the Tabernacle. [23]Of the planks of the Tabernacle, they made twenty planks for the south side,[c] [24]making forty silver sockets under the twenty planks, two sockets under one plank for its two tenons and two sockets under each following plank for its two tenons; [25]and for the other side wall of the Tabernacle, the north side, twenty planks, [26]with their forty silver sockets, two sockets under one plank and two sockets under each following plank. [27]And for the rear of the Tabernacle, to the west, they made six planks; [28]and they made two planks for the corners of the Tabernacle at the rear. [29]*d-They matched at the bottom, but terminated as one at the top into one ring;-d* they did so with both of them at the two corners. [30]Thus there were eight planks with their sockets of silver: sixteen sockets, two under each plank.

[31]They made bars of acacia wood, five for the planks of the one side wall of the Tabernacle, [32]five bars for the planks of the other side wall of the Tabernacle, and five bars for the planks of the wall of the Tabernacle at the rear, to the west; [33]they made the center bar to run, halfway up the planks, from end to end. [34]They overlaid the planks with gold, and made their rings of gold, as holders for the bars; and they overlaid the bars with gold.

[35]They made the curtain of blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and fine twisted linen, working into it a design of cherubim. [36]They made for it four posts of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold, with their hooks of gold; and they cast for them four silver sockets.

[37]They made the screen for the entrance of the Tent, of blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and fine twisted linen, done in embroidery;

Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high. [2]He overlaid it with pure gold, inside and out; and he made a gold molding for it round about. [3]He cast four gold rings for it, for its four feet: two rings on one of its side walls and two rings on the other. [4]He made poles of acacia wood, overlaid them with gold, [5]and inserted the poles into the rings on the side walls of the ark for carrying the ark.

[6]He made a cover of pure gold, two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide. [7]He made two cherubim of gold; he made them of hammered work, at the two ends of the cover: [8]one cherub at one end and the other cherub at the other end; he made the cherubim of one piece with the cover, at its two ends. [9]The cherubim had their wings spread out above, shielding the cover with their wings. They faced each other; the faces of the cherubim were turned toward the cover.

[10]He made the table of acacia wood, two cubits long, one cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high; [11]he overlaid it with pure gold and made a gold molding around it. [12]He made a rim of a hand's breadth around it and made a gold molding for its rim round about. [13]He cast four gold rings for it and attached the rings to the four corners at its four legs. [14]The rings were next to the rim, as holders for the poles to carry the table. [15]He made the poles of acacia wood for carrying the table, and overlaid them with gold. [16]The utensils that were to be upon the table—its bowls, ladles, jugs, and jars with which to offer libations—he made of pure gold.

[17]He made the lampstand of pure gold. He made the lampstand—its base and its shaft—of hammered work; its cups, calyxes, and petals were of one piece with it. [18]Six branches issued from its sides: three branches from one side of the lampstand, and three branches from the other side of the lampstand. [19]There were three cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on one branch; and there were three cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals, on the next branch; so for all six branches issuing from the lampstand. [20]On the lampstand itself there were four cups shaped like almond-blossoms, each with calyx and petals: [21]a calyx, of one piece with it, under a pair of branches; and a calyx, of one piece with it, under the second pair of branches; and a calyx, of one piece with it, under the last pair of branches; so for all six branches issuing from it. [22]Their calyxes and their stems were of one piece with it, the whole of it a single hammered piece of pure gold. [23]He made its seven lamps, its tongs, and its fire pans of pure gold. [24]He made it and all its furnishings out of a talent of pure gold.

[25]He made the incense altar of acacia wood, a cubit long and a cubit wide—square—and two cubits high; its horns were of one piece with it. [26]He overlaid it with pure gold: its top, its sides round about, and its horns; and he made a gold molding for it round about. [27]He made two gold rings for it under its molding, on its two walls—on opposite sides—as holders for the poles with which to carry it. [28]He made the poles of acacia wood, and overlaid them with gold. [29]He prepared the sacred anointing oil and the pure aromatic incense, expertly blended.

38 He made the altar for burnt offering of acacia wood, five cubits long and five cubits wide—square—and three cubits high. [2]He made horns for it on its four corners, the horns being of one piece with it; and he overlaid it with copper. [3]He made all the utensils of the altar—the pails, the scrapers, the basins, the flesh hooks, and the fire pans; he made all these utensils of copper. [4]He made for the altar a grating of meshwork in copper, extending below, under its ledge, to its middle. [5]He cast four rings, at the four corners of the copper grating, as holders for the poles. [6]He made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with copper; [7]and he inserted the poles into the rings on the side walls of the altar, to carry it by them. He made it hollow, of boards.

[8]He made the laver of copper and its stand of copper, from the mirrors of the women who performed tasks[a] at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting.

[9]He made the enclosure:

On the south[b] side, a hundred cubits of hangings of fine twisted linen for the enclosure—[10]with their twenty posts and their twenty sockets of copper, the hooks and bands of the posts being silver.

[11]On the north side, a hundred cubits—with their twenty posts and their twenty sockets of copper, the hooks and bands of the posts being silver.

[12]On the west side, fifty cubits of hangings—with their ten posts and their ten sockets, the hooks and bands of the posts being silver.

[13]And on the front side, to the east, fifty cubits: [14]fifteen cubits of hangings on the one flank, with their three posts and their three sockets, [15]and fifteen cubits of hangings on the other

[16]All the hangings around the enclosure were of fine twisted linen. [17]The sockets for the posts were of copper, the hooks and bands of the posts were of silver, the overlay of their tops was of silver; all the posts of the enclosure were banded with silver.—[18]The screen of the gate of the enclosure, done in embroidery, was of blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and fine twisted linen. It was twenty cubits long. [d]Its height—or width—was five cubits, like that of[d] the hangings of the enclosure. [19]The posts were four; their four sockets were of copper, their hooks of silver; and the overlay of their tops was of silver, as were also their bands.—[20]All the pegs of the Tabernacle and of the enclosure round about were of copper.

PEKUDEI

[21]These are the records of the Tabernacle, the Tabernacle of the Pact, which were drawn up at Moses' bidding—the work of the Levites under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest. [22]Now Bezalel, son of Uri son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, had made all that the LORD had commanded Moses; [23]at his side was Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, carver and designer, and embroiderer in blue, purple, and crimson yarns and in fine linen.

[24]All the gold that was used for the work, in all the work of the sanctuary—the elevation offering of gold—came to 29 talents[e] and 730 shekels by the sanctuary weight. [25]The silver of those of the community who were recorded came to 100 talents and 1,775 shekels by the sanctuary weight: [26]a half-shekel[f] a head, half a shekel by the sanctuary weight, for each one who was entered in the records, from the age of twenty years up, 603,550 men. [27]The 100 talents of silver were for casting the sockets of the sanctuary and the sockets for the curtain, 100 sockets to the 100 talents, a talent a socket. [28]And of the 1,775 shekels he made hooks for the posts, overlay for their tops, and bands around them.

[29]The copper from the elevation offering came to 70 talents and 2,400 shekels. [30]Of it he made the sockets for the entrance of the Tent of Meeting; the copper altar and its copper grating and all the utensils of the altar; [31]the sockets of the enclosure round about and the sockets of the gate of the enclosure; and all the pegs of the Tabernacle and all the pegs of the enclosure round about.

Of the blue, purple, and crimson yarns they also[a] made the service vestments for officiating in the sanctuary; they made Aaron's sacral vestments—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[2]The ephod was made[b] of gold, blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and fine twisted linen. remembrance for the Israelites—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[8]The breastpiece was made in the style of the ephod: of gold, blue, purple, and crimson yarns, and fine twisted linen. [9]It was square; they made the breastpiece doubled—a span in length and a span in width, doubled. [10]They set in it four rows of stones. The first row was a row of [c]carnelian, chrysolite, and emerald; [11]the second row: a turquoise, a sapphire, and an amethyst; [12]the third row: a jacinth, an agate, and a crystal; [13]and the fourth row: a beryl, a lapis lazuli, and a jasper. They were encircled in their mountings with frames of gold. [14]The stones corresponded [in number] to the names of the sons of Israel: twelve, corresponding to their names; engraved like seals, each with its name, for the twelve tribes.

[15]On the breastpiece they made braided chains of corded work in pure gold. [16]They made two frames of gold and two rings of gold, and fastened the two rings at the two ends of the breastpiece, [17]attaching the two golden cords to the two rings at the ends of the breastpiece. [18]They then fastened the two ends of the cords to the two frames, attaching them to the shoulder-pieces of the ephod, at the front. [19]They made two rings of gold and attached them to the two ends of the breastpiece, at its inner edge, which faced the ephod. [20]They made two other rings of gold and fastened them on the front of the ephod, low on the two shoulder-pieces, close to its seam above the decorated band. [21]The breastpiece was held in place by a cord of blue from its rings to the rings of the ephod, so that the breastpiece rested on the decorated band and did not come loose from the ephod—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[22]The robe for the ephod was made of woven work, of pure blue.[d] [23]The opening of the robe, in the middle of it, was like the opening of a coat of mail, with a binding around the opening, so that it would not tear. [24]On the hem of the robe they made pomegranates of blue, purple, and crimson yarns, twisted. [25]They also made bells of pure gold, and attached the bells between the pomegranates, all around the hem of the robe, between the pomegranates: [26]a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, all around the hem of the robe for officiating in—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[27]They made the tunics of fine linen, of woven work, for Aaron and his sons; [28]and the headdress of fine linen, and the decorated turbans of fine linen, and the linen breeches of fine twisted linen; [29]and sashes of fine twisted linen, blue, purple, and crimson yarns, done in embroidery—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[30]They made the frontlet for the holy diadem of pure gold, and incised upon it the seal inscription: "Holy to the LORD." [31]They attached to it a cord of blue to fix it upon the headdress above—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[32]Thus was completed all the work of the Tabernacle of the Tent of Meeting. The Israelites did so; just as the LORD had commanded Moses, so they did.

[33]Then they brought the Tabernacle to Moses, with the Tent and all its furnishings: its clasps, its planks, its bars, its posts, and its sockets; [34]the covering of tanned ram skins, the covering of dolphin skins, and the curtain for the screen; [35]the Ark of the Pact and its poles, and the cover; [36]the table and all its utensils, and the bread of display; [37]the pure lampstand,[e] its lamps—lamps in due order—and all its fittings, and the oil for lighting; [38]the altar of gold, the

And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]On the first day of the first month you shall set up the Tabernacle of the Tent of Meeting. [3]Place there the Ark of the Pact, and screen off the ark with the curtain. [4]Bring in the table and lay out its due setting; bring in the lampstand and light its lamps; [5]and place the gold altar of incense before the Ark of the Pact. Then put up the screen for the entrance of the Tabernacle.

[6]You shall place the altar of burnt offering before the entrance of the Tabernacle of the Tent of Meeting. [7]Place the laver between the Tent of Meeting and the altar, and put water in it. [8]Set up the enclosure round about, and put in place the screen for the gate of the enclosure.

[9]You shall take the anointing oil and anoint the Tabernacle and all that is in it to consecrate it and all its furnishings, so that it shall be holy. [10]Then anoint the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils to consecrate the altar, so that the altar shall be most holy. [11]And anoint the laver and its stand to consecrate it.

[12]You shall bring Aaron and his sons forward to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting and wash them with the water. [13]Put the sacral vestments on Aaron, and anoint him and consecrate him, that he may serve Me as priest. [14]Then bring his sons forward, put tunics on them, [15]and anoint them as you have anointed their father, that they may serve Me as priests. This their anointing shall serve them for everlasting priesthood throughout the ages.

[16]This Moses did; just as the LORD had commanded him, so he did.

[17]In the first month of the second year, on the first of the month, the Tabernacle was set up. [18]Moses set up the Tabernacle, placing its sockets, setting up its planks, inserting its bars, and erecting its posts. [19]He spread the tent over the Tabernacle, placing the covering of the tent on top of it—just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[20]He took the Pact and placed it in the ark; he fixed the poles to the ark, placed the cover on top of the ark, [21]and brought the ark inside the Tabernacle. Then he put up the curtain for screening, and screened off the Ark of the Pact—just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[22]He placed the table in the Tent of Meeting, outside the curtain, on the north side of the Tabernacle. [23]Upon it he laid out the setting of bread before the LORD—as the LORD had commanded Moses. [24]He placed the lampstand in the Tent of Meeting opposite the table, on the south side of the Tabernacle. [25]And he lit the lamps before the LORD—as the LORD had commanded Moses. [26]He placed the altar of gold in the Tent of Meeting, before the curtain. [27]On it he burned aromatic incense—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

LEVITICUS

1 VA-YIKRA'

The LORD called to Moses and spoke to him from the Tent of Meeting, saying: [2]Speak to the Israelite people, and say to them:

When any of you presents an offering of cattle to the LORD, [a]he shall choose his[a] offering from the herd or from the flock.

[3]If his offering is a burnt offering from the herd, he shall make his offering a male without blemish. He shall bring it to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, for acceptance in his behalf before the LORD. [4]He shall lay his hand upon the head of the burnt offering, that it may be acceptable in his behalf, in expiation for him. [5]The bull shall be slaughtered before the LORD; and Aaron's sons, the priests, shall offer the blood, dashing the blood against all sides of the altar which is at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [6]The burnt offering shall be flayed and cut up into sections. [7]The sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar and lay out wood upon the fire; [8]and Aaron's sons, the priests, shall lay out the sections, with the head and the suet, on the wood that is on the fire upon the altar. [9]Its entrails and legs shall be washed with water, and the priest shall turn the whole into smoke on the altar as a burnt offering, an offering by fire of pleasing odor to the LORD.

[10]If his offering for a burnt offering is from the flock, of sheep or of goats, he shall make his offering a male without blemish. [11]It shall be slaughtered before the LORD on the north side of the altar, and Aaron's sons, the priests, shall dash its blood against all sides of the altar.

[12]When it has been cut up into sections, the priest shall lay them out, with the head and the suet, on the wood that is on the fire upon the altar. [13]The entrails and the legs shall be washed with water; the priest shall offer up and turn the whole into smoke on the altar. It is a burnt offering, an offering by fire, of pleasing odor to the LORD.

[14]If his offering to the LORD is a burnt offering of birds, he shall choose his offering from turtledoves or pigeons. [15]The priest shall bring it to the altar, pinch off its head, and turn it into smoke on the altar; and its blood shall be drained out against the side of the altar. [16]He shall remove its crop with its contents,[b] and cast it into the place of the ashes, at the east side of the altar. [17]The priest shall tear it open by its wings, without severing it, and turn it into smoke on the altar, upon the wood that is on the fire. It is a burnt offering, an offering by fire, of pleasing odor to the LORD.

When a person presents an offering of meal to the LORD, his offering shall be of choice flour; he shall pour oil upon it, lay frankincense on it, [2]and present it to Aaron's sons, the priests. The priest shall scoop out of it a handful of its choice flour and oil, as well as all of its frankincense; and this token portion he shall turn into smoke on the altar, as an offering by fire, of pleasing odor to the LORD. [3]And the remainder of the meal offering shall be for Aaron and his sons, a most holy portion from the LORD's offerings by fire.

[4]When you present an offering of meal baked in the oven, [it shall be of] choice flour: unleavened cakes with oil mixed in, or unleavened wafers spread with oil.

[5]If your offering is a meal offering on a griddle, it shall be of choice flour with oil mixed in,

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to the Israelite people thus:

When a person unwittingly incurs guilt in regard to any of the LORD's commandments about things not to be done, and does one of them—

[3]If it is the anointed priest who has incurred guilt, so that blame falls upon the people, he shall offer for the sin of which he is guilty a bull of the herd without blemish as a sin offering[a] to the LORD. [4]He shall bring the bull to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, before the LORD, and lay his hand upon the head of the bull. The bull shall be slaughtered before the LORD, [5]and the anointed priest shall take some of the bull's blood and bring it into the Tent of Meeting. [6]The priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle of the blood seven times before the LORD, in front of the curtain of the Shrine. [7]The priest shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of aromatic incense, which is in the Tent of Meeting, before the LORD; and all the rest of the bull's blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [8]He shall remove all the fat from the bull of sin offering: the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is about the entrails; [9]the two kidneys and the fat that is on them, that is at the loins; and the protuberance on the liver, which he shall remove with the kidneys—[10]just as it is removed

He shall pay it to its owner when he realizes his guilt. 25Then he shall bring to the priest, as his penalty to the LORD, a ram without blemish from the flock, or the equivalent,[e] as a guilt offering. 26The priest shall make expiation on his behalf before the LORD, and he shall be forgiven for whatever he may have done to draw blame thereby.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Command Aaron and his sons thus:

This is the ritual of the burnt offering: The burnt offering itself shall remain where it is burned upon the altar all night until morning, while the fire on the altar is kept going on it. [3]The priest shall dress in linen raiment, with linen breeches next to his body; and he shall take up the ashes to which the fire has reduced the burnt offering on the altar and place them beside the altar. [4]He shall then take off his vestments and put on other vestments, and carry the ashes outside the camp to a clean place. [5]The fire on the altar shall be kept burning, not to go out: every morning the priest shall feed wood to it, lay out the burnt offering on it, and turn into smoke the fat parts of the offerings of well-being. [6]A perpetual fire shall be kept burning on the altar, not to go out.

[7]And this is the ritual of the meal offering: Aaron's sons shall present it before the LORD, in front of the altar. [8]A handful of the choice flour and oil of the meal offering shall be taken from it, with all the frankincense that is on the meal offering, and this token portion shall be turned into smoke on the altar as a pleasing odor to the LORD. [9]What is left of it shall be eaten by Aaron and his sons; it shall be eaten as unleavened cakes, in the sacred precinct; they shall eat it in the enclosure of the Tent of Meeting. [10]It shall not be baked with leaven; I have given it as their portion from My offerings by fire; it is most holy, like the sin offering and the guilt offering. [11]Only the males among Aaron's descendants may eat of it, as their due for all time throughout the ages from the LORD's offerings by fire. Anything that touches these shall become holy.

[12]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [13]This is the offering that Aaron and his sons shall offer

[17]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [18]Speak to Aaron and his sons thus: This is the ritual of the sin offering: the sin offering shall be slaughtered before the LORD, at the spot[c] where the burnt offering is slaughtered: it is most holy. [19]The priest who offers it as a sin offering shall eat of it; it shall be eaten in the sacred precinct, in the enclosure of the Tent of Meeting. [20]Anything that touches its flesh shall become holy; and if any of its blood is spattered upon a garment, you shall wash the bespattered part in the sacred precinct. [21]An earthen vessel in which it was boiled shall be broken; if it was boiled in a copper vessel, [the vessel] shall be scoured and rinsed with water. [22]Only the males in the priestly line may eat of it: it is most holy. [23]But no sin offering may be eaten from which any blood is brought into the Tent of Meeting for expiation in the sanctuary; any such shall be consumed in fire.

This is the ritual of the guilt offering: it is most holy. [2]The guilt offering shall be slaughtered at the spot where the burnt offering is slaughtered, and the blood shall be dashed on all sides of the altar. [3]All its fat shall be offered:

the broad tail; the fat that covers the entrails; [4]the two kidneys and the fat that is on them at the loins; and the protuberance on the liver, which shall be removed with the kidneys. [5]The priest shall turn them into smoke on the altar as an offering by fire to the LORD; it is a guilt offering. [6]Only the males in the priestly line may eat of it; it shall be eaten in the sacred precinct: it is most holy.

[7]The guilt offering is like the sin offering. The same rule applies to both: it shall belong to the priest who makes expiation thereby. [8]So, too, the priest who offers a man's burnt offering shall keep the skin of the burnt offering that he offered. [9]Further, any meal offering that is baked in an oven, and any that is prepared in a pan or on a griddle, shall belong to the priest who offers it. [10]But every other meal offering, with oil mixed in or dry, shall go to the sons of Aaron all alike.

[11]This is the ritual of the sacrifice of well-being that one may offer to the LORD:

[12]If he offers it for thanksgiving, he shall offer together with the sacrifice of thanksgiving unleavened cakes with oil mixed in, unleavened wafers spread with oil, and cakes of choice flour with oil mixed in, well soaked. [13]This offering, with cakes of leavened bread added, he shall offer along with his thanksgiving sacrifice of well-being. [14]Out of this he shall offer one of each kind[a] as a gift to the LORD; it shall go to the priest who dashes the blood of the offering of well-being. [15]And the flesh of his thanksgiving sacrifice of well-being shall be eaten on the day that it is offered; none of it shall be set aside until morning.

[16]If, however, the sacrifice he offers is a votive or a freewill offering, it shall be eaten on the day that he offers his sacrifice, and what is left of it

LORD; [31]the priest shall turn the fat into smoke on the altar, and the breast shall go to Aaron and his sons. [32]And the right thigh from your sacrifices of well-being you shall present to the priest as a gift; [33]he from among Aaron's sons who offers the blood and the fat of the offering of well-being shall get the right thigh as his portion. [34]For I have taken the breast of elevation offering and the thigh of gift offering from the Israelites, from their sacrifices of well-being, and given them to Aaron the priest and to his sons as their due from the Israelites for all time.

[35]Those shall be the perquisites[d] of Aaron and the perquisites of his sons from the LORD's offerings by fire, once they have been inducted[e] to serve the LORD as priests; [36]these the LORD commanded to be given them, once they had been anointed, as a due from the Israelites for all time throughout the ages.

[37]Such are the rituals of the burnt offering, the meal offering, the sin offering, the guilt offering, the offering of ordination, and the sacrifice of well-being, [38]with which the LORD charged Moses on Mount Sinai, when He commanded that the Israelites present their offerings to the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Take Aaron along with his sons, and the vestments, the anointing oil, the bull of sin offering, the two rams, and the basket of unleavened bread; [3]and assemble the whole community at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [4]Moses did as the LORD commanded him. And when the community was assembled at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, [5]Moses said to the community, "This is what the LORD has commanded to be done."

[6]Then Moses brought Aaron and his sons forward and washed them with water. [7]He put the tunic on him, girded him with the sash, clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod on him, girding him with the decorated band with which he tied it to him. [8]He put the breastpiece on him, and put into the breastpiece the Urim and Thummim.[a] [9]And he set the headdress on his head; and on the headdress, in front, he put the gold frontlet, the holy diadem—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[10]Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the Tabernacle and all that was in it, thus consecrating them. [11]He sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times, anointing the altar, all its utensils, and the laver with its stand, to consecrate them. [12]He poured some of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head and anointed him, to consecrate him. [13]Moses then brought Aaron's sons forward, clothed them in tunics, girded them with sashes, and wound turbans upon them, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[14]He led forward the bull of sin offering. Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the bull of sin offering, [15]and it was slaughtered. Moses took the blood and with his finger put some on each of the horns of the altar, cleansing the altar; then he poured out the blood at the base of the altar. Thus he consecrated it in order to make expiation upon it.

[16]Moses then took all the fat that was about the entrails, and the protuberance of the liver, and the two kidneys and their fat, and turned them into smoke on the altar. [17]The rest of the bull, its hide, its flesh, and its dung, he put to the fire outside the camp—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[18]Then he brought forward the ram of burnt offering. Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the ram's head, [19]and it was slaughtered.

Moses dashed the blood against all sides of the altar. [20]The ram was cut up into sections and Moses turned the head, the sections, and the suet into smoke on the altar; [21]Moses washed the entrails and the legs with water and turned all of the ram into smoke. That was a burnt offering for a pleasing odor, an offering by fire to the LORD—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[22]He brought forward the second ram, the ram of ordination. Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the ram's head, [23]and it was slaughtered. Moses took some of its blood and put it on the ridge[b] of Aaron's right ear, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. [24]Moses then brought forward the sons of Aaron, and put some of the blood on the ridges of their right ears, and on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the big toes of their right feet; and the rest of the blood Moses dashed against every side of the altar. [25]He took the fat—the broad tail, all the fat about the entrails, the protuberance of the liver, and the two kidneys and their fat—and the right thigh. [26]From the basket of unleavened bread that was before the LORD, he took one cake of unleavened bread, one cake of oil bread, and one wafer, and placed them on the fat parts and on the right thigh. [27]He placed all these on the palms of Aaron and on the palms of his sons, and elevated them as an elevation offering before the LORD. [28]Then Moses took them from their hands and turned them into smoke on the altar with the burnt offering. This was an ordination offering for a pleasing odor; it was an offering by fire to the LORD. [29]Moses took the breast and elevated it as an elevation offering before the LORD; it was Moses' portion of the ram of ordination—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[30]And Moses took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood that was on the altar and sprinkled it upon Aaron and upon his vestments, and also upon his sons and upon their vestments. Thus he consecrated Aaron and his vestments, and also his sons and their vestments.

[31]Moses said to Aaron and his sons: Boil the flesh at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting and eat it there with the bread that is in the basket of ordination—as I commanded:[c] Aaron and his sons shall eat it; [32]and what is left over of the flesh and the bread you shall consume in fire. [33]You shall not go outside the entrance of the Tent of Meeting for seven days, until the day that your period of ordination is completed. For your ordination will require seven days. [34]Everything done today, the LORD has commanded to be done [seven days], to make expiation for you. [35]You shall remain at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting day and night for seven days, keeping the LORD's charge—that you may not die—for so I have been commanded.

[36]And Aaron and his sons did all the things that the LORD had commanded through Moses.

On the eighth day Moses called Aaron and his sons, and the elders of Israel. [2]He said to Aaron: "Take a calf of the herd for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering, without blemish, and bring them before the LORD. [3]And speak to the Israelites, saying: Take a he-goat for a sin offering; a calf and a lamb, yearlings without blemish, for a burnt offering; [4]and an ox and a ram for an offering of well-being to sacrifice before the LORD; and a meal offering with oil mixed in. For today the LORD will appear to you."

[5]They brought to the front of the Tent of Meeting the things that Moses had commanded, and the whole community came forward and stood before the LORD. [6]Moses said: "This is what the LORD has commanded that you do, that the Presence of the LORD may appear to you." [7]Then Moses said to Aaron: "Come forward to the altar and sacrifice your sin offering and your burnt offering, making expiation for yourself and for the people; and sacrifice the people's offering and make expiation for them, as the LORD has commanded."

[8]Aaron came forward to the altar and slaughtered his calf of sin offering. [9]Aaron's sons brought the blood to him; he dipped his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar; and he poured out the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. [10]The fat, the kidneys, and the protuberance of the liver from the sin offering he turned into smoke on the altar—as the LORD had commanded Moses; [11]and the flesh and the skin were consumed in fire outside the camp. [12]Then he slaughtered the burnt offering. Aaron's sons passed the blood to him, and he dashed it against all sides of the altar. [13]They passed the burnt offering to him in sections, as well as the head, and he turned it into smoke on the altar. [14]He washed the entrails and the legs, and turned them into smoke on the altar with the burnt offering.

[15]Next he brought forward the people's offering. He took the goat for the people's sin offering, and slaughtered it, and presented it as a sin offering like the previous one. [16]He brought forward the burnt offering and sacrificed it according to regulation. [17]He then brought forward the meal offering and, taking a handful of it, he turned it into smoke on the altar—in addition to the burnt offering of the morning.[a] [18]He slaughtered the ox and the ram, the people's sacrifice of well-being. Aaron's sons passed the blood to him—which he dashed against every side of the altar—[19]and the fat parts of the ox and the ram: the broad tail, the covering [fat], the kidneys, and the protuberances of the livers. [20]They laid these fat parts over the breasts; and Aaron[b] turned the fat parts into smoke on the altar, [21]and elevated the breasts and the right thighs as an elevation offering before the LORD—as Moses had commanded.

[22]Aaron lifted his hands toward the people and blessed them; and he stepped down after offering the sin offering, the burnt offering, and the offering of well-being. [23]Moses and Aaron then went inside the Tent of Meeting. When they came out, they blessed the people; and the Presence of the LORD appeared to all the people. [24]Fire came forth from before the LORD and consumed the burnt offering and the fat parts on the altar. And all the people saw, and shouted, and fell on their faces.

10 Now Aaron's sons Nadab and Abihu each took his fire pan, put fire in it, and laid incense on it; and they offered before the LORD alien fire, which He had not enjoined upon them. [2]And fire came forth from the LORD and consumed them; thus they died [a]at the instance of[a] the LORD. [3]Then Moses said to Aaron, "This is what the LORD meant when He said:

> Through those near to Me I show Myself holy,
> And gain glory before all the people."

And Aaron was silent.

[4]Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, sons of Uzziel the uncle of Aaron, and said to them, "Come forward and carry your kinsmen away from the front of the sanctuary to a place outside the camp." [5]They came forward and carried them out of the camp by their tunics, as Moses had ordered. [6]And Moses said to Aaron and to his sons Eleazar and Ithamar, "Do not [b]-bare your heads-[b] and do not rend your clothes, lest you die and anger strike the whole community. But your kinsmen, all the house of Israel, shall bewail the burning that the LORD has wrought. [7]And so do not go outside the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, lest you die, for the LORD's anointing oil is upon you." And they did as Moses had bidden.

[8]And the LORD spoke to Aaron, saying: [9]Drink no wine or other intoxicant, you or your sons, when you enter the Tent of Meeting, that you may not die. This is a law for all time throughout the ages, [10]for you must distinguish between the sacred and the profane, and between the unclean and the clean; [11]and you must teach the Israelites all the laws which the LORD has imparted to them through Moses.

[12]Moses spoke to Aaron and to his remaining sons, Eleazar and Ithamar: Take the meal offering that is left over from the LORD's offerings by fire and eat it unleavened beside the altar, for it is most holy. [13]You shall eat it in the sacred precinct, inasmuch as it is your due, and that of your children, from the LORD's offerings by fire; for so I have been commanded. [14]But the breast of elevation offering and the thigh of gift offering you, and your sons and daughters with you, may eat in any clean place, for they have been assigned as a due to you and your children from the Israelites' sacrifices of well-being. [15]Together with the fat of fire offering, they must present the thigh of gift offering and the breast of elevation offering, which are to be elevated as an elevation offering before the LORD, and which are to be your due and that of your children with you for all time—as the LORD has commanded.

[16]Then Moses inquired about the goat of sin offering, and it had already been burned! He was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's remaining sons, and said, [17]"Why did you not eat the sin offering in the sacred area? For it is most holy, and He has given it to you to remove the guilt of the community and to make expiation for them before the LORD. [18]Since its blood was not brought inside the sanctuary,[c] you should certainly have eaten it in the sanctuary, as I commanded." [19]And Aaron spoke to Moses, "See, this day they brought their sin offering and their burnt offering before the LORD, and such things have befallen me! Had I eaten sin offering today, would the LORD have approved?" [20]And when Moses heard this, he approved.

streams, that has fins and scales—these you may eat. [10]But anything in the seas or in the streams that has no fins and scales, among all the swarming things of the water and among all the other living creatures that are in the water—they are an abomination for you [11]and an abomination for you they shall remain: you shall not eat of their flesh and you shall abominate their carcasses. [12]Everything in water that has no fins and scales shall be an abomination for you.

[13]The following[b] you shall abominate among the birds—they shall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, the vulture, and the black vulture; [14]the kite, falcons of every variety; [15]all varieties of raven; [16]the ostrich, the nighthawk, the sea gull; hawks of every variety; [17]the little owl, the cormorant, and the great owl; [18]the white owl, the pelican, and the bustard; [19]the stork; herons of every variety; the hoopoe, and the bat.

[20]All winged swarming things that walk on fours shall be an abomination for you. [21]But these you may eat among all the winged swarming things that walk on fours: all that have, above their feet, jointed legs to leap with on the ground—[22]of these you may eat the following:[b] locusts of every variety; all varieties of bald locust; crickets of every variety; and all varieties of grasshopper. [23]But all other winged swarming things that have four legs shall be an abomination for you.

[24]And the following shall make you unclean—whoever touches their carcasses shall be unclean until evening, [25]and whoever carries the carcasses of any of them shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening—[26]every animal that has true hoofs but without clefts through the hoofs, or that does not chew the cud. They are unclean for you; whoever touches them shall be unclean. [27]Also all animals that

41All the things that swarm upon the earth are an abomination; they shall not be eaten. 42You shall not eat, among all things that swarm upon the earth, anything that crawls on its belly, or anything that walks on fours, or anything that has many legs; for they are an abomination. 43You shall not draw abomination upon yourselves through anything that swarms; you shall not make yourselves unclean therewith and thus become unclean. 44For I the LORD am your God: you shall sanctify yourselves and be holy, for I am holy. You shall not make yourselves unclean through any swarming thing that moves upon the earth. 45For I the LORD am He who brought you up from the land of Egypt to be your God: you shall be holy, for I am holy.

46These are the instructions concerning animals, birds, all living creatures that move in water, and all creatures that swarm on earth, 47for distinguishing between the unclean and the clean, between the living things that may be eaten and the living things that may not be eaten.

12 TAZRIA'

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: 2Speak to the Israelite people thus: When a woman at childbirth[a] bears a male, she shall be unclean seven days; she shall be unclean as at the time of her menstrual infirmity.—3On the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised.—4She shall remain in a state of blood purification[b] for thirty-three days: she shall not touch any consecrated thing, nor enter the sanctuary until her period of purification is completed. 5If she bears a female, she shall be Such are the rituals concerning her who bears a child, male or female. [8]If, however, her means do not suffice for a sheep, she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons, one for a burnt offering and the other for a sin offering. The priest shall make expiation on her behalf, and she shall be clean.

The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying:

[2]When a person has on the skin of his body a swelling, a rash, or a discoloration, and it develops into a scaly affection on the skin of his body, it shall be reported[a] to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons, the priests. [3]The priest shall examine the affection on the skin of his body: if hair in the affected patch has turned white and the affection appears to be deeper than the skin of his body, it is a leprous affection;[b] when the priest sees it, he shall pronounce him unclean. [4]But if it is a white discoloration on the skin of his body which does not appear to be deeper than the skin and the hair in it has not turned white, the priest shall isolate the affected person for seven days. [5]On the seventh day the priest shall examine him, and if the affection has remained unchanged in color and the disease has not spread on the skin, the priest shall isolate him for another seven days. [6]On the seventh day the priest shall examine him again: if the affection has faded and has not spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean. It is a rash; he shall wash his clothes, and he shall be clean. [7]But if the rash should spread on the skin after he has presented himself to the priest and been pronounced clean, he shall present himself again to the priest. [8]And if the priest sees that the rash has spread on the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is leprosy.

[9]When a person has a scaly affection, it shall be reported[c] to the priest. [10]If the priest finds on the skin a white swelling which has turned some hair white, with [d-]a patch of undiscolored flesh[-d] in the swelling, [11]it is chronic leprosy on the skin of his body, and the priest shall pronounce him unclean; he need not isolate him, for he is unclean. [12]If the eruption spreads out over the skin so that it covers all the skin of the affected person from head to foot, wherever the priest can see—[13]if the priest sees that the eruption has covered the whole body—he shall pronounce the affected person clean; he is clean, for he has turned all white. [14]But as soon as undiscolored flesh appears in it, he shall be unclean; [15]when the priest sees the undiscolored flesh, he shall pronounce him unclean. The undiscolored flesh is unclean; it is leprosy. [16]But if the undiscolored flesh again turns white, he shall come to the priest, [17]and the priest shall examine him: if the affection has turned white, the priest shall pronounce the affected person clean; he is clean.

[18]When an inflammation appears on the skin of one's body and it heals, [19]and a white swelling or a white discoloration streaked with red develops where the inflammation was, he shall present himself to the priest. [20]If the priest finds that it appears lower than the rest of the skin and that the hair in it has turned white, the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a leprous affection that has broken out in the inflammation. [21]But if the priest finds that there is no white hair in it and it is not lower than the rest of the skin, and it is faded, the priest shall isolate him for seven days. [22]If it should spread in the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is an affection. [23]But if the discoloration remains stationary, not having spread, it is the scar of the inflammation; the priest shall pronounce him clean.

[24]When the skin of one's body sustains a burn by fire, and the patch from the burn is a discoloration, either white streaked with red, or white, [25]the priest shall examine it. If some hair has turned white in the discoloration, which itself appears to go deeper than the skin, it is leprosy that has broken out in the burn. The priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a leprous affection. [26]But if the priest finds that there is no white hair in the discoloration, and that it is not lower than the rest of the skin, and it is faded, the priest shall isolate him for seven days. [27]On the seventh day the priest shall examine him: if it has spread in the skin, the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a leprous affection. [28]But if the discoloration has remained stationary, not having spread on the skin, and it is faded, it is the swelling from the burn. The priest shall pronounce him clean, for it is the scar of the burn.

[29]If a man or a woman has an affection on the head or in the beard, [30]the priest shall examine the affection. If it appears to go deeper than the skin and there is thin yellow hair in it, the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a scall, a scaly eruption in the hair or beard. [31]But if the priest finds that the scall affection does not appear to go deeper than the skin, yet there is no black hair in it, the priest shall isolate the person with the scall affection for seven days. [32]On the seventh day the priest shall examine the affection. If the scall has not spread and no yellow hair has appeared in it, and the scall does not appear to go deeper than the skin, [33]the person with the scall shall shave himself, but without shaving the scall; the priest shall isolate him for another seven days. [34]On the seventh day the priest shall examine the scall. If the scall has not spread on the skin, and does not appear to go deeper than the skin, the priest shall pronounce him clean; he shall wash his clothes, and he shall be clean. [35]If, however, the scall should spread on the skin after he has been pronounced clean, [36]the priest shall examine him. If the scall has spread on the skin, the priest need not look for yellow hair: he is unclean. [37]But if the scall has remained unchanged in color, and black hair has grown in it, the scall is healed; he is clean. The priest shall pronounce him clean.

[45]As for the person with a leprous affection, his clothes shall be rent, his head shall be left bare,[e] and he shall cover over his upper lip; and he shall call out, "Unclean! Unclean!" [46]He shall be unclean as long as the disease is on him. Being unclean, he shall dwell apart; his dwelling shall be outside the camp.

[47]When an eruptive affection occurs in a cloth of wool or linen fabric, [48]in the warp or in the woof of the linen or the wool, or in a skin or in anything made of skin; [49]if the affection in the cloth or the skin, in the warp or the woof, or in any article of skin, is streaky green[f] or red, it is an eruptive affection. It shall be shown to the priest; [50]and the priest, after examining the affection, shall isolate the affected article for seven days. [51]On the seventh day he shall examine the affection: if the affection has spread in the cloth—whether in the warp or the woof, or in the skin, for whatever purpose the skin may be used—the affection is a malignant eruption; it is unclean. [52]The cloth—whether warp or woof in wool or linen, or any article of skin—in which the affection is found, shall be burned, for it is a malignant eruption; it shall be consumed in fire. [53]But if the priest sees that the affection in the cloth—whether in warp or in woof, or in any article of skin—has not spread, [54]the priest shall order the affected article washed, and he shall isolate it for another seven days. [55]And if, after the affected article has been washed, the priest sees that the affection has not changed color and that it has not spread, it is unclean. It shall be consumed in fire; it is a fret,[g] whether on its inner side or on its outer side. [56]But if the priest sees that the affected part, after it has been washed, is faded, he shall tear it out from the cloth or skin, whether in the warp or in the woof; [57]and if it occurs again in the cloth—whether in warp or in woof—or in any article of skin, it is a wild growth; the affected article shall be consumed in fire. [58]If, however, the affection disappears from the cloth—warp or woof—or from any article of skin that has been washed, it shall be washed again, and it shall be clean.

[59]Such is the procedure for eruptive affections of cloth, woolen or linen, in warp or in woof, or of any article of skin, for pronouncing it clean or unclean.

14 METSORA'

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]This shall be the ritual for a leper at the time that he is to be cleansed.

When it has been reported[a] to the priest, [3]the priest shall go outside the camp. If the priest sees that the leper has been healed of his scaly affection, [4]the priest shall order two live clean birds, cedar wood, crimson stuff, and hyssop to be brought for him who is to be cleansed. [5]The priest shall order one of the birds slaughtered over fresh water in an earthen vessel; [6]and he shall take the live bird, along with the cedar wood, the crimson stuff, and the hyssop, and dip them together with the live bird in the blood of the bird that was slaughtered over the fresh water. [7]He shall then sprinkle it seven times on him who is to be cleansed of the eruption and cleanse him; and he shall set the live bird free in the open country. [8]The one to be cleansed shall wash his clothes, shave off all his hair, and bathe in water; then he shall be clean. After that he may enter the camp, but he must remain outside his tent seven days. [9]On the seventh day he shall shave off all his hair—of head, beard, and eyebrows. When he has shaved off all his hair, he shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water; then he shall be clean. [10]On the eighth day he shall take two male lambs without blemish, one ewe lamb in its first year without blemish, three-tenths of a measure of choice flour with oil mixed in for a meal offering, and one log of oil. [11]These shall be presented before the LORD, with the man to be cleansed, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, by the priest who performs the cleansing.

[12]The priest shall take one of the male lambs and offer it with the log of oil as a guilt offering, and he shall elevate them as an elevation offering before the LORD. [13]The lamb shall be slaughtered at the spot in the sacred area where the sin offering and the burnt offering are slaughtered.[b] For the guilt offering, like the sin offering, goes to the priest; it is most holy. [14]The priest shall take some of the blood of the guilt offering, and the priest shall put it on the ridge of the right ear of him who is being cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. [15]The priest shall then take some of the log of oil and pour it into the palm of his own left hand. [16]And the priest shall dip his right finger in the oil that is in the palm of his left hand and sprinkle some of the oil with his finger seven times before the LORD. [17]Some of the oil left in his palm shall be put by the priest on the ridge of the right ear of the one being cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot—over the blood of the guilt offering. [18]The rest of the oil in his palm the priest shall put on the head of the one being cleansed. Thus the priest shall make expiation for him before the LORD. [19]The priest shall then offer the sin offering and make expiation for the one being cleansed of his uncleanness. Last, the burnt offering shall be slaughtered, [20]and the priest shall offer the burnt offering and the meal offering on the altar, and the priest shall make expiation for him. Then he shall be clean.

[21]If, however, he is poor and his means are insufficient, he shall take one male lamb for a guilt offering, to be elevated in expiation for him, one-tenth of a measure of choice flour with oil mixed in for a meal offering, and a log of oil; [22]and two turtledoves or two pigeons, depending on his means, the one to be the sin offering and the other the burnt offering. [23]On the eighth day of his cleansing he shall bring them to the priest at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, before the LORD. [24]The priest shall take the lamb of guilt offering and the log of oil, and elevate them as an elevation offering before the LORD. [25]When the lamb of guilt offering has been slaughtered, the priest shall take some of the blood of the guilt offering and put it on the ridge of the right ear of the one being cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. [26]The priest shall then pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand, [27]and with the finger of his right hand the priest shall sprinkle some of the oil that is in the palm of his left hand seven times before the LORD. [28]Some of the oil in his palm shall be put by the priest on the ridge of the right ear of the one being cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot, over the same places as the blood of the guilt offering; [29]and what is left of the oil in his palm the priest shall put on the head of the one being cleansed, to make expiation for him before the LORD. [30]He shall then offer one of the turtledoves or pigeons, depending on his means—[31]whichever he can afford—the one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering, together with the meal offering. Thus the priest shall make expiation before the LORD for the one being cleansed. [32]Such is the ritual for him who has a scaly affection and whose means for his cleansing are limited.

[34]When you enter the land of Canaan that I give you as a possession, and I inflict an eruptive plague upon a house in the land you possess, [35]the owner of the house shall come and tell the priest, saying, "Something like a plague has appeared upon my house." [36]The priest shall order the house cleared before the priest enters to examine the plague, so that nothing in the house may become unclean; after that the priest shall enter to examine the house. [37]If, when he examines the plague, the plague in the walls of the house is found to consist of greenish[c] or reddish streaks[d] that appear to go deep into the wall, [38]the priest shall come out of the house to the entrance of the house, and close up the house for seven days. [39]On the seventh day the priest shall return. If he sees that the plague has spread on the walls of the house, [40]the priest shall order the stones with the plague in them to be pulled out and cast outside the city into an unclean place. [41]The house shall be scraped inside all around, and the coating[e] that is scraped off shall be dumped outside the city in an unclean place. [42]They shall take other stones and replace those stones with them, and take other coating and plaster the house.

[43]If the plague again breaks out in the house, after the stones have been pulled out and after the house has been scraped and replastered, [44]the priest shall come to examine: if the plague has spread in the house, it is a malignant eruption in the house; it is unclean. [45]The house shall be torn down—its stones and timber and all the coating on the house—and taken to an unclean place outside the city.

[46]Whoever enters the house while it is closed up shall be unclean until evening. [47]Whoever shall bathe in water and remain unclean until evening.

[19]When a woman has a discharge, her discharge being blood from her body, she shall remain in her impurity seven days; whoever touches her shall be unclean until evening. [20]Anything that she lies on during her impurity shall be unclean; and anything that she sits on shall be unclean. [21]Anyone who touches her bedding shall wash his clothes, bathe in water, and remain unclean until evening; [22]and anyone who touches any object on which she has sat shall wash his clothes, bathe in water, and remain unclean until evening. [23]Be it the bedding or be it the object on which she has sat, on touching it he shall be unclean until evening. [24]And if a man lies with her, her impurity is communicated to him; he shall be unclean seven days, and any bedding on which he lies shall become unclean.

[25]When a woman has had a discharge of blood for many days, not at the time of her impurity, or when she has a discharge beyond her period of impurity, she shall be unclean, as though at the time of her impurity, as long as her discharge lasts. [26]Any bedding on which she lies while her discharge lasts shall be for her like bedding during her impurity; and any object on which she sits shall become unclean, as it does during her impurity: [27]whoever touches them shall be unclean; he shall wash his clothes, bathe in water, and remain unclean until evening.

[28]When she becomes clean of her discharge, she shall count off seven days, and after that she shall be clean. [31]You shall put the Israelites on guard against their uncleanness, lest they die through their uncleanness by defiling My Tabernacle which is among them.

[32]Such is the ritual concerning him who has a discharge: concerning him who has an emission of semen and becomes unclean thereby, [33]and concerning her who is in menstrual infirmity, and concerning anyone, male or female, who has a discharge, and concerning a man who lies with an unclean woman.

16 'AHAREI MOT

The LORD spoke to Moses after the death of the two sons of Aaron who died when they drew too close to the presence of the LORD. [2]The LORD said to Moses:

Tell your brother Aaron that he is not to come at will[a] into the Shrine behind the curtain, in front of the cover that is upon the ark, lest he die; for I appear in the cloud over the cover. [3]Thus only shall Aaron enter the Shrine: with a bull of the herd for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering.—[4]He shall be dressed in a sacral linen tunic, with linen breeches next to his flesh, and be girt with a linen sash, and he shall wear a linen turban. They are sacral vestments; he shall bathe his body in water and then put them on.—[5]And from the Israelite community he shall take two he-goats for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering.

[6]Aaron is to offer his own bull of sin offering, to make expiation for himself and for his household. [7]Aaron[b] shall take the two he-goats and let them stand before the LORD at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting; [8]and he shall place lots upon the two goats, one marked for the LORD and the other marked for Azazel. [9]Aaron shall bring forward the goat designated by lot for the LORD, which he is to offer as a sin offering;

[10]while the goat designated by lot for Azazel shall be left standing alive before the LORD, to make expiation with it and to send it off to the wilderness for Azazel.

[11]Aaron shall then offer his bull of sin offering, to make expiation for himself and his household. He shall slaughter his bull of sin offering, [12]and he shall take a panful of glowing coals scooped from the altar before the LORD, and two handfuls of finely ground aromatic incense, and bring this behind the curtain. [13]He shall put the incense on the fire before the LORD, so that the cloud from the incense screens the cover that is over [the Ark of] the Pact, lest he die. [14]He shall take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle it with his finger over the cover on the east side; and in front of the cover he shall sprinkle some of the blood with his finger seven times. [15]He shall then slaughter the people's goat of sin offering, bring its blood behind the curtain, and do with its blood as he has done with the blood of the bull: he shall sprinkle it over the cover and in front of the cover.

[16]Thus he shall purge the Shrine of the uncleanness and transgression of the Israelites, whatever their sins; and he shall do the same for the Tent of Meeting, which abides with them in the midst of their uncleanness. [17]When he goes in to make expiation in the Shrine, nobody else shall be in the Tent of Meeting until he comes out.

When he has made expiation for himself and his household, and for the whole congregation of Israel, [18]he shall go out to the altar that is before the LORD and purge it: he shall take some of the blood of the bull and of the goat and apply it to each of the horns of the altar; [19]and the rest of the blood he shall sprinkle on it with his finger seven times. Thus he shall cleanse it of the uncleanness of the Israelites and consecrate it.

has been anointed and ordained to serve as priest in place of his father shall make expiation. He shall put on the linen vestments, the sacral vestments. 33He shall purge the innermost Shrine; he shall purge the Tent of Meeting and the altar; and he shall make expiation for the priests and for all the people of the congregation.

34This shall be to you a law for all time: to make atonement for the Israelites for all their sins once a year.

And Moses did as the LORD had commanded him.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying:

2Speak to Aaron and his sons and to all the Israelite people and say to them:

This is what the LORD has commanded: 3if anyone of the house of Israel slaughters an ox or sheep or goat in the camp, or does so outside the camp, 4and does not bring it to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting to present it as an offering to the LORD, before the LORD's Tabernacle, bloodguilt shall be imputed to that man: he has shed blood; that man shall be cut off from among his people. 5This is in order that the Israelites may bring the sacrifices which they have been making in the open—that they may bring them before the LORD, to the priest, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and offer them as sacrifices of well-being to the LORD; 6that the priest may dash the blood against the altar of the LORD at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and turn the fat into smoke as a pleasing odor to the LORD; 7and that they may offer their sacrifices no more to the goat-demons after whom they stray. This shall be to them a law for all time, throughout the ages.

8Say to them further: If anyone of the house of Israel or of the strangers who reside among them offers a burnt offering or a sacrifice, [9]and does not bring it to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting to offer it to the LORD, that person shall be cut off from his people.

[10]And if anyone of the house of Israel or of the strangers who reside among them partakes of any blood, I will set My face against the person who partakes of the blood, and I will cut him off from among his kin. [11]For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have assigned it to you for making expiation for your lives upon the altar; it is the blood, as life, that effects expiation. [12]Therefore I say to the Israelite people: No person among you shall partake of blood, nor shall the stranger who resides among you partake of blood.

[13]And if any Israelite or any stranger who resides among them hunts down an animal or a bird that may be eaten, he shall pour out its blood and cover it with earth. [14]For the life of all flesh—its blood is its life. Therefore I say to the Israelite people: You shall not partake of the blood of any flesh, for the life of all flesh is its blood. Anyone who partakes of it shall be cut off.

[15]Any person, whether citizen or stranger, who eats what has died or has been torn by beasts shall wash his clothes, bathe in water, and remain unclean until evening; then he shall be clean. [16]But if he does not wash [his clothes] and bathe his body, he shall bear his guilt.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them:

I the LORD am your God. [3]You shall not copy the practices of the land of Egypt where you dwelt, or of the land of Canaan to which I am taking you; nor shall you follow their laws. [4]My rules alone shall you observe, and faithfully follow My laws: I the LORD am your God.

[7] [a-]Your father's nakedness, that is, the nakedness of your mother, you shall not uncover; she is your mother—you shall not uncover her nakedness.

[8] Do not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife;[-a] it is the nakedness of your father.

[9] The nakedness of your sister—your father's daughter or your mother's, whether born into the household or outside—do not uncover their nakedness.

[10] The nakedness of your son's daughter, or of your daughter's daughter—do not uncover their nakedness; for their nakedness is yours.[b]

[11] The nakedness of your father's wife's daughter, who has born into your father's household—she is your sister; do not uncover her nakedness.

[12] Do not uncover the nakedness of your father's sister; she is your father's flesh.

[13] Do not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister; for she is your mother's flesh.

[14] Do not uncover the nakedness of your father's brother: do not approach his wife; she is your aunt.

[15] Do not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law: she is your son's wife; you shall not uncover her nakedness.

[16] [a-]Do not uncover the nakedness of your brother's wife; it is the nakedness of your brother.[-a] a-a A man and his wife are one flesh (Gen. 2.24), even if he should die or divorce her.

19 KEDOSHIM

The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to the whole Israelite community and say to them:

You shall be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy.

[3]You shall each revere his mother and his father, and keep My sabbaths: I the Lord am your God.

[4]Do not turn to idols or make molten gods for yourselves: I the Lord am your God.

[5]When you sacrifice an offering of well-being to the Lord, sacrifice it so that it may be accepted on your behalf. [6]It shall be eaten on the day you sacrifice it, or on the day following; but what is left by the third day must be consumed in fire. [7]If it should be eaten on the third day, it is an offensive thing, it will not be acceptable. [8]And he who eats of it shall bear his guilt, for he has profaned what is sacred to the Lord; that person shall be cut off from his kin.

[9]When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not reap all the way to the edges of your field, or gather the gleanings of your harvest. [10]You shall not pick your vineyard bare, or gather the fallen fruit of your vineyard; you shall leave them for the poor and the stranger: I the Lord am your God.

[11]You shall not steal; you shall not deal deceitfully or falsely with one another. [12]You shall not swear falsely by My name, profaning the name of your God: I am the Lord.

[13]You shall not defraud your fellow. You shall not commit robbery. The wages of a laborer shall not remain with you until morning.

[14]You shall not insult the deaf, or place a stumbling block before the blind. You shall fear your God: I am the Lord.

[15]You shall not render an unfair decision: do not favor the poor or show deference to the rich;

kedness of his sister, he shall bear his guilt. [18]If a man lies with a woman in her infirmity and uncovers her nakedness, he has laid bare her flow and she has exposed her blood flow; both of them shall be cut off from among their people. [19]You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister or of your father's sister, for that is laying bare one's own flesh; they shall bear their guilt. [20]If a man lies with his uncle's wife, it is his uncle's nakedness that he has uncovered. They shall bear their guilt: they shall die childless. [21]If a man marries the wife of his brother, it is indecency. It is the nakedness of his brother that he has uncovered; they shall remain childless.

[22]You shall faithfully observe all My laws and all My regulations, lest the land to which I bring you to settle in spew you out. [23]You shall not follow the practices of the nation that I am driving out before you. For it is because they did all these things that I abhorred them [24]and said to you: You shall possess their land, for I will give it to you to possess, a land flowing with milk and honey. I the LORD am your God who has set you apart from other peoples. [25]So you shall set apart the clean beast from the unclean, the unclean bird from the clean. You shall not draw abomination upon yourselves through beast or bird or anything with which the ground is alive, which I have set apart for you to treat as unclean. [26]You shall be holy to Me, for I the LORD am holy, and I have set you apart from other peoples to be Mine.

[27]A man or a woman who has a ghost or a familiar spirit shall be put to death; they shall be pelted with stones—their bloodguilt shall be upon them.

21 'EMOR

The LORD said to Moses: Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them:

None shall defile himself for any [dead] person among his kin, [2]except for the relatives that are closest to him: his mother, his father, his son, his daughter, and his brother; [3]also for a virgin sister, close to him because she has not married, for her he may defile himself. [4]But he shall not defile himself [a]as a kinsman by marriage,[a] and so profane himself.

[5]They shall not shave smooth any part of their heads, or cut the side-growth of their beards, or make gashes in their flesh. [6]They shall be holy to their God and not profane the name of their God; for they offer the LORD's offerings by fire, the food of their God, and so must be holy.

[7]They shall not marry a woman defiled by harlotry, nor shall they marry one divorced from her husband. For they are holy to their God [8]and you must treat them as holy, since they offer the food of your God; they shall be holy to you, for I the LORD who sanctify you am holy.

[9]When the daughter of a priest defiles herself through harlotry, it is her father whom she defiles; she shall be put to the fire.

[10]The priest who is exalted above his fellows, on whose head the anointing oil has been poured and who has been ordained to wear the vestments, shall not bare his head[b] or rend his vestments. [11]He shall not go in where there is any dead body; he shall not defile himself even for his father or mother. [12]He shall not go outside the sanctuary and profane the sanctuary of his God, for upon him is the distinction of the anointing oil of his God, Mine the LORD's. [13]He may marry only a woman who is a virgin. [14]A widow, or a divorced woman, or one who is degraded by harlotry—such he may not marry.

b See note at 10.6.

Only a virgin of his own kin may he take to wife—[15]that he may not profane his offspring among his kin, for I the LORD have sanctified him.

[16]The LORD spoke further to Moses: [17]Speak to Aaron and say: No man of your offspring throughout the ages who has a defect shall be qualified to offer the food of his God. [18]No one at all who has a defect shall be qualified: no man who is blind, or lame, or [c]has a limb too short or too long;[-c] [19]no man who has a broken leg or a broken arm; [20]or who is a hunchback, or a dwarf, or who has a growth in his eye, or who has a boil-scar, or scurvy, or crushed testes. [21]No man among the offspring of Aaron the priest who has a defect shall be qualified to offer the LORD's offering by fire; having a defect, he shall not be qualified to offer the food of his God. [22]He may eat of the food of his God, of the most holy as well as of the holy; [23]but he shall not enter behind the curtain or come near the altar, for he has a defect. He shall not profane these places sacred to Me, for I the LORD have sanctified them.

[24]Thus Moses spoke to Aaron and his sons and to all the Israelites.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Instruct Aaron and his sons to be scrupulous about the sacred donations that the Israelite people consecrate to Me, lest they profane My holy name, Mine the LORD's. [3]Say to them:

Throughout the ages, if any man among your offspring, while in a state of uncleanness, partakes of any sacred donation that the Israelite people may consecrate to the LORD, that person shall be cut off from before Me: I am the LORD. nations until he is clean. If one touches anything made unclean by a corpse, or if a man has an emission of semen, [5]or if a man touches any swarming thing by which he is made unclean or any human being by whom he is made unclean—whatever his uncleanness—[6]the person who touches such shall be unclean until evening and shall not eat of the sacred donations unless he has washed his body in water. [7]As soon as the sun sets, he shall be clean; and afterward he may eat of the sacred donations, for they are his food. [8]He shall not eat anything that died or was torn by beasts, thereby becoming unclean: I am the LORD. [9]They shall keep My charge, lest they incur guilt thereby and die for it, having committed profanation: I the LORD consecrate them.

[10]No lay person shall eat of the sacred donations. No bound or hired laborer of a priest shall eat of the sacred donations; [11]but a person who is a priest's property by purchase may eat of them; and those that are born into his household may eat of his food. [12]If a priest's daughter marries a layman, she may not eat of the sacred gifts; [13]but if the priest's daughter is widowed or divorced and without offspring, and is back in her father's house as in her youth, she may eat of her father's food. No lay person may eat of it: [14]but if a man eats of a sacred donation unwittingly, he shall pay the priest for the sacred donation, adding one-fifth of its value. [15]But [the priests] must not allow the Israelites to profane the sacred donations that they set aside for the LORD, [16]or to incur guilt requiring a penalty payment, by eating such sacred donations: for it is I the LORD who make them sacred.

[17]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [18]Speak to Aaron and his sons, and to all the Israelite people, and say to them:

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them:

These are My fixed times, the fixed times of the LORD, which you shall proclaim as sacred occasions.

[3]On six days work may be done, but on the seventh day there shall be a sabbath of complete rest, a sacred occasion. You shall do no work; it shall be a sabbath of the LORD throughout your settlements.

[4]These are the set times of the LORD, the sacred occasions, which you shall celebrate each at its appointed time: [5]In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight, there shall be a passover offering to the LORD, [6]and on the fifteenth day of that month the LORD's Feast of Unleavened Bread. You shall eat unleavened bread for seven days. [7]On the first day you shall celebrate a sacred occasion: you shall not work at your occupations. [8]Seven days you shall make offerings by fire to the LORD. The seventh day shall be a sacred occasion: you shall not work at your occupations.

[9]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [10]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them:

When you enter the land that I am giving to you and you reap its harvest, you shall bring the first sheaf of your harvest to the priest. [11]He shall elevate the sheaf before the LORD for acceptance in your behalf; the priest shall elevate it on the day after the sabbath. [12]On the day that you elevate the sheaf, you shall offer as a burnt offering to the LORD a lamb of the first year without blemish. [13]The meal offering with it shall be two-tenths of a measure of choice flour with oil month, on the first day of the month, you shall observe complete rest, a sacred occasion commemorated with loud blasts. 25You shall not work at your occupations; and you shall bring an offering by fire to the LORD.

26The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: 27Mark, the tenth day of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement. It shall be a sacred occasion for you: you shall practice self-denial, and you shall bring an offering by fire to the LORD; 28you shall do no work throughout that day. For it is a Day of Atonement, on which expiation is made on your behalf before the LORD your God. 29Indeed, any person who does not practice self-denial throughout that day shall be cut off from his kin; 30and whoever does any work throughout that day, I will cause that person to perish from among his people. 31Do no work whatever; it is a law for all time, throughout the ages in all your settlements. 32It shall be a sabbath of complete rest for you, and you shall practice self-denial; on the ninth day of the month at evening, from evening to evening, you shall observe this your sabbath.

33The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: 34Say to the Israelite people:

On the fifteenth day of this seventh month there shall be the Feast of Booths[c] to the LORD, [to last] seven days. 35The first day shall be a sacred occasion: you shall not work at your occupations; 36seven days you shall bring offerings by fire to the LORD. On the eighth day you shall observe a sacred occasion and bring an offering by fire to the LORD; it is a solemn gathering:[d] you shall not work at your occupations.

The LORD spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai: [2]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them:

When you enter the land that I assign to you, the land shall observe a sabbath of the LORD. [3]Six years you may sow your field and six years you may prune your vineyard and gather in the yield. [4]But in the seventh year the land shall have a sabbath of complete rest, a sabbath of the LORD: you shall not sow your field or prune your vineyard. [5]You shall not reap the aftergrowth of your harvest or gather the grapes of your untrimmed vines; it shall be a year of complete rest for the land. [6]But you may eat whatever the land during its sabbath will produce—you, your male and female slaves, the hired and bound laborers who live with you, [7]and your cattle and the beasts in your land may eat all its yield.

[8]You shall count off seven weeks of years—seven times seven years—so that the period of seven weeks of years gives you a total of forty-nine years. [9]Then you shall sound the horn loud; in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month—the Day of Atonement—you shall have the horn sounded throughout your land [10]and you shall hallow the fiftieth year. You shall proclaim release[a] throughout the land for all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee[b] for you: each of you shall return to his holding and each of you shall return to his family. [11]That fiftieth year shall be a jubilee for you: you shall not sow, neither shall you reap the aftergrowth or harvest the untrimmed vines, [12]for it is a jubilee. It shall be holy to you: you may only eat the growth direct from the field.

[13]In this year of jubilee, each of you shall return to his holding. [14]When you sell property to your neighbor,[c] or buy any from your neighbor, you shall not wrong one another. [15]In buying from your neighbor, you shall deduct only for the number of years since the jubilee; and in selling to you, he shall charge you only for the remaining crop years: [16]the more such years, the higher the price you pay; the fewer such years, the lower the price; for what he is selling you is a number of harvests. [17]Do not wrong one another, but fear your God; for I the LORD am your God.

[18]You shall observe My laws and faithfully keep My rules, that you may live upon the land in security; [19]the land shall yield its fruit and you shall eat your fill, and you shall live upon it in security. [20]And should you ask, "What are we to eat in the seventh year, if we may neither sow nor gather in our crops?" [21]I will ordain My blessing for you in the sixth year, so that it shall yield a crop sufficient for three years. [22]When you sow in the eighth year, you will still be eating old grain of that crop; you will be eating the old until the ninth year, until its crops come in.

[23]But the land must not be sold beyond reclaim, for the land is Mine; you are but strangers resident with Me. [24]Throughout the land that you hold, you must provide for the redemption of the land.

[25]If your kinsman is in straits and has to sell part of his holding, his nearest redeemer[d] shall come and redeem what his kinsman has sold. [26]If a man has no one to redeem for him, but prospers and acquires enough to redeem with, [27]he shall compute the years since its sale, refund the difference to the man to whom he sold it, and return to his holding. [28]If he lacks sufficient means to recover it, what he sold shall remain with the purchaser until the jubilee; in the jubilee year it shall be released, and he shall return to his holding.

c I.e., fellow Israelite; see v. 46.

d I.e., the closest relative able to redeem the land.

[29]If a man sells a dwelling house in a walled city, it may be redeemed until a year has elapsed since its sale; the redemption period shall be a year. [30]If it is not redeemed before a full year has elapsed, the house in the walled city shall pass to the purchaser beyond reclaim throughout the ages; it shall not be released in the jubilee. [31]But houses in villages that have no encircling walls shall be classed as open country: they may be redeemed, and they shall be released through the jubilee. [32]As for the cities of the Levites, the houses in the cities they hold—the Levites shall forever have the right of redemption. [33][e] Such property as may be redeemed from the Levites—houses sold in a city they hold—shall be released through the jubilee; for the houses in the cities of the Levites are their holding among the Israelites. [34]But the unenclosed land about their cities cannot be sold, for that is their holding for all time.

[35]If your kinsman, being in straits, comes under your authority, and you hold him as though a resident alien, let him live by your side: [36]do not exact from him advance or accrued interest,[f] but fear your God. Let him live by your side as your kinsman. [37]Do not lend him your money at advance interest, or give him your food at accrued interest. [38]I the LORD am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, to be your God.

[39]If your kinsman under you continues in straits and must give himself over to you, do not subject him to the treatment of a slave. [40]He shall remain with you as a hired or bound laborer; he shall serve with you only until the jubilee year. [41]Then he and his children with him shall be free of your authority; he shall go back to his family and return to his ancestral holding.—[42]For they are My servants, whom I freed from the land of Egypt; they may not give themselves over into servitude.—[43]You shall not rule over him ruthlessly; you shall fear your God. [44]Such male and female slaves as you may have—it is from the nations round about you that you may acquire male and female slaves. [45]You may also buy them from among the children of aliens resident among you, or from their families that are among you, whom they begot in your land. These shall become your property: [46]you may keep them as a possession for your children after you, for them to inherit as property for all time. Such you may treat as slaves. But as for your Israelite kinsmen, no one shall rule ruthlessly over the other.

[47]If a resident alien among you has prospered, and your kinsman being in straits, comes under his authority and gives himself over to the resident alien among you, or to an offshoot of an alien's family, [48]he shall have the right of redemption even after he has given himself over. remain hostile to you: I in turn will smite you sevenfold for your sins. [25]I will bring a sword against you to wreak vengeance for the covenant; and if you withdraw into your cities, I will send pestilence among you, and you shall be delivered into enemy hands. [26]When I break your staff of bread, ten women shall bake your bread in a single oven; they shall dole out your bread by weight, and though you eat, you shall not be satisfied.

[27]But if, despite this, you disobey Me and remain hostile to Me, [28]I will act against you in wrathful hostility; I, for My part, will discipline you sevenfold for your sins. [29]You shall eat the flesh of your sons and the flesh of your daughters. [30]I will destroy your cult places and cut down your incense stands, and I will heap your carcasses upon your lifeless fetishes.

I will spurn you. [31]I will lay your cities in ruin and make your sanctuaries desolate, and I will not savor your pleasing odors. [32]I will make the land desolate, so that your enemies who settle in it shall be appalled by it. [33]And you I will scatter among the nations, and I will unsheath the sword against you. Your land shall become a desolation and your cities a ruin.

[34]Then shall the land make up for its sabbath years throughout the time that it is desolate and you are in the land of your enemies; then shall the land rest and make up for its sabbath years. [35]Throughout the time that it is desolate, it shall observe the rest that it did not observe in your sabbath years while you were dwelling upon it. [36]As for those of you who survive, I will cast a faintness into their hearts in the land of their enemies. The sound of a driven leaf shall put them to flight. Fleeing as though from the sword, they shall fall though none pursues. [37]With no one pursuing, they shall stumble over one another as before the sword. BE-MIDBAR

On the first day of the second month, in the second year following the exodus from the land of Egypt, the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the Tent of Meeting, saying:

[2]Take a census of the whole Israelite community by the clans of [a]its ancestral houses,[a] listing the names, every male, head by head. [3]You and Aaron shall record them by their groups, from the age of twenty years up, all those in Israel who are able to bear arms. [4]Associated with you shall be a man from each tribe, each one the head of his ancestral house.

[5]These are the names of the men who shall assist you:

From Reuben, Elizur son of Shedeur.
[6]From Simeon, Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.
[7]From Judah, Nahshon son of Amminadab.
[8]From Issachar, Nethanel son of Zuar.
[9]From Zebulun, Eliab son of Helon.
[10]From the sons of Joseph:
from Ephraim, Elishama son of Ammihud;
from Manasseh, Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.
[11]From Benjamin, Abidan son of Gideoni.
[12]From Dan, Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.
[13]From Asher, Pagiel son of Ochran.
[14]From Gad, Eliasaph son of Deuel.
[15]From Naphtali, Ahira son of Enan.

[16]Those are the elected of the assembly, the chieftains of their ancestral tribes: they are the heads of the contingents of Israel.

[17]So Moses and Aaron took those men, who were designated by name, [18]and on the first day of the second month they convoked the whole community, who were registered by the clans of their ancestral houses—the names of those aged twenty years and over being listed head by head. [19]As the LORD had commanded Moses, so he recorded them in the wilderness of Sinai.

[20]They totaled as follows:

The descendants of Reuben, Israel's first-born, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, head by head, all males aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[21]those enrolled from the tribe of Reuben: 46,500.

[22]Of the descendants of Simeon, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, their enrollment as listed by name, head by head, all males aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[23]those enrolled from the tribe of Simeon: 59,300.

[24]Of the descendants of Gad, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[25]those enrolled from the tribe of Gad: 45,650.

[26]Of the descendants of Judah, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[27]those enrolled from the tribe of Judah: 74,600.

[28]Of the descendants of Issachar, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[29]those enrolled from the tribe of Issachar: 54,400.

[30]Of the descendants of Zebulun, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[31]those enrolled from the tribe of Zebulun: 57,400.

[32]Of the descendants of Joseph:

Of the descendants of Ephraim, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[33]those enrolled from the tribe of Ephraim: 40,500.

[34]Of the descendants of Manasseh, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[35]those enrolled from the tribe of Manasseh: 32,200.

[36]Of the descendants of Benjamin, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[37]those enrolled from the tribe of Benjamin: 35,400.

[38]Of the descendants of Dan, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[39]those enrolled from the tribe of Dan: 62,700.

[40]Of the descendants of Asher, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house, as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[41]those enrolled from the tribe of Asher: 41,500.

[42][Of] the descendants of Naphtali, the registration of the clans of their ancestral house as listed by name, aged twenty years and over, all who were able to bear arms—[43]those enrolled from the tribe of Naphtali: 53,400.

[44]Those are the enrollments recorded by Moses and Aaron and by the chieftains of Israel, who were twelve in number, one man to each ancestral house. [45]All the Israelites, aged twenty years and over, enrolled by ancestral houses, all those in Israel who were able to bear arms—[46]all who were enrolled came to 603,550.

[47]The Levites, however, were not recorded among them by their ancestral tribe. [48]For the Lord had spoken to Moses, saying: [49]Do not

Chieftain of the Danites: Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai. [26]His troop, as enrolled: 62,700.

[27]Camping next to it:
The tribe of Asher.
Chieftain of the Asherites: Pagiel son of Ochran. [28]His troop, as enrolled: 41,500.
[29]And the tribe of Naphtali.
Chieftain of the Naphtalites: Ahira son of Enan. [30]His troop, as enrolled: 53,400.

[31]The total enrolled in the division of Dan: 157,600. These shall march last, by their standards.

[32]Those are the enrollments of the Israelites by ancestral houses. The total enrolled in the divisions, for all troops: 603,550. [33]The Levites, however, were not recorded among the Israelites, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[34]The Israelites did accordingly; just as the LORD had commanded Moses, so they camped by their standards, and so they marched, each with his clan according to his ancestral house.

This is the line of Aaron and Moses at the time that the LORD spoke with Moses on Mount Sinai. [2]These were the names of Aaron's sons: Nadab, the first-born, and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar; [3]those were the names of Aaron's sons, the anointed priests who were ordained for priesthood. [4]But Nadab and Abihu died [a]by the will of[a] the LORD, when they offered alien fire before the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai; and they left no sons. So it was Eleazar and Ithamar who served as priests in the lifetime of their father Aaron.

upon Aaron the priest to serve him. [7]They shall perform duties for him and for the whole community before the Tent of Meeting, doing the work of the Tabernacle. [8]They shall take charge of all the furnishings of the Tent of Meeting—a duty on behalf of the Israelites—doing the work of the Tabernacle. [9]You shall assign the Levites to Aaron and to his sons: they are formally assigned to him from among the Israelites. [10]You shall make Aaron and his sons responsible for observing their priestly duties; and any outsider who encroaches shall be put to death.

[11]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [12]I hereby take the Levites from among the Israelites in place of all the first-born, the first issue of the womb among the Israelites: the Levites shall be Mine. [13]For every first-born is Mine: at the time that I smote every first-born in the land of Egypt, I consecrated every first-born in Israel, man and beast, to Myself, to be Mine, the LORD's.

[14]The LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying: [15]Record the Levites by ancestral house and by clan; record every male among them from the age of one month up. [16]So Moses recorded them at the command of the LORD, as he was bidden. [17]These were the sons of Levi by name: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [18]These were the names of the sons of Gershon by clan: Libni and Shimei. [19]The sons of Kohath by clan: Amram and Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. [20]The sons of Merari by clan: Mahli and Mushi.

These were the clans of the Levites within their ancestral houses:

[21]To Gershon belonged the clan of the Libnites and the clan of the Shimeites; those were the clans of the Gershonites. [22]The recorded entries of all their males from the age of one month up, as recorded, came to 7,500. [23]The clans of the Gershonites were to camp behind the Tabernacle, to the west. [24]The chieftain of the ancestral house of the Gershonites was Eliasaph son of Lael. 25The duties of the Gershonites in the Tent of Meeting comprised: the Tabernacle,[b] the tent, its covering, and the screen for the entrance of the Tent of Meeting; 26the hangings of the enclosure, the screen for the entrance of the enclosure which surrounds the Tabernacle, the cords thereof, and the altar—all the service connected with these.

33To Merari belonged the clan of the Mahlites and the clan of the Mushites; those were the clans of Merari. 34The recorded entries of all their males from the age of one month up came to 6,200. 35The chieftain of the ancestral house of the clans of Merari was Zuriel son of Abihail. on the east—were Moses and Aaron and his sons, attending to the duties of the sanctuary, as a duty on behalf of the Israelites; and any outsider who encroached was to be put to death. [39]All the Levites who were recorded, whom at the LORD's command Moses and Aaron recorded by their clans, all the males from the age of one month up, came to 22,000.

[40]The LORD said to Moses: Record every first-born male of the Israelite people from the age of one month up, and make a list of their names; [41]and take the Levites for Me, the LORD, in place of every first-born among the Israelite people, and the cattle of the Levites in place of every first-born among the cattle of the Israelites. [42]So Moses recorded all the first-born among the Israelites, as the LORD had commanded him. [43]All the first-born males as listed by name, recorded from the age of one month up, came to 22,273.

[44]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [45]Take the Levites in place of all the first-born among the Israelite people, and the cattle of the Levites in place of their cattle; and the Levites shall be Mine, the LORD's. [46]And as the redemption price of the 273 Israelite first-born over and above the number of the Levites, [47]take five shekels per head—take this by the sanctuary weight, twenty *gerah*s to the shekel—[48]and give the money to Aaron and his sons as the redemption price for those who are in excess. [49]So Moses took the redemption money from those over and above the ones redeemed by the Levites; [50]he took the money from the first-born of the Israelites, 1,365 sanctuary shekels. [51]And Moses gave the redemption money to Aaron and his sons at the LORD's bidding, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

4 The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying:

2Take a [separate] census of the Kohathites among the Levites, by the clans of their ancestral house, 3from the age of thirty years up to the age of fifty, all who are subject to service, to perform tasks for the Tent of Meeting. 4This is the responsibility of the Kohathites in the Tent of Meeting: the most sacred objects.

5At the breaking of camp, Aaron and his sons shall go in and take down the screening curtain and cover the Ark of the Pact with it. 6They shall lay a covering of dolphin[a] skin over it and spread a cloth of pure blue on top; and they shall put its poles in place.

11Next they shall spread a blue cloth over the altar of gold and cover it with a covering of dolphin skin; and they shall put its poles in place. 12They shall take all the service vessels with which the service in the sanctuary is performed, put them into a blue cloth and cover them with a covering of dolphin skin, which they shall then place on a carrying frame. 13They shall remove the ashes from the [copper] altar and spread a

NASO'

[21]The Lord spoke to Moses: [22]Take a census of the Gershonites also, by their ancestral house and by their clans. [23]Record them from the age of thirty years up to the age of fifty, all who are subject to service in the performance of tasks for the Tent of Meeting. [24]These are the duties of the Gershonite clans as to labor and porterage: [25]they shall carry the cloths of the Taber-

[27]All the duties of the Gershonites, all their porterage and all their service, shall be performed on orders from Aaron and his sons; you shall make them responsible for attending to all their porterage. [28]Those are the duties of the Gershonite clans for the Tent of Meeting; they shall attend to them under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

[29]As for the Merarites, you shall record them by the clans of their ancestral house; [30]you shall record them from the age of thirty years up to the age of fifty, all who are subject to service in the performance of the duties for the Tent of Meeting. [31]These are their porterage tasks in connection with their various duties for the Tent of Meeting: the planks, the bars, the posts, and the sockets of the Tabernacle; [32]the posts around the enclosure and their sockets, pegs, and cords—all these furnishings and their service: you shall list by name the objects that are their porterage tasks. [33]Those are the duties of the Merarite clans, pertaining to their various duties in the Tent of Meeting under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.

[34]So Moses, Aaron, and the chieftains of the community recorded the Kohathites by the clans of their ancestral house, [35]from the age of thirty years up to the age of fifty, all who were subject to service for work relating to the Tent of Meeting. [36]Those recorded by their clans came to 2,750. [37]That was the enrollment of the Kohathite clans, all those who performed duties relating to the Tent of Meeting, whom Moses

[5]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [6]Speak to the Israelites: When a man or woman commits any wrong toward a fellow man, thus breaking faith with the LORD, and that person realizes his guilt, [7]he shall confess the wrong that he has done. He shall make restitution in the principal amount and add one-fifth to it, giving it to him whom he has wronged. [8]If the man has no kinsman[b] to whom restitution can be made, the amount repaid shall go to the LORD for the priest—in addition to the ram of expiation with which expiation is made on his behalf.[c] [9]So, too, any gift among the sacred donations that the Israelites offer shall be the priest's. [10]And each shall retain his sacred donations: each priest shall keep what is given to him.

[16]The priest shall bring her forward and have her stand before the LORD. [17]The priest shall take sacral water in an earthen vessel and, taking some of the earth that is on the floor of the Tabernacle, the priest shall put it into the water. [18]After he has made the woman stand before the LORD, the priest shall bare the woman's head[d] and place upon her hands the meal offering of remembrance, which is a meal offering of jealousy. And in the priest's hands shall be the water of bitterness [e]-that induces the spell.-[e] [19]The priest shall adjure the woman, saying to her, "If no man has lain with you, if you have not gone astray in defilement while married to your husband, be immune to harm from this water of bitterness that induces the spell. [20]But if you have gone astray while married to your husband and have defiled yourself, if a man other than your husband has had carnal relations with you"—[21]here the priest shall administer the curse of adjuration to the woman, as the priest goes on to say to the woman—"may the LORD make you a curse and an imprecation among your people, as the LORD causes your thigh to sag and your belly to distend; [22]may this water that induces the spell enter your body, causing the belly to distend and the thigh to sag." And the woman shall say, "Amen, amen!"

[23]The priest shall put these curses down in writing and rub it off into the water of bitterness. [24]He is to make the woman drink the water of bitterness that induces the spell, so that the spell-inducing water may enter into her to bring on bitterness. [25]Then the priest shall take from the woman's hand the meal offering of jealousy, elevate the meal offering before the LORD, and present it on the altar. [26]The priest shall scoop out of the meal offering a token part of it and turn it into smoke on the altar. Last, he shall make the woman drink the water.

[27]Once he has made her drink the water—if she has defiled herself by breaking faith with her husband, the spell-inducing water shall enter into her to bring on bitterness, so that her belly shall distend and her thigh shall sag; and the woman shall become a curse among her people. [28]But if the woman has not defiled herself and is pure, she shall be unharmed and able to retain seed.

[29]This is the ritual in cases of jealousy, when a woman goes astray while married to her husband and defiles herself, [30]or when a fit of jealousy comes over a man and he is wrought up over his wife: the woman shall be made to stand before the LORD and the priest shall carry out all this ritual with her. [31]The man shall be clear of guilt; but that woman shall suffer for her guilt.

6 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to the Israelites and say to them: If anyone, man or woman, explicitly[a] utters a nazirite's vow, to set himself apart for the LORD, [3]he shall abstain from wine and any other intoxicant; he shall not drink vinegar of wine or of any other intoxicant, neither shall he drink anything in which grapes have been steeped, nor eat grapes fresh or dried. [4]Throughout his term as nazirite, he may not eat anything that is obtained from the grapevine, even seeds or skin.[b]

[5]Throughout the term of his vow as nazirite, no razor shall touch his head; it shall remain consecrated until the completion of his term as nazirite of the LORD, the hair of his head being left to grow untrimmed. [6]Throughout the term that he has set apart for the LORD, he shall not go in where there is a dead person. b Meaning of Heb. ḥarṣannim and zag uncertain.

[c]hair set apart for his God[c] is upon his head: [8]throughout his term as nazirite he is consecrated to the LORD.

[9]If a person dies suddenly near him,[d] defiling his consecrated hair, he shall shave his head on the day he becomes clean; he shall shave it on the seventh day. [10]On the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two pigeons to the priest, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [11]The priest shall offer one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering, and make expiation on his behalf for the guilt that he incurred through the corpse. That same day he shall reconsecrate his head [12]and rededicate to the LORD his term as nazirite; and he shall bring a lamb in its first year as a penalty offering. The previous period shall be void, since his consecrated hair was defiled.

[13]This is the ritual for the nazirite: On the day that his term as nazirite is completed, he[e] shall be brought to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. [14]As his offering to the LORD he shall present: one male lamb in its first year, without blemish, for a burnt offering; one ewe lamb in its first year, without blemish, for a sin offering; one ram without blemish for an offering of well-being; [15]a basket of unleavened cakes of choice flour with oil mixed in, and unleavened wafers spread with oil; and the proper meal offerings and libations.

[16]The priest shall present them before the LORD and offer the sin offering and the burnt offering. [17]He shall offer the ram as a sacrifice of well-being to the LORD, together with the basket of unleavened cakes; the priest shall also offer the meal offerings and the libations. [18]The nazirite shall then shave his consecrated hair, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and take the locks of his consecrated hair and put them

[19]The priest shall take the shoulder of the ram when it has been boiled, one unleavened cake from the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and place them on the hands of the nazirite after he has shaved his consecrated hair. [20]The priest shall elevate them as an elevation offering before the LORD; and this shall be a sacred donation for the priest, in addition to the breast of the elevation offering and the thigh of gift offering. After that the nazirite may drink wine.

[21]Such is the obligation of a nazirite; except that he who vows an offering to the LORD of what he can afford, beyond his nazirite requirements, must do exactly according to the vow that he has made beyond his obligation as a nazirite.

On the day that Moses finished setting up the Tabernacle, he anointed and consecrated it and all its furnishings, as well as the altar and its utensils. When he had anointed and consecrated them, [2]the chieftains of Israel, the heads of ancestral houses, namely, the chieftains of the tribes, those who were in charge of enrollment, drew near[a] [3]and brought their offering before the LORD: six draught carts and twelve oxen, a cart for every two chieftains and an ox for each one.

When they had brought them before the Tabernacle, [4]the LORD said to Moses: [5]Accept these from them for use in the service of the Tent of Meeting, and give them to the Levites according to their respective services.

[6]Moses took the carts and the oxen and gave them to the Levites. [7]Two carts and four oxen he gave to the Gershonites, as required for their service, [8]and four carts and eight oxen he gave to the Merarites, as required for their service—under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest. [9]But to the Kohathites he did not give any; since theirs was the service of the [most] sacred objects, their porterage was by shoulder.

[10]The chieftains also brought the dedication offering for the altar upon its being anointed. As the chieftains were presenting their offerings before the altar, [11]the LORD said to Moses: Let them present their offerings for the dedication of the altar, one chieftain each day.

[12]The one who presented his offering on the first day was Nahshon son of Amminadab of the tribe of Judah. [13]His offering: one silver bowl weighing 130 shekels and one silver basin of 70 shekels by the sanctuary weight, both filled with choice flour with oil mixed in, for a meal offering; [14]one gold ladle of 10 shekels, filled with incense; [15]one bull of the herd, one ram, and one lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; [16]one goat for a sin offering; [17]and for his sacrifice of well-being: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five yearling lambs. That was the offering of Nahshon son of Amminadab.

[18]On the second day, Nethanel son of Zuar, chieftain of Issachar, made his offering. [19]He presented as his offering: one silver bowl weigh-

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Speak to Aaron and say to him, "When you mount[a] the lamps, let the seven lamps give light at the front of the lampstand." [3]Aaron did so; he mounted the lamps at the front of the lampstand, as the LORD had commanded Moses.—[4]Now this is how the lampstand was made: it was hammered work of gold, hammered from base to petal. According to the pattern that the LORD had shown Moses, so was the lampstand made.

the Israelites, that they may perform the service of the LORD. [12]The Levites shall now lay their hands upon the heads of the bulls; one shall be offered to the LORD as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering, to make expiation for the Levites.

[13]You shall place the Levites in attendance upon Aaron and his sons, and designate them as an elevation offering to the LORD. [14]Thus you shall set the Levites apart from the Israelites, and the Levites shall be Mine. [15]Thereafter the Levites shall be qualified for the service of the Tent of Meeting, once you have cleansed them and designated them as an elevation offering. [16]For they are formally assigned to Me from among the Israelites: I have taken them for Myself in place of all the first issue of the womb, of all the first-born of the Israelites. [17]For every first-born among the Israelites, man as well as beast, is Mine; I consecrated them to Myself at the time that I smote every first-born in the land of Egypt. [18]Now I take the Levites instead of every first-born of the Israelites; [19]and from among the Israelites I formally assign the Levites to Aaron and his sons, to perform the service for the Israelites in the Tent of Meeting and to make expiation for the Israelites, so that no plague may afflict the Israelites [c]for coming[c] too near the sanctuary.

[20]Moses, Aaron, and the whole Israelite community did with the Levites accordingly; just as the LORD had commanded Moses in regard to the Levites, so the Israelites did with them. [21]The Levites purified themselves and washed their clothes; and Aaron designated them as an elevation offering before the LORD, and Aaron made expiation for them to cleanse them. manded Moses in regard to the Levites, so they did to them.

[23]The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: [24]This is the rule for the Levites. From twenty-five years of age up they shall participate in the work force in the service of the Tent of Meeting; [25]but at the age of fifty they shall retire from the work force and shall serve no more. [26]They may assist their brother Levites at the Tent of Meeting by standing guard, but they shall perform no labor. Thus you shall deal with the Levites in regard to their duties.

The Lord spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, on the first new moon of the second year following the exodus from the land of Egypt, saying: [2]Let the Israelite people offer the passover sacrifice at its set time: [3]you shall offer it on the fourteenth day of this month, at twilight, at its set time; you shall offer it in accordance with all its rules and rites.

[4]Moses instructed the Israelites to offer the passover sacrifice; [5]and they offered the passover sacrifice in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight, in the wilderness of Sinai. Just as the Lord had commanded Moses, so the Israelites did.

[6]But there were some men who were unclean by reason of a corpse and could not offer the passover sacrifice on that day. Appearing that same day before Moses and Aaron, [7]those men said to them,[a] "Unclean though we are by reason of a corpse, why must we be debarred from presenting the Lord's offering at its set time with the rest of the Israelites?" [8]Moses said to them, "Stand by, and let me hear what instructions the Lord gives about you."

[9]And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying:

[10]Speak to the Israelite people, saying: When any of you or of your posterity who are defiled by a corpse or are on a long journey would offer a passover sacrifice to the LORD, [11]they shall offer it in the second month, on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight. They shall eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs, [12]and they shall not leave any of it over until morning. They shall not break a bone of it. They shall offer it in strict accord with the law of the passover sacrifice. [13]But if a man who is clean and not on a journey refrains from offering the passover sacrifice, that person shall be cut off from his kin, for he did not present the LORD's offering at its set time; that man shall bear his guilt.

[14]And when a stranger who resides with you would offer a passover sacrifice to the LORD, he must offer it in accordance with the rules and rites of the passover sacrifice. There shall be one law for you, whether stranger or citizen of the country.

[15]On the day that the Tabernacle was set up, the cloud covered the Tabernacle, the Tent of the Pact; and in the evening it rested over the Tabernacle in the likeness of fire until morning. [16]It was always so: the cloud covered it, appearing as fire by night. [17]And whenever the cloud lifted from the Tent, the Israelites would set out accordingly; and at the spot where the cloud settled, there the Israelites would make camp. [18]At a command of the LORD the Israelites broke camp, and at a command of the LORD they made camp: they remained encamped as long as the cloud stayed over the Tabernacle. [19]When the cloud lingered over the Tabernacle many days, the Israelites observed the LORD's mandate and did not journey on. LORD. [21]And at such times as the cloud stayed from evening until morning, they broke camp as soon as the cloud lifted in the morning. Day or night, whenever the cloud lifted, they would break camp. [22]Whether it was two days or a month or a year—however long the cloud lingered over the Tabernacle—the Israelites remained encamped and did not set out; only when it lifted did they break camp. [23]On a sign from the LORD they made camp and on a sign from the LORD they broke camp; they observed the LORD's mandate at the LORD's bidding through Moses.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Have two silver trumpets made; make them of hammered work. They shall serve you to summon the community and to set the divisions in motion. [3]When both are blown in long blasts,[a] the whole community shall assemble before you at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting; [4]and if only one is blown, the chieftains, heads of Israel's contingents, shall assemble before you. [5]But when you sound short blasts,[a] the divisions encamped on the east shall move forward; [6]and when you sound short blasts a second time, those encamped on the south shall move forward. Thus short blasts shall be blown for setting them in motion, [7]while to convoke the congregation you shall blow long blasts, not short ones. [8]The trumpets shall be blown by Aaron's sons, the priests; they shall be for you an institution for all time throughout the ages.

[9a]-When you are at war-[a] in your land against an aggressor who attacks you, you shall sound short blasts on the trumpets, that you may be remembered before the LORD your God and be delivered from your enemies. [10]And on your joyous occasions—your fixed festivals and new

[11]In the second year, on the twentieth day of the second month, the cloud lifted from the Tabernacle of the Pact [12]and the Israelites set out on their journeys from the wilderness of Sinai. The cloud came to rest in the wilderness of Paran.

[13]When the march was to begin, at the LORD's command through Moses, [14]the first standard to set out, troop by troop, was the division of Judah. In command of its troops was Nahshon son of Amminadab; [15]in command of the tribal troop of Issachar, Nethanel son of Zuar; [16]and in command of the tribal troop of Zebulun, Eliab son of Helon.

[17]Then the Tabernacle would be taken apart; and the Gershonites and the Merarites, who carried the Tabernacle, would set out.

[18]The next standard to set out, troop by troop, was the division of Reuben. In command of its troop was Elizur son of Shedeur; [19]in command of the tribal troop of Simeon, Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai; [20]and in command of the tribal troop of Gad, Eliasaph son of Deuel.

[21]Then the Kohathites, who carried the sacred objects, would set out; and by the time they arrived, the Tabernacle would be set up again.

[22]The next standard to set out, troop by troop, was the division of Ephraim. In command of its troop was Elishama son of Ammihud; [23]in command of the tribal troop of Manasseh, Gamaliel son of Pedahzur; [24]and in command of the tribal troop of Benjamin, Abidan son of Gideoni.

[25]Then, as the rear guard of all the divisions, the standard of the division of Dan would set out, troop by troop. In command of its troop was Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai; [26]in command of the tribal troop of Asher, Pagiel son of Ochran; [27]and in command of the tribal troop of Naphtali, Ahira son of Enan.

[28]Such was the order of march of the Israelites, as they marched troop by troop.

[29]Moses said to Hobab son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, "We are setting out for the place of which the LORD has said, 'I will give it to you.' Come with us and we will be generous with you; for the LORD has promised to be generous to Israel."

[30]"I will not go," he replied to him, "but will return to my native land." [31]He said, "Please do not leave us, inasmuch as you know where we should camp in the wilderness and can be our guide.[b] [32]So if you come with us, we will extend to you the same bounty that the LORD grants us."

[33]They marched from the mountain of the LORD a distance of three days. The Ark of the Covenant of the LORD traveled in front of them on that three days' journey to seek out a resting place for them; [34]and the LORD's cloud kept above them by day, as they moved on from camp.

[35]When the Ark was to set out, Moses would say:

Advance, O LORD!
May Your enemies be scattered,
And may Your foes flee before You!

[36]And when it halted, he would say:

[c]Return, O LORD,
You who are Israel's myriads of thousands![c]

11 The people took to complaining bitterly before the LORD. The LORD heard and was incensed: a fire of the LORD broke out against them, ravaging the outskirts of the camp. [2]The people cried out to Moses. Moses prayed to the LORD, and the fire died down. [3]That place was named Taberah,[a] because a fire of the LORD had broken out against them.

[4]The riffraff in their midst felt a gluttonous craving; and then the Israelites wept and said, "If only we had meat to eat! [5]We remember the fish that we used to eat free in Egypt, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic. [6]Now our gullets are shriveled. There is nothing at all! Nothing but this manna to look to!"

[7]Now the manna was like coriander seed, and in color it was like bdellium. [8]The people would go about and gather it, grind it between millstones or pound it in a mortar, boil it in a pot, and make it into cakes. It tasted like rich cream.[b] [9]When the dew fell on the camp at night, the manna would fall upon it.

[10]Moses heard the people weeping, every clan apart, each person at the entrance of his tent. The LORD was very angry, and Moses was distressed. [11]And Moses said to the LORD, "Why have You dealt ill with Your servant, and why have I not enjoyed Your favor, that You have laid the burden of all this people upon me? [12]Did I conceive all this people, did I bear them, that You should say to me, 'Carry them in your bosom as a nurse carries an infant,' to the land that You have promised on oath to their fathers? [13]Where am I to get meat to give to all this people, when they whine before me and say, 'Give us meat to eat!' [14]I cannot carry all this people by myself, for it is too much for me. [15]If You would deal thus with me, kill me rather, I beg You, and let me see no more of my wretchedness!"

[16]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Gather for Me seventy of Israel's elders of whom you have experience as elders and officers of the people, and bring them to the Tent of Meeting and let them take their place there with you. [17]I will come down and speak with you there, and I will draw upon the spirit that is on you and put it upon them; they shall share the burden of the people with you, and you shall not bear it alone. [18]And say to the people: [c]Purify yourselves[c] for tomorrow and you shall eat meat, for you have kept whining before the LORD and saying, 'If only we had meat to eat! Indeed, we were better off in Egypt!' The LORD will give you meat and you shall eat. [19]You shall eat not one day, not two, not even five days or ten or twenty, [20]but a whole month, until it comes out of your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you. For you have rejected the LORD who is among you, by whining before Him and saying, 'Oh, why did we ever leave Egypt!'"

[21]But Moses said, "The people [d]who are with me[d] number six hundred thousand men; yet You say, 'I will give them enough meat to eat for a whole month.' [22]Could enough flocks and herds be slaughtered to suffice them? Or could all the fish of the sea be gathered for them to suffice them?" [23]And the LORD answered Moses, [e]"Is there a limit to the LORD's power?[e] You shall soon see whether what I have said happens to you or not!"

[24]Moses went out and reported the words of the LORD to the people. He gathered seventy of the people's elders and stationed them around the Tent. [25]Then the LORD came down in a cloud and spoke to him; He drew upon the spirit that was on him and put it upon the seventy elders. And when the spirit rested upon them, they f-spoke in ecstasy,-f but did not continue.

[26]Two men, one named Eldad and the other Medad, had remained in camp; yet the spirit rested upon them—they were among those recorded, but they had not gone out to the Tent—and they f-spoke in ecstasy-f in the camp. [27]A youth ran out and told Moses, saying, "Eldad and Medad are acting the prophet in the camp!" [28]And Joshua son of Nun, Moses' attendant from his youth, spoke up and said, "My lord Moses, restrain them!" [29]But Moses said to him, "Are you wrought up on my account? Would that all the LORD's people were prophets, that the LORD put His spirit upon them!" [30]Moses then reentered the camp together with the elders of Israel.

[31]A wind from the LORD started up, swept quail from the sea and strewed them over the camp, about a day's journey on this side and about a day's journey on that side, all around the camp, and some two cubits deep on the ground. [32]The people set to gathering quail all that day and night and all the next day—even he who gathered least had ten *ḥomer*s—and they spread them out all around the camp. [33]The meat was still between their teeth, not yet chewed,[g] when the anger of the LORD blazed forth against the people and the LORD struck the people with a very severe plague. [34]That place was named Kibroth-hattaavah,[h] because the people who had the craving were buried there.

[35]Then the people set out from Kibroth-hattaavah for Hazeroth.

When they were in Hazeroth, [1]Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Cushite woman he had married: "He married a Cushite woman!"

[2]They said, "Has the LORD spoken only through Moses? Has He not spoken through us as well?" The LORD heard it. [3]Now Moses was a very humble man, more so than any other man on earth. [4]Suddenly the LORD called to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam, "Come out, you three, to the Tent of Meeting." So the three of them went out. [5]The LORD came down in a pillar of cloud, stopped at the entrance of the Tent, and called out, "Aaron and Miriam!" The two of them came forward; [6]and He said, "Hear these My words: [a]-When a prophet of the LORD arises among you, I-[a] make Myself known to him in a vision, I speak with him in a dream. [7]Not so with My servant Moses; he is trusted throughout My household. [8]With him I speak mouth to mouth, plainly and not in riddles, and he beholds the likeness of the LORD. How then did you not shrink from speaking against My servant Moses!" [9]Still incensed with them, the LORD departed.

[10]As the cloud withdrew from the Tent, there was Miriam stricken with snow-white scales![b] When Aaron turned toward Miriam, he saw that she was stricken with scales. [11]And Aaron said to Moses, "O my lord, account not to us the sin which we committed in our folly. [12]Let her not be as one dead, who emerges from his mother's womb with half his flesh eaten away." [13]So Moses cried out to the LORD, saying, "O God, pray heal her!"

[14]But the LORD said to Moses, "If her father spat in her face, would she not bear her shame for seven days? Let her be shut out of camp for

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Send men to scout the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the Israelite people; send one man from each of their ancestral tribes, each one a chieftain among them." [3]So Moses, by the LORD's command, sent them out from the wilderness of Paran, all the men being leaders of the Israelites. [4]And these were their names:

From the tribe of Reuben, Shammua son of Zaccur.

[5]From the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat son of Hori.

[6]From the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh.

[7]From the tribe of Issachar, Igal son of Joseph.

[8]From the tribe of Ephraim, Hosea[a] son of Nun.

[9]From the tribe of Benjamin, Palti son of Rafu.

[10]From the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel son of Sodi.

[11]From the tribe of Joseph, namely, the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi son of Susi.

[12]From the tribe of Dan, Ammiel son of Gemalli.

[13]From the tribe of Asher, Sethur son of Michael.

[14]From the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi son of Vophsi.

[15]From the tribe of Gad, Geuel son of Machi.

[16]Those were the names of the men whom Moses sent to scout the land; but Moses changed the name of Hosea[a] son of Nun to Joshua.

[17]When Moses sent them to scout the land of Canaan, he said to them, "Go up there into the Negeb and on into the hill country, [18]and see what kind of country it is. Are the people who dwell in it strong or weak, few or many? [19]Is the country in which they dwell good or bad? Are the towns they live in open or fortified? [20]Is the soil rich or poor? Is it wooded or not? And take pains to bring back some of the fruit of the land."—Now it happened to be the season of the first ripe grapes.

[21]They went up and scouted the land, from the wilderness of Zin to Rehob, at Lebo-hamath.[b] [22]They went up into the Negeb and came to Hebron, where lived Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the Anakites.—Now Hebron was founded seven years before Zoan of Egypt.—[23]They reached the wadi Eshcol, and there they cut down a branch with a single cluster of grapes—it had to be borne on a carrying frame by two of them—and some pomegranates and figs. [24]That place was named the wadi Eshcol[c] because of the cluster that the Israelites cut down there.

[25]At the end of forty days they returned from scouting the land. [26]They went straight to Moses and Aaron and the whole Israelite community at Kadesh in the wilderness of Paran, and they made their report to them and to the whole community, as they showed them the fruit of the land. [27]This is what they told him: "We came to the land you sent us to; it does indeed flow with milk and honey, and this is its fruit. [28]However, the people who inhabit the country are powerful, and the cities are fortified and very large; moreover, we saw the Anakites there. [29]Amalekites dwell in the Negeb region; Hittites, Jebusites, and Amorites inhabit the hill country; and Canaanites dwell by the Sea and along the Jordan."

[30]Caleb hushed the people before Moses and said, "Let us by all means go up, and we shall gain possession of it, for we shall surely overcome it."

[31]But the men who had gone up with him said, "We cannot attack that people, for it is stronger than we." [32]Thus they spread calumnies among the Israelites about the land they had scouted, saying, "The country that we traversed and scouted is one that devours its settlers. All the people that we saw in it are men of great size; [33]we saw the Nephilim[d] there—the Anakites are part of the Nephilim—and we looked like grasshoppers to ourselves, and so we must have looked to them."

The whole community broke into loud cries, and the people wept that night. [2]All the Israelites railed against Moses and Aaron. "If only we had died in the land of Egypt," the whole community shouted at them, "or if only we might die in this wilderness! [3]Why is the LORD taking us to that land to fall by the sword? Our wives and children will be carried off! It would be better for us to go back to Egypt!" [4]And they said to one another, "Let us [a]head back for[a] Egypt."

[5]Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembled congregation of the Israelites. [6]And Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, of those who had scouted the land, rent their clothes [7]and exhorted the whole Israelite community: "The land that we traversed and scouted is an exceedingly good land. [8]If the LORD is pleased with us, He will bring us into that land, a land that flows with milk and honey, and give it to us; [9]only you must not rebel against the LORD. Have no fear then of the people of the country, for they are our prey:[b] their protection has departed from them, but the LORD is with us. Have no fear of them!" 10As the whole community threatened to pelt them with stones, the Presence of the LORD appeared in the Tent of Meeting to all the Israelites.

11And the LORD said to Moses, "How long will this people spurn Me, and how long will they have no faith in Me despite all the signs that I have performed in their midst? 12I will strike them with pestilence and disown them, and I will make of you a nation far more numerous than they!" 13But Moses said to the LORD, "When the Egyptians, from whose midst You brought up this people in Your might, hear the news, 14they will tell it to the inhabitants of that land. Now they have heard that You, O LORD, are in the midst of this people; that You, O LORD, appear in plain sight when Your cloud rests over them and when You go before them in a pillar of cloud by day and in a pillar of fire by night. 15If then You slay this people to a man, the nations who have heard Your fame will say, 16'It must be because the LORD was powerless to bring that people into the land He had promised them on oath that He slaughtered them in the wilderness.' 17Therefore, I pray, let my Lord's forbearance be great, as You have declared, saying,[c] 18'The LORD! slow to anger and abounding in kindness; forgiving iniquity and transgression; yet not remitting all punishment, but visiting the iniquity of fathers upon children, upon the third and fourth generations.' 19Pardon, I pray, the iniquity of this people according to Your great kindness, as You have forgiven this people ever since Egypt."

20And the LORD said, "I pardon, as you have asked. 21Nevertheless, as I live and as the LORD's Presence fills the whole world, 22none of the men who have seen My Presence and the signs

Me: in this very wilderness they shall die to the last man.'"

[36]As for the men whom Moses sent to scout the land, those who came back and caused the whole community to mutter against him by spreading calumnies about the land—[37]those who spread such calumnies about the land died of plague, by the will of the LORD. [38]Of those men who had gone to scout the land, only Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh survived.

[39]When Moses repeated these words to all the Israelites, the people were overcome by grief. [40]Early next morning they set out toward the crest of the hill country, saying, "We are prepared to go up to the place that the LORD has spoken of, for we were wrong." [41]But Moses said, "Why do you transgress the LORD's command? This will not succeed. [42]Do not go up, lest you be routed by your enemies, for the LORD is not in your midst. [43]For the Amalekites and the Canaanites will be there to face you, and you will fall by the sword, inasmuch as you have turned from following the LORD and the LORD will not be with you."

[44]Yet defiantly[g] they marched toward the crest of the hill country, though neither the LORD's Ark of the Covenant nor Moses stirred from the camp. [45]And the Amalekites and the Canaanites who dwelt in that hill country came down and dealt them a shattering blow at Hormah.

[17]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [18]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them:

When you enter the land to which I am taking you [19]and you eat of the bread of the land, you shall set some aside as a gift to the LORD: [20]as the first yield of your baking,[c] you shall set aside a loaf as a gift; you shall set it aside as a gift like the gift from the threshing floor. [21]You shall make a gift to the LORD from the first yield of your baking, throughout the ages.

[22]If you unwittingly fail to observe any one of the commandments that the LORD has declared to Moses—[23]anything that the LORD has enjoined upon you through Moses—from the day that the LORD gave the commandment and on through the ages:

[24]If this was done unwittingly, through the inadvertence of the community, the whole community shall present one bull of the herd as a burnt offering of pleasing odor to the LORD, with its proper meal offering and libation, and one he-goat as a sin offering. [25]The priest shall make expiation for the whole Israelite community and they shall be forgiven; for it was an error, and for their error they have brought their offering, an offering by fire to the LORD and their sin offering before the LORD. [26]The whole Israelite community and the stranger residing among them shall be forgiven, for it happened to the entire people through error.

[27]In case it is an individual who has sinned unwittingly, he shall offer a she-goat in its first year as a sin offering. [28]The priest shall make expiation before the LORD on behalf of the person who erred, for he sinned unwittingly, making such expiation for him that he may be forgiven. [29]For the citizen among the Israelites and for the stranger who resides among them—you shall have one ritual for anyone who acts in error.

[30]But the person, be he citizen or stranger, who acts defiantly[d] reviles the LORD; that person shall be cut off from among his people. [31]Because he has spurned the word of the LORD and violated His commandment, that person shall be cut off—he bears his guilt.

[32]Once, when the Israelites were in the wilderness, they came upon a man gathering wood on the sabbath day. [33]Those who found him as he was gathering wood brought him before Moses, Aaron, and the whole community. [34]He was placed in custody, for it had not been specified what should be done to him. [35]Then the LORD said to Moses, "The man shall be put to death: the whole community shall pelt him with stones outside the camp." [36]So the whole community took him outside the camp and stoned him to death—as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[37]The LORD said to Moses as follows: [38]Speak to the Israelite people and instruct them to make for themselves fringes on the corners of their garments throughout the ages; let them attach a cord of blue to the fringe at each corner. [39]That shall be your fringe; look at it and recall all the commandments of the LORD and observe them, so that you do not follow your heart and eyes in your lustful urge. [40]Thus you shall be reminded to observe all My commandments and to be holy to your God. [41]I the LORD am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God: I, the LORD your God.

Dathan and Abiram sons of Eliab, [b-]and On son of Peleth—descendants of Reuben-[b]—[2]to rise up against Moses, together with two hundred and fifty Israelites, chieftains of the community, chosen in the assembly, men of repute. [3]They combined against Moses and Aaron and said to them, "You have gone too far! For all the community are holy, all of them, and the LORD is in their midst. Why then do you raise yourselves above the LORD's congregation?"

[4]When Moses heard this, he fell on his face.[c] [5]Then he spoke to Korah and all his company, saying, "Come morning, the LORD will make known who is His and who is holy, and will grant him access to Himself; He will grant access to the one He has chosen. [6]Do this: You, Korah and all your[d] band, take fire pans, [7]and tomorrow put fire in them and lay incense on them before the LORD. Then the man whom the LORD chooses, he shall be the holy one. You have gone too far, sons of Levi!"

[8]Moses said further to Korah, "Hear me, sons of Levi. [9]Is it not enough for you that the God of Israel has set you apart from the community of Israel and given you access to Him, to perform the duties of the LORD's Tabernacle and to minister to the community and serve them? [10]Now that He has advanced you and all your fellow Levites with you, do you seek the priesthood too? [11]Truly, it is against the LORD that you and all your company have banded together. For who is Aaron that you should rail against him?"

[12]Moses sent for Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab; but they said, "We will not come! [13]Is it not enough that you brought us from a land flowing with milk and honey to have us die in the wilderness, that you would also lord it over us? [14][e-]Even if you had-[e] brought us to a land flowing with milk and honey, and given us possession of fields and vineyards, should you gouge out those men's eyes?[f] We will not come!" [15]Moses was much aggrieved and he said to the LORD, "Pay no regard to their oblation. I have not taken the ass of any one of them, nor have I wronged any one of them."

[16]And Moses said to Korah, "Tomorrow, you and all your company appear before the LORD, you and they and Aaron. [17]Each of you take his fire pan and lay incense on it, and each of you bring his fire pan before the LORD, two hundred and fifty fire pans; you and Aaron also [bring] your fire pans." [18]Each of them took his fire pan, put fire in it, laid incense on it, and took his place at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, as did Moses and Aaron. [19]Korah gathered the whole community against them at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting.

Then the Presence of the LORD appeared to the whole community, [20]and the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, [21]"Stand back from this community that I may annihilate them in an instant!" [22]But they fell on their faces and said, "O God, Source[g] of the breath of all flesh! When one man sins, will You be wrathful with the whole community?"

[23]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, [24]"Speak to the community and say: Withdraw from about the abodes of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram."

[25]Moses rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, the elders of Israel following him. [26]He addressed the community, saying, "Move away from the tents of these wicked men and touch nothing that belongs to them, lest you be wiped out for all their sins." [27]So they withdrew from about the abodes of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

Now Dathan and Abiram had come out and they stood at the entrance of their tents, with their wives, their children, and their little ones. [28]And Moses said, "By this you shall know that it was the LORD who sent me to do all these things; that they are not of my own devising: [29]if these men die as all men do, if their lot be the common fate of all mankind, it was not the LORD who sent me. [30]But if the LORD brings about something unheard-of, so that the ground opens its mouth and swallows them up with all that belongs to them, and they go down alive into Sheol, you shall know that these men have spurned the LORD." [31]Scarcely had he finished speaking all these words when the ground under them burst asunder, [32]and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up with their households, all Korah's people and all their possessions. [33]They went down alive into Sheol, with all that belonged to them; the earth closed over them and they vanished from the midst of the congregation. [34]All Israel around them fled at their shrieks, for they said, "The earth might swallow us!"

[35]And a fire went forth from the LORD and consumed the two hundred and fifty men offering the incense.

per fire pans which had been used for offering by those who died in the fire; and they were hammered into plating for the altar, [5]as the LORD had ordered him through Moses. It was to be a reminder to the Israelites, so that no outsider—one not of Aaron's offspring—should presume to offer incense before the LORD and suffer the fate of Korah and his band.

[6]Next day the whole Israelite community railed against Moses and Aaron, saying, "You two have brought death upon the LORD's people!" [7]But as the community gathered against them, Moses and Aaron turned toward the Tent of Meeting; the cloud had covered it and the Presence of the LORD appeared.

[8]When Moses and Aaron reached the Tent of Meeting, [9]the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, [10]"Remove yourselves from this community, that I may annihilate them in an instant." They fell on their faces. [11]Then Moses said to Aaron, "Take the fire pan, and put on it fire from the altar. Add incense and take it quickly to the community and make expiation for them. For wrath has gone forth from the LORD: the plague has begun!" [12]Aaron took it, as Moses had ordered, and ran to the midst of the congregation, where the plague had begun among the people. He put on the incense and made expiation for the people; [13]he stood between the dead and the living until the plague was checked. [14]Those who died of the plague came to fourteen thousand and seven hundred, aside from those who died on account of Korah. [15]Aaron then returned to Moses at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, since the plague was checked.

name on his staff, [18]there being one staff for each head of an ancestral house; also inscribe Aaron's name on the staff of Levi. [19]Deposit them in the Tent of Meeting before the Pact, where I meet with you. [20]The staff of the man whom I choose shall sprout, and I will rid[c] Myself of the incessant mutterings of the Israelites against you.

[21]Moses spoke thus to the Israelites. Their chieftains gave him a staff for each chieftain of an ancestral house, twelve staffs in all; among these staffs was that of Aaron. [22]Moses deposited the staffs before the LORD, in the Tent of the Pact. [23]The next day Moses entered the Tent of the Pact, and there the staff of Aaron of the house of Levi had sprouted: it had brought forth sprouts, produced blossoms, and borne almonds. [24]Moses then brought out all the staffs from before the LORD to all the Israelites; each identified and recovered his staff.

[25]The LORD said to Moses, "Put Aaron's staff back before the Pact, to be kept as a lesson to rebels, so that their mutterings against Me may cease, lest they die." [26]This Moses did; just as the LORD had commanded him, so he did.

[27]But the Israelites said to Moses, "Lo, we perish! We are lost, all of us lost! [28]Everyone who so much as ventures near the LORD's Tabernacle must die. Alas, we are doomed to perish!"

sons under your charge are before the Tent of the Pact.[a] 3They shall discharge their duties to you and to the Tent as a whole, but they must not have any contact with the furnishings of the Shrine or with the altar, lest both they and you die. 4They shall be attached to you and discharge the duties of the Tent of Meeting, all the service of the Tent; but no outsider shall intrude upon you 5as you discharge the duties connected with the Shrine and the altar, that wrath may not again strike the Israelites.

6I hereby take your fellow Levites from among the Israelites; they are assigned to you in dedication to the LORD, to do the work of the Tent of Meeting; 7while you and your sons shall be careful to perform your priestly duties in everything pertaining to the altar and to what is behind the curtain. I make your priesthood a service of dedication; any outsider who encroaches shall be put to death.

8The LORD spoke further to Aaron: I hereby give you charge of My gifts, all the sacred donations of the Israelites; I grant them to you and to your sons as a perquisite,[b] a due for all time. 9This shall be yours from the most holy sacrifices, [c]the offerings by fire:[c] every such offering that they render to Me as most holy sacrifices, namely, every meal offering, sin offering, and guilt offering of theirs, shall belong to you and your sons. 10You shall partake of them as most sacred donations: only males may eat them; you shall treat them as consecrated.[d]

11This, too, shall be yours: the gift offerings[e] of their contributions, all the elevation offerings of the Israelites, I give to you, to your sons, and to the daughters that are with you, as a due for all time; everyone of your household who is clean may eat it.

[12]All the best of the new oil, wine, and grain—the choice parts that they present to the LORD—I give to you. [13]The first fruits of everything in their land, that they bring to the LORD, shall be yours; everyone of your household who is clean may eat them. [14]Everything that has been proscribed in Israel[f] shall be yours. [15]The first issue of the womb of every being, man or beast, that is offered to the LORD, shall be yours; but you shall have the first-born of man redeemed, and you shall also have the firstling of unclean animals redeemed. [16]Take as their redemption price,[g] from the age of one month up, the money equivalent of five shekels by the sanctuary weight, which is twenty gerahs. [17]But the firstlings of cattle, sheep, or goats may not be redeemed; they are consecrated. You shall dash their blood against the altar, and turn their fat into smoke as an offering by fire for a pleasing odor to the LORD. [18]But their meat shall be yours: it shall be yours like the breast of elevation offering and like the right thigh.

[19]All the sacred gifts that the Israelites set aside for the LORD I give to you, to your sons, and to the daughters that are with you, as a due for all time. It shall be an everlasting covenant of salt[h] before the LORD for you and for your offspring as well. [20]And the LORD said to Aaron: You shall, however, have no territorial share among them or own any portion in their midst; I am your portion and your share among the Israelites.

[21]And to the Levites I hereby give all the tithes in Israel as their share in return for the services that they perform, the services of the Tent of Meeting. guilt. It is the law for all time throughout the ages. But they shall have no territorial share among the Israelites; [24]for it is the tithes set aside by the Israelites as a gift to the LORD that I give to the Levites as their share. Therefore I have said concerning them: They shall have no territorial share among the Israelites.

[25]The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [26]Speak to the Levites and say to them: When you receive from the Israelites their tithes, which I have assigned to you as your share, you shall set aside from them one-tenth of the tithe as a gift to the LORD. [27]This shall be accounted to you as your gift. As with the new grain from the threshing floor or the flow from the vat, [28]so shall you on your part set aside a gift for the LORD from all the tithes that you receive from the Israelites; and from them you shall bring the gift for the LORD to Aaron the priest. [29]You shall set aside all gifts due to the LORD from everything that is donated to you, from each thing its best portion, the part thereof that is to be consecrated.

[30]Say to them further: When you have removed the best part from it, you Levites may consider it the same as the yield of threshing floor or vat. [31]You and your households may eat it anywhere, for it is your recompense for your services in the Tent of Meeting. [32]You will incur no guilt through it, once you have removed the best part from it; but you must not profane the sacred donations of the Israelites, lest you die.

The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2]This is the ritual law that the LORD has commanded:

Instruct the Israelite people to bring you a red cow without blemish, in which there is no defect and on which no yoke has been laid. [3]You shall give it to Eleazar the priest. It shall be taken outside the camp and slaughtered in his presence. [4]Eleazar the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and sprinkle it seven times toward the front of the Tent of Meeting. [5]The cow shall be burned in his sight—its hide, flesh, and blood shall be burned, its dung included—[6]and the priest shall take cedar wood, hyssop, and crimson stuff, and throw them into the fire consuming the cow. [7]The priest shall wash his garments and bathe his body in water; after that the priest may reenter the camp, but he shall be unclean until evening. [8]He who performed the burning shall also wash his garments in water, bathe his body in water, and be unclean until evening. [9]A man who is clean shall gather up the ashes of the cow and deposit them outside the camp in a clean place, to be kept for water of lustration[a] for the Israelite community. It is for cleansing. [10]He who gathers up the ashes of the cow shall also wash his clothes and be unclean until evening.

This shall be a permanent law for the Israelites and for the strangers who reside among you.

[13]Whoever touches a corpse, the body of a person who has died, and does not cleanse himself, defiles the LORD's Tabernacle; that person shall be cut off from Israel. Since the water of lustration was not dashed on him, he remains unclean; his uncleanness is still upon him.

[14]This is the ritual: When a person dies in a tent, whoever enters the tent and whoever is in the tent shall be unclean seven days; [15]and every open vessel, with no lid fastened down, shall be unclean. [16]And in the open, anyone who

He[e] shall then wash his clothes and bathe in water, and at nightfall he shall be clean. 20If anyone who has become unclean fails to cleanse himself, that person shall be cut off from the congregation, for he has defiled the LORD's sanctuary. The water of lustration was not dashed on him: he is unclean.

21That shall be for them a law for all time. Further, he who sprinkled the water of lustration shall wash his clothes; and whoever touches the water of lustration shall be unclean until evening. 22Whatever that unclean person touches shall be unclean; and the person who touches him shall be unclean until evening.

The Israelites arrived in a body at the wilderness of Zin on the first new moon,[a] and the people stayed at Kadesh. Miriam died there and was buried there.

2The community was without water, and they joined against Moses and Aaron. 3The people quarreled with Moses, saying, "If only we had perished when our brothers perished at the instance of the LORD! 4Why have you brought the LORD's congregation into this wilderness for us and our beasts to die there? [5]Why did you make us leave Egypt to bring us to this wretched place, a place with no grain or figs or vines or pomegranates? There is not even water to drink!"

[6]Moses and Aaron came away from the congregation to the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and fell on their faces. The Presence of the LORD appeared to them, [7]and the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, [8]"You and your brother Aaron take the rod and assemble the community, and before their very eyes order the rock to yield its water. Thus you shall produce water for them from the rock and provide drink for the congregation and their beasts."

[9]Moses took the rod from before the LORD, as He had commanded him. [10]Moses and Aaron assembled the congregation in front of the rock; and he said to them, "Listen, you rebels, shall we get water for you out of this rock?" [11]And Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with his rod. Out came copious water, and the community and their beasts drank.

[12]But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not trust Me enough to affirm My sanctity in the sight of the Israelite people, therefore you shall not lead this congregation into the land that I have given them." [13]Those are the Waters of Meribah[b]—meaning that the Israelites quarrelled with the LORD—through which He affirmed His sanctity.

[14]From Kadesh, Moses sent messengers to the king of Edom: "Thus says your brother Israel: You know all the hardships that have befallen us; [15]that our ancestors went down to Egypt, that we dwelt in Egypt a long time, and that the Egyptians dealt harshly with us and our ancestors. [16]We cried to the LORD and He heard our plea, and He sent a messenger[c] who freed us from Egypt. Now we are in Kadesh, the town on the border of your territory. [17]Allow us, then, to cross your country. We will not pass through fields or vineyards, and we will not drink water from wells. We will follow the king's highway, turning off neither to the right nor to the left until we have crossed your territory."

[18]But Edom answered him, "You shall not pass through us, else we will go out against you with the sword." [19]"We will keep to the beaten track," the Israelites said to them, "and if we or our cattle drink your water, we will pay for it. We ask only for passage on foot—it is but a small matter." [20]But they replied, "You shall not pass through!" And Edom went out against them in heavy force, strongly armed. [21]So Edom would not let Israel cross their territory, and Israel turned away from them.

[22]Setting out from Kadesh, the Israelites arrived in a body at Mount Hor. [23]At Mount Hor, on the boundary of the land of Edom, the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, [24]"Let Aaron be gathered to his kin: he is not to enter the land that I have assigned to the Israelite people, because you disobeyed my command about the Waters of Meribah. [25]Take Aaron and his son Eleazar and bring them up on Mount Hor. [26]Strip Aaron of his vestments and put them on his son Eleazar. There Aaron shall be gathered [d-]unto the dead."[-d]

[27]Moses did as the LORD had commanded. They ascended Mount Hor in the sight of the whole community. [28]Moses stripped Aaron of his vestments and put them on his son Eleazar, and Aaron died there on the summit of the mountain. When Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain, [29]the whole community knew that Aaron had breathed his last. All the house of Israel bewailed Aaron thirty days.

When the Canaanite, king of Arad, who dwelt in the Negeb, learned that Israel was coming by the way of Atharim,[a] he engaged Israel in battle and took some of them captive. [2]Then Israel made a vow to the LORD and said, "If You deliver this people into our hand, we will proscribe[b] their towns." [3]The LORD heeded Israel's plea and delivered up the Canaanites; and they and their cities were proscribed. So that place was named Hormah.[c]

[4]They set out from Mount Hor by way of the Sea of Reeds[d] to skirt the land of Edom. But the people grew restive on the journey, [5]and the people spoke against God and against Moses, "Why did you make us leave Egypt to die in the wilderness? There is no bread and no water, and we have come to loathe this miserable food." [6]The LORD sent seraph[e] serpents against the people. They bit the people and many of the Israelites died. [7]The people came to Moses and said, "We sinned by speaking against the LORD and against you. Intercede with the LORD to take away the serpents from us!" And Moses interceded for the people. [8]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Make a seraph[e] figure and mount it on a standard. And if anyone who is bitten looks at it, he shall recover." [9]Moses made a copper serpent and mounted it on a standard; and when anyone was bitten by a serpent, he would look at the copper serpent and recover.

[10]The Israelites marched on and encamped at Oboth. [11]They set out from Oboth and encamped at Iye-abarim, in the wilderness bordering on Moab to the east. [12]From there they set out and encamped at the wadi Zered. 13 From there they set out and encamped beyond the Arnon, that is, in the wilderness that extends from the territory of the Amorites. For the Arnon is the boundary of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. 14 Therefore the Book of the Wars of the LORD speaks of [f]"...Waheb in Suphah, and the wadis: the Arnon 15 with its tributary wadis, stretched along the settled country of Ar, hugging the territory of Moab..."

16 And from there to Beer,[g] which is the well where the LORD said to Moses, "Assemble the people that I may give them water." 17 Then Israel sang this song:

Spring up, O well—sing to it—
18 The well which the chieftains dug,
Which the nobles of the people started
With maces, with their own staffs.

And from Midbar[h] to Mattanah, 19 and from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth, 20 and from Bamoth to the valley that is in the country of Moab, at the peak of Pisgah, overlooking the wasteland.[i]

21 Israel now sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, saying, 22 "Let me pass through your country. We will not turn off into fields or vineyards, and we will not drink water from wells. We will follow the king's highway until we have crossed your territory." 23 But Sihon would not let Israel pass through his territory. Sihon gathered all his people and went out against Israel in the wilderness. He came to Jahaz and engaged Israel in battle. 24 But Israel put them to the sword, and took possession of their land, from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as [Az] of the Ammonites, for Az[j] marked the boundary of the Ammonites. 25 Israel took all those towns. And Israel settled in all the towns of the Amorites, in Heshbon and all its dependencies.

[26]Now Heshbon was the city of Sihon king of the Amorites, who had fought against a former king of Moab and taken all his land from him as far as the Arnon. [27]Therefore the bards would recite:

[k]"Come to Heshbon; firmly built
And well founded is Sihon's city.
[28]For fire went forth from Heshbon,
Flame from Sihon's city,
Consuming Ar of Moab,
The lords of Bamoth[l] by the Arnon.
[29]Woe to you, O Moab!
You are undone, O people of Chemosh!
His sons are rendered fugitive
And his daughters captive
By an Amorite king, Sihon."
[30][m]Yet we have cast them down utterly,
Heshbon along with Dibon;
We have wrought desolation at Nophah,
Which is hard by Medeba.

[31]So Israel occupied the land of the Amorites. [32]Then Moses sent to spy out Jazer, and they captured its dependencies and dispossessed the Amorites who were there.

[33]They marched on and went up the road to Bashan, and King Og of Bashan, with all his people, came out to Edrei to engage them in battle. [34]But the LORD said to Moses, "Do not fear him, for I give him and all his people and his land into your hand. You shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites who dwelt in Heshbon." [35]They defeated him and his sons and all his people, until no remnant was left him; and they took possession of his country.

BALAK

[2]Balak son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites.

[3]Moab was alarmed because that people was so numerous. Moab dreaded the Israelites, [4]and Moab said to the elders of Midian, "Now this horde will lick clean all that is about us as an ox licks up the grass of the field."

Balak son of Zippor, who was king of Moab at that time, [5]sent messengers to Balaam son of Beor in Pethor, which is by the Euphrates,[a] in the land of his kinsfolk, to invite him, saying, "There is a people that came out of Egypt; it hides the earth from view, and it is settled next to me. [6]Come then, put a curse upon this people for me, since they are too numerous for me; perhaps I can thus defeat them and drive them out of the land. For I know that he whom you bless is blessed indeed, and he whom you curse is cursed."

[7]The elders of Moab and the elders of Midian, [b]-versed in divination,-[b] set out. They came to Balaam and gave him Balak's message. [8]He said to them, "Spend the night here, and I shall reply to you as the LORD may instruct me." So the Moabite dignitaries stayed with Balaam.

[9]God came to Balaam and said, "What do these people want of you?" [10]Balaam said to God, "Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, sent me this message: [11]Here is a people that came out from Egypt and hides the earth from view. Come now and curse them for me; perhaps I can engage them in battle and drive them off." [12]But God said to Balaam, "Do not go with them. You must not curse that people, for they are blessed."

13Balaam arose in the morning and said to Balak's dignitaries, "Go back to your own country, for the LORD will not let me go with you." 14The Moabite dignitaries left, and they came to Balak and said, "Balaam refused to come with us."

15Then Balak sent other dignitaries, more numerous and distinguished than the first. 16They came to Balaam and said to him, "Thus says Balak son of Zippor: Please do not refuse to come to me. 17I will reward you richly and I will do anything you ask of me. Only come and damn this people for me." 18Balaam replied to Balak's officials, "Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not do anything, big or little, contrary to the command of the LORD my God. 19So you, too, stay here overnight, and let me find out what else the LORD may say to me." 20That night God came to Balaam and said to him, "If these men have come to invite you, you may go with them. But whatever I command you, that you shall do."

21When he arose in the morning, Balaam saddled his ass and departed with the Moabite dignitaries. 22But God was incensed at his going; so an angel of the LORD placed himself in his way as an adversary.

He was riding on his she-ass, with his two servants alongside, 23when the ass caught sight of the angel of the LORD standing in the way, with his drawn sword in his hand. The ass swerved from the road and went into the fields; and Balaam beat the ass to turn her back onto the road. 24The angel of the LORD then stationed himself in a lane between the vineyards, with a fence on either side. 25The ass, seeing the angel of the LORD, pressed herself against the wall and squeezed Balaam's foot against the wall; so he beat her again. 26Once more the angel of the LORD moved forward and stationed himself on [28]Then the LORD opened the ass's mouth, and she said to Balaam, "What have I done to you that you have beaten me these three times?" [29]Balaam said to the ass, "You have made a mockery of me! If I had a sword with me, I'd kill you." [30]The ass said to Balaam, "Look, I am the ass that you have been riding all along until this day! Have I been in the habit of doing thus to you?" And he answered, "No."

[31]Then the LORD uncovered Balaam's eyes, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, his drawn sword in his hand; thereupon he bowed [c]right down to the ground.[-c] [32]The angel of the LORD said to him, "Why have you beaten your ass these three times? It is I who came out as an adversary, for the errand is obnoxious[d] to me. [33]And when the ass saw me, she shied away because of me those three times. If she had not shied away from me, you are the one I should have killed, while sparing her." 23 Balaam said to Balak, "Build me seven altars here and have seven bulls and seven rams ready here for me." [2]Balak did as Balaam directed; and Balak and Balaam offered up a bull and a ram on each altar. [3]Then Balaam said to Balak, "Stay here beside your offerings while I am gone. Perhaps the LORD will grant me a manifestation, and whatever He reveals to me I will tell you." And he went off alone.[a]

[4]God manifested Himself to Balaam, who said to Him, "I have set up the seven altars and offered up a bull and a ram on each altar." [5]And the LORD put a word in Balaam's mouth and said, "Return to Balak and speak thus."

[6]So he returned to him and found him standing beside his offerings, and all the Moabite dignitaries with him. [7]He took up his theme, and said:

From Aram has Balak brought me,
Moab's king from the hills of the East:
Come, curse me Jacob,
Come, tell Israel's doom!
[8]How can I damn whom God[b] has not damned,
How doom when the LORD has not doomed?

Gaze on them from the heights,
There is a people that dwells apart,
Not reckoned among the nations,

[11]Then Balak said to Balaam, "What have you done to me? Here I brought you to damn my enemies, and instead you have blessed them!" [12]He replied, "I can only repeat faithfully what the LORD puts in my mouth." [13]Then Balak said to him, "Come with me to another place from which you can see them—you will see only a portion of them; you will not see all of them—and damn them for me from there." [14]With that, he took him to Sedehzophim,[f] on the summit of Pisgah. He built seven altars and offered a bull and a ram on each altar. [15]And [Balaam] said to Balak, "Stay here beside your offerings, while I seek a manifestation yonder."

[16]The LORD manifested Himself to Balaam and put a word in his mouth, saying, "Return to Balak and speak thus." [17]He went to him and found him standing beside his offerings, and the Moabite dignitaries with him. Balak asked him, "What did the LORD say?" [18]And he took up his theme, and said:

Up, Balak, attend,
Give ear unto me, son of Zippor!
[19]God is not man to be capricious,
Or mortal to change His mind.
Would He speak and not act,
Promise and not fulfill?
[20]My message was to bless:
When He blesses, I cannot reverse it.
[21]No harm is in sight for Jacob,
No woe in view for Israel.
The LORD their God is with them,

[25]Thereupon Balak said to Balaam, "Don't curse them and don't bless them!" [26]In reply, Balaam said to Balak, "But I told you: Whatever the LORD says, that I must do." [27]Then Balak said to Balaam, "Come now, I will take you to another place. Perhaps God will deem it right that you damn them for me there." [28]Balak took Balaam to the peak of Peor, which overlooks the wasteland.[k] [29]Balaam said to Balak, "Build me here seven altars, and have seven bulls and seven rams ready for me here." [30]Balak did as Balaam said: he offered up a bull and a ram on each altar.

Now Balaam, seeing that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel, did not, as on previous occasions, go in search of omens, but turned his face toward the wilderness. [2]As Balaam looked up and saw Israel encamped tribe by tribe, the spirit of God came upon him. [3]Taking up his theme, he said:

Like gardens beside a river,
Like aloes planted by the LORD,
Like cedars beside the water;
7Their boughs drip with moisture,
Their roots[c] have abundant water.
Their king shall rise above Agag,
Their kingdom shall be exalted.
8God who freed them from Egypt
Is for them like the horns[d] of the wild ox.
They shall devour enemy nations,
Crush their bones,
And smash their arrows.
9They crouch, they lie down like a lion,
Like the king of beasts;[e] who dare rouse them?
Blessed are they who bless you,
Accursed they who curse you!

10Enraged at Balaam, Balak struck his hands together. "I called you," Balak said to Balaam, "to damn my enemies, and instead you have blessed them these three times! 11Back with you at once to your own place! I was going to reward you richly, but the LORD has denied you the reward." 12Balaam replied to Balak, "But I even told the messengers you sent to me, 13'Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not of my own accord do anything good or bad contrary to the LORD's command. While Israel was staying at Shittim, the people [a]-profaned themselves by whoring-[a] with the Moabite women, 2who invited the people to the sacrifices for their god. The people partook of them and worshiped that god. 3Thus Israel attached itself to Baal-peor, and the LORD was incensed with Israel. 4The LORD said to Moses, "Take all the ringleaders[b] and have them publicly[c] impaled before the LORD, so that the LORD's wrath may turn away from Israel." 5So Moses said to Israel's officials, "Each of you slay those of his men who attached themselves to Baal-peor."

6Just then one of the Israelites came and brought a Midianite woman over to his companions, in the sight of Moses and of the whole Israelite community who were weeping at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting. 7When Phinehas, son of Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, saw this, he left the assembly and, taking a spear in his hand, 8he followed the Israelite into the chamber and stabbed both of them, the Israelite and the woman, through the belly. Then the plague against the Israelites was checked. 9Those who died of the plague numbered twenty-four thousand.

The daughters of Zelophehad, of Manassite family—son of Hepher son of Gilead son of Machir son of Manasseh son of Joseph—came forward. The names of the daughters were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [2]They stood before Moses, Eleazar the priest, the chieftains, and the whole assembly, at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and they said, [3]"Our father died in the wilderness. He was not one of the faction, Korah's faction, which banded together against the LORD, but died for his own sin; and he has left no sons. [4]Let not our father's name be lost to his clan just because he had no son! Give us a holding among our father's kinsmen!"

[5]Moses brought their case before the LORD.

[6]And the LORD said to Moses, [7]"The plea of Zelophehad's daughters is just: you should give them a hereditary holding among their father's kinsmen; transfer their father's share to them.

[12]The LORD said to Moses, “Ascend these heights of Abarim and view the land that I have given to the Israelite people. [13]When you have seen it, you too shall be gathered to your kin, just as your brother Aaron was. [14]For, in the wilderness of Zin, when the community was contentious, you disobeyed My command to uphold My sanctity in their sight by means of the water.” Those are the Waters of Meribath-kadesh,[a] in the wilderness of Zin.

[15]Moses spoke to the LORD, saying, [16]“Let the LORD, Source of the breath of all flesh, appoint someone over the community [17][b]-who shall go out before them and come in before them, and who shall take them out and bring them in,-[b] so that the LORD’s community may not be like sheep that have no shepherd.” [18]And the LORD answered Moses, “Single out Joshua son of Nun, an inspired man, and lay your hand upon him. [19]Have him stand before Eleazar the priest and before the whole community, and commission him in their sight. [20]Invest him with some of your authority, so that the whole Israelite community may obey. [21]But he shall present himself to Eleazar the priest, who shall on his behalf seek the decision of the Urim before the LORD. By such instruction they shall go out and by such instruction they shall come in, he and all the Israelites, the whole community."

[22]Moses did as the LORD commanded him. He took Joshua and had him stand before Eleazar the priest and before the whole community. [23]He laid his hands upon him and commissioned him—as the LORD had spoken through Moses.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: [2]Command the Israelite people and say to them: Be punctilious in presenting to Me at stated times [a]the offerings of food due Me,[-a] as offerings by fire of pleasing odor to Me.

[3]Say to them: These are the offerings by fire that you are to present to the LORD:

As a regular burnt offering every day, two yearling lambs without blemish. [4]You shall offer one lamb in the morning, and the other lamb you shall offer at twilight. [5]And as a meal offering, there shall be a tenth of an ephah of choice flour with a quarter of a hin of beaten oil mixed in—[6]the regular burnt offering instituted at Mount Sinai[b]—an offering by fire of pleasing odor to the LORD.

[7]The libation with it shall be a quarter of a hin for each lamb, to be poured in the sacred precinct as an offering of fermented drink[c] to the LORD. [8]The other lamb you shall offer at twilight, preparing the same meal offering and libation as in the morning—an offering by fire of pleasing odor to the LORD.

[9]On the sabbath day: two yearling lambs without blemish, together with two-tenths of a measure[d] of choice flour with oil mixed in as a meal offering, and with the proper libation—[10]a burnt offering for every sabbath, in addition to the regular burnt offering and its libation.

d I.e., of an ephah.

[11]On your new moons you shall present a burnt offering to the LORD: two bulls of the herd, one ram, and seven yearling lambs, without blemish. [12]As meal offering for each bull: three-tenths of a measure of choice flour with oil mixed in. As meal offering for each ram: two-tenths of a measure of choice flour with oil mixed in. [13]As meal offering for each lamb: a tenth of a measure of fine flour with oil mixed in. Such shall be the burnt offering of pleasing odor, an offering by fire to the LORD. [14]Their libations shall be: half a hin of wine for a bull, a third of a hin for a ram, and a quarter of a hin for a lamb. That shall be the monthly burnt offering for each new moon of the year. [15]And there shall be one goat as a sin offering to the LORD, to be offered in addition to the regular burnt offering and its libation.

[16]In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, there shall be a passover sacrifice to the LORD, [17]and on the fifteenth day of that month a festival. Unleavened bread shall be eaten for seven days. [18]The first day shall be a sacred occasion: you shall not work at your occupations. v. 15. נקוד על ו׳ בתראה

b See note at 28.19.

[23]Fourth day: Ten bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs, without blemish; [24]the meal offerings and libations for the bulls, rams, and lambs, in the quantities prescribed; [25]and one goat for a sin offering—in addition to the regular burnt offering, its meal offering and libation.

[26]Fifth day: Nine bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs, without blemish; [27]the meal offerings and libations for the bulls, rams, and lambs, in the quantities prescribed; [28]and one goat for a sin offering—in addition to the regular burnt offering, its meal offering and libation.

[29]Sixth day: Eight bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs, without blemish; [30]the meal offerings and libations for the bulls, rams, and lambs, in the quantities prescribed; [31]and one goat for a sin offering—in addition to the regular burnt offering, its meal offering and libations.

[32]Seventh day: Seven bulls, two rams, fourteen yearling lambs, without blemish; [33]the meal offerings and libations for the bulls, rams, and lambs, in the quantities prescribed; [34]and one goat for a sin offering—in addition to the regular burnt offering, its meal offering and libation.

[35]On the eighth day you shall hold a solemn gathering;[c] you shall not work at your occupations. [36]You shall present a burnt offering, an offering by fire of pleasing odor to the LORD; one bull, one ram, seven yearling lambs, without blemish; [37]the meal offerings and libations for the bull, the ram, and the lambs, in the quantities prescribed; [38]and one goat for a sin offering—in addition to the regular burnt offering, its meal offering and libation.

[39]All these you shall offer to the LORD at the stated times, in addition to your votive and free-

30 [1]So Moses spoke to the Israelites just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

MATTOT

[2]Moses spoke to the heads of the Israelite tribes, saying: This is what the LORD has commanded:

[3]If a man makes a vow to the LORD or takes an oath imposing an obligation[a] on himself, he shall not break his pledge; he must carry out all that has [b]crossed his lips.[b]

[4]If a woman makes a vow to the LORD or assumes an obligation while still in her father's household by reason of her youth, [5]and her father learns of her vow or her self-imposed obligation and offers no objection, all her vows shall stand and every self-imposed obligation shall stand. [6]But if her father restrains her on the day he finds out, none of her vows or self-imposed obligations shall stand; and the LORD will forgive her, since her father restrained her.

[7]If she should marry while her vow or the commitment[c] to which she bound herself is still in force, [8]and her husband learns of it and offers no objection on the day he finds out, her vows shall stand and her self-imposed obligations shall stand. [9]But if her husband restrains her on the day that he learns of it, he thereby annuls her vow which was in force or the commitment[c] to which she bound herself; and the LORD will forgive her.—[10]The vow of a widow or of a divorced woman, however, whatever she has imposed on herself, shall be binding upon her.—[11]So, too, if, while in her husband's household, she makes a vow or imposes an obligation on herself by oath, [12]and her husband learns of it,

c Lit. "utterance of her lips."

yet offers no objection—thus failing to restrain her—all her vows shall stand and all her self-imposed obligations shall stand. [13]But if her husband does annul them on the day he finds out, then nothing that has crossed her lips shall stand, whether vows or self-imposed obligations. Her husband has annulled them, and the LORD will forgive her. [14]Every vow and every sworn obligation of self-denial may be upheld by her husband or annulled by her husband. [15]If her husband offers no objection from that day to the next, he has upheld all the vows or obligations she has assumed: he has upheld them by offering no objection on the day he found out. [16]But if he annuls them after [the day] he finds out, he shall bear her guilt.

[17]Those are the laws that the LORD enjoined upon Moses between a man and his wife, and as between a father and his daughter while in her father's household by reason of her youth.

The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, [2]"Avenge the Israelite people on the Midianites; then you shall be gathered to your kin."

[3]Moses spoke to the people, saying, "Let men be picked out from among you for a campaign, and let them fall upon Midian to wreak the LORD's vengeance on Midian. [4]You shall dispatch on the campaign a thousand from every one of the tribes of Israel."

[5]So a thousand from each tribe were furnished from the divisions of Israel, twelve thousand picked for the campaign. [6]Moses dispatched them on the campaign, a thousand from each tribe, with Phinehas son of Eleazar serving as a priest on the campaign, equipped with the sacred utensils[a] and the trumpets for sounding the blasts. [7]They took the field against Midian, as the LORD had commanded Moses, and slew every male. [8]Along with their other victims, they slew the kings of Midian: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, the five kings of Midian. They also put Balaam son of Beor to the sword.

[9]The Israelites took the women and children of the Midianites captive, and seized as booty all their beasts, all their herds, and all their wealth. [10]And they destroyed by fire all the towns in which they were settled, and their encampments. [11]They gathered all the spoil and all the booty, man and beast, [12]and they brought the captives, the booty, and the spoil to Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the whole Israelite community, at the camp in the steppes of Moab, at the Jordan near Jericho.

[13]Moses, Eleazar the priest, and all the chieftains of the community came out to meet them outside the camp. [14]Moses became angry with the commanders of the army, the officers of thousands and the officers of hundreds, who had come back from the military campaign. [15]Moses said to them, "You have spared every female! [16]Yet they are the very ones who, at the bidding of Balaam, induced[b] the Israelites to trespass against the LORD in the matter of Peor, so that the LORD's community was struck by the plague. [17]Now, therefore, slay every male among the children, and slay also every woman who has known a man carnally; [18]but spare every young woman who has not had carnal relations with a man.

[19]"You shall then stay outside the camp seven days; every one among you or among your captives who has slain a person or touched a corpse shall cleanse himself on the third and seventh days. [20]You shall also cleanse every cloth, every article of skin, everything made of goats' hair, and every object of wood."

[21]Eleazar the priest said to the troops who had taken part in the fighting, "This is the ritual law that the LORD has enjoined upon Moses: [22]Gold and silver, copper, iron, tin, and lead—[23]any article that can withstand fire—these you shall pass through fire and they shall be clean, except that they must be cleansed with water of lustration; and anything that cannot withstand fire you must pass through water. [24]On the seventh day you shall wash your clothes and be clean, and after that you may enter the camp."

[25]The LORD said to Moses: [26]"You and Eleazar the priest and the family heads of the community take an inventory of the booty that was captured, man and beast, [27]and divide the booty equally between the combatants who engaged in the campaign and the rest of the community. [28]You shall exact a levy for the LORD: in the case of the warriors who engaged in the campaign, one item in five hundred, of persons, oxen, asses, and sheep, [29]shall be taken from their half-share and given to Eleazar the priest as a contribution to the LORD; [30]and from the half-share of the other Israelites you shall withhold one in every fifty human beings as well as cattle, asses, and sheep—all the animals—and give them to the Levites, who attend to the duties of the LORD's Tabernacle."

[31]Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the LORD commanded Moses. [32]The amount of booty, other than the spoil that the troops had plundered, came to 675,000 sheep, [33]72,000 head of cattle, [34]61,000 asses, [35]and a total of 32,000 human beings, namely, the women who had not had carnal relations.

[36]Thus, the half-share of those who had engaged in the campaign [was as follows]: The number of sheep was 337,500, [37]and the LORD's levy from the sheep was 675; [38]the cattle came to 36,000, from which the LORD's levy was 72; [39]the asses came to 30,500, from which the LORD's levy was 61. [40]And the number of human beings was 16,000, from which the LORD's levy was 32. [41]Moses gave the contributions levied for the LORD to Eleazar the priest, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[42]As for the half-share of the other Israelites, which Moses withdrew from the men who had taken the field, [43]that half-share of the community consisted of 337,500 sheep, [44]36,000 head of cattle, [45]30,500 asses, [46]and 16,000 human beings. [47]From this half-share of the Israelites, Moses withheld one in every fifty humans and animals; and he gave them to the Levites, who attended to the duties of the LORD's Tabernacle, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[48]The commanders of the troop divisions, the officers of thousands and the officers of hundreds, approached Moses. [49]They said to Moses, "Your servants have made a check of the warriors in our charge, and not one of us is missing. [50]So we have brought as an offering to the LORD such articles of gold as each of us came upon: armlets, bracelets, signet rings, earrings, and pendants,[c] that expiation may be made for our persons before the LORD." [51]Moses and Eleazar the priest accepted the gold from them, all kinds of wrought articles. [52]All the gold that was offered by the officers of thousands and the officers of hundreds as a contribution to the LORD came to 16,750 shekels.—[53]But in the ranks, everyone kept his booty for himself.—[54]So Moses and Eleazar the priest accepted the gold from the officers of thousands and the officers of hundreds and brought it to the Tent of Meeting, as a reminder in behalf of the Israelites before the LORD.

The Reubenites and the Gadites owned cattle in very great numbers. Noting that the lands of Jazer and Gilead were a region suitable for cattle, [2]the Gadites and the Reubenites came to Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the chieftains of the community, and said, [3]"Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo, and Beon—[4]the land that the LORD has conquered for the community of Israel is cattle country, and your servants have cattle. [5]It would be a favor to us," they continued, "if this land were given to your servants as a holding; do not move us across the Jordan."

[6]Moses replied to the Gadites and the Reubenites, "Are your brothers to go to war while you stay here? [7]Why will you turn the minds of the Israelites from crossing into the land that the LORD has given them? [8]That is what your fathers did when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to survey the land. [9]After going up to the wadi Eshcol and surveying the land, they turned the minds of the Israelites from invading the land that the LORD had given them. [10]Thereupon the LORD was incensed and He swore, [11]'None of the men from twenty years up who came out of Egypt shall see the land that I promised on oath to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, for they did not remain loyal to Me—[12]none except Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua son of Nun, for they remained loyal to the LORD.' [13]The LORD was incensed at Israel, and for forty years He made them wander in the wilderness, until the whole generation that had provoked the LORD's displeasure was gone. [14]And now you, a breed of sinful men, have replaced your fathers, to add still further to the LORD's wrath against Israel. [15]If you turn away from Him and He abandons them once more in the wilderness, you will bring calamity upon all this people."

[16]Then they stepped up to him and said, "We will build here sheepfolds for our flocks and towns for our children. [17]And we will hasten[a] as shock-troops in the van of the Israelites until we have established them in their home, while our children stay in the fortified towns because of the inhabitants of the land. [18]We will not return to our homes until every one of the Israelites is in possession of his portion. [19]But we will not have a share with them in the territory beyond the Jordan, for we have received our share on the east side of the Jordan."

[20]Moses said to them, "If you do this, if you go to battle as shock-troops, at the instance of the LORD, [21]and every shock-fighter among you crosses the Jordan, at the instance of the LORD, until He has dispossessed His enemies before Him, [22]and the land has been subdued, at the instance of the LORD, and then you return—you shall be clear before the LORD and before Israel; and this land shall be your holding under the LORD. [24]Build towns for your children and sheepfolds for your flocks, but do what you have promised."

[25]The Gadites and the Reubenites answered Moses, "Your servants will do as my lord commands. [26]Our children, our wives, our flocks, and all our other livestock will stay behind[b] in the towns of Gilead; [27]while your servants, all those recruited for war, cross over, at the instance of the LORD, to engage in battle—as my lord orders."

the Jordan with you to do battle, at the instance of the LORD, and the land is subdued before you, you shall give them the land of Gilead as a holding. [30]But if they do not cross over with you as shock-troops, they shall receive holdings among you in the land of Canaan."

[31]The Gadites and the Reubenites said in reply, "Whatever the LORD has spoken concerning your servants, that we will do. [32]We ourselves will cross over as shock-troops, at the instance of the LORD, into the land of Canaan; and we shall keep our hereditary holding across the Jordan."[c]

[33]So Moses assigned to them—to the Gadites, the Reubenites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh son of Joseph—the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kingdom of King Og of Bashan, the land with its various cities and the territories of their surrounding towns. [34]The Gadites rebuilt Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, [35]Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah, [36]Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran as fortified towns or as enclosures for flocks. [37]The Reubenites rebuilt Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, [38]Nebo, Baal-meon—some names being changed—and Sibmah; they gave [their own] names to towns that they rebuilt.[d] [39]The descendants of Machir son of Manasseh went to Gilead and captured it, dispossessing the Amorites who were there; [40]so Moses gave Gilead to Machir son of Manasseh, and he settled there. [41]Jair son of Manasseh went and captured [e]-their villages,-[e] which he renamed Havvoth-jair.[f] [42]And Nobah went and captured Kenath and its dependencies, renaming it Nobah after himself.

by troop, in the charge of Moses and Aaron. [2]Moses recorded the starting points of their various marches as directed by the LORD. Their marches, by starting points, were as follows:

[3]They set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. It was on the morrow of the passover offering that the Israelites started out defiantly,[a] in plain view of all the Egyptians. [4]The Egyptians meanwhile were burying those among them whom the LORD had struck down, every first-born—whereby the LORD executed judgment on their gods.

[5]The Israelites set out from Rameses and encamped at Succoth. [6]They set out from Succoth and encamped at Etham, which is on the edge of the wilderness. [7]They set out from Etham and turned about toward Pi-hahiroth, which faces Baal-zephon, and they encamped before Migdol. [8]They set out from Pene[b]-hahiroth and passed through the sea into the wilderness; and they made a three-days' journey in the wilderness of Etham and encamped at Marah. [9]They set out from Marah and came to Elim. There were twelve springs in Elim and seventy palm trees, so they encamped there. [10]They set out from Elim and encamped by the Sea of Reeds.[c] [11]They set out from the Sea of Reeds and encamped in the wilderness of Sin. [12]They set out from the wilderness of Sin and encamped at Dophkah. [13]They set out from Dophkah and encamped at Alush. [14]They set out from Alush and encamped at Rephidim; it was there that the people had no water to drink. [15]They set out from Rephidim and encamped in the wilderness of Sinai. [16]They set out from the wilderness of Sinai and encamped at Kibroth-hattaavah. [17]They set out from Kibroth-hattaavah and encamped at Hazeroth. [18]They set out from outside the town wall all around. [5]You shall measure off two thousand cubits outside the town on the east side, two thousand on the south side, two thousand on the west side, and two thousand on the north side, with the town in the center. That shall be the pasture for their towns.

[6]The towns that you assign to the Levites shall comprise the six cities of refuge that you are to designate for a manslayer to flee to, to which you shall add forty-two towns. [7]Thus the total of the towns that you assign to the Levites shall be forty-eight towns, with their pasture. [8]In assigning towns from the holdings of the Israelites, take more from the larger groups and less from the smaller, so that each assigns towns to the Levites in proportion to the share it receives.

[9]The LORD spoke further to Moses: [10]Speak to the Israelite people and say to them: When you cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, [11]you shall provide yourselves with places to serve you as cities of refuge to which a manslayer who has killed a person unintentionally may flee. [12]The cities shall serve you as a refuge from the avenger,[a] so that the manslayer may not die unless he has stood trial before the assembly.

[13]The towns that you thus assign shall be six cities of refuge in all. [14]Three cities shall be designated beyond the Jordan, and the other three shall be designated in the land of Canaan: they shall serve as cities of refuge. [15]These six cities shall serve the Israelites and the resident aliens among them for refuge, so that anyone who kills a person unintentionally may flee there.

and death resulted, he is a murderer; the murderer must be put to death. 18Similarly, if the object with which he struck him was a wooden tool[b] that could cause death, and death resulted, he is a murderer; the murderer must be put to death. 19The blood-avenger himself shall put the murderer to death; it is he who shall put him to death upon encounter. 20So, too, if he pushed him in hate or hurled something at him on purpose and death resulted, 21or if he struck him with his hand in enmity and death resulted, the assailant shall be put to death; he is a murderer. The family heads in the clan of the descendants of Gilead son of Machir son of Manasseh, one of the Josephite clans, came forward and appealed to Moses and the chieftains, family heads[a] of the Israelites. [2]They said, "The LORD commanded my lord to assign the land to the Israelites as shares by lot, and my lord was further commanded by the LORD to assign the share of our kinsman Zelophehad to his daughters. [3]Now, if they marry persons from another Israelite tribe, their share will be cut off from our ancestral portion and be added to the portion of the tribe into which they marry; thus our allotted portion will be diminished. [4]And even when the Israelites observe the jubilee, their share will be added to that of the tribe into which they marry, and their share will be cut off from the ancestral portion of our tribe."

[5]So Moses, at the LORD's bidding, instructed the Israelites, saying: "The plea of the Josephite tribe is just. [6]This is what the LORD has commanded concerning the daughters of Zelophehad: They may marry anyone they wish, provided they marry into a clan of their father's

These are the words that Moses addressed to all Israel on the other side of the Jordan.—[a]Through the wilderness, in the Arabah near Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Di-zahab, [2]it is eleven days from Horeb to Kadesh-barnea by the Mount Seir route.—[3]It was in the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, that Moses addressed the Israelites in accordance with the instructions that the LORD had given him for them, [4]after he had defeated Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, and King Og of Bashan, who dwelt at Ashtaroth [and[b]] Edrei. [5]On the other side of the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses undertook to expound this Teaching. He said:

[6]The LORD our God spoke to us at Horeb, saying: You have stayed long enough at this mountain. [7]Start out and make your way to the hill country of the Amorites and to all their neighbors in the Arabah, the hill country, the Shephelah,[c] the Negeb, the seacoast, the land of the Canaanites,[d] and the Lebanon, as far as the Great River, the river Euphrates. [8]See, I place the land at your disposal. Go, take possession of the land that the LORD swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to assign to them and to their heirs after them.

[9]Thereupon I said to you, "I cannot bear the burden of you by myself. [10]The LORD your God has multiplied you until you are today as numerous as the stars in the sky.—[11]May the LORD, the God of your fathers, increase your numbers a thousandfold, and bless you as He promised you.—[12]How can I bear unaided the trouble of you, and the burden, and the bickering! [13]Pick from each of your tribes men who are wise, discerning, and experienced, and I will appoint them as your heads." [14]You answered me and said, "What you propose to do is good." [15]So I took your tribal leaders, wise and experienced men, and appointed them heads over you: chiefs of thousands, chiefs of hundreds, chiefs of fifties, and chiefs of tens, and officials for your tribes. [16]I charged your magistrates at that time as follows, "Hear out your fellow men, and decide justly between any man and a fellow Israelite or a stranger. [17]You shall not be partial in judgment: hear out low and high alike. Fear no man, for judgment is God's. And any matter that is too difficult for you, you shall bring to me and I will hear it." [18]Thus I instructed you, at that time, about the various things that you should do.

[19]We set out from Horeb and traveled the great and terrible wilderness that you saw, along the road to the hill country of the Amorites, as the LORD our God had commanded us. When we reached Kadesh-barnea, [20]I said to you, "You have come to the hill country of the Amorites which the LORD our God is giving to us. [21]See, the LORD your God has placed the land at your disposal. Go up, take possession, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, promised you. Fear not and be not dismayed."

[22]Then all of you came to me and said, "Let us send men ahead to reconnoiter the land for us and bring back word on the route we shall follow and the cities we shall come to." [23]I approved of the plan, and so I selected twelve of your men, one from each tribe. [24]They made for the hill country, came to the wadi Eshcol, and spied it out. 25They took some of the fruit of the land with them and brought it down to us. And they gave us this report: "It is a good land that the LORD our God is giving to us."

26Yet you refused to go up, and flouted the command of the LORD your God. 27You sulked[e] in your tents and said, "It is because the LORD hates us that He brought us out of the land of Egypt, to hand us over to the Amorites to wipe us out. 28[f]What kind of place[f] are we going to? Our kinsmen have taken the heart out of us, saying, 'We saw there a people stronger and taller than we, large cities with walls sky-high, and even Anakites.'"

29I said to you, "Have no dread or fear of them. 30None other than the LORD your God, who goes before you, will fight for you, just as He did for you in Egypt before your very eyes, 31and in the wilderness, where you saw how the LORD your God carried you, as a man carries his son, all the way that you traveled until you came to this place. 32Yet for all that, you have no faith in the LORD your God, 33who goes before you on your journeys—to scout the place where you are to encamp—in fire by night and in cloud by day, in order to guide you on the route you are to follow."

34When the LORD heard your loud complaint, He was angry. He vowed: 35Not one of these men, this evil generation, shall see the good land that I swore to give to your fathers—36none except Caleb son of Jephunneh; he shall see it, and to him and his descendants will I give the land on which he set foot, because he remained loyal to the LORD.

37Because of you the LORD was incensed with me too, and He said: You shall not enter it either. 38Joshua son of Nun, who attends you, he shall enter it. Imbue him with strength, for he shall allot it to Israel. 39Moreover, your little ones who you said would be carried off, your children who do not yet know good from bad, they shall enter it; to them will I give it and they shall possess it. [40]As for you, turn about and march into the wilderness by the way of the Sea of Reeds.

[41]You replied to me, saying, "We stand guilty before the LORD. We will go up now and fight, just as the LORD our God commanded us." And you all girded yourselves with war gear and recklessly[g] started for the hill country. [42]But the LORD said to me, "Warn them: Do not go up and do not fight, since I am not in your midst; else you will be routed by your enemies." [43]I spoke to you, but you would not listen; you flouted the LORD's command and willfully marched into the hill country. [44]Then the Amorites who lived in those hills came out against you like so many bees and chased you, and they crushed you at Hormah in Seir. [45]Again you wept before the LORD; but the LORD would not heed your cry or give ear to you.

[46]Thus, after you had remained at Kadesh [h]all that long time,[h] [1]we marched back into the wilderness by the way of the Sea of Reeds, as the LORD had spoken to me, and skirted the hill country of Seir a long time.

[2]Then the LORD said to me: [3]You have been skirting this hill country long enough; now turn north. [4]And charge the people as follows: You will be passing through the territory of your kinsmen, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir. Though they will be afraid of you, be very careful [5]not to provoke them. For I will not give you of their land so much as a foot can tread on; I have given the hill country of Seir as a possession to Esau. you drink you shall procure from them for money.-[a] [7]Indeed, the LORD your God has blessed you in all your undertakings. He has watched over your wanderings through this great wilderness; the LORD your God has been with you these past forty years: you have lacked nothing.

[8]We then moved on, away from our kinsmen, the descendants of Esau, who live in Seir, away from the road of the Arabah, away from Elath and Ezion-geber; and we marched on in the direction of the wilderness of Moab. [9]And the LORD said to me: Do not harass the Moabites or provoke them to war. For I will not give you any of their land as a possession; I have assigned Ar as a possession to the descendants of Lot.—

[10]It was formerly inhabited by the Emim, a people great and numerous, and as tall as the Anakites. [11]Like the Anakites, they are counted as Rephaim; but the Moabites call them Emim. [12]Similarly, Seir was formerly inhabited by the Horites; but the descendants of Esau dispossessed them, wiping them out and settling in their place, just as Israel did in the land they were to possess, which the LORD had given to them.—

[13]Up now! Cross the wadi Zered!

So we crossed the wadi Zered. [14]The time that we spent in travel from Kadesh-barnea until we crossed the wadi Zered was thirty-eight years, until that whole generation of warriors had perished from the camp, as the LORD had sworn concerning them. [15]Indeed, the hand of the LORD struck them, to root them out from the camp to the last man.

[16]When all the warriors among the people had died off, [17]the LORD spoke to me, saying: [18]You are now passing through the territory of Moab, through Ar. [19]You will then be close to the Ammonites; do not harass them or start a fight with them. For I will not give any part of the land of the Ammonites to you as a possession; I have assigned it as a possession to the descendants of Lot.—

[20]It, too, is counted as Rephaim country. It was formerly inhabited by Rephaim, whom the Ammonites call Zamzummim, [21]a people great and numerous and as tall as the Anakites. The LORD wiped them out, so that [the Ammonites] dispossessed them and settled in their place, [22]as He did for the descendants of Esau who live in Seir, when He wiped out the Horites before them, so that they dispossessed them and settled in their place, as is still the case.[b] [23]So, too, with the Avvim who dwelt in villages in the vicinity of Gaza: the Caphtorim, who came from Crete,[c] wiped them out and settled in their place.—

[24]Up! Set out across the wadi Arnon! See, I give into your power Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin the occupation: engage him in battle. [25]This day I begin to put the dread and fear of you upon the peoples everywhere under heaven, so that they shall tremble and quake because of you whenever they hear you mentioned.

[26]Then I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth to King Sihon of Heshbon with an offer of peace, as follows, [27]"Let me pass through your country. I will keep strictly to the highway, turning off neither to the right nor to the left. [28]What food I eat you will supply for money, and what water I drink you will furnish for money; just let me pass through[d]—[29]as the descendants of Esau who dwell in Seir did for me, and the Moabites who dwell in Ar—that I may cross the Jordan into the land that the LORD our God is giving us."

[30]But King Sihon of Heshbon refused to let us pass through, because the LORD had stiffened his will and hardened his heart in order to deliver him into your power—as is now the case. [31]And the LORD said to me: See, I begin by placing Sihon and his land at your disposal. Begin the occupation; take possession of his land.

[32]Sihon with all his men took the field against us at Jahaz, [33]and the LORD our God delivered him to us and we defeated him and his sons and all his men. [34]At that time we captured all his towns, and we doomed[e] every town—men, women, and children—leaving no survivor. [35]We retained as booty only the cattle and the spoil of the cities that we captured. [36]From Aroer on the edge of the Arnon valley, including the town[f] in the valley itself, to Gilead, not a city was too mighty for us; the LORD our God delivered everything to us. [37]But you did not encroach upon the land of the Ammonites, all along the wadi Jabbok and the towns of the hill country, just as the LORD our God had commanded.

We made our way up the road toward Bashan, and King Og of Bashan with all his men took the field against us at Edrei. [2]But the LORD said to me: Do not fear him, for I am delivering him and all his men and his country into your power, and you will do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon.

[3]So the LORD our God also delivered into our power King Og of Bashan, with all his men, and we dealt them such a blow that no survivor was left. [4]At that time we captured all his towns; there was not a town that we did not take from them: sixty towns, the whole district of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan—[5]all those towns were fortified with high walls, gates,[a] and bars—apart from a great number of unwalled towns. [6]We doomed them as we had done in the case of King Sihon of Heshbon; we doomed every town—men, women, and children—[7]and retained as booty all the cattle and the spoil of the towns.

[8]Thus we seized, at that time, from the two Amorite kings, the country beyond the Jordan, from the wadi Arnon to Mount Hermon—[9]Sidonians called Hermon Sirion, and the Amorites call it Senir—[10]all the towns of the Tableland and the whole of Gilead and Bashan as far as Salcah[b] and Edrei, the towns of Og's kingdom in Bashan. His bedstead, an iron bedstead, is now in Rabbah of the Ammonites; it is nine cubits long and four cubits wide, by [c]the standard cubit![c] of the slopes of Pisgah on the east, to the edge of the Jordan, and from Chinnereth down to the sea of the Arabah, the Dead Sea.

[12][d]And this is the land which we apportioned at that time: The part from Aroer along the wadi Arnon, with part of the hill country of Gilead and its towns, I assigned to the Reubenites and the Gadites. [13]The rest of Gilead, and all of Bashan under Og's rule—the whole Argob district, all that part of Bashan which is called Rephaim country—I assigned to the half-tribe of Manasseh. [14]Jair son of Manasseh received the whole Argob district (that is, Bashan) as far as the boundary of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and named it after himself: Havvoth-jair[e]—as is still the case. [15]To Machir I assigned Gilead. [16]And to the Reubenites and the Gadites I assigned the part from Gilead down to the wadi Arnon, the middle of the wadi being the boundary, and up to the wadi Jabbok, the boundary of the Ammonites.

[18]At that time I charged you,[g] saying, "The LORD your God has given you this country to possess. You must go as shock-troops, warriors all, at the head of your Israelite kinsmen. [19]Only your wives, children, and livestock—I know that you have much livestock—shall be left in the towns I have assigned to you, [20]until the LORD has granted your kinsmen a haven such as you have, and they too have taken possession of the land that the LORD your God is assigning them, beyond the Jordan. Then you may return each to the homestead that I have assigned to him."

[21]I also charged Joshua at that time, saying, "You have seen with your own eyes all that the LORD your God has done to these two kings; so shall the LORD do to all the kingdoms into which you shall cross over. [22]Do not fear them, for it is the LORD your God who will battle for you."

[23]I pleaded with the LORD at that time, saying, [24]"O Lord GOD, You who let Your servant see the first works of Your greatness and Your mighty hand, You whose powerful deeds no god in heaven or on earth can equal! [25]Let me, I pray, cross over and see the good land on the other side of the Jordan, that good hill country, and the Lebanon." [26]But the LORD was wrathful with me on your account and would not listen to me. The LORD said to me, "Enough! Never speak to Me of this matter again! [27]Go up to the summit of Pisgah and gaze about, to the west, the north, the south, and the east. Look at it well, for you shall not go across yonder Jordan. [28]Give Joshua his instructions, and imbue him with strength and courage, for he shall go across at the head of this people, and he shall allot to them the land that you may only see."

29Meanwhile we stayed on in the valley near Beth-peor.

4 And now, O Israel, give heed to the laws and rules that I am instructing you to observe, so that you may live to enter and occupy the land that the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you. 2You shall not add anything to what I command you or take anything away from it, but keep the commandments of the LORD your God that I enjoin upon you. 3You saw with your own eyes what the LORD did in the matter of Baal-peor, that the LORD your God wiped out from among you every person who followed Baal-peor; 4while you, who held fast to the LORD your God, are all alive today.

5See, I have imparted to you laws and rules, as the LORD my God has commanded me, for you to abide by in the land that you are about to enter and occupy. 6Observe them faithfully, for that will be proof of your wisdom and discernment to other peoples, who on hearing of all these laws will say, "Surely, that great nation is a wise and discerning people." 7For what great nation is there that has a god so close at hand as is the LORD our God whenever we call upon Him? 8Or what great nation has laws and rules as perfect as all this Teaching that I set before you this day?

9But take utmost care and watch yourselves scrupulously, so that you do not forget the things that you saw with your own eyes and so that they do not fade from your mind as long as you live. And make them known to your children and to your children's children: 10The day you stood before the LORD your God at Horeb, when the LORD said to Me, "Gather the people to Me that I may let them hear My words, in order that they may learn to revere Me as long as they live on earth, and may so teach their children.” [11]You came forward and stood at the foot of the mountain. The mountain was ablaze with flames to the very skies, dark with densest clouds. [12]The LORD spoke to you out of the fire; you heard the sound of words but perceived no shape—nothing but a voice. [13]He declared to you the covenant that He commanded you to observe, the Ten Commandments; and He inscribed them on two tablets of stone. [14]At the same time the LORD commanded me to impart to you laws and rules for you to observe in the land that you are about to cross into and occupy.

[15]For your own sake, therefore, be most careful—since you saw no shape when the LORD your God spoke to you at Horeb out of the fire—[16]not to act wickedly and make for yourselves a sculptured image in any likeness whatever: the form of a man or a woman, [17]the form of any beast on earth, the form of any winged bird that flies in the sky, [18]the form of anything that creeps on the ground, the form of any fish that is in the waters below the earth. [19]And when you look up to the sky and behold the sun and the moon and the stars, the whole heavenly host, you must not be lured into bowing down to them or serving them. These the LORD your God allotted to other peoples everywhere under heaven; [20]but you the LORD took and brought out of Egypt, that iron blast furnace, to be His very own people, as is now the case.

[21]Now the LORD was angry with me on your account and swore that I should not cross the Jordan and enter the good land that the LORD your God is assigning you as a heritage. [22]For I must die in this land; I shall not cross the Jordan. But you will cross and take possession of that good land. [23]Take care, then, not to forget the covenant that the LORD your God concluded with you, and not to make for yourselves a sculptured image in any likeness, against which the LORD your God has enjoined you. [24]For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, an impassioned God.

[25]When you have begotten children and children's children and are long established in the land, should you act wickedly and make for yourselves a sculptured image in any likeness, causing the LORD your God displeasure and vexation, [26]I call heaven and earth this day to witness against you that you shall soon perish from the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess; you shall not long endure in it, but shall be utterly wiped out. [27]The LORD will scatter you among the peoples, and only a scant few of you shall be left among the nations to which the LORD will drive you. [28]There you will serve man-made gods of wood and stone, that cannot see or hear or eat or smell.

[29]But if you search there for the LORD your God, you will find Him, if only you seek Him with all your heart and soul—[30]when you are in distress because all these things have befallen you and, in the end, return to the LORD your God and obey Him. [32]You have but to inquire about bygone ages that came before you, ever since God created man on earth, from one end of heaven to the other: has anything as grand as this ever happened, or has its like ever been known? power, as the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your very eyes? [35][a]It has been clearly demonstrated to you[-a] that the LORD alone is God; there is none beside Him. [36]From the heavens He let you hear His voice to discipline you; on earth He let you see His great fire; and from amidst that fire you heard His words. [37]And because He loved your fathers, He chose their heirs after them; He Himself,[b] in His great might, led you out of Egypt, [38]to drive from your path nations greater and more populous than you, to take you into their land and assign it to you as a heritage, as is still the case. [39]Know therefore this day and keep in mind that the LORD alone is God in heaven above and on earth below; there is no other. [40]Observe His laws and commandments, which I enjoin upon you this day, that it may go well with you and your children after you, and that you may long remain in the land that the LORD your God is assigning to you for all time.

[41]Then Moses set aside three cities on the east side of the Jordan [42]to which a manslayer could escape, one who unwittingly slew a fellow man without having been hostile to him in the past; he could flee to one of these cities and live: [43]Bezer, in the wilderness in the Tableland, belonging to the Reubenites; Ramoth, in Gilead, belonging to the Gadites; and Golan, in Bashan, belonging to the Manassites.

[44]This is the Teaching that Moses set before the Israelites: [45]these are the decrees, laws, and rules that Moses addressed to the people of Israel, after they had left Egypt, [46]beyond the Jordan, in the valley at Beth-peor, in the land of King Sihon of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heshbon, whom Moses and the Israelites defeated after they had left Egypt. [47]They had taken possession of his country and that of King

Moses summoned all the Israelites and said to them: Hear, O Israel, the laws and rules that I proclaim to you this day! Study them and observe them faithfully!

[2]The LORD our God made a covenant with us at Horeb. [3]It was not with our fathers that the LORD made this covenant, but with us, the living, every one of us who is here today. [4]Face to face the LORD spoke to you on the mountain out of the fire—[5]I stood between the LORD and you at that time to convey the LORD's words to you, for you were afraid of the fire and did not go up the mountain—saying:

[6a]I the LORD am your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt, the house of bondage: [7]You shall have no other gods beside Me.

[8]You shall not make for yourself a sculptured image, any likeness of what is in the heavens above, or on the earth below, or in the waters below the earth. [9]You shall not bow down to them or serve them. For I the LORD your God am an impassioned God, visiting the guilt of the parents upon the children, upon the third and upon the fourth generations of those who reject Me, [10]but showing kindness to the thousandth generation of those who love Me and keep My commandments.

[11]You shall not swear falsely by the name of the LORD your God; for the LORD will not clear one who swears falsely by His name.

[12]Observe the sabbath day and keep it holy, as the LORD your God has commanded you. [13]Six days you shall labor and do all your work, [14]but the seventh day is a sabbath of the LORD your God; you shall not do any work—you, your son or your daughter, your male or female slave, your ox or your ass, or any of your cattle, or the stranger in your settlements, so that your male and female slave may rest as you do. [15]Remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt and the LORD your God freed you from there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; therefore the LORD your God has commanded you to observe the sabbath day.

[16]Honor your father and your mother, as the LORD your God has commanded you, that you may long endure, and that you may fare well, in the land that the LORD your God is assigning to you.

[17]You shall not murder.

You shall not commit adultery.

You shall not steal.

You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

[18]You shall not covet your neighbor's wife. You shall not crave your neighbor's house, or his field, or his male or female slave, or his ox, or his ass, or anything that is your neighbor's.

[19]The LORD spoke those words—those and no more—to your whole congregation at the mountain, with a mighty voice out of the fire and the dense clouds. He inscribed them on two tablets of stone, which He gave to me. [20]When you heard the voice out of the darkness, while the mountain was ablaze with fire, you came up to me, all your tribal heads and elders, [21]and said, "The LORD our God has just shown us His majestic Presence, and we have heard His voice out of the fire; we have seen this day that man may live though God has spoken to him. sume us; if we hear the voice of the LORD our God any longer, we shall die. [23]For what mortal ever heard the voice of the living God speak out of the fire, as we did, and lived? [24]You go closer and hear all that the LORD our God says, and then you tell us everything that the LORD our God tells you, and we will willingly do it."

[25]The LORD heard the plea that you made to me, and the LORD said to me, "I have heard the plea that this people made to you; they did well to speak thus. [26]May they always be of such mind, to revere Me and follow all My commandments, that it may go well with them and with their children forever! [27]Go, say to them, 'Return to your tents.' [28]But you remain here with Me, and I will give you the whole Instruction—the laws and the rules—that you shall impart to them, for them to observe in the land that I am giving them to possess."

[29]Be careful, then, to do as the LORD your God has commanded you. Do not turn aside to the right or to the left: [30]follow only the path that the LORD your God has enjoined upon you, so that you may thrive and that it may go well with you, and that you may long endure in the land you are to possess.

And this is the Instruction—the laws and the rules—that the LORD your God has commanded [me] to impart to you, to be observed in the land that you are about to cross into and occupy, [2]so that you, your children, and your children's children may revere the LORD your God and follow, as long as you live, all His laws and commandments that I enjoin upon you, to the end that you may long endure. [3]Obey, O Israel, willingly and faithfully, that it may go well with you and that you may increase greatly [in] *a-a land flowing with milk and honey,-a* as the LORD, the God of your fathers, spoke to you.

a-a According to Ibn Ezra this phrase connects with the end of v. 1.

4Hear, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD alone.[b] 5You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might. 6Take to heart these instructions with which I charge you this day. 7Impress them upon your children. Recite them when you stay at home and when you are away, when you lie down and when you get up. 8Bind them as a sign on your hand and let them serve as a symbol[c] on your forehead;[d] 9inscribe them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

10When the LORD your God brings you into the land that He swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to assign to you—great and flourishing cities that you did not build, 11houses full of all good things that you did not fill, hewn cisterns that you did not hew, vineyards and olive groves that you did not plant—and you eat your fill, 12take heed that you do not forget the LORD who freed you from the land of Egypt, the house of bondage. 13Revere only the LORD your God and worship Him alone, and swear only by His name. 14Do not follow other gods, any gods of the peoples about you—15for the LORD your God in your midst is an impassioned God—lest the anger of the LORD your God blaze forth against you and He wipe you off the face of the earth.

16Do not try the LORD your God, as you did at Massah.[e] 17Be sure to keep the commandments, decrees, and laws that the LORD your God has enjoined upon you. 18Do what is right and good in the sight of the LORD, that it may go well with you and that you may be able to possess the good land that the LORD your God promised on oath to your fathers, 19and that all your enemies may be driven out before you, as the LORD has spoken.

[20]When, in time to come, your children ask you, "What mean the decrees, laws, and rules that the LORD our God has enjoined upon you?"[f] [21]you shall say to your children, "We were slaves to Pharaoh in Egypt and the LORD freed us from Egypt with a mighty hand. [22]The LORD wrought before our eyes marvelous and destructive signs and portents in Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his household; [23]and us He freed from there, that He might take us and give us the land that He had promised on oath to our fathers. [24]Then the LORD commanded us to observe all these laws, to revere the LORD our God, for our lasting good and for our survival, as is now the case. [25]It will be therefore to our merit before the LORD our God to observe faithfully this whole Instruction, as He has commanded us."

7 When the LORD your God brings you to the land that you are about to enter and possess, and He dislodges many nations before you—the Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, seven nations much larger than you—[2]and the LORD your God delivers them to you and you defeat them, you must doom them to destruction: grant them no terms and give them no quarter. [3]You shall not intermarry with them: do not give your daughters to their sons or take their daughters for your sons. [4]For they will turn your children away from Me to worship other gods, and the LORD's anger will blaze forth against you and He will promptly wipe you out. [5]Instead, this is what you shall do to them: you shall tear down their altars, smash their pillars, cut down their sacred posts, and consign their images to the fire.

[7]It is not because you are the most numerous of peoples that the LORD set His heart on you and chose you—indeed, you are the smallest of peoples; [8]but it was because the LORD favored you and kept the oath He made to your fathers that the LORD freed you with a mighty hand and rescued you from the house of bondage, from the power of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

[9]Know, therefore, that only the LORD your God is God, the steadfast God who keeps His covenant faithfully to the thousandth generation of those who love Him and keep His commandments, [10]but who instantly requites with destruction those who reject Him—never slow with those who reject Him, but requiting them instantly. [11]Therefore, observe faithfully the Instruction—the laws and the rules—with which I charge you today.

[12]And if you do obey these rules and observe them carefully, the LORD your God will maintain faithfully for you the covenant that He made on oath with your fathers: [13]He will favor you and bless you and multiply you; He will bless the issue of your womb and the produce of your soil, your new grain and wine and oil, the calving of your herd and the lambing of your flock, in the land that He swore to your fathers to assign to you. [14]You shall be blessed above all other peoples: there shall be no sterile male or female among you or among your livestock. [15]The LORD will ward off from you all sickness; He will not bring upon you any of the dreadful diseases of Egypt, about which you know, but will inflict them upon all your enemies.

[16]You shall destroy all the peoples that the LORD your God delivers to you, showing them no pity. And you shall not worship their gods, for that would be a snare to you. [17]Should you say to yourselves, “These nations are more nu-

God has made you travel in the wilderness these past forty years, that He might test you by hardships to learn what was in your hearts: whether you would keep His commandments or not. [3]He subjected you to the hardship of hunger and then gave you manna to eat, which neither you nor your fathers had ever known, in order to teach you that man does not live on bread alone, but that man may live on anything that the LORD decrees. [4]The clothes upon you did not wear out, nor did your feet swell these forty years. [5]Bear in mind that the LORD your God disciplines you just as a man disciplines his son. [6]Therefore keep the commandments of the LORD your God: walk in His ways and revere Him.

[7]For the LORD your God is bringing you into a good land, a land with streams and springs and fountains issuing from plain and hill; [8]a land of wheat and barley, of vines, figs, and pomegranates, a land of olive trees and honey; [9]a land where you may eat food without stint, where you will lack nothing; a land whose rocks are iron and from whose hills you can mine copper. [10]When you have eaten your fill, give thanks to the LORD your God for the good land which He has given you.

[11]Take care lest you forget the LORD your God and fail to keep His commandments, His rules, and His laws, which I enjoin upon you today. [12]When you have eaten your fill, and have built fine houses to live in, [13]and your herds and flocks have multiplied, and your silver and gold have increased, and everything you own has prospered, [14]beware lest[a] your heart grow haughty and you forget the LORD your God—who freed you from the land of Egypt, the house of bondage; [15]who led you through the great and terrible wilderness with its seraph[b] serpents and scorpions, a parched land with no water in it,

Hear, O Israel! You are about to cross the Jordan to go in and dispossess nations greater and more populous than you: great cities with walls sky-high; [2]a people great and tall, the Anakites, of whom you have knowledge; for you have heard it said, "Who can stand up to the children of Anak?" [3]Know then this day that none other than the LORD your God is crossing at your head, a devouring fire; it is He who will wipe them out. He will subdue them before you, that you may quickly dispossess and destroy them, as the LORD promised you. [4]And when the LORD your God has thrust them from your path, say not to yourselves, "The LORD has enabled us to possess this land because of our virtues"; it is rather because of the wickedness of those nations that the LORD is dispossessing them before you. [5]It is not because of your virtues and your rectitude that you will be able to possess their country; but it is because of their wickedness that the LORD your God is dispossessing those nations before you, and in order

[6]Know, then, that it is not for any virtue of yours that the LORD your God is giving you this good land to possess; for you are a stiffnecked people. [7]Remember, never forget, how you provoked the LORD your God to anger in the wilderness: from the day that you left the land of Egypt until you reached this place, you have continued defiant toward the LORD.

[8]At Horeb you so provoked the LORD that the LORD was angry enough with you to have destroyed you. [9]I had ascended the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the Tablets of the Covenant that the LORD had made with you, and I stayed on the mountain forty days and forty nights, eating no bread and drinking no water. [10]And the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone inscribed by the finger of God, with the exact words that the LORD had addressed to you on the mountain out of the fire on the day of the Assembly.

[11]At the end of those forty days and forty nights, the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone, the Tablets of the Covenant. [12]And the LORD said to me, "Hurry, go down from here at once, for the people whom you brought out of Egypt have acted wickedly; they have been quick to stray from the path that I enjoined upon them; they have made themselves a molten image." [13]The LORD further said to me, "I see that this is a stiffnecked people. [14]Let Me alone and I will destroy them and blot out their name from under heaven, and I will make you a nation far more numerous than they."

[15]I started down the mountain, a mountain ablaze with fire, the two Tablets of the Covenant in my two hands. [16]I saw how you had sinned against the LORD your God: you had made yourselves a molten calf; you had been quick to stray from the path that the LORD had enjoined upon you. [17]Thereupon I gripped the two tablets and flung them away with both my hands, smashing them before your eyes. [18]I threw myself down before the LORD—eating no bread and drinking no water forty days and forty nights, as before—because of the great wrong you had committed, doing what displeased the LORD and vexing Him. [19]For I was in dread of the LORD's fierce anger against you, which moved Him to wipe you out. And that time, too, the LORD gave heed to me.—[20]Moreover, the LORD was angry enough with Aaron to have destroyed him; so I also interceded for Aaron at that time.—[21]As for that sinful thing you had made, the calf, I took it and put it to the fire; I broke it to bits and ground it thoroughly until it was fine as dust, and I threw its dust into the brook that comes down from the mountain.

[22]Again you provoked the LORD at Taberah, and at Massah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah.

[23]And when the LORD sent you on from Kadesh-barnea, saying, "Go up and take possession of the land that I am giving you," you flouted the command of the LORD your God; you did not put your trust in Him and did not obey Him.

[24]As long as I have known you, you have been defiant toward the LORD.

[25]When I lay prostrate before the LORD a-those forty days and forty nights,-a because the LORD was determined to destroy you, [26]I prayed to the LORD and said, "O Lord GOD, do not annihilate Your very own people, whom You redeemed in Your majesty and whom You freed from Egypt with a mighty hand. was because the Lord was powerless to bring them into the land that He had promised them, and because He rejected them, that He brought them out to have them die in the wilderness.’ [29]Yet they are Your very own people, whom You freed with Your great might and Your outstretched arm.”

10 Thereupon the Lord said to me, “Carve out two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to Me on the mountain; and make an ark of wood. [2]I will inscribe on the tablets the commandments that were on the first tablets that you smashed, and you shall deposit them in the ark.”

[3]I made an ark of acacia wood and carved out two tablets of stone like the first; I took the two tablets with me and went up the mountain. [4]The Lord inscribed on the tablets the same text as on the first, the Ten Commandments that He addressed to you on the mountain out of the fire on the day of the Assembly; and the Lord gave them to me. [5]Then I left and went down from the mountain, and I deposited the tablets in the ark that I had made, where they still are, as the Lord had commanded me.

[6]From Beeroth-bene-jaakan[a] the Israelites marched to Moserah. Aaron died there and was buried there; and his son Eleazar became priest in his stead. [7]From there they marched to Gudgod,[b] and from Gudgod to Jotbath, a region of running brooks.

[8]At that time the Lord set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the Ark of the Lord’s Covenant, to stand in attendance upon the Lord, and to bless in His name, as is still the case. [9]That is why the Levites have received no hereditary portion along with their kinsmen: the Lord is their portion, as the Lord your God spoke concerning them.

[10]I had stayed on the mountain, as I did the first time, forty days and forty nights; and the LORD heeded me once again: the LORD agreed not to destroy you. [11]And the LORD said to me, "Up, resume the march at the head of the people, that they may go in and possess the land that I swore to their fathers to give them."

[12]And now, O Israel, what does the LORD your God demand of you? Only this: to revere the LORD your God, to walk only in His paths, to love Him, and to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and soul, [13]keeping the LORD's commandments and laws, which I enjoin upon you today, for your good. [14]Mark, the heavens [c]-to their uttermost reaches-[c] belong to the LORD your God, the earth and all that is on it! [15]Yet it was to your fathers that the LORD was drawn in His love for them, so that He chose you, their lineal descendants, from among all peoples—as is now the case. [16]Cut away, therefore, the thickening about your hearts and stiffen your necks no more. [17]For the LORD your God is [d]-God supreme and Lord supreme,-[d] the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who shows no favor and takes no bribe, [18]but upholds the cause of the fatherless and the widow, and befriends the stranger, providing him with food and clothing.—[19]You too must befriend the stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt.

[20]You must revere the LORD your God: only Him shall you worship, to Him shall you hold fast, and by His name shall you swear. [21]He is your glory and He is your God, who wrought for you those marvelous, awesome deeds that you saw with your own eyes. [22]Your ancestors went down to Egypt seventy persons in all; and now the LORD your God has made you as numerous as the stars of heaven.

Love, therefore, the LORD your God, and always keep His charge, His laws, His rules, and His commandments.

[2][a]Take thought this day that it was not your children, who neither experienced nor witnessed the lesson of the LORD your God—

His majesty, His mighty hand, His outstretched arm; [3]the signs and the deeds that He performed in Egypt against Pharaoh king of Egypt and all his land; [4]what He did to Egypt's army, its horses and chariots; how the LORD rolled back upon them the waters of the Sea of Reeds when they were pursuing you, thus destroying them [b]once and for all;[-b] [5]what He did for you in the wilderness before you arrived in this place; [6]and what He did to Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab son of Reuben, when the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them, along with their households, their tents, and every living thing in their train, from amidst all Israel—

[7]but that it was you who saw with your own eyes all the marvelous deeds that the LORD performed.

[8]Keep, therefore, all the Instruction that I enjoin upon you today, so that you may have the strength to enter and take possession of the land that you are about to cross into and possess, [9]and that you may long endure upon the soil that the LORD swore to your fathers to assign to them and to their heirs, a land flowing with milk and honey.

[10]For the land that you are about to enter and possess is not like the land of Egypt from which you have come. There the grain you sowed had to be watered by your own labors,[c] like a vegetable garden; [11]but the land you are about to cross into and possess, a land of hills and valleys, soaks up its water from the rains of heaven. [12]It is a land which the LORD your God looks after, on which the LORD your God always keeps His eye, from year's beginning to year's end.

[26]See, this day I set before you blessing and curse: [27]blessing, if you obey the commandments of the LORD your God that I enjoin upon you this day; [28]and curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn away from the path that I enjoin upon you this day and follow other gods, [h]-whom you have not experienced.-[h] [29]When the LORD your God brings you into the land that you are about to enter and possess, you shall pronounce the blessing at Mount Gerizim and the curse at Mount Ebal.—[30]Both are on the other side of the Jordan, beyond the west road that is in the land of the Canaanites who dwell in the Arabah—near Gilgal, by the terebinths of Moreh.

[31]For you are about to cross the Jordan to enter and possess the land that the LORD your God is assigning to you. When you have occupied it and are settled in it, [32]take care to observe all the laws and rules that I have set before you this day.

These are the laws and rules that you must carefully observe in the land that the LORD, God of your fathers, is giving you to possess, as long as you live on earth.

[2]You must destroy all the sites at which the nations you are to dispossess worshiped their gods, whether on lofty mountains and on hills or under any luxuriant tree. 3Tear down their altars, smash their pillars, put their sacred posts to the fire, and cut down the images of their gods, obliterating their name from that site.

4Do not worship the LORD your God in like manner, 5but look only to the site that the LORD your God will choose amidst all your tribes as His habitation, to establish His name there. There you are to go, 6and there you are to bring your burnt offerings and other sacrifices, your tithes and contributions,[a] your votive and freewill offerings, and the firstlings of your herds and flocks. 7Together with your households, you shall feast there before the LORD your God, happy in all the undertakings in which the LORD your God has blessed you.

8You shall not act at all as we now act here, every man as he pleases, 9because you have not yet come to the allotted haven that the LORD your God is giving you. 10When you cross the Jordan and settle in the land that the LORD your God is allotting to you, and He grants you safety from all your enemies around you and you live in security, 11then you must bring everything that I command you to the site where the LORD your God will choose to establish His name: your burnt offerings and other sacrifices, your tithes and contributions,[a] and all the choice votive offerings that you vow to the LORD. 12And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God with your sons and daughters and with your male and female slaves, along with the Levite in your settlements, for he has no territorial allotment among you.

13Take care not to sacrifice your burnt offerings in any place you like, 14but only in the place that the LORD will choose in one of your tribal territories. There you shall sacrifice your burnt offerings and there you shall observe all that I enjoin upon you. 15But whenever you desire, you may slaughter and eat meat in any of your settlements, according to the blessing that the LORD your God has granted you. The unclean and the clean alike may partake of it, as of the gazelle and the deer.[b] 16But you must not partake of the blood; you shall pour it out on the ground like water.

17You may not partake in your settlements of the tithes of your new grain or wine or oil, or of the firstlings of your herds and flocks, or of any of the votive offerings that you vow, or of your freewill offerings, or of your contributions.[a] 18These you must consume before the LORD your God in the place that the LORD your God will choose—you and your sons and your daughters, your male and female slaves, and the Levite in your settlements—happy before the LORD your God in all your undertakings. 19Be sure not to neglect the Levite as long as you live in your land.

20When the LORD enlarges your territory, as He has promised you, and you say, "I shall eat some meat," for you have the urge to eat meat, you may eat meat whenever you wish. 21If the place where the LORD has chosen to establish His name is too far from you, you may slaughter any of the cattle or sheep that the LORD gives you, as I have instructed you; and you may eat to your heart's content in your settlements. 22Eat it, however, as the gazelle and the deer are eaten: the unclean may eat it together with the clean. 23But make sure that you do not partake of the blood; for the blood is the life, and you must not consume the life with the flesh. 24You must not partake of it; you must pour it out on the ground like water: 25you must not partake of it, in order that it may go well with you and with your descendants to come, for you will be doing what is right in the sight of the LORD.

may have [c]shall be taken by you[c] to the site that the LORD will choose. [27]You shall offer your burnt offerings, both the flesh and the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God; and of your other sacrifices, the blood shall be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, and you shall eat the flesh.

[28]Be careful to heed all these commandments that I enjoin upon you; thus it will go well with you and with your descendants after you forever, for you will be doing what is good and right in the sight of the LORD your God.

[29]When the LORD your God has cut down before you the nations that you are about to enter and dispossess, and you have dispossessed them and settled in their land, [30]beware of being lured into their ways after they have been wiped out before you! Do not inquire about their gods, saying, "How did those nations worship their gods? I too will follow those practices." [31]You shall not act thus toward the LORD your God, for they perform for their gods every abhorrent act that the LORD detests; they even offer up their sons and daughters in fire to their gods.

[1]Be careful to observe only that which I enjoin upon you: neither add to it nor take away from it.

[2]If there appears among you a prophet or a dream-diviner and he gives you a sign or a portent, [3]saying, "Let us follow and worship another god"—whom you have not experienced[a]—even if the sign or portent that he named to you comes true, [4]do not heed the words of that prophet or that dream-diviner. For the LORD your God is testing you to see whether you really love the LORD your God with all your heart and soul. [5]Follow none but the LORD your God, and revere none but Him; observe His command-that town to the sword and put its cattle to the sword. Doom it and all that is in it to destruction: [17]gather all its spoil into the open square, and burn the town and all its spoil as a holocaust to the LORD your God. And it shall remain an everlasting ruin, never to be rebuilt. [18]Let nothing that has been doomed stick to your hand, in order that the LORD may turn from His blazing anger and show you compassion, and in His compassion increase you as He promised your fathers on oath—[19]for you will be heeding the LORD your God, obeying all His commandments that I enjoin upon you this day, doing what is right in the sight of the LORD your God.

You are children of the LORD your God. You shall not gash yourselves or shave the front of your heads because of the dead. [2]For you are a people consecrated to the LORD your God: the LORD your God chose you from among all other peoples on earth to be His treasured people.

[3]You shall not eat anything abhorrent. [4]These are the animals that you may eat: the ox, the sheep, and the goat; [5][a] the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex, the antelope, the mountain sheep, [6]and any other animal that has true hoofs which are cleft in two and brings up the cud—such you may eat. [7]But the following, which do bring up the cud or have true hoofs which are cleft through, you may not eat: the camel, the hare, and the daman—for although they bring up the cud, they have no true hoofs—they are unclean for you; [8]also the swine—for although it has true hoofs, it does not bring up the cud—is unclean for you. You shall not eat of their flesh or touch their carcasses.

[9]These you may eat of all that live in water: you may eat anything that has fins and scales.

a A number of these creatures cannot be identified with certainty.

the year of remission, is approaching," so that you are mean to your needy kinsman and give him nothing. He will cry out to the LORD against you, and you will incur guilt. 10Give to him readily and have no regrets when you do so, for in return the LORD your God will bless you in all your efforts and in all your undertakings. 11For there will never cease to be needy ones in your land, which is why I command you: open your hand to the poor and needy kinsman in your land.

12If a fellow Hebrew, man or woman, is sold to you, he shall serve you six years, and in the seventh year you shall set him free. 13When you set him free, do not let him go empty-handed: 14Furnish him out of the flock, threshing floor, and vat, with which the LORD your God has blessed you. 15Bear in mind that you were slaves in the land of Egypt and the LORD your God redeemed you; therefore I enjoin this commandment upon you today.

16But should he say to you, "I do not want to leave you"—for he loves you and your household and is happy with you—17you shall take an awl and put it through his ear into the door, and he shall become your slave in perpetuity. Do the same with your female slave. 18When you do set him free, do not feel aggrieved; for in the six years he has given you double the service of a hired man. Moreover, the LORD your God will bless you in all you do.

19You shall consecrate to the LORD your God all male firstlings that are born in your herd and in your flock: you must not work your firstling ox or shear your firstling sheep. 20You and your household shall eat it annually before the LORD your God in the place that the LORD will choose. 21But if it has a defect, lameness or blindness, any serious defect, you shall not sacrifice it to the LORD your God. 22Eat it in your settlements, 16 Observe the month[a] of Abib and offer a passover sacrifice to the LORD your God, for it was in the month[a] of Abib, at night, that the LORD your God freed you from Egypt. [2]You shall slaughter the passover sacrifice for the LORD your God, from the flock and the herd, in the place where the LORD will choose to establish His name. [3]You shall not eat anything leavened with it; for seven days thereafter[b] you shall eat unleavened bread, bread of distress—for you departed from the land of Egypt hurriedly—so that you may remember the day of your departure from the land of Egypt as long as you live. [4]For seven days no leaven shall be found with you in all your territory, and none of the flesh of what you slaughter on the evening of the first day shall be left until morning.

[5]You are not permitted to slaughter the passover sacrifice in any of the settlements that the LORD your God is giving you; [6]but at the place where the LORD your God will choose to establish His name, there alone shall you slaughter the passover sacrifice, in the evening, at sundown, the time of day when you departed from Egypt. [7]You shall cook and eat it at the place that the LORD your God will choose; and in the morning you may start back on your journey home. [8]After eating unleavened bread six days, you shall hold a solemn gathering[c] for the LORD your God on the seventh day: you shall do no work.

miliar spirits, or one who inquires of the dead. [12]For anyone who does such things is abhorrent to the LORD, and it is because of these abhorrent things that the LORD your God is dispossessing them before you. [13]You must be wholehearted with the LORD your God. [14]Those nations that you are about to dispossess do indeed resort to soothsayers and augurs; to you, however, the LORD your God has not assigned the like.

[15]The LORD your God will raise up for you a prophet from among your own people, like myself; him you shall heed. [16]This is just what you asked of the LORD your God at Horeb, on the day of the Assembly, saying, "Let me not hear the voice of the LORD my God any longer or see this wondrous fire any more, lest I die." [17]Whereupon the LORD said to me, "They have done well in speaking thus. [18]I will raise up a prophet for them from among their own people, like yourself: I will put My words in his mouth and he will speak to them all that I command him; [19]and if anybody fails to heed the words he speaks in My name, I Myself will call him to account. [20]But any prophet who presumes to speak in My name an oracle that I did not command him to utter, or who speaks in the name of other gods—that prophet shall die." [21]And should you ask yourselves, "How can we know that the oracle was not spoken by the LORD?"—[22]if the prophet speaks in the name of the LORD and the oracle does not come true, that oracle was not spoken by the LORD; the prophet has uttered it presumptuously: do not stand in dread of him.

LORD your God is giving you to possess. [3]You shall survey the distances, and divide into three parts the territory of the country that the LORD your God has allotted to you, so that any manslayer may have a place to flee to.—[4]Now this is the case of the manslayer who may flee there and live: one who has killed another unwittingly, without having been his enemy in the past. [5]For instance, a man goes with his neighbor into a grove to cut wood; as his hand swings the ax to cut down a tree, the ax-head flies off the handle and strikes the other so that he dies. That man shall flee to one of these cities and live.—[6]Otherwise, when the distance is great, the blood-avenger, pursuing the manslayer in hot anger, may overtake him and kill him; yet he did not incur the death penalty, since he had never been the other's enemy. [7]That is why I command you: set aside three cities.

[8]And when the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as He swore to your fathers, and gives you all the land that He promised to give your fathers—[9]if you faithfully observe all this Instruction that I enjoin upon you this day, to love the LORD your God and to walk in His ways at all times—then you shall add three more towns to those three. [10]Thus blood of the innocent will not be shed, bringing bloodguilt upon you in the land that the LORD your God is allotting to you.

[11]If, however, a person who is the enemy of another lies in wait for him and sets upon him and strikes him a fatal blow and then flees to one of these towns, [12]the elders of his town shall have him brought back from there and shall hand him over to the blood-avenger to be put to death; [13]you must show him no pity. Thus you will purge Israel of the blood of the innocent,[a] and it will go well with you.

landmarks, set up by previous generations, in the property that will be allotted to you in the land that the LORD your God is giving you to possess.

[15]A single witness may not validate against a person any guilt or blame for any offense that may be committed; a case can be valid only on the testimony of two witnesses or more.[b] [16]If a man appears against another to testify maliciously and gives false testimony against him, [17]the two parties to the dispute shall appear before the LORD, before the priests or magistrates in authority at the time, [18]and the magistrates shall make a thorough investigation. If the man who testified is a false witness, if he has testified falsely against his fellow, [19]you shall do to him as he schemed to do to his fellow. Thus you will sweep out evil from your midst; [20]others will hear and be afraid, and such evil things will not again be done in your midst. [21]Nor must you show pity: life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

20 When you take the field against your enemies, and see horses and chariots—forces larger than yours—have no fear of them, for the LORD your God, who brought you from the land of Egypt, is with you. [2]Before you join battle, the priest shall come forward and address the troops. [3]He shall say to them, "Hear, O Israel! You are about to join battle with your enemy. Let not your courage falter. Do not be in fear, or in panic, or in dread of them. [4]For it is the LORD your God who marches with you to do battle for you against your enemy, to bring you victory."

Let him go back to his home, lest he die in battle and another harvest it. [7]Is there anyone who has paid the bride-price for a wife,[a] but who has not yet married her? Let him go back to his home, lest he die in battle and another marry her." [8]The officials shall go on addressing the troops and say, "Is there anyone afraid and disheartened? Let him go back to his home, lest the courage of his comrades flag like his." [9]When the officials have finished addressing the troops, army commanders shall assume command of the troops.

[10]When you approach a town to attack it, you shall [b-]offer it terms of peace.[-b] [11]If it responds peaceably and lets you in, all the people present there shall serve you at forced labor. [12]If it does not surrender to you, but would join battle with you, you shall lay siege to it; [13]and when the LORD your God delivers it into your hand, you shall put all its males to the sword. [14]You may, however, take as your booty the women, the children, the livestock, and everything in the town—all its spoil—and enjoy the use of the spoil of your enemy, which the LORD your God gives you.

[15]Thus you shall deal with all towns that lie very far from you, towns that do not belong to nations hereabout. [16]In the towns of the latter peoples, however, which the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, you shall not let a soul remain alive. [17]No, you must proscribe[c] them—the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites—as the LORD your God has commanded you, [18]lest they lead you into doing all the abhorrent things that they have done for their gods and you stand guilty before the LORD your God.

[19]When in your war against a city you have to besiege it a long time in order to capture it, you must not destroy its trees, wielding the ax against them. You may eat of them, but you must not cut them down. Are trees of the field human to withdraw before you into the besieged city? [20]Only trees that you know do not yield food may be destroyed; you may cut them down for constructing siegeworks against the city that is waging war on you, until it has been reduced.

If, in the land that the LORD your God is assigning you to possess, someone slain is found lying in the open, the identity of the slayer not being known, [2]your elders and magistrates shall go out and measure the distances from the corpse to the nearby towns. [3]The elders of the town nearest to the corpse shall then take a heifer which has never been worked, which has never pulled in a yoke; [4]and the elders of that town shall bring the heifer down to an everflowing wadi, which is not tilled or sown. There, in the wadi, they shall break the heifer's neck. [5]The priests, sons of Levi, shall come forward; for the LORD your God has chosen them to minister to Him and to pronounce blessing in the name of the LORD, and every lawsuit and case of assault[a] is subject to their ruling. [6]Then all the elders of the town nearest to the corpse shall wash their hands over the heifer whose neck was broken in the wadi. [7]And they shall make this declaration: "Our hands did not shed this blood, nor did our eyes see it done. [8]Absolve, O LORD, Your people Israel whom You redeemed, and do not let guilt for the blood of the innocent remain among Your people Israel." And they will be absolved of bloodguilt. [9]Thus you will remove from your midst guilt for the blood of the innocent, for you will be doing what is right in the sight of the LORD.

[10]When you take the field against your enemies, and the LORD your God delivers them into your power and you take some of them captive, [11]and you see among the captives a beautiful woman and you desire her and would take her to wife, [12]you shall bring her into your house, and she shall trim her hair, pare her nails, [13]and discard her captive's garb. She shall spend a month's time in your house lamenting her father and mother; after that you may come to her and possess her, and she shall be your wife. [14]Then, should you no longer want her, you must release her outright. You must not sell her for money: since you had your will of her, you must not enslave her.

Moreover, she shall remain his wife; he shall never have the right to divorce her.

[20]But if the charge proves true, the girl was found not to have been a virgin, [21]then the girl shall be brought out to the entrance of her father's house, and the men of her town shall stone her to death; for she did a shameful thing in Israel, committing fornication while under her father's authority. Thus you will sweep away evil from your midst.

A man takes a wife and possesses her. She fails to please him because he finds something obnoxious about her, and he writes her a bill of divorcement, hands it to her, and sends her away from his house; [2]she leaves his household and becomes the wife of another man; [3]then this latter man rejects her, writes her a bill of divorcement, hands it to her, and sends her away from his house; or the man who married her last dies. [4]Then the first husband who divorced her shall not take her to wife again, since she has been defiled[a]—for that would be abhorrent to the LORD. pear before the elders in the gate and declare, "My husband's brother refuses to establish a name in Israel for his brother; he will not perform the duty of a levir." [8]The elders of his town shall then summon him and talk to him. If he insists, saying, "I do not want to marry her," [9]his brother's widow shall go up to him in the presence of the elders, pull the sandal off his foot, spit in his face, and make this declaration: Thus shall be done to the man who will not build up his brother's house! [10]And he shall go in Israel by the name of "the family of the unsandaled one."

[11]If two men get into a fight with each other, and the wife of one comes up to save her husband from his antagonist and puts out her hand and seizes him by his genitals, [12]you shall cut off her hand; show no pity.

[13]You shall not have in your pouch alternate weights, larger and smaller. [14]You shall not have in your house alternate measures, a larger and a smaller. [15]You must have completely honest weights and completely honest measures, if you are to endure long on the soil that the LORD your God is giving you. [16]For everyone who does those things, everyone who deals dishonestly, is abhorrent to the LORD your God.

[17]Remember what Amalek did to you on your journey, after you left Egypt—[18]how, undeterred by fear of God, he surprised you on the march, when you were famished and weary, and cut down all the stragglers in your rear. [19]Therefore, when the LORD your God grants you safety from all your enemies around you, in the land that the LORD your God is giving you as a hereditary portion, you shall blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven. Do not forget!

When you enter the land that the LORD your God is giving you as a heritage, and you possess it and settle in it, [2]you shall take some of every first fruit of the soil, which you harvest from the land that the LORD your God is giving you, put it in a basket and go to the place where the LORD your God will choose to establish His name. [3]You shall go to the priest in charge at that time and say to him, "I acknowledge this day before the LORD your God that I have entered the land that the LORD swore to our fathers to assign us."

[4]The priest shall take the basket from your hand and set it down in front of the altar of the LORD your God.

[5]You shall then recite as follows before the LORD your God: "My father was a fugitive Aramean. He went down to Egypt with meager numbers and sojourned there; but there he became a great and very populous nation. [6]The Egyptians dealt harshly with us and oppressed us; they imposed heavy labor upon us. [7]We cried to the LORD, the God of our fathers, and the LORD heard our plea and saw our plight, our misery, and our oppression. [8]The LORD freed us from Egypt by a mighty hand, by an outstretched arm and awesome power, and by signs and portents. [9]He brought us to this place and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. [10]Wherefore I now bring the first fruits of the soil which You, O LORD, have given me."

You shall leave it[a] before the LORD your God and bow low before the LORD your God. [11]And you shall enjoy, together with the Levite and the stranger in your midst, all the bounty that the LORD your God has bestowed upon you and your household.

[12]When you have set aside in full the tenth part of your yield—in the third year, the year the LORD your God is giving you, you shall set up large stones. Coat them with plaster 3and inscribe upon them all the words of this Teaching. When you cross over to enter the land that the LORD your God is giving you, a land flowing with milk and honey, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, promised you—4upon crossing the Jordan, you shall set up these stones, about which I charge you this day, on Mount Ebal, and coat them with plaster. 5There, too, you shall build an altar to the LORD your God, an altar of stones. Do not wield an iron tool over them; 6you must build the altar of the LORD your God of unhewn[b] stones. You shall offer on it burnt offerings to the LORD your God, 7and you shall sacrifice there offerings of well-being and eat them, rejoicing before the LORD your God. 8And on those stones you shall inscribe every word of this Teaching most distinctly.

9Moses and the levitical priests spoke to all Israel, saying: Silence! Hear, O Israel! Today you have become the people of the LORD your God: 10Heed the LORD your God and observe His commandments and His laws, which I enjoin upon you this day.

11Thereupon Moses charged the people, saying: 12[c]After you have crossed the Jordan, the following shall stand on Mount Gerizim when the blessing for the people is spoken: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin. 13And for the curse, the following shall stand on Mount Ebal: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali. 14The Levites shall then proclaim in a loud voice to all the people of Israel:

15Cursed be anyone who makes a sculptured or molten image, abhorred by the LORD, a craftsman's handiwork, and sets it up in secret.—And all the people shall respond, Amen.

[11]The Lord will give you abounding prosperity in the issue of your womb, the offspring of your cattle, and the produce of your soil in the land that the Lord swore to your fathers to assign to you. [12]The Lord will open for you His bounteous store, the heavens, to provide rain for your land in season and to bless all your undertakings. You will be creditor to many nations, but debtor to none.

[13]The Lord will make you the head, not the tail; you will always be at the top and never at the bottom—if only you obey and faithfully observe the commandments of the Lord your God that I enjoin upon you this day, [14]and do not deviate to the right or to the left from any of the commandments that I enjoin upon you this day and turn to the worship of other gods.

v. 14. מלא ו׳

[15]But if you do not obey the LORD your God to observe faithfully all His commandments and laws which I enjoin upon you this day, all these curses shall come upon you and take effect:

[16]Cursed shall you be in the city and cursed shall you be in the country.

[17]Cursed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl.

[18]Cursed shall be the issue of your womb and the produce of your soil, the calving of your herd and the lambing of your flock.

[19]Cursed shall you be in your comings and cursed shall you be in your goings.

[20]The LORD will let loose against you calamity, panic, and frustration in all the enterprises you undertake, so that you shall soon be utterly wiped out because of your evildoing in forsaking Me. [21]The LORD will make pestilence cling to you, until He has put an end to you in the land that you are entering to possess. [22]The LORD will strike you with [c]consumption, fever, and inflammation, with scorching heat and drought, with blight and mildew; they shall hound you until you perish. [23]The skies above your head shall be copper and the earth under you iron. [24]The LORD will make the rain of your land dust, and sand shall drop on you from the sky, until you are wiped out.

[25]The LORD will put you to rout before your enemies; you shall march out against them by a single road, but flee from them by many[a] roads; and you shall become a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. [26]Your carcasses shall become food for all the birds of the sky and all the beasts of the earth, with none to frighten them off.

[27]The LORD will strike you with the Egyptian inflammation,[d] with hemorrhoids, boil-scars, and itch, from which you shall never recover.

[30]If you pay the bride-price for a wife, another man shall enjoy her. If you build a house, you shall not live in it. If you plant a vineyard, you shall not harvest it.[f] [31]Your ox shall be slaughtered before your eyes, but you shall not eat of it; your ass shall be seized in front of you, and it shall not be returned to you; your flock shall be delivered to your enemies, with none to help you. [32]Your sons and daughters shall be delivered to another people, while you look on; and your eyes shall strain for them constantly, but you shall be helpless. [33]A people you do not know shall eat up the produce of your soil and all your gains; you shall be abused and downtrodden continually, [34]until you are driven mad by what your eyes behold. [35]The LORD will afflict you at the knees and thighs with a severe inflammation, from which you shall never recover—from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head.

[36]The LORD will drive you, and the king you have set over you, to a nation unknown to you or your fathers, where you shall serve other gods, of wood and stone. [37]You shall be a consternation, a proverb, and a byword among all the peoples to which the LORD will drive you.

daughters, they shall not remain with you, for they shall go into captivity. 42The cricket shall take over all the trees and produce of your land.

45All these curses shall befall you; they shall pursue you and overtake you, until you are wiped out, because you did not heed the LORD your God and keep the commandments and laws that He enjoined upon you. 46They shall serve as signs and proofs against you and your offspring for all time. 47Because you would not serve the LORD your God in joy and gladness over the abundance of everything, 48you shall have to serve—in hunger and thirst, naked and lacking everything—the enemies whom the LORD will let loose against you. He will put an iron yoke upon your neck until He has wiped you out.

49The LORD will bring a nation against you from afar, from the end of the earth, which will swoop down like the eagle—a nation whose language you do not understand, 50a ruthless nation, that will show the old no regard and the young no mercy. 51It shall devour the offspring of your cattle and the produce of your soil, until you have been wiped out, leaving you nothing of new grain, wine, or oil, of the calving of your herds and the lambing of your flocks, until it has brought you to ruin. 52It shall shut you up in all your towns throughout your land until every mighty, towering wall in which you trust has come down. And when you are shut up in all your towns throughout your land that the LORD your God has assigned to you, 53you shall eat your own issue, the flesh of your sons and daughters that the LORD your God has assigned to you, because of the desperate straits to which your enemy shall reduce you. 54He who is most [58]If you fail to observe faithfully all the terms of this Teaching that are written in this book, to reverence this honored and awesome Name, the LORD your God, [59]the LORD will inflict extraordinary plagues upon you and your offspring, strange and lasting plagues, malignant and chronic diseases. took their land and gave it to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh as their heritage. [8]Therefore observe faithfully all the terms of this covenant, that you may succeed in all that you undertake.

NITSAVIM

[9]You stand this day, all of you, before the LORD your God—your tribal heads, your elders and your officials, all the men of Israel, [10]your children, your wives, even the stranger within your camp, from woodchopper to water drawer—[11]to enter into the covenant of the LORD your God, which the LORD your God is concluding with you this day, with its sanctions;[a] [12]to the end that He may establish you this day as His people and be your God, as He promised you and as He swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. [13]I make this covenant, with its sanctions, not with you alone, [14]but both with those who are standing here with us this day before the LORD our God and with those who are not with us here this day.

[15]Well you know that we dwelt in the land of Egypt and that we passed through the midst of various other nations; [16]and you have seen the detestable things and the fetishes of wood and stone, silver and gold, that they keep. [17]Perchance there is among you some man or woman, or some clan or tribe, whose heart is even now turning away from the LORD our God to go and worship the gods of those nations—perchance there is among you a stock sprouting poison weed and wormwood. [18]When such a one hears the words of these sanctions, he may fancy himself immune, thinking, "I shall be safe, though I follow my own willful heart"—to the utter ruin of moist and dry alike.[b] [19]The LORD will never forgive him; rather will the LORD's anger and passion rage against that man, till every sanction recorded in this book comes down upon him, and the LORD blots out his name from under heaven.

20The LORD will single them[c] out from all the tribes of Israel for misfortune, in accordance with all the sanctions of the covenant recorded in this book of Teaching. 21And later generations will ask—the children who succeed you, and foreigners who come from distant lands and see the plagues and diseases that the LORD has inflicted upon that land, 22all its soil devastated by sulfur and salt, beyond sowing and producing, no grass growing in it, just like the upheaval of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the LORD overthrew in His fierce anger—23all nations will ask, "Why did the LORD do thus to this land? Wherefore that awful wrath?" 24They will be told, "Because they forsook the covenant that the LORD, God of their fathers, made with them when He freed them from the land of Egypt; 25they turned to the service of other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they had not experienced[d] and whom He had not allotted[e] to them. 26So the LORD was incensed at that land and brought upon it all the curses recorded in this book. 27The LORD uprooted them from their soil in anger, fury, and great wrath, and cast them into another land, as is still the case."

various nations to which the LORD your God has banished you, [2]and you return to the LORD your God, and you and your children heed His command with all your heart and soul, just as I enjoin upon you this day, [3]then the LORD your God will restore your fortunes[a] and take you back in love. He will bring you together again from all the peoples where the LORD your God has scattered you. [4]Even if your outcasts are at the ends of the world,[b] from there the LORD your God will gather you, from there He will fetch you. [5]And the LORD your God will bring you to the land that your fathers possessed, and you shall possess it; and He will make you more prosperous and more numerous than your fathers.

[6]Then the LORD your God will open up[c] your heart and the hearts of your offspring to love the LORD your God with all your heart and soul, in order that you may live. [7]The LORD your God will inflict all those curses upon the enemies and foes who persecuted you. [8]You, however, will again heed the LORD and obey all His commandments that I enjoin upon you this day. [9]And the LORD your God will grant you abounding prosperity in all your undertakings, in the issue of your womb, the offspring of your cattle, and the produce of your soil. For the LORD will again delight in your well-being, as He did in that of your fathers, [10]since you will be heeding the LORD your God and keeping His commandments and laws that are recorded in this book of the Teaching—once you return to the LORD your God with all your heart and soul.

shall cross before you, as the LORD has spoken.—[4]The LORD will do to them as He did to Sihon and Og, kings of the Amorites, and to their countries, when He wiped them out. [5]The LORD will deliver them up to you, and you shall deal with them in full accordance with the Instruction that I have enjoined upon you. [6]Be strong and resolute, be not in fear or in dread of them; for the LORD your God Himself marches with you: He will not fail you or forsake you.

[7]Then Moses called Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel: "Be strong and resolute, for it is you who shall go with this people into the land that the LORD swore to their fathers to give them, and it is you who shall apportion it to them. [8]And the LORD Himself will go before you. He will be with you; He will not fail you or forsake you. Fear not and be not dismayed!"

[9]Moses wrote down this Teaching and gave it to the priests, sons of Levi, who carried the Ark of the LORD's Covenant, and to all the elders of Israel.

[10]And Moses instructed them as follows: Every seventh year,[c] the year set for remission, at the Feast of Booths, [11]when all Israel comes to appear before the LORD your God in the place that He will choose, you shall read this Teaching aloud in the presence of all Israel. [12]Gather the people—men, women, children, and the strangers in your communities—that they may hear and so learn to revere the LORD your God and to observe faithfully every word of this Teaching. [13]Their children, too, who have not had the experience, shall hear and learn to revere the LORD your God as long as they live in the land that you are about to cross the Jordan to possess.

[14]The LORD said to Moses: The time is drawing near for you to die. Call Joshua and present yourselves in the Tent of Meeting, that I may instruct him. Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the Tent of Meeting. 15The LORD appeared in the Tent, in a pillar of cloud, the pillar of cloud having come to rest at the entrance of the tent.

16The LORD said to Moses: You are soon to lie with your fathers. This people will thereupon go astray after the alien gods in their midst, in the land that they are about to enter; they will forsake Me and break My covenant that I made with them. 17Then My anger will flare up against them, and I will abandon them and hide My countenance from them. They shall be ready prey; and many evils and troubles shall befall them. And they shall say on that day, "Surely it is because our God is not in our midst that these evils have befallen us." 18Yet I will keep My countenance hidden on that day, because of all the evil they have done in turning to other gods. 19Therefore, write down this poem and teach it to the people of Israel; put it in their mouths, in order that this poem may be My witness against the people of Israel. 20When I bring them into the land flowing with milk and honey that I promised on oath to their fathers, and they eat their fill and grow fat and turn to other gods and serve them, spurning Me and breaking My covenant, 21and the many evils and troubles befall them—then this poem shall confront them as a witness, since it will never be lost from the mouth of their offspring. For I know what plans they are devising even now, before I bring them into the land that I promised on oath.

22That day, Moses wrote down this poem and taught it to the Israelites.

23And He charged Joshua son of Nun: "Be strong and resolute: for you shall bring the Israelites into the land that I promised them on oath, and I will be with you."

words of this Teaching to the very end, [25]Moses charged the Levites who carried the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD, saying: [26]Take this book of Teaching and place it beside the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD your God, and let it remain there as a witness against you. [27]Well I know how defiant and stiffnecked you are: even now, while I am still alive in your midst, you have been defiant toward the LORD; how much more, then, when I am dead! [28]Gather to me all the elders of your tribes and your officials, that I may speak all these words to them and that I may call heaven and earth to witness against them. [29]For I know that, when I am dead, you will act wickedly and turn away from the path that I enjoined upon you, and that in time to come misfortune will befall you for having done evil in the sight of the LORD and vexed Him by your deeds.

[30]Then Moses recited the words of this poem to the very end, in the hearing of the whole congregation of Israel:

32 HA'AZINU

Give ear, O heavens, let me speak;
Let the earth hear the words I utter!
[2]May my discourse come down as the rain,
My speech distill as the dew,
Like showers on young growth,
Like droplets on the grass.[a]
[3]For the name of the LORD I proclaim;
Give glory to our God!

[4]The Rock!—His deeds are perfect,
Yea, all His ways are just;
A faithful God, never false,
True and upright is He.
[5][b]Children unworthy of Him—
That crooked, perverse generation—
Their baseness has played Him false.

6Do you thus requite the LORD,
O dull and witless people?
Is not He the Father who created you,
Fashioned you and made you endure!

7Remember the days of old,
Consider the years of ages past;
Ask your father, he will inform you,
Your elders, they will tell you:
8When the Most High gave nations their homes
And set the divisions of man,
He fixed the boundaries of peoples
In relation to Israel's numbers.
9For the LORD's portion is His people,
Jacob His own allotment.

10He found him in a desert region,
In an empty howling waste.
He engirded him, watched over him,
Guarded him as the pupil of His eye.
11Like an eagle who rouses his nestlings,
Gliding down to his young,
So did He spread His wings and take him,
Bear him along on His pinions;
12The LORD alone did guide him,
No alien god at His side.

13He set him atop the highlands,
To feast on the yield of the earth;
He fed him honey from the crag,
And oil from the flinty rock,
14Curd of kine and milk of flocks;
With the best[c] of lambs,
And rams of Bashan, and he-goats;
With the [d]very finest[d] wheat—
And foaming grape-blood was your drink.

15So Jeshurun grew fat and kicked—
You grew fat and gross and coarse[e]—
He forsook the God who made him

19The LORD saw and was vexed
And spurned His sons and His daughters.

I will hide My countenance from them,
And see how they fare in the end.
For they are a treacherous breed,
Children with no loyalty in them.
21They incensed Me with no-gods,

I'll incense them with a no-folk,

Deadly pestilence, and fanged beasts
Will I let loose against them,

v. 18. י׳ זעירא לפי נוסחים מקובלים

Their enemies who might misjudge
And say, "Our own hand has prevailed;
None of this was wrought by the LORD!"
28[i]For they are a folk void of sense,
Lacking in all discernment.
29Were they wise, they would think upon this,
Gain insight into their future:
30"How could one have routed a thousand,
Or two put ten thousand to flight,
Unless their Rock had sold them,
The LORD had given them up?"
31For their rock is not like our Rock,
[j]In our enemies' own[k] estimation.[j]

32Ah! The vine for them is from Sodom,
From the vineyards of Gomorrah;
The grapes for them are poison,
A bitter growth their clusters.
33Their wine is the venom of asps,
The pitiless poison of vipers.
34Lo, I have it all put away,
Sealed up in My storehouses,
35To be My vengeance and recompense,
At the time that their foot falters.
Yea, their day of disaster is near,
And destiny rushes upon them.

36For the LORD will vindicate His people
[l]And take revenge for[l] His servants,
When He sees that their might is gone,
37He will say: Where are their gods,
The rock in whom they sought refuge,
38Who ate the fat of their offerings
And drank their libation wine?
Let them rise up to your help,
And let them be a shield unto you!
39See, then, that I, I am He;

And say: As I live forever,
[41]When I whet My flashing blade
And My hand lays hold on judgment,
Vengeance will I wreak on My foes,
Will I deal to those who reject Me.
[42]I will make My arrows drunk with blood—
As My sword devours flesh—
Blood of the slain and the captive
From the long-haired enemy chiefs.

[43]O nations, acclaim His people!
For He'll avenge the blood of His servants,
Wreak vengeance on His foes,
And cleanse the land of His people.[m]

[44]Moses came, together with Hosea son of Nun, and recited all the words of this poem in the hearing of the people.

This is the blessing with which Moses, the man of God, bade the Israelites farewell before he died. [2]He said:

The LORD came from Sinai;
He shone upon them from Seir;
He appeared from Mount Paran,
And approached from Ribeboth-kodesh,[a]
Lightning flashing at them from His right.[b]

Their hallowed are all in Your hand.
They followed in Your steps,

As the heritage of the congregation of Jacob.
[5]Then He became King in Jeshurun,
When the heads of the people assembled,
The tribes of Israel together.

Though few be his numbers.

[7]And this he said of Judah:
Hear, O LORD the voice of Judah
And restore him to his people.

Help him against his foes.

a Cf. Meribath-kadesh, 32.51.
b Meaning of Heb. mimino 'eshdath uncertain, perhaps a place name.
c The meaning of vv. 3–5 is uncertain. An alternative rendering, with v. 3 apostrophizing Moses, is: [3]Then were, O lover of the people, / All His worshipers in your care; / They followed your lead, / Accepted your precepts. / [4]Moses charged us with the Teaching / As the heritage of the congregation of Jacob. / [5]Thus was he king in Jeshurun....
d-d Better (vocalizing rab with pathah*) "Make his hands strong for him." Cf.* rabbeh, Judg. 9.29.

[8]And of Levi he said:
Let Your Thummim and Urim
Be with Your faithful one,
Whom You tested at Massah,
Challenged at the waters of Meribah;
[9]Who said of his father and mother,
"I consider them not."
His brothers he disregarded,
Ignored his own children.
Your precepts alone they observed,
And kept Your covenant.
[10]They shall teach Your laws to Jacob
And Your instructions to Israel.
e-They shall offer You incense to savor-e
And whole-offerings on Your altar.
[11]Bless, O LORD, his substance,
And favor his undertakings.
Smite the loins of his foes;
Let his enemies rise no more.

[12]Of Benjamin he said:
Beloved of the LORD,
He rests securely beside Him;
Ever does He protect him,
f-As he rests between His shoulders.-f

[13]And of Joseph he said:
Blessed of the LORD be his land
With the bounty of dew[g] from heaven,
And of the deep that couches below;
[14]With the bounteous yield of the sun,
And the bounteous crop of the moons;
[15]With the best from the ancient mountains,
And the bounty of hills immemorial;
[16]With the bounty of earth and its fullness,
And the favor of the Presence[h] in the Bush.
May these rest on the head of Joseph,

e-e Lit. "They shall place incense in Your nostril."

Moses went up from the steppes of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the summit of Pisgah, opposite Jericho, and the LORD showed him the whole land: Gilead as far as Dan; [2]all Naphtali; the land of Ephraim and Manasseh; the whole land of Judah as far as the Western[a] Sea; [3]the Negeb; and the Plain—the Valley of Jericho, the city of palm trees—as far as Zoar. [4]And the LORD said to him, "This is the land of which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, 'I will assign it to your offspring.' I have let you see it with your own eyes, but you shall not cross there."

[5]So Moses the servant of the LORD died there, in the land of Moab, at the command of the LORD. [6]He buried him in the valley in the land of Moab, near Beth-peor; and no one knows his burial place to this day. [7]Moses was a hundred

After the death of Moses the servant of the LORD, the LORD said to Joshua son of Nun, Moses' attendant:

2"My servant Moses is dead. Prepare to cross the Jordan, together with all this people, into the land that I am giving to the Israelites. 3Every spot on which your foot treads I give to you, as I promised Moses. 4Your territory shall extend from the wilderness and the Lebanon to the Great River, the River Euphrates [on the east]—the whole Hittite country—and up to the Mediterranean[a] Sea on the west. 5No one shall be able to resist you as long as you live. As I was with Moses, so I will be with you; I will not fail you or forsake you.

6"Be strong and resolute, for you shall apportion to this people the land that I swore to their fathers to assign to them. 7But you must be very strong and resolute to observe faithfully all the Teaching that My servant Moses enjoined upon you. Do not deviate from it to the right or to the left, that you may be successful wherever you go. 8Let not this Book of the Teaching cease from your lips, but recite it day and night, so that you may observe faithfully all that is written in it. Only then will you prosper in your undertakings and only then will you be successful.

9"I charge you: Be strong and resolute; do not be terrified or dismayed, for the LORD your God is with you wherever you go."

10Joshua thereupon gave orders to the officials of the people: 11"Go through the camp

12Then Joshua said to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, 13"Remember what Moses the servant of the LORD enjoined upon you, when he said: 'The LORD your God is granting you a haven; He has assigned this territory to you.' 14Let your wives, children, and livestock remain in the land that Moses assigned to you [b]on this side of[b] the Jordan; but every one of your fighting men shall go across armed[c] in the van of your kinsmen. And you shall assist them 15until the LORD has given your kinsmen a haven, such as you have, and they too have gained possession of the land that the LORD your God has assigned to them. thereupon sent orders to Rahab: "Produce the men who came to you and entered your house, for they have come to spy out the whole country." [4]The woman, however, had taken the two men and hidden them. "It is true," she said, "the men did come to me, but I didn't know where they were from. [5]And at dark, when the gate was about to be closed, the men left; and I don't know where the men went. Quick, go after them, for you can overtake them."—[6]Now she had taken them up to the roof and hidden them under some stalks of flax which she had lying on the roof.—[7]So the men pursued them in the direction of the Jordan down to the fords; and no sooner had the pursuers gone out than the gate was shut behind them.

[8]*a-The spies-a* had not yet gone to sleep when she came up to them on the roof. [9]She said to the men, "I know that the LORD has given the country to you, because dread of you has fallen upon us, and all the inhabitants of the land are quaking before you. [10]For we have heard how the LORD dried up the waters of the Sea of Reeds for you when you left Egypt, and what you did to Sihon and Og, the two Amorite kings across the Jordan, whom you doomed.[b] [11]When we heard about it, we lost heart, and no man had any more spirit left because of you; for the LORD your God is the only God in heaven above and on earth below. [12]Now, since I have shown loyalty to you, swear to me by the LORD that you in turn will show loyalty to my family. Provide me with a reliable sign [13]that you will spare the lives of my father and mother, my brothers and sisters, and all who belong to them, and save us from death." [14]The men answered her, "Our persons are pledged for yours, even to death! If you do not disclose this mission of ours, we will show you true loyalty when the LORD gives us the land."

15She let them down by a rope through the window—for her dwelling was at the outer side of the city wall and she lived in the actual wall. 16She said to them, "Make for the hills, so that the pursuers may not come upon you. Stay there in hiding three days, until the pursuers return; then go your way."

17But the men warned her, "We will be released from this oath which you have made us take 18[unless,] when we invade the country, you tie this length of crimson cord to the window through which you let us down. Bring your father, your mother, your brothers, and all your family together in your house; 19and if anyone ventures outside the doors of your house, his blood will be on his head, and we shall be clear. But if a hand is laid on anyone who remains in the house with you, his blood shall be on our heads. 20And if you disclose this mission of ours, we shall likewise be released from the oath which you made us take." 21She replied, "Let it be as you say."

She sent them on their way, and they left; and she tied the crimson cord to the window.

22They went straight to the hills and stayed there three days, until the pursuers turned back. And so the pursuers, searching all along the road, did not find them.

23Then the two men came down again from the hills and crossed over. They came to Joshua son of Nun and reported to him all that had happened to them. 24They said to Joshua, "The LORD has delivered the whole land into our power; in fact, all the inhabitants of the land are quaking before us."

officials went through the camp [3]and charged the people as follows: "When you see the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD your God being borne by the levitical priests, you shall move forward. Follow it—[4]but keep a distance of some two thousand cubits from it, never coming any closer to it—so that you may know by what route to march, since it is a road you have not traveled before." [5]And Joshua said to the people, "Purify yourselves,[a] for tomorrow the LORD will perform wonders in your midst."

[6]Then Joshua ordered the priests, "Take up the Ark of the Covenant and advance to the head of the people." And they took up the Ark of the Covenant and marched at the head of the people.

[7]The LORD said to Joshua, "This day, for the first time, I will exalt you in the sight of all Israel, so that they shall know that I will be with you as I was with Moses. [8]For your part, command the priests who carry the Ark of the Covenant as follows: When you reach the edge of the waters of the Jordan, make a halt in the Jordan."

[9]And Joshua said to the Israelites, "Come closer and listen to the words of the LORD your God. [10]By this," Joshua continued, "you shall know that a living God is among you, and that He will dispossess for you the Canaanites, Hittites, Hivites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Amorites, and Jebusites: [11]the Ark of the Covenant of the Sovereign of all the earth is advancing before you into the Jordan. [12]Now select twelve men from the tribes of Israel, one man from each tribe. campment to cross the Jordan, the priests bearing the Ark of the Covenant were at the head of the people. [15]Now the Jordan keeps flowing over its entire bed throughout the harvest season. But as soon as the bearers of the Ark reached the Jordan, and the feet of the priests bearing the Ark dipped into the water at its edge, [16]the waters coming down from upstream piled up in a single heap a great way off, at[b] Adam, the town next to Zarethan; and those flowing away downstream to the Sea of the Arabah (the Dead Sea) ran out completely. So the people crossed near Jericho. [17]The priests who bore the Ark of the LORD's Covenant stood on dry land exactly in the middle of the Jordan, while all Israel crossed over on dry land, until the entire nation had finished crossing the Jordan.

When the entire nation had finished crossing the Jordan, the LORD said to Joshua, [2]"Select twelve men from among the people, one from each tribe, [3]and instruct them as follows: Pick up twelve stones from the spot exactly in the middle of the Jordan, where the priests' feet are standing; take them along with you and deposit them in the place where you will spend the night."

[4]Joshua summoned the twelve men whom he had designated among the Israelites, one from each tribe; [5]and Joshua said to them, "Walk up to the Ark of the LORD your God, in the middle of the Jordan, and each of you lift a stone onto his shoulder—corresponding to the number of the tribes of Israel. [6]This shall serve as a symbol among you: in time to come, when your children ask, 'What is the meaning of these stones for you?' Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off.' And so these stones shall serve the people of Israel as a memorial for all time."

[8]The Israelites did as Joshua ordered. They picked up twelve stones, corresponding to the number of the tribes of Israel, from the middle of the Jordan—as the LORD had charged Joshua—and they took them along with them to their night encampment and deposited them there.

[9]Joshua also set up twelve stones in the middle of the Jordan, at the spot where the feet of the priests bearing the Ark of the Covenant had stood; and they have remained there to this day.

[10]The priests who bore the Ark remained standing in the middle of the Jordan until all the instructions that the LORD had ordered Joshua to convey to the people had been carried out. And so the people speedily crossed over, [a]just as Moses had assured Joshua in his charge to him.[a] [11]And when all the people finished crossing, the Ark of the LORD and the priests advanced to the head of the people.

[12]The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh went across armed[b] in the van of the Israelites, as Moses had charged them.[c] [13]About forty thousand shock troops went across, at the instance of the LORD, to the steppes of Jericho for battle.

[14]On that day the LORD exalted Joshua in the sight of all Israel, so that they revered him all his days as they had revered Moses.

[15]The LORD said to Joshua, [16]"Command the priests who bear the Ark of the Pact to come up out of the Jordan." [17]So Joshua commanded the priests, "Come up out of the Jordan." [18]As soon as the priests who bore the Ark of the LORD's Covenant came up out of the Jordan, and the feet of the priests stepped onto the dry

When all the kings of the Amorites on the western side of the Jordan, and all the kings of the Canaanites near the Sea, heard how the LORD had dried up the waters of the Jordan for the sake of the Israelites until they crossed over, they lost heart, and no spirit was left in them because of the Israelites.

[2]At that time the LORD said to Joshua, "Make flint knives and proceed with a second circumcision of the Israelites." [3]So Joshua had flint knives made, and the Israelites were circumcised at Gibeath-haaraloth.[a]

[4]This is the reason why Joshua had the circumcision performed: All the people who had come out of Egypt, all the males of military age, had died during the desert wanderings after leaving Egypt. [5]Now, whereas all the people who came out of Egypt had been circumcised, none of the people born after the exodus, during the desert wanderings, had been circumcised. [6]For the Israelites had traveled in the wilderness forty years, until the entire nation—the men of military age who had left Egypt—had perished; because they had not obeyed the LORD, and the LORD had sworn never to let them see the land that the LORD had sworn to their fathers to assign to us, a land flowing with milk and honey. [7]But He had raised up their sons in their stead; and it was these that Joshua circumcised, for they were uncircumcised, not having been circumcised on the way. [8]After the circumcising of the whole nation was completed, they remained where they were, in the camp, until they recovered.

[9]And the LORD said to Joshua, "Today I have rolled away from you the disgrace of Egypt."[b] So that place was called Gilgal,[c] as it still is.

[10]Encamped at Gilgal, in the steppes of Jericho, the Israelites offered the passover sacrifice on the fourteenth day of the month, toward evening.

[11]On the day after the passover offering, on that very day, they ate of the produce of the country, unleavened bread and parched grain. [12]On that same day,[d] when they ate of the produce of the land, the manna ceased. The Israelites got no more manna; that year they ate of the yield of the land of Canaan.

[13]Once, when Joshua was near Jericho, he looked up and saw a man standing before him, drawn sword in hand. Joshua went up to him and asked him, "Are you one of us or of our enemies?" [14]He replied, "No, I am captain of the LORD's host. Now I have come!" Joshua threw himself face down to the ground and, prostrating himself, said to him, "What does my lord command his servant?" Now Jericho was shut up tight because of the Israelites; no one could leave or enter.

[2]The LORD said to Joshua, "See, I will deliver Jericho and her king [and her] warriors into your hands. [3]Let all your troops march around the city and complete one circuit of the city. Do this six days, [4]with seven priests carrying seven ram's horns preceding the Ark. On the seventh day, march around the city seven times, with the priests blowing the horns. [5]And when a long blast is sounded on the horn—as soon as you hear that sound of the horn—all the people shall give a mighty shout. Thereupon the city wall will collapse, and the people shall advance, every man straight ahead."

[6]Joshua son of Nun summoned the priests and said to them, "Take up the Ark of the Covenant, and let seven priests carrying seven ram's horns precede the Ark of the LORD." [7]And he instructed the people, "Go forward, march around the city, with the vanguard marching in front of the Ark of the LORD." [8]When Joshua had instructed the people, the seven priests carrying seven ram's horns advanced before the LORD, blowing their horns; and the Ark of the LORD's Covenant followed them. [9]The vanguard marched in front of the priests who were blowing the horns, and the rear guard marched behind the Ark, with the horns sounding all the time. [10]But Joshua's orders to the rest of the people were, "Do not shout, do not let your voices be heard, and do not let a sound issue from your lips until the moment that I command you, 'Shout!' Then you shall shout."

[11]So he had the Ark of the LORD go around the city and complete one circuit; then they returned to camp and spent the night in camp. [12]Joshua rose early the next day; and the priests took up the Ark of the LORD, [13]while the seven priests bearing the seven ram's horns marched in front of the Ark of the LORD, blowing the horns as they marched. The vanguard marched in front of them, and the rear guard marched behind the Ark of the LORD, with the horns sounding all the time. [14]And so they marched around the city once on the second day and returned to the camp. They did this six days.

[15]On the seventh day, they rose at daybreak and marched around the city, in the same manner, seven times; that was the only day that they marched around the city seven times. [16]On the seventh round, as the priests blew the horns, Joshua commanded the people, "Shout! For the LORD has given you the city. [17]The city and everything in it are to be proscribed for the LORD; only Rahab the harlot is to be spared, and all who are with her in the house, because she hid the messengers we sent. [18]But you must beware of that which is proscribed, or else you will be proscribed:[a] if you take anything from that which is proscribed, you will cause the camp of Israel to be proscribed; you will bring calamity upon it. [19]All the silver and gold and objects of copper and iron are consecrated to the LORD; they must go into the treasury of the LORD."

[20]So the people shouted when the horns were sounded. When the people heard the sound of the horns, the people raised a mighty shout and the wall collapsed. The people rushed into the city, every man straight in front of him, and they captured the city. [21]They exterminated everything in the city with the sword: man and woman, young and old, ox and sheep and ass. [22]But Joshua bade the two men who had spied out the land, "Go into the harlot's house and bring out the woman and all that belong to her, as you swore to her." [23]So the young spies went in and brought out Rahab, her father and her mother, her brothers and all that belonged to her—they brought out her whole family and left them outside the camp of Israel.

[24]They burned down the city and everything in it. But the silver and gold and the objects of copper and iron were deposited in the treasury of the House of the LORD. [25]Only Rahab the harlot and her father's family were spared by Joshua, along with all that belonged to her, and she dwelt among the Israelites—as is still the case. For she had hidden the messengers that Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

[26]At that time Joshua pronounced this oath: "Cursed of the LORD be the man who shall undertake to fortify this city of Jericho: he shall lay its foundations at the cost of his first-born, and set up its gates at the cost of his youngest."

[27]The LORD was with Joshua, and his fame spread throughout the land.

The Israelites, however, violated the proscription: Achan son of Carmi son of Zabdi son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of that which was proscribed, and the LORD was incensed with the Israelites.

[2]Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which lies close to Beth-aven—east of Bethel—with orders to go up and spy out the country. So the men went up and spied out Ai. [3]They returned to Joshua and reported to him, "Not all the troops need go up. Let two or three thousand men go and attack Ai; do not trouble all the troops to go up there, for [the people] there are few." [4]So about three thousand of the troops marched up there; but they were routed by the men of Ai. [5]The men of Ai killed about thirty-six of them, pursuing them outside the gate as far

[6]Joshua thereupon rent his clothes. He and the elders of Israel lay until evening with their faces to the ground in front of the Ark of the LORD; and they strewed earth on their heads. [7]"Ah, Lord GOD!" cried Joshua. "Why did You lead this people across the Jordan only to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites, to be destroyed by them? If only we had been content to remain on the other side of the Jordan! [8]O Lord, what can I say after Israel has turned tail before its enemies? [9]When the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land hear of this, they will turn upon us and wipe out our very name from the earth. And what will You do about Your great name?"

[10]But the LORD answered Joshua: "Arise! Why do you lie prostrate? [11]Israel has sinned! They have broken the covenant by which I bound them. They have taken of the proscribed and put it in their vessels; they have stolen; they have broken faith! [12]Therefore, the Israelites will not be able to hold their ground against their enemies; they will have to turn tail before their enemies, for they have become proscribed. I will not be with you any more unless you root out from among you what is proscribed. [13]Go and purify the people. Order them: Purify yourselves for tomorrow. For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Something proscribed is in your midst, O Israel, and you will not be able to stand up to your enemies until you have purged the proscribed from among you. [14]Tomorrow morning you shall present yourselves by tribes. shall come forward man by man. [15]Then he who is [c]-indicated for proscription,-[c] and all that is his, shall be put to the fire, because he broke the Covenant of the LORD and because he committed an outrage in Israel."

[16]Early next morning, Joshua had Israel come forward by tribes; and the tribe of Judah was indicated. [17]He then had the clans of Judah come forward, and the clan of Zerah was indicated. Then he had the clan of Zerah come forward by [d]-ancestral houses,-[d] and Zabdi was indicated. [18]Finally he had his ancestral house come forward man by man, and Achan son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was indicated.

[19]Then Joshua said to Achan, "My son, pay honor to the LORD, the God of Israel, and make confession to Him. Tell me what you have done; do not hold anything back from me." [20]Achan answered Joshua, "It is true, I have sinned against the LORD, the God of Israel. This is what I did: [21]I saw among the spoil a fine Shinar mantle, two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold weighing fifty shekels, and I coveted them and took them. They are buried in the ground in my tent, with the silver under it."[e]

[22]Joshua sent messengers, who hurried to the tent; and there it[e] was, buried in his tent, with the silver underneath. [23]They took them from the tent and brought them to Joshua and all the Israelites, and displayed[f] them before the LORD. [24]Then Joshua, and all Israel with him, took Achan son of Zerah—and the silver, the mantle, and the wedge of gold—his sons and daughters, and his ox, his ass, and his flock, and his tent, and all his belongings, and brought them up to the Valley of Achor. [25]And Joshua said, "What calamity you have brought upon us! The LORD will bring calamity upon you this day." And all

The LORD said to Joshua, "Do not be frightened or dismayed. Take all the fighting troops with you, go and march against Ai. See, I will deliver the king of Ai, his people, his city, and his land into your hands. [2]You shall treat Ai and her king as you treated Jericho and her king; however, you may take the spoil and the cattle as booty for yourselves. Now set an ambush against the city behind it."

[3]So Joshua and all the fighting troops prepared for the march on Ai. Joshua chose thirty thousand men, valiant warriors, and sent them ahead by night. [4]He instructed them as follows: "Mind, you are to lie in ambush behind the city; don't stay too far from the city, and all of you be on the alert. [5]I and all the troops with me will approach the city; and when they come out against us, as they did the first time, we will flee from them. [6]They will come rushing after us until we have drawn them away from the city. They will think, 'They are fleeing from us the same as last time'; but while we are fleeing before them, [7]you will dash out from your ambush and seize the city, and the LORD your God will deliver it into your hands. [8]And when you take the city, set it on fire. Do as the LORD has commanded. Mind, I have given you your orders."

g Connected with 'akhar "to bring calamity upon"; cf. v. 25.

[10]Early in the morning, Joshua mustered the troops; then he and the elders of Israel marched upon Ai at the head of the troops. [11]All the fighting force that was with him advanced near the city and encamped to the north of Ai, with a hollow between them and Ai.—[12]He selected about five thousand men and stationed them as an ambush between Bethel and Ai, west of the city. [13]Thus the main body of the army was disposed on the north of the city, but the far end of it was on the west. (This was after Joshua had [a]-spent the night-[a] in the valley.[b]) —[14]When the king of Ai saw them, he and all his people, the inhabitants of the city, rushed out in the early morning to the [c]-meeting place,-[c] facing the Arabah, to engage the Israelites in battle; for he was unaware that a force was lying in ambush behind the city. [15]Joshua and all Israel fled in the direction of the wilderness, as though routed by them. [16]All the troops in the city gathered to pursue them; pursuing Joshua, they were drawn out of the city. [17]Not a man was left in Ai or in Bethel who did not go out after Israel; they left the city open while they pursued Israel.

[18]The LORD then said to Joshua, "Hold out the javelin in your hand toward Ai, for I will deliver it into your hands." So Joshua held out the javelin in his hand toward the city. [19]As soon as he held out his hand, the ambush came rushing out of their station. They entered the city and captured it; and they swiftly set fire to the city. [20]The men of Ai looked back and saw the smoke of the city rising to the sky; they had no room for flight in any direction.

The people who had been fleeing to the wilderness now became the pursuers. [21]For when Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had captured the city, and that smoke was rising from the city, they turned around and attacked the men of Ai. [22]Now the other [Israelites] were coming out of the city against them, so that they were between two bodies of Israelites, one on each side of them. They were slaughtered, so that no one escaped or got away. [23]The king of Ai was taken alive and brought to Joshua.

[24]When Israel had killed all the inhabitants of Ai who had pursued them into the open wilderness, and all of them, to the last man, had fallen by the sword, all the Israelites turned back to Ai and put it to the sword.

[25]The total of those who fell that day, men and women, the entire population of Ai, came to twelve thousand.

[26]Joshua did not draw back the hand with which he held out his javelin until all the inhabitants of Ai had been exterminated. [27]However, the Israelites took the cattle and the spoil of the city as their booty, in accordance with the instructions that the LORD had given to Joshua.

[28]Then Joshua burned down Ai, and turned it into a mound of ruins for all time, a desolation to this day. [29]And the king of Ai was impaled on a stake until the evening. At sunset, Joshua had the corpse taken down from the stake and it was left lying at the entrance to the city gate. They raised a great heap of stones over it, which is there to this day.

[30]At that time Joshua built an altar to the LORD, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal, [31]as Moses, the servant of the LORD, had commanded the Israelites—as is written in the Book of the Teaching of Moses[d]—an altar of unhewn stone upon which no iron had been wielded. They offered on it burnt offerings to the LORD, and brought sacrifices of well-being. [32]And there, on the stones, he inscribed a copy of the Teaching that Moses had written for the Israelites. [33]All Israel—stranger and citizen alike—with their elders, officials, and magistrates, stood on either side of the Ark, facing the levitical priests who carried the Ark of the LORD's Covenant. Half of them faced Mount Gerizim and half of them faced Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded them of old, in order to bless the people of Israel. [34]After that, he read all the words of the Teaching, the blessing and the curse, just as is written in the Book of the Teaching.[e] [35]There was not a word of all that Moses had commanded that Joshua failed to read in the presence of the entire assembly of Israel, including the women and children and the strangers who accompanied them.

When all the kings [a]-west of-[a] the Jordan—in the hill country, in the Shephelah, and along the entire coast of the Mediterranean Sea up to the vicinity of Lebanon, the [land of the] Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites—learned of this, [2]they gathered with one accord to fight against Joshua and Israel.

[3]But when the inhabitants of Gibeon learned how Joshua had treated Jericho and Ai, [4]they for their part resorted to cunning. They set out [b]-in disguise:-[b] they took worn-out sacks for their asses, and worn-out waterskins that were cracked and patched; [5]they had worn-out, patched sandals on their feet, and threadbare clothes on their bodies; and all the bread they took as provision was dry and crumbly. [6]And so they went to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal and said to him and to the men of Israel, "We come from a distant land; we propose that you make a pact with us." [7]The men of Israel replied to the Hivites, "But perhaps you live among us; how then can we make a pact with you?"[c]

[8]They said to Joshua, "We will be your subjects." But Joshua asked them, "Who are you and where do you come from?" [9]They replied, "Your servants have come from a very distant country, because of the fame of the LORD your God. For we heard the report of Him: of all that He did in Egypt, [10]and of all that He did to the two Amorite kings on the other side of the Jordan, King Sihon of Heshbon and King Og of Bashan who lived in Ashtaroth. [11]So our elders and all the inhabitants of our country instructed us as follows, 'Take along provisions for a trip, and go to them and say: We will be your subjects; come make a pact with us.' [12]This bread of ours, which we took from our houses as provision, was still hot when we set out to come to you; and see how dry and crumbly it has become. [13]These wineskins were new when we filled them, and see how they have cracked. These clothes and sandals of ours are worn out from the very long journey." [14]The men b-took [their word] because of-b their provisions, and did not inquire of the LORD. [15]Joshua established friendship with them; he made a pact with them to spare their lives, and the chieftains of the community gave them their oath.

[16]But when three days had passed after they made this pact with them, they learned that they were neighbors, living among them. [17]So the Israelites set out, and on the third day they came to their towns; these towns were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and Kiriath-jearim. [18]But the Israelites did not attack them, since the chieftains of the community had sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel. The whole community muttered against the chieftains, [19]but all the chieftains answered the whole community, "We swore to them by the LORD, the God of Israel; therefore we cannot touch them. [20]This is what we will do to them: We will spare their lives, so that there may be no wrath against us because of the oath that we swore to them." [21]And the chieftains declared concerning them, "They shall live!" And they became hewers of wood and drawers of water for the whole community, as the chieftains had decreed concerning them.

[22]Joshua summoned them and spoke to them thus: "Why did you deceive us and tell us you lived very far from us, when in fact you live among us? [23]Therefore, be accursed! Never shall your descendants cease to be slaves, hewers of wood and drawers of water for the House of my God." [24]But they replied to Joshua, "You see, your servants had heard that the LORD your God had promised His servant Moses to give you the whole land and to wipe out all the inhabitants of the country on your account; so we were in great fear for our lives on your account. That is why we did this thing. [25]And now we are at your mercy; do with us what you consider right and proper." [26]And he did so; he saved them from being killed by the Israelites. [27]That day Joshua made them hewers of wood and drawers of water—as they still are—for the community and for the altar of the LORD, in the place that He would choose.

Jarmuth, King Japhia of Lachish, and King Debir of Eglon: [4]"Come up and help me defeat Gibeon; for it has come to terms with Joshua and the Israelites."

[5]The five Amorite kings—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, with all their armies—joined forces and marched on Gibeon, and encamped against it and attacked it. [6]The people of Gibeon thereupon sent this message to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal: "Do not fail your servants; come up quickly and aid us and deliver us, for all the Amorite kings of the hill country have gathered against us." [7]So Joshua marched up from Gilgal with his whole fighting force, all the trained warriors.

[8]The LORD said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid of them, for I will deliver them into your hands; not one of them shall withstand you." [9]Joshua took them by surprise, marching all night from Gilgal. [10]The LORD threw them into a panic before Israel: [Joshua] inflicted a crushing defeat on them at Gibeon, pursued them in the direction of the Beth-horon ascent, and harried them all the way to Azekah and Makkedah. [11]While they were fleeing before Israel down the descent from Beth-horon, the LORD hurled huge stones on them from the sky, all the way to Azekah, and they perished; more perished from the hailstones than were killed by the Israelite weapons.

[12]On that occasion, when the LORD routed the Amorites before the Israelites, Joshua addressed the LORD; he said in the presence of the Israelites:

"Stand still, O sun, at Gibeon, O moon, in the Valley of Aijalon!"
[13]And the sun stood still
And the moon halted,
While a nation wreaked judgment on its foes

the sun halted in midheaven, and did not press on to set, for a whole day; [14]for the LORD fought for Israel. Neither before nor since has there ever been such a day, when the LORD acted on words spoken by a man. [15]Then Joshua together with all Israel returned to the camp at Gilgal.

[16]Meanwhile, those five kings fled and hid in a cave at Makkedah. [17]When it was reported to Joshua that the five kings had been found hiding in a cave at Makkedah, [18]Joshua ordered, "Roll large stones up against the mouth of the cave, and post men over it to keep guard over them. [19]But as for the rest of you, don't stop, but press on the heels of your enemies and harass them from the rear. Don't let them reach their towns, for the LORD your God has delivered them into your hands." [20]When Joshua and the Israelites had finished dealing them a deadly blow, they were wiped out, except for some fugitives who escaped into the fortified towns. [21]The whole army returned in safety to Joshua in the camp at Makkedah; no one so much as snarled[c] at the Israelites. [22]And now Joshua ordered, "Open the mouth of the cave, and bring those five kings out of the cave to me." [23]This was done. Those five kings—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon—were brought out to him from the cave. [24]And when the kings were brought out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel and ordered the army officers who had accompanied him, "Come forward and place your feet on the necks of these kings." They came forward and placed their feet on their necks. [25]Joshua said to them, "Do not be frightened or dismayed; be firm and resolute. For this is what the LORD is going to do to all the enemies with whom you are at war." [26]After that, Joshua had them put to death and impaled on five stakes, and they remained impaled on the stakes until evening. [27]At sunset Joshua ordered them taken down from the poles and thrown into the cave in which they had hidden. Large stones were placed over the mouth of the cave, [and there they are] to this very day.

[28]At that time Joshua captured Makkedah and put it and its king to the sword, proscribing it[d] and every person in it and leaving none that escaped. And he treated the king of Makkedah as he had treated the king of Jericho.

[29]From Makkedah, Joshua proceeded with all Israel to Libnah, and he attacked it. [30]The LORD delivered it and its king into the hands of Israel; they put it and all the people in it to the sword, letting none escape. And he treated its king as he had treated the king of Jericho.

[31]From Libnah, Joshua proceeded with all Israel to Lachish; he encamped against it and attacked it. [32]The LORD delivered Lachish into the hands of Israel. They captured it on the second day and put it and all the people in it to the sword, just as they had done to Libnah.

[33]At that time King Horam of Gezer marched to the help of Lachish; but Joshua defeated him and his army, letting none of them escape.

[34]From Lachish, Joshua proceeded with all Israel to Eglon; they encamped against it and attacked it. [35]They captured it on the same day and put it to the sword, proscribing all the people that were in it, as they had done to Lachish.

[36]From Eglon, Joshua marched with all Israel to Hebron and attacked it. [37]They captured it and put it, its king, and all its towns, and all the people that were in it, to the sword. He let none escape, proscribing it and all the people in it, just as he had done in the case of Eglon.

v. 28. בנוסח אחר "אותה"

38Joshua and all Israel with him then turned back to Debir and attacked it. 39He captured it and its king and all its towns. They put them to the sword and proscribed all the people in it. They let none escape; just as they had done to Hebron, and as they had done to Libnah and its king, so they did to Debir and its king.

40Thus Joshua conquered the whole country:[e] the hill country, the Negeb, the Shephelah, and the slopes, with all their kings; he let none escape, but proscribed everything that breathed—as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded. 41Joshua conquered them from Kadesh-barnea to Gaza, all the land of Goshen, and up to Gibeon. 42All those kings and their lands were conquered by Joshua at a single stroke, for the LORD, the God of Israel, fought for Israel. 43Then Joshua, with all Israel, returned to the camp at Gilgal.

When the news reached King Jabin of Hazor, he sent messages to King Jobab of Madon, to the king of Shimron, to the king of Achshaph, 2and to the other kings in the north—in the hill country, in the Arabah south of Chinnereth, in the lowlands, and in the district[a] of Dor on the west; 3to the Canaanites in the east and in the west; to the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, and Jebusites in the hill country; and to the Hivites at the foot of Hermon, in the land of Mizpah. 4They took the field with all their armies—an enormous host, as numerous as the sands on the seashore—and a vast multitude of horses and chariots. 5All these kings joined forces; they came and encamped together at the Waters of Merom to give battle to Israel.

6But the LORD said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid of them; tomorrow at this time I will have them all lying slain before Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots." 7So Joshua, with all his fighting men, came upon them suddenly at the Waters of Merom, and pounced upon them. 8The LORD delivered them into the hands of Israel, and they defeated them and pursued them all the way to Great Sidon *b-and Misrephothmaim,-b* and all the way to the Valley of Mizpeh*c* on the east; they crushed them, letting none escape. 9And Joshua dealt with them as the LORD had ordered him; he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots.

10Joshua then turned back and captured Hazor and put her king to the sword.—Hazor was formerly the head of all those kingdoms.—11They proscribed and put to the sword every person in it. Not a soul survived, and Hazor itself was burned down. 12Joshua captured all those royal cities and their kings. He put them to the sword; he proscribed them in accordance with the charge of Moses, the servant of the LORD. 13However, all those towns that are still standing on their mounds were not burned down by Israel; it was Hazor alone that Joshua burned down. 14The Israelites kept all the spoil and cattle of the rest of those cities as booty. But they cut down their populations with the sword until they exterminated them; they did not spare a soul. 15Just as the LORD had commanded His servant Moses, so Moses had charged Joshua, and so Joshua did; he left nothing undone of all that the LORD had commanded Moses.

16Joshua conquered the whole of this region: the hill country [of Judah], the Negeb, the whole land of Goshen, the Shephelah, the Arabah, and the hill country and coastal plain of Israel—[17][everything] from Mount Halak, which ascends to Seir, all the way to Baal-gad in d-the Valley of the Lebanon-d at the foot of Mount Hermon; and he captured all the kings there and executed them.

[18]Joshua waged war with all those kings over a long period. [19]Apart from the Hivites who dwelt in Gibeon, not a single city made terms with the Israelites; all were taken in battle. [20]For it was the LORD's doing to stiffen their hearts to give battle to Israel, in order that they might be proscribed without quarter and wiped out, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

[21]At that time, Joshua went and wiped out the Anakites from the hill country, from Hebron, Debir, and Anab, from the entire hill country of Judah, and from the entire hill country of Israel; Joshua proscribed them and their towns. [22]No Anakites remained in the land of the Israelites; but some remained in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod.

[23]Thus Joshua conquered the whole country, just as the LORD had promised Moses; and Joshua assigned it to Israel to share according to their tribal divisions. And the land had rest from war.

Joshua was now old, advanced in years. The LORD said to him, "You have grown old, you are advanced in years; and very much of the land still remains to be taken possession of. d Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

Baal-gad at the foot of Mount Hermon to Lebo-hamath on the east, 6 with all the inhabitants of the hill country from the [Valley of the] Lebanon to [a]Misrephoth-maim,[a] namely, all the Sidonians. I Myself will dispossess [b]those nations[b] for the Israelites; you have only to apportion [c]their lands[c] by lot among Israel, as I have commanded you. 7 Therefore, divide this territory into hereditary portions for the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh."

8 Now the Reubenites and the Gadites, along with [c]the other half-tribe,[c] had already received the shares which Moses assigned to them on the east side of the Jordan—as assigned to them by Moses the servant of the LORD: 9 from Aroer on the edge of the Wadi Arnon and the town in the middle of the wadi, the entire Tableland [from] Medeba to Dibon, 10 embracing all the towns of King Sihon of the Amorites, who had reigned in Heshbon, up to the border of the Ammonites; 11 further, Gilead, the territories of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and all of Mount Hermon, and the whole of Bashan up to Salcah—12 the entire kingdom of Og, who had reigned over Bashan at Ashtaroth and at Edrei. (He was the last of the remaining Rephaim.) These were defeated and dispossessed by Moses; 13 but the Israelites failed to dispossess the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and Geshur and Maacath remain among Israel to this day. 14 No hereditary portion, however, was assigned to the tribe of Levi, their portion being the fire offerings of the LORD, the God of Israel, as He spoke concerning them.[d]

15 And so Moses assigned [the following] to the tribe of the Reubenites, for their various clans, 16 and it became theirs: The territory from Aroer, on the edge of the Wadi Arnon and the town in the middle of the wadi, up to Medeba—

Edrei, the royal cities of Og in Bashan, were assigned to the descendants of Machir son of Manasseh—to a part of the descendants of Machir—for their various clans.

[32]Those, then, were the portions that Moses assigned in the steppes of Moab, on the east side of the Jordan. [33]But no portion was assigned by Moses to the tribe of Levi; the LORD, the God of Israel, is their portion, as He spoke concerning them.[d]

And these are the allotments of the Israelites in the land of Canaan, that were apportioned to them by the priest Eleazar, by Joshua son of Nun, and by the heads of the ancestral houses of the Israelite tribes, [2]the portions that fell to them by lot, as the LORD had commanded through Moses for the nine and a half tribes. [3]For the portion of the other two and a half tribes had been assigned to them by Moses on the other side of the Jordan. He had not assigned any portion among them to the Levites; [4]for whereas the descendants of Joseph constituted two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim, the Levites were assigned no share in the land, but only some towns to live in, with the pastures for their livestock and cattle. [5]Just as the LORD had commanded Moses, so the Israelites did when they apportioned the land.

[6]The Judites approached Joshua at Gilgal, and Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite said to him: "You know what instructions the LORD gave at Kadesh-barnea to Moses, the man of God, concerning you and me. [7]I was forty years old when Moses the servant of the LORD sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy out the land, and I gave him a forthright report. [8]While my companions who went up with me took the heart out of the people, I was loyal to the LORD my God. [9]On that day, Moses promised on oath,

'The land on which your foot trod shall be a portion for you and your descendants forever, because you were loyal to the LORD my God.' [10]Now the LORD has preserved me, as He promised. It is forty-five years since the LORD made this promise to Moses, when Israel was journeying through the wilderness; and here I am today, eighty-five years old. [11]I am still as strong today as on the day that Moses sent me; my strength is the same now as it was then, for battle and for activity.[a] [12]So assign to me this hill country as the LORD promised on that day. Though you too heard on that day that Anakites are there and great fortified cities, if only the LORD is with me, I will dispossess them, as the LORD promised."

[13]So Joshua blessed Caleb son of Jephunneh and assigned Hebron to him as his portion. [14]Thus Hebron became the portion of Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, as it still is, because he was loyal to the LORD, the God of Israel.— [15]The name of Hebron was formerly Kiriath-arba: [Arba] was the great man among the Anakites.

And the land had rest from war.

The portion that fell by lot to the various clans of the tribe of Judah lay farthest south, down to the border of Edom, which is the Wilderness of Zin. [2]Their southern boundary began from the tip of the Dead Sea, from the tongue that projects southward. [3]It proceeded to the south of the Ascent of Akrabbim, passed on to Zin, ascended to the south of Kadesh-barnea, passed on to Hezron, ascended to Addar, and made a turn to Karka. [4]From there it passed on to Azmon and proceeded to the Wadi of Egypt; and the boundary ran on to the Sea. That shall be your southern boundary.

[5]The boundary on the east was the Dead Sea up to the mouth of the Jordan. On the northern side, the boundary began at the tongue of the Sea at the mouth of the Jordan. [6]The boundary ascended to Beth-hoglah and passed north of Beth-arabah; then the boundary ascended to the Stone of Bohan son of Reuben. [7]The boundary ascended [a]-from the Valley of Achor to Debir and turned north-[a] to Gilgal,[b] facing the Ascent of Adummim which is south of the wadi; from there the boundary continued to the waters of En-shemesh and ran on to En-rogel. [8]Then the boundary ascended into the Valley of Ben-hinnom, along the southern flank of the Jebusites—that is, Jerusalem. The boundary then ran up to the top of the hill which flanks the Valley of Hinnom on the west, at the northern end of the Valley of Rephaim. [9]From that hilltop the boundary curved to the fountain of the Waters of Nephtoah and ran on to the towns of Mount Ephron; then the boundary curved to Baalah—that is, Kiriath-jearim. [10]From Baalah the boundary turned westward to Mount Seir,[c] passed north of the slope of Mount Jearim—that is, Chesalon—descended to Beth-shemesh, and passed on to Timnah. [11]The boundary then proceeded to the northern flank of Ekron; the boundary curved to Shikkeron, passed on to Mount Baalah, and proceeded to Jabneel; and the boundary ran on to the Sea. [12]And the western boundary was the edge of the Mediterranean Sea. Those were the boundaries of the various clans of the Judites on all sides.

[13]In accordance with the LORD's command to Joshua, Caleb son of Jephunneh was given a portion among the Judites, namely, Kiriath-arba—that is, Hebron. ([Arba] was the father of Anak.) [14]Caleb dislodged from there the three Anakites: Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, descendants of Anak. [15]From there he marched against the inhabitants of Debir—the name of Debir was formerly Kiriath-sepher—16 and Caleb announced, "I will give my daughter Achsah in marriage to the man who attacks and captures Kiriath-sepher." 17 His kinsman Othniel the Kenizzite[d] captured it; and Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah in marriage.

18 [e-]When she came [to him], she induced him[-e] to ask her father for some property. She dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb asked her, "What is the matter?" 19 She replied, "Give me a present; for you have given me away as Negeb-land;[f] so give me springs of water." And he gave her Upper and Lower Gulloth.[g]

20 This was the portion of the tribe of the Judites by their clans:

21 The towns at the far end of the tribe of Judah, near the border of Edom, in the Negeb, were: Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur, 22 Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah, 23 Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, 24 Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, 25 Hazor-hadattah, Kerioth-hezron—that is, Hazor—26 Amam, Shema, Moladah, 27 Hazar-gaddah, Heshmon, Beth-pelet, 28 Hazar-shual, Beer-sheba, Biziothiah, 29 Baalah, Iim, Ezem, 30 Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, 31 Ziklag, Madmannah, Sansannah, 32 [h-]Lebaoth, Shilhim,[-h] Ain and Rimmon.[i] Total: 29[j] towns, with their villages.

The portion that fell by lot to the Josephites ran from the Jordan at Jericho—from the waters of Jericho east of the wilderness. From Jericho it ascended through the hill country to Bethel. [2]From Bethel it ran to Luz and passed on to the territory of the Archites at Ataroth, [3]descended westward to the territory of the Japhletites as far as the border of Lower Beth-horon and Gezer, and ran on to the Sea. [4]Thus the Josephites—that is, Manasseh and Ephraim—received their portion.

[5]The territory of the Ephraimites, by their clans, was as follows: The boundary of their portion ran from Atroth-addar on the east to Upper Beth-horon, [6]and the boundary ran on to the Sea. And on the north, the boundary proceeded from Michmethath to the east of Taanath-shiloh and passed beyond it up to the east of Janoah; [7]from Janoah it descended to Ataroth and Naarath, touched on Jericho, and ran on to the Jordan. [8]Westward, the boundary proceeded from Tappuah to the Wadi Kanah and ran on to the Sea. This was the portion of the tribe of the Ephraimites, by their clans, [9]together with the towns marked off[a] for the Ephraimites within the territory of the Manassites—all those towns with their villages. [10]However, they failed to dispossess the Canaanites who dwelt in Gezer; so the Canaanites remained in the midst of Ephraim, as is still the case. But they had to perform forced labor.

remaining Manassites, by their clans: the descendants of Abiezer, Helek, Asriel, Shechem, Hepher, and Shemida. Those were the male descendants of Manasseh son of Joseph, by their clans.

[3][a]Now Zelophehad son of Hepher son of Gilead son of Machir son of Manasseh had no sons, but only daughters. The names of his daughters were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. [4]They appeared before the priest Eleazer, Joshua son of Nun, and the chieftains, saying: "The LORD commanded Moses to grant us a portion among our male kinsmen." So, in accordance with the LORD's instructions, they were granted a portion among their father's kinsmen. [5]Ten districts fell to Manasseh, apart from the lands of Gilead and Bashan, which are across the Jordan. [6]Manasseh's daughters inherited a portion in these together with his sons, while the land of Gilead was assigned to the rest of Manasseh's descendants.

[7]The boundary of Manasseh ran from Asher to Michmethath, which lies near Shechem. The boundary continued to the right, toward the inhabitants of En-tappuah.—[8]The region of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh; but Tappuah, on the border of Manasseh, belonged to the Ephraimites.—[9]Then the boundary descended to the Wadi Kanah. Those towns to the south of the wadi belonged to Ephraim as an enclave among the towns of Manasseh. The boundary of Manasseh lay north of the wadi and ran on to the Sea. [10]What lay to the south belonged to Ephraim, and what lay to the north belonged to Manasseh, with the Sea as its boundary. [This territory] was contiguous with Asher on the north and with Issachar on the east. [11]Within Issachar and Asher, Manasseh possessed Beth-shean and its dependencies, Ibleam and its dependencies, the inhabitants of Dor and its [12]The Manassites could not dispossess [the inhabitants of] these towns, and the Canaanites stubbornly remained in this region. [13]When the Israelites became stronger, they imposed tribute on the Canaanites; but they did not dispossess them.

[14]The Josephites complained to Joshua, saying, "Why have you assigned as our portion a single allotment and a single district, seeing that we are a numerous people whom the LORD has blessed so greatly?" [15]"If you are a numerous people," Joshua answered them, "go up to the forest country and clear an area for yourselves there, in the territory of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, seeing that you are cramped in the hill country of Ephraim." [16]"The hill country is not enough for us," the Josephites replied, "and all the Canaanites who live in the valley area have iron chariots, both those in Beth-shean and its dependencies and those in the Valley of Jezreel." [17]But Joshua declared to the House of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh, "You are indeed a numerous people, possessed of great strength; you shall not have one allotment only. [18]The hill country shall be yours as well; true, it is forest land, but you will clear it and possess it to its farthest limits. And you shall also dispossess the Canaanites, even though they have iron chariots and even though they are strong."

of Meeting there. The land was now under their control; [2]but there remained seven tribes of the Israelites which had not yet received their portions. [3]So Joshua said to the Israelites, "How long will you be slack about going and taking possession of the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, has assigned to you? [4]Appoint three men of each tribe; I will send them out to go through the country and write down a description of it for purposes of apportionment, and then come back to me. [5]They shall divide it into seven parts—Judah shall remain by its territory in the south, and the house of Joseph shall remain by its territory in the north.—[6]When you have written down the description of the land in seven parts, bring it here to me. Then I will cast lots for you here before the LORD our God. [7]For the Levites have no share among you, since the priesthood of the LORD is their portion; and Gad and Reuben and the half-tribe of Manasseh have received the portions which were assigned to them by Moses the servant of the LORD, on the eastern side of the Jordan."

[8]The men set out on their journeys. Joshua ordered the men who were leaving to write down a description of the land—"Go, traverse the country and write down a description of it. Then return to me, and I will cast lots for you here at Shiloh before the LORD."

[9]So the men went and traversed the land; they described it in a document, town by town, in seven parts, and they returned to Joshua in the camp at Shiloh. [10]Joshua cast lots for them at Shiloh before the LORD, and there Joshua apportioned the land among the Israelites according to their divisions.

[11]The lot of the tribe of the Benjaminites, by their clans, came out first. The territory which fell to their lot lay between the Judites and the Josephites. [12]The boundary on their northern rim began at the Jordan; the boundary ascended to the northern flank of Jericho, ascended westward into the hill country and ran on to the Wilderness of Beth-aven. 13From there the boundary passed on southward to Luz, to the flank of Luz—that is, Bethel; then the boundary descended to Atroth-addar [and] to the hill south of Lower Beth-horon. 14The boundary now turned and curved onto the western rim; and the boundary ran southward from the hill on the south side of Beth-horon till it ended at Kiriath-baal—that is, Kiriath-jearim—a town of the Judites. That was the western rim. 15The southern rim: From the outskirts of Kiriath-jearim, the boundary passed westward[a] and ran on to the fountain of the Waters of Nephtoah. 16Then the boundary descended to the foot of the hill by the Valley of Ben-hinnom at the northern end of the Valley of Rephaim; then it ran down the Valley of Hinnom along the southern flank of the Jebusites to En-rogel. 17Curving northward, it ran on to En-shemesh and ran on to Geliloth, facing the Ascent of Adummim, and descended to the Stone of Bohan son of Reuben. 18It continued northward to the edge of the Arabah and descended into the Arabah. 19The boundary passed on to the northern flank of Beth-hoglah, and the boundary ended at the northern tongue of the Dead Sea, at the southern end of the Jordan. That was the southern boundary. 20On their eastern rim, finally, the Jordan was their boundary. That was the portion of the Benjaminites, by their clans, according to its boundaries on all sides.

21And the towns of the tribe of the Benjaminites, by its clans, were: Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz, 22Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, Bethel, 23Avvim, Parah, Ophrah, 24Chephar-ammonah, Ophni, and Geba—12 towns, with their villages. 25Also Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth, 26Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah, 27Rekem, Irpeel,

The second lot fell to Simeon. The portion of the tribe of the Simeonites, by their clans, lay inside the portion of the Judites. [2]Their portion comprised: Beer-sheba—or Sheba—Moladah, [3]Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem, [4]Eltolad, Bethul,[a] Hormah, [5]Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susah, [6][b]Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhen-[b]—13 towns, with their villages. [7]Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan: 4 towns, with their villages—[8]together with all the villages in the vicinity of those towns, down to Baalath-beer [and] Ramath-negeb. That was the portion of the tribe of the Simeonites, by their clans. [9]The portion of the Simeonites was part of the territory of the Judites; since the share of the Judites was larger than they needed, the Simeonites received a portion inside their portion.

[10]The third lot emerged for the Zebulunites, by their clans. The boundary of their portion: Starting at Sarid, [11]their boundary[c] ascended westward to Maralah, touching Dabbesheth and touching the wadi alongside Jokneam. [12]And it also ran from Sarid along the eastern side, where the sun rises, past the territory of Chisloth-tabor and on to Daberath and ascended to Japhia. [13]From there it ran [back] to the east, toward the sunrise, to Gath-hepher, to Eth-kazin, and on to Rimmon, where it curved to Neah. [14]Then it turned—that is, the boundary on the north—to Hannathon. Its extreme limits[d] were the Valley of Iphtah-el, [15]Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem: 12

Jordan on the east. 35Its fortified towns were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, 36Adamah, Ramah, Hazor, 37Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, 38Iron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh: 19 towns, with their villages. 39That was the portion of the tribe of the Naphtalites, by their clans—the towns, with their villages.

40The seventh lot fell to the tribe of the Danites, by their clans. 41Their allotted territory comprised: Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir-shemesh, 42Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah, 43Elon, Timnah, Ekron, 44Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, 45Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon, 46Me-jarkon, and Rakkon, at the border near Joppa. 47But the territory of the Danites slipped from their grasp. So the Danites migrated and made war on Leshem.[i] They captured it and put it to the sword; they took possession of it and settled in it. And they changed the name of Leshem to Dan, after their ancestor Dan. 48That was the portion of the tribe of the Danites, by their clans—those towns, with their villages.

49When they had finished allotting the land by its boundaries, the Israelites gave a portion in their midst to Joshua son of Nun. 50At the command of the LORD they gave him the town that he asked for, Timnath-serah in the hill country of Ephraim; he fortified the town and settled in it.

which I commanded you through Moses—[3]to which a manslayer who kills a person by mistake, unintentionally, may flee. They shall serve you as a refuge from the blood avenger. [4]He shall flee to one of those cities, present himself at the entrance to the city gate, and plead his case before the elders of that city; and they shall admit him into the city and give him a place in which to live among them. [5]Should the blood avenger pursue him, they shall not hand the manslayer over to him, since he killed the other person without intent and had not been his enemy in the past. [6]He shall live in that city until he can stand trial before the assembly, [and remain there] until the death of the high priest who is in office at that time. Thereafter, the manslayer may go back to his home in his own town, to the town from which he fled."

[7]So they set aside Kedesh in the hill country of Naphtali in Galilee, Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba—that is, Hebron—in the hill country of Judah. [8]And across the Jordan, east of Jericho, they assigned Bezer in the wilderness, in the Tableland, from the tribe of Reuben; Ramoth in Gilead from the tribe of Gad; and Golan in Bashan from the tribe of Manasseh. [9]Those were the towns designated[a] for all the Israelites and for aliens residing among them, to which anyone who killed a person unintentionally might flee, and not die by the hand of the blood avenger before standing trial by the assembly.

given towns to live in, along with their pastures for our livestock." [3]So the Israelites, in accordance with the LORD's command, assigned to the Levites, out of their own portions, the following towns with their pastures:

[4]The [first] lot among the Levites fell to the Kohathite clans. To the descendants of the priest Aaron, there fell by lot 13 towns from the tribe of Judah, the tribe of Simeon, and the tribe of Benjamin; [5]and to the remaining Kohathites [there fell] by lot 10 towns from the clans of the tribe of Ephraim, the tribe of Dan, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

[6]To the Gershonites [there fell] by lot 13 towns from the clans of the tribe of Issachar, the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan.

[7][And] to the Merarites, by their clans—12 towns from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad, and the tribe of Zebulun. [8]The Israelites assigned those towns with their pastures by lot to the Levites—as the LORD had commanded through Moses.

[9]From the tribe of the Judites and the tribe of the Simeonites were assigned the following towns, which will be listed by name; [10]they went to the descendants of Aaron among the Kohathite clans of the Levites, for the first lot had fallen to them. [11]To them were assigned in the hill country of Judah Kiriath-arba—that is, Hebron—together with the pastures around it. [Arba was] the father of the Anokites.[a] [12]They gave the fields and the villages of the town to Caleb son of Jephunneh as his holding. [13]But to the descendants of Aaron the priest they assigned Hebron—the city of refuge for manslayers—together with its pastures, Libnah with its pastures, [14]Jattir with its pastures, Eshtemoa with its pastures, [15]Holon with its with its pastures—3 towns. [33]All the towns of the Gershonites, by their clans, came to 13 towns, with their pastures.

[34]To the remaining Levites, the clans of the Merarites: From the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam with its pastures, Kartah with its pastures, [35]Dimnah with its pastures, and Nahalal with its pastures—4 towns.[c] [36]From the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead—the city of refuge for manslayers—with its pastures, Mahanaim with its pastures, [37]Heshbon with its pastures, and Jazer with its pastures—4 towns in all. [39]All the towns of the Levites within the holdings of the Israelites came to 48 towns, with their pastures. [40][d]Thus those towns were assigned, every town with its surrounding pasture; and so it was with all those towns.

[41]The LORD gave to Israel the whole country which He had sworn to their fathers that He would assign to them; they took possession of it and settled in it. [42]The LORD gave them rest on all sides, just as He had promised to their fathers on oath. Not one man of all their enemies withstood them; the LORD delivered all their enemies into their hands. [43]Not one of the good things which the LORD had promised to the House of Israel was lacking. Everything was fulfilled.

Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, and have obeyed me in everything that I commanded you. [3]You have not forsaken your kinsmen through the long years down to this day, but have faithfully observed the Instruction of the LORD your God. [4]Now the LORD your God has given your kinsmen rest, as He promised them. Therefore turn and go to your homes, to the land of your holdings beyond the Jordan that Moses the servant of the LORD assigned to you. [5]But be very careful to fulfill the Instruction and the Teaching that Moses the servant of the LORD enjoined upon you, to love the LORD your God and to walk in all His ways, and to keep His commandments and hold fast to Him, and to serve Him with all your heart and soul." [6]Then Joshua blessed them and dismissed them, and they went to their homes.

[7]To the one half-tribe of Manasseh Moses had assigned territory in Bashan, and to the other Joshua assigned [territory] on the west side of the Jordan, with their kinsmen.[a]

Furthermore, when Joshua sent them[b] off to their homes, he blessed them [8]and said to them, "Return to your homes with great wealth—with very much livestock, with silver and gold, with copper and iron, and with a great quantity of clothing. Share the spoil of your enemies with your kinsmen." [9]So the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh left the Israelites at Shiloh, in the land of Canaan, and made their way back to the land of Gilead, the land of their own holding, which they had acquired by the command of the LORD through Moses. [10]When they came to the region of the Jordan in the land of Canaan, the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh built an altar there by the Jordan, a great conspicuous altar.

[11]A report reached the Israelites: "The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh have built an altar opposite the land of Canaan, in the region of the Jordan, across from the Israelites." 12When the Israelites heard this, the whole community of the Israelites assembled at Shiloh to make war on them. 13But [first] the Israelites sent the priest Phinehas son of Eleazar to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, 14accompanied by ten chieftains, one chieftain from each ancestral house of each of the tribes of Israel; they were every one of them heads of ancestral houses of the contingents of Israel. 15When they came to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in the land of Gilead, they spoke to them as follows:

16"Thus said the whole community of the LORD: What is this treachery that you have committed this day against the God of Israel, turning away from the LORD, building yourselves an altar and rebelling this day against the LORD! 17Is the sin of Peor, which brought a plague upon the community of the LORD, such a small thing to us? We have not cleansed ourselves from it to this very day; 18and now you would turn away from the LORD! If you rebel against the LORD today, tomorrow He will be angry with the whole community of Israel. 19If it is because the land of your holding is unclean, cross over into the land of the LORD's own holding, where the Tabernacle of the LORD abides, and acquire holdings among us. But do not rebel against the LORD, and do not rebel against us by building for yourselves an altar other than the altar of the LORD our God. 20When Achan son of Zerah violated the proscription, anger struck the whole community of Israel; he was not the only one who perished for that sin."

21The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh replied to the heads of the contingents of Israel: They said, 22"God, the LORD God! God, the LORD God! He knows, and Israel too shall know! If we acted in rebellion or in treachery against the LORD, do not vindicate us this day! [23]If we built an altar to turn away from the LORD, if it was to offer burnt offerings or meal offerings upon it, or to present sacrifices of well-being upon it, may the LORD Himself demand [a reckoning]. [24]We did this thing only out of our concern that, in time to come, your children might say to our children, 'What have you to do with the LORD, the God of Israel? [25]The LORD has made the Jordan a boundary between you and us, O Reubenites and Gadites; you have no share in the LORD!' Thus your children might prevent our children from worshiping the LORD. [26]So we decided to provide [a witness] for ourselves by building an altar—not for burnt offerings or [other] sacrifices, [27]but as a witness between you and us, and between the generations to come—that we may perform the service of the LORD before Him[c] with our burnt offerings, our sacrifices, and our offerings of well-being; and that your children should not say to our children in time to come, 'You have no share in the LORD.' [28]We reasoned: should they speak thus to us and to our children in time to come, we would reply, 'See the replica of the LORD's altar,[c] which our fathers made—not for burnt offerings or sacrifices, but as a witness between you and us.' [29]Far be it from us to rebel against the LORD, or to turn away this day from the LORD and build an altar for burnt offerings, meal offerings, and sacrifices other than the altar of the LORD our God which stands before His Tabernacle."

[30]When the priest Phinehas and the chieftains of the community—the heads of the contingents of Israel—who were with him heard the explanation given by the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the Manassites, they approved. [31]The priest Phinehas son of Eleazar said to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the Manassites, "Now we know that the LORD is in our midst, since you have not committed such treachery against the LORD. You have indeed saved the Israelites from punishment by the LORD."

[32]Then the priest Phinehas son of Eleazar and the chieftains returned from the Reubenites and the Gadites in the land of Gilead to the Israelites in the land of Canaan, and gave them their report. [33]The Israelites were pleased, and the Israelites praised God; and they spoke no more of going to war against them, to ravage the land in which the Reubenites and Gadites dwelt.

[34]The Reubenites and the Gadites named the altar ["Witness"], meaning, "It is a witness between us and them that the LORD is [our] God."

Much later, after the LORD had given Israel rest from all the enemies around them, and when Joshua was old and well advanced in years, [2]Joshua summoned all Israel, their elders and commanders, their magistrates and officials, and said to them: "I have grown old and am advanced in years. [3]You have seen all that the LORD your God has done to all those nations on your account, for it was the LORD your God who fought for you. [4]See, I have allotted to you, by your tribes, [the territory of] these nations that still remain, and that of all the nations that I have destroyed, from the Jordan to the Mediterranean Sea in the west. [5]The LORD your God Himself will thrust them out on your account and drive them out to make way for you, and you shall possess their land as the LORD your God promised you.

with these nations that are left among you. Do not utter the names of their gods or swear by them; do not serve them or bow down to them. 8But hold fast to the LORD your God as you have done to this day.

9"The LORD has driven out great, powerful nations on your account, and not a man has withstood you to this day. 10A single man of you would put a thousand to flight, for the LORD your God Himself has been fighting for you, as He promised you. 11For your own sakes, therefore, be most mindful to love the LORD your God. 12For should you turn away and attach yourselves to the remnant of those nations—to those that are left among you—and intermarry with them, you joining them and they joining you, 13know for certain that the LORD your God will not continue to drive these nations out before you; they shall become a snare and a trap for you, a scourge to your sides and thorns in your eyes, until you perish from this good land that the LORD your God has given you.

14"I am now going the way of all the earth. Acknowledge with all your heart and soul that not one of the good things that the LORD your God promised you has failed to happen; they have all come true for you, not a single one has failed. 15But just as every good thing that the LORD your God promised you has been fulfilled for you, so the LORD can bring upon you every evil thing until He has wiped you off this good land that the LORD your God has given you. 16If you break the covenant that the LORD your God enjoined upon you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them, then the LORD's anger will burn against you, and you shall quickly perish from the good land that He has given you."

Joshua assembled all the tribes of Israel at Schechem. He summoned Israel's elders and commanders, magistrates and officers; and they presented themselves before God. [2]Then Joshua said to all the people, "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: In olden times, your forefathers—Terah, father of Abraham and father of Nahor—lived beyond the Euphrates and worshiped other gods. [3]But I took your father Abraham from beyond the Euphrates and led him through the whole land of Canaan and multiplied his offspring. I gave him Isaac, [4]and to Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. I gave Esau the hill country of Seir as his possession, while Jacob and his children went down to Egypt.

[5]"Then I sent Moses and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt with [the wonders] that I wrought in their midst, after which I freed you—[6]I freed your fathers—from Egypt, and you came to the Sea. But the Egyptians pursued your fathers to the Sea of Reeds with chariots and horsemen. [7]They cried out to the LORD, and He put darkness between you and the Egyptians; then He brought the Sea upon them, and it covered them. Your own eyes saw what I did to the Egyptians.

"After you had lived a long time in the wilderness, [8]I brought you to the land of the Amorites who lived beyond the Jordan. They gave battle to you, but I delivered them into your hands; I annihilated them for you, and you took possession of their land. [9]Thereupon Balak son of Zippor, the king of Moab, made ready to attack Israel. He sent for Balaam son of Beor to curse you, [10]but I refused to listen to Balaam; he had to bless you, and thus I saved you from him.

[11]"Then you crossed the Jordan and you came to Jericho. The citizens of Jericho and the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Girgashites, Hivites, and Jebusites fought you, but I delivered them into your hands. [12]I sent a plague[a] ahead of you, and it drove them out before you—[just like] the two Amorite kings—not by your sword or by your bow. [13]I have given you a land for which you did not labor and towns which you did not build, and you have settled in them; you are enjoying vineyards and olive groves which you did not plant.

[14]"Now, therefore, revere the LORD and serve Him with undivided loyalty; put away the gods that your forefathers served beyond the Euphrates and in Egypt, and serve the LORD. [15]Or, if you are loath to serve the LORD, choose this day which ones you are going to serve—the gods that your forefathers served beyond the Euphrates, or those of the Amorites in whose land you are settled; but I and my household will serve the LORD."

[16]In reply, the people declared, "Far be it from us to forsake the LORD and serve other gods! [17]For it was the LORD our God who brought us and our fathers up from the land of Egypt, the house of bondage, and who wrought those wondrous signs before our very eyes, and guarded us all along the way that we traveled and among all the peoples through whose midst we passed. [18]And then the LORD drove out before us all the peoples—the Amorites—that inhabited the country. We too will serve the LORD, for He is our God."

[19]Joshua, however, said to the people, "You will not be able to serve the LORD, for He is a holy God. He is a jealous God; He will not forgive your transgressions and your sins. [20]If you forsake the LORD and serve alien gods, He will turn and deal harshly with you and make an end of you, after having been gracious to you." [21]But the people replied to Joshua, "No, we will serve the LORD!" [22]Thereupon Joshua said to the people, "You are witnesses against yourselves that

1 After the death of Joshua, the Israelites inquired of the LORD, "Which of us shall be the first to go up against the Canaanites and attack them?" [2]The LORD replied, "Let [the tribe of] Judah go up. I now deliver the land into their hands." [3]Judah then said to their brother-tribe Simeon, "Come up with us to our allotted territory and let us attack the Canaanites, and then we will go with you to your allotted territory." So Simeon joined them.

[4]When Judah advanced, the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hands, and they defeated ten thousand of them at Bezek. [5]At Bezek, they encountered Adoni-bezek, engaged him in battle, and defeated the Canaanites and the Perizzites. [6]Adoni-bezek fled, but they pursued him and captured him; and they cut off his thumbs and his big toes. [7]And Adoni-bezek said, "Seventy kings, with thumbs and big toes cut off, used to pick up scraps under my table; as I have done, so God has requited me." They brought him to Jerusalem and he died there.

[8]The Judites attacked Jerusalem and captured it; they put it to the sword and set the city on fire. [9]After that the Judites went down to attack the Canaanites who inhabited the hill country, the Negeb, and the Shephelah.

[10]The Judites marched against the Canaanites who dwelt in Hebron, and they defeated Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai. (The name of Hebron was formerly Kiriath-arba.) [11]From there they marched against the inhabitants of Debir (the name of Debir was formerly Kiriath-sepher). 12And Caleb announced, "I will give my daughter Achsah in marriage to the man who attacks and captures Kiriath-sepher." 13His younger kinsman, Othniel the Kenizzite,[a] captured it; and Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah in marriage. 14[b-]When she came [to him], she induced him to ask her father for some property. She dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb asked her, "What is the matter?" 15She replied, "Give me a present, for you have given me away as Negeb-land; give me springs of water." And Caleb gave her Upper and Lower Gulloth.[-b]

16The descendants of the Kenite, the father-in-law of Moses, went up with the Judites from the City of Palms to the wilderness of Judah; and they went and settled among the people[c] in the Negeb of Arad. 17And Judah with its brother-tribe Simeon went on and defeated the Canaanites who dwelt in Zephath. They proscribed it, and so the town was named Hormah.[d] 18And Judah captured[e] Gaza and its territory, Ashkelon and its territory, and Ekron and its territory.

19The LORD was with Judah, so that they took possession of the hill country; but they were not able to dispossess the inhabitants of the plain, for they had iron chariots. 20They gave Hebron to Caleb, as Moses had promised; and he drove the three Anakites out of there. 21The Benjaminites did not dispossess the Jebusite inhabitants of Jerusalem; so the Jebusites have dwelt with the Benjaminites in Jerusalem to this day.

the town, and we will treat you kindly." [25]He showed them how to get into the town; they put the town to the sword, but they let the man and all his relatives go free. [26]The man went to the Hittite country. He founded a city and named it Luz, and that has been its name to this day.

[27]Manasseh did not dispossess [the inhabitants of] Beth-shean and its dependencies, or [of] Taanach and its dependencies, or the inhabitants of Dor and its dependencies, or the inhabitants of Ibleam and its dependencies, or the inhabitants of Megiddo and its dependencies. The Canaanites persisted in dwelling in this region. [28]And when Israel gained the upper hand, they subjected the Canaanites to forced labor; but they did not dispossess them. [29]Nor did Ephraim dispossess the Canaanites who inhabited Gezer; so the Canaanites dwelt in their midst at Gezer.

[30]Zebulun did not dispossess the inhabitants of Kitron or the inhabitants of Nahalol; so the Canaanites dwelt in their midst, but they were subjected to forced labor. [31]Asher did not dispossess the inhabitants of Acco or the inhabitants of Sidon, Ahlab, Achzib, Helbah, Aphik, and Rehob. [32]So the Asherites dwelt in the midst of the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land, for they did not dispossess them. [33]Naphtali did not dispossess the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh or the inhabitants of Beth-anath. But they settled in the midst of the Canaanite inhabitants of the land, and the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Beth-anath had to perform forced labor for them.

[34]The Amorites pressed the Danites into the hill country; they would not let them come down to the plain. [35]The Amorites also persisted in dwelling in Har-heres, in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim. But the hand of the House of Joseph bore heavily on them and they had to perform forced labor. [36]The territory of the Amorites[g] extended from the Ascent of Akrabbim—from Sela—onward.

g Some Septuagint mss. read "Edomites."

2 An angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bochim and said, "I brought you up from Egypt and I took you into the land which I had promised on oath to your fathers. And I said, 'I will never break My covenant with you. [2]And you, for your part, must make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you must tear down their altars.' But you have not obeyed Me—look what you have done! [3]Therefore, I have resolved not to drive them out before you; they shall become your oppressors,[a] and their gods shall be a snare to you." [4]As the angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the Israelites, the people broke into weeping. [5]So they named that place Bochim,[b] and they offered sacrifices there to the LORD.

[6]When Joshua dismissed the people, the Israelites went to their allotted territories and took possession of the land. [7]The people served the LORD during the lifetime of Joshua and the lifetime of the older people who lived on after Joshua and who had witnessed all the marvelous deeds that the LORD had wrought for Israel. [8]Joshua son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died at the age of one hundred and ten years, [9]and was buried on his own property, at Timnath-heres[c] in the hill country of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash. [10]And all that generation were likewise gathered to their fathers.

Another generation arose after them, which had not experienced [the deliverance of] the LORD or the deeds that He had wrought for Israel. [11]And the Israelites did what was offensive to the LORD. They worshiped the Baalim [12]and forsook the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They followed other gods, from among the gods of the peoples around them, and bowed down to them; they provoked the LORD. [13]They forsook the LORD and worshiped Baal and the Ashtaroth.[d] [14]Then the LORD was incensed at Israel, and He handed them over to foes[e] who plundered them. He surrendered them to their enemies on all sides, and they could no longer hold their own against their enemies. [15]In all their campaigns, the hand of the LORD was against them to their undoing, as the LORD had declared and as the LORD had sworn to them; and they were in great distress. [16]Then the LORD raised up chieftains who delivered them from those who plundered them. [17]But they did not heed their chieftains either; they went astray after other gods and bowed down to them. They were quick to turn aside from the way their fathers had followed in obedience to the commandments of the LORD; they did not do right. [18]When the LORD raised up chieftains for them, the LORD would be with the chieftain and would save them from their enemies during the chieftain's lifetime; for the LORD would be moved to pity by their moanings because of those who oppressed and crushed them. [19]But when the chieftain died, they would again act basely, even more than [f]the preceding generation[f]—following other gods, worshiping them, and bowing down to them; they omitted none of their practices and stubborn ways.

[20]Then the LORD became incensed against Israel, and He said, "Since that nation has transgressed the covenant that I enjoined upon their fathers and has not obeyed Me, [21]I for My part will no longer drive out before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died." [22]For it was in order to test Israel by them—[to see] whether or not they would faithfully walk in the ways of the LORD, as their fathers had done—[23]that the LORD had left those nations, instead of driving them out at once, and had not delivered them into the hands of Joshua.

3 [a]These are the nations that the LORD left so that He might test by them all the Israelites who had not known any of the wars of Canaan, [2]so that succeeding generations of Israelites might be made to experience war—but only those who had not known the [b]former wars:[b] [3]the five principalities[c] of the Philistines and all the Canaanites, Sidonians, and Hivites who inhabited the hill country of the Lebanon from Mount Baal-hermon to Lebo-hamath.[d] [4]These served as a means of testing Israel, to learn whether they would obey the commandments which the LORD had enjoined upon their fathers through Moses.

[5]The Israelites settled among the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites; [6]they took their daughters to wife and gave their own daughters to their sons, and they worshiped their gods. [7]The Israelites did what was offensive to the LORD; they ignored the LORD their God and worshiped the Baalim and the Asheroth. [8]The LORD became incensed at Israel and surrendered them to King Cushan-rishathaim of Aram-naharaim; and the Israelites were subject to Cushan-rishathaim for eight years. [9]The Israelites cried out to the LORD, and the LORD raised a champion for the Israelites to deliver them: Othniel the Kenizzite, a younger kinsman of Caleb. [10]The spirit of the LORD descended upon him and he became Israel's chieftain. He went out to war, and the LORD delivered King Cushan-rishathaim of Aram into his hands. He prevailed over Cushan-rishathaim, [11]and the land had peace for forty years.

When Othniel the Kenizzite died, [12]the Israelites again did what was offensive to the LORD. And because they did what was offensive to the LORD, the LORD let King Eglon of Moab prevail over Israel. [13][Eglon] brought the Ammonites and the Amalekites together under his command, and went and defeated Israel and occupied the City of Palms. [14]The Israelites were subject to King Eglon of Moab for eighteen years.

[15]Then the Israelites cried out to the LORD, and the LORD raised up a champion for them: the Benjaminite Ehud son of Gera, a left-handed man. It happened that the Israelites sent tribute to King Eglon of Moab through him. [16]So Ehud made for himself a two-edged dagger, a gomed in length, which he girded on his right side under his cloak. [17]He presented the tribute to King Eglon of Moab. Now Eglon was a very stout man. [18]When [Ehud] had finished presenting the tribute, he dismissed the people who had conveyed the tribute. [19]But he himself returned from Pesilim, near Gilgal, and said, "Your Majesty, I have a secret message for you." [Eglon] thereupon commanded, "Silence!" So all those in attendance left his presence; [20]and when Ehud approached him, he was sitting alone in his cool upper chamber. Ehud said, "I have a message for you from God"; whereupon he rose from his seat. [21]Reaching with his left hand, Ehud drew the dagger from his right side and drove it into [Eglon's][e] belly. [22]The fat closed over the blade and the hilt went in after the blade—for he did not pull the dagger out of his belly—and the filth[f] came out.

[23]Stepping out into the vestibule,[f] Ehud shut the doors of the upper chamber on him and locked them. [24]After he left, the courtiers returned. When they saw that the doors of the upper chamber were locked, they thought, "He must be relieving himself in the cool chamber." [25]They waited a long time; and when he did not open the doors of the chamber, they took the key and opened them—and there their master was lying dead on the floor! [26]But Ehud had made good his escape while they delayed; he had passed Pesilim and escaped to Seirah. [27]When he got there, he had the ram's horn sounded through the hill country of Ephraim, and all the Israelites descended with him from the hill country; and he took the lead. [28]"Follow me closely," he said, "for the LORD has delivered your enemies, the Moabites, into your hands." They followed him down and seized the fords of the Jordan against the Moabites; they let no one cross. [29]On that occasion they slew about 10,000 Moabites; they were all robust and brave men, yet not one of them escaped. [30]On that day, Moab submitted to Israel; and the land was tranquil for eighty years.

[31]After him came Shamgar [g]son of Anath,[g] who slew six hundred Philistines with an ox-goad. He too was a champion of Israel.

The Israelites again did what was offensive to the LORD—Ehud now being dead. [2]And the LORD surrendered them to King Jabin of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. His army commander was Sisera, whose base was Harosheth-goiim. [3]The Israelites cried out to the LORD; for he had nine hundred iron chariots, and he had oppressed Israel ruthlessly for twenty years.

[4]Deborah, wife of Lappidoth, was a prophetess; she led Israel at that time. [5]She used to sit under the Palm of Deborah, between Ramah and Bethel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the Israelites would come to her for decisions.

[6]She summoned Barak son of Abinoam, of Kedesh in Naphtali, and said to him, "The LORD, the God of Israel, has commanded: Go, march up to Mount Tabor, and take with you ten thousand men of Naphtali and Zebulun. [7]And I will draw Sisera, Jabin's army commander, with his chariots and his troops, toward you up to the Wadi Kishon; and I will deliver him into your hands." [8]But Barak said to her, "If you will go with me, I will go; if not, I will not go." [9]"Very well, I will go with you," she answered. "However, there will be no glory for you in the course you are taking, for then the LORD will deliver Sisera into the hands of a woman." So Deborah went with Barak to Kedesh. [10]Barak then mustered Zebulun and Naphtali at Kedesh; ten thousand men marched up *a-after him;-a* and Deborah also went up with him.

[11]Now Heber the Kenite had separated *b-from the other Kenites,-b* descendants of Hobab, father-in-law of Moses, and had pitched his tent at Elon-bezaanannim, which is near Kedesh.

[12]Sisera was informed that Barak son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor. [13]So Sisera ordered all his chariots—nine hundred iron chariots—and all the troops he had to move from Harosheth-goiim to the Wadi Kishon. [14]Then Deborah said to Barak, "Up! This is the day on which the LORD will deliver Sisera into your hands: the LORD is marching before you." Barak charged down Mount Tabor, followed by the ten thousand men, [15]and the LORD threw Sisera and all his chariots and army into a panic *c-before the onslaught of Barak.-c* Sisera leaped from his chariot and fled on foot [16]as Barak pursued the chariots and the soldiers as far as Harosheth-goiim. All of Sisera's soldiers fell by the sword; not a man was left.

[17]Sisera, meanwhile, had fled on foot to the tent of Jael, wife of Heber the Kenite; for there was friendship between King Jabin of Hazor and the family of Heber the Kenite. [18]Jael came out to greet Sisera and said to him, "Come in, my lord, come in here, do not be afraid." So he entered her tent, and she covered him with a blanket. [19]He said to her, "Please let me have some water; I am thirsty." She opened a skin of milk and gave him some to drink; and she covered him again. [20]He said to her, "Stand at the entrance of the tent. If anybody comes and asks you if there is anybody here, say 'No.'" [21]Then Jael wife of Heber took a tent pin and grasped the mallet. When he was fast asleep from exhaustion, she approached him stealthily and drove the pin through his temple till it went down to the ground. Thus he died.

[22]Now Barak appeared in pursuit of Sisera.

On that day Deborah and Barak son of Abinoam sang:

[2][a]When [b-]locks go untrimmed[-b] in Israel,
When people dedicate themselves—
Bless the LORD!

[3]Hear, O kings! Give ear, O potentates!
I will sing, will sing to the LORD,
Will hymn the LORD, the God of Israel.

[4]O LORD, when You came forth from Seir,
Advanced from the country of Edom,
The earth trembled;
The heavens dripped,
Yea, the clouds dripped water,
[5]The mountains quaked[c]—
Before the LORD, Him of Sinai,
Before the LORD, God of Israel.

[6]In the days of Shamgar [d-]son of Anath,[-d]
In the days of Jael, caravans[e] ceased,
And wayfarers went
By roundabout paths.
[7]Deliverance ceased,
Ceased in Israel,
Till you[f] arose, O Deborah,
Arose, O mother, in Israel!
[8]When they chose new gods,
[g-]Was there a fighter then in the gates?[-g]
No shield or spear was seen
Among forty thousand in Israel!

[9]My heart is with Israel's leaders,
With the dedicated of the people—
Bless the Lord!
[10]You riders on tawny she-asses,
You who sit on saddle rugs,
And you wayfarers, declare it!
[11]Louder than the [h-]sound of archers,[-h]
There among the watering places
Let them chant the gracious acts of the Lord,
His gracious deliverance of Israel.
Then did the people of the Lord
March down to the gates!
[12]Awake, awake, O Deborah!
Awake, awake, strike up the chant!
Arise, O Barak;
Take your captives, O son of Abinoam!

[13]Then was the remnant made victor over the mighty,
The Lord's people[i] won my victory over the warriors.

[14]From Ephraim came they whose roots are in Amalek;
After you, your kin Benjamin;
From Machir came down leaders,
From Zebulun such as hold the marshal's staff.

As Barak, so was Issachar—
Rushing after him into the valley.

And listen as they pipe for the flocks?
Among the clans of Reuben
Were great searchings of heart!

They got no spoil of silver.
[20]The stars fought from heaven,
From their courses they fought against Sisera.
[21]The torrent Kishon swept them[l] away,
The raging torrent, the torrent Kishon.

March on, my soul, with courage!

[22]Then the horses' hoofs pounded
[m]-As headlong galloped the steeds.-[m]
[23]"Curse Meroz!" said the angel of the LORD.
"Bitterly curse its inhabitants,
Because they came not to the aid of the LORD,
To the aid of the LORD among[n] the warriors."

[24]Most blessed of women be Jael,
Wife of Heber the Kenite,
Most blessed of women in tents.
[25]He asked for water, she offered milk;
In a princely bowl she brought him curds.
[26]Her [left] hand reached for the tent pin,
Her right for the workmen's hammer.
She struck Sisera, crushed his head,
Smashed and pierced his temple.
[27]At her feet he sank, lay outstretched,
At her feet he sank, lay still;
Where he sank, there he lay—destroyed.

[28]Through the window peered Sisera's mother,
Behind the lattice she whined:[o]
"Why is his chariot so long in coming?
Why so late the clatter of his wheels?"
[29]The wisest of her ladies give answer;
She, too, replies to herself:
[30]"They must be dividing the spoil they have found:
A damsel or two for each man,
Spoil of dyed cloths for Sisera,
Spoil of embroidered cloths,
A couple of embroidered cloths
Round every neck as spoil."

[31]So may all Your enemies perish, O LORD!
But may His friends be as the sun rising in might!

And the land was tranquil forty years.

Then the Israelites did what was offensive to the LORD, and the LORD delivered them into the hands of the Midianites for seven years. [2]The hand of the Midianites prevailed over Israel; and because of Midian, the Israelites [a]-provided themselves with refuges in the caves and strongholds of the mountains.-[a] [3]After the Israelites had done their sowing, Midian, Amalek, and the Kedemites would come up and raid them; [4]they would attack them, destroy[b] the produce of the land all the way to Gaza, and leave no means of sustenance in Israel, not a sheep or an ox or an ass. [5]For they would come up with their livestock and their tents, swarming as thick as locusts; they and their camels were innumerable. Thus they would invade the land and ravage it. [6]Israel was reduced to utter misery by the Midianites, and the Israelites cried out to the LORD.

[7]When the Israelites cried to the LORD on account of Midian, [8]the LORD sent a prophet to the Israelites who said to them, "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: I brought you up out of Egypt and freed you from the house of bondage. [9]I rescued you from the Egyptians and from all your oppressors; I drove them out before you, and gave you their land. [10]And I said to you, 'I the LORD am your God. You must not worship the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell.' But you did not obey Me."

[11]An angel of the LORD came and sat under the terebinth at Ophrah, which belonged to Joash the Abiezrite. His son Gideon was then beating out wheat inside a winepress in order to keep it safe from the Midianites. [12]The angel of the LORD appeared to him and said to him, "The LORD is with you, valiant warrior!" [13]Gideon said to him, "Please, my lord, if the LORD is with us, why has all this befallen us? Where are all

His wondrous deeds about which our fathers told us, saying, 'Truly the LORD brought us up from Egypt'? Now the LORD has abandoned us and delivered us into the hands of Midian!" [14]The LORD turned to him and said, "Go in this strength of yours and deliver Israel from the Midianites. I herewith make you My messenger." [15]He said to Him, "Please, my lord, how can I deliver Israel? Why, my clan is the humblest in Manasseh, and I am the youngest in my father's household." [16]The LORD replied, "I will be with you, and you shall defeat Midian to a man." [17]And he said to Him, "If I have gained Your favor, give me a sign that it is You who are speaking to me: [18]do not leave this place until I come back to You and bring out my offering and place it before You." And He answered, "I will stay until you return."

[19]So Gideon went in and prepared a kid, and [baked] unleavened bread from an ephah of flour. He put the meat in a basket and poured the broth into a pot, and he brought them out to Him under the terebinth. As he presented them, [20]the angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and the unleavened bread, put them on yonder rock, and spill out the broth." He did so. [21]The angel of the LORD held out the staff that he carried, and touched the meat and the unleavened bread with its tip. A fire sprang up from the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened bread. And the angel of the LORD vanished from his sight. [22]Then Gideon realized that it was an angel of the LORD; and Gideon said, "Alas, O Lord GOD! For I have seen an angel of the LORD face to face."

[23]But the LORD said to him, "All is well; have no fear, you shall not die." [24]So Gideon built there an altar to the LORD and called it [c]-Adonai-shalom.-[c] To this day it stands in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

[25]That night the LORD said to him: "Take the [a]-young bull-[a] belonging to your father and another bull seven years old; pull down the altar of Baal which belongs to your father, and cut down the sacred post which is beside it. [26]Then build an altar to the LORD your God, on [a]-the level ground-[a] on top of this stronghold. Take the other bull and offer it as a burnt offering, using the wood of the sacred post that you have cut down." [27]So Gideon took ten of his servants and did as the LORD had told him; but as he was afraid to do it by day, on account of his father's household and the townspeople, he did it by night. [28]Early the next morning, the townspeople found that the altar of Baal had been torn down and the sacred post beside it had been cut down, and that the second bull had been offered on the newly built altar. [29]They said to one another, "Who did this thing?" Upon inquiry and investigation, they were told, "Gideon son of Joash did this thing!" [30]The townspeople said to Joash, "Bring out your son, for he must die: he has torn down the altar of Baal and cut down the sacred post beside it!" [31]But Joash said to all who had risen against him, "Do you have to contend for Baal? Do you have to vindicate him? Whoever fights his battles shall be dead by morning! If he is a god, let him fight his own battles, since it is his altar that has been torn down!" [32]That day they named him[d] Jerubbaal, meaning "Let Baal contend with him, since he tore down his altar."

[33]All Midian, Amalek, and the Kedemites joined forces; they crossed over and encamped in the Valley of Jezreel. [34]The spirit of the LORD enveloped Gideon; he sounded the horn, and the Abiezrites rallied behind him. [35]And he sent messengers throughout Manasseh, and they too rallied behind him. He then sent messengers through Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali, and they came up to meet the Manassites.[e]

[36]And Gideon said to God, "If You really intend to deliver Israel through me as You have said—[37]here I place a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If dew falls only on the fleece and all the ground remains dry, I shall know that You will deliver Israel through me, as You have said." [38]And that is what happened. Early the next day, he squeezed the fleece and wrung out the dew from the fleece, a bowlful of water. [39]Then Gideon said to God, "Do not be angry with me if I speak just once more. Let me make just one more test with the fleece: let the fleece alone be dry, while there is dew all over the ground." [40]God did so that night: only the fleece was dry, while there was dew all over the ground.

Early next day, Jerubbaal—that is, Gideon—and all the troops with him encamped above En-harod,[a] while the camp of Midian was in the plain to the north of him, at Gibeath-moreh.[b] [2]The LORD said to Gideon, "You have too many troops with you for Me to deliver Midian into their hands; Israel might claim for themselves the glory due to Me, thinking, 'Our own hand has brought us victory.' [3]Therefore, announce to the men, 'Let anybody who is timid and fearful turn back, [c]as a bird flies from Mount Gilead.'"[-c] Thereupon, 22,000 of the troops turned back and 10,000 remained.

[4]"There are still too many troops," the LORD said to Gideon. "Take them down to the water and I will sift[d] them for you there. Anyone of whom I tell you, 'This one is to go with you,' that one shall go with you; and anyone of whom I tell you, 'This one is not to go with you,' that one shall not go." [5]So he took the troops down to the water. Then the LORD said to Gideon, "Set apart all those who [e]lap up the water with their tongues like dogs-[e] from all those who get down on their knees to drink." [6]Now those who "lapped" the water into their mouths by hand numbered three hundred; all the rest of the troops got down on their knees to drink. [7]Then the LORD said to Gideon, "I will deliver you and I will put Midian into your hands through the three hundred 'lappers'; let the rest of the troops go home." [8][c]-So [the lappers] took the provisions and horns that the other men had with them,-[c] and he sent the rest of the men of Israel back to their homes, retaining only the three hundred men.

The Midianite camp was below him, in the plain. [9]That night the LORD said to him, "Come, attack[f] the camp, for I have delivered it into your hands. [10]And if you are afraid to attack, first go down to the camp with your attendant Purah [11]and listen to what they say; after that you will have the courage to attack the camp." So he went down with his attendant Purah to the outposts of the warriors who were in the camp.—[12]Now Midian, Amalek, and all the Kedemites were spread over the plain, as thick as locusts; and their camels were countless, as numerous as the sands on the seashore.—[13]Gideon came there just as one man was narrating a dream to another. "Listen," he was saying, "I had this dream: There was a commotion[c]—a loaf of barley bread was whirling through the Midianite camp. It came to a tent and struck it, and it fell; it turned it upside down, and the tent collapsed." [14]To this the other responded, "That can only mean the sword of the Israelite Gideon son of Joash. God is delivering Midian and the entire camp into his hands."[g]

[15]When Gideon heard the dream told and interpreted, he bowed low. Returning to the camp of Israel, he shouted, "Come on! The LORD has delivered the Midianite camp into your hands!"

g The loaf of bread symbolizes the agricultural Israelites, the tent, the nomadic Midianites.

[16]He divided the three hundred men into three columns and equipped every man with a ram's horn and an empty jar, with a torch in each jar. [17]"Watch me," he said, "and do the same. When I get to the outposts of the camp, do exactly as I do. [18]When I and all those with me blow our horns, you too, all around the camp, will blow your horns and shout, 'For the LORD and for Gideon!'"

[19]Gideon and the hundred men with him arrived at the outposts of the camp, at the beginning of the middle watch, just after the sentries were posted. *h-They sounded the horns and smashed the jars that they had with them,-h* [20]and the three columns blew their horns and broke their jars. Holding the torches in their left hands and the horns for blowing in their right hands, they shouted, "A sword for the LORD and for Gideon!" [21]They remained standing where they were, surrounding the camp; but the entire camp ran about yelling, and took to flight. [22]For when the three hundred horns were sounded, the LORD turned every man's sword against his fellow, throughout the camp, and the entire host fled as far as Beth-shittah and on to Zererah—as far as the outskirts of Abel-meholah near Tabbath.

[23]And now the men of Israel from Naphtali and Asher and from all of Manasseh rallied for the pursuit of the Midianites. [24]Gideon also sent messengers all through the hill country of Ephraim with this order: i"Go down ahead of the Midianites and seize their access to the water all along the Jordan down to Beth-barah." So all the men of Ephraim rallied and seized the waterside down to Beth-barah by the Jordan. [25]They pursued the Midianites and captured Midian's two generals, Oreb and Zeeb. They killed Oreb at the Rock of Oreb and they killed Zeeb at the Winepress of Zeeb; and they brought

And the men of Ephraim said to him, "Why did you do that to us—not calling us when you went to fight the Midianites?" And they rebuked him severely. [2]But he answered them, "After all, what have I accomplished compared to you? Why, Ephraim's gleanings are better than Abiezer's vintage! [3]God has delivered the Midianite generals Oreb and Zeeb into your hands, and what was I able to do compared to you?" And when he spoke in this fashion, their anger against him abated.

[4]Gideon came to the Jordan and crossed it. The three hundred men with him were famished, but still in pursuit. [5]He said to the people of Succoth, "Please give some loaves of bread to the men who are following me, for they are famished, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, the kings of Midian." [6]But the officials of Succoth replied, [a]"Are Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hands,[a] that we should give bread to your troops?" [7]"I swear," declared Gideon, "when the LORD delivers Zebah and Zalmunna into my hands, I'll thresh[b] your bodies upon desert thorns and briers!" [8]From there he went up to Penuel and made the same request of them; but the people of Penuel gave him the same reply as the people of Succoth. [9]So he also threatened the people of Penuel: "When I come back safe, I'll tear down this tower!"

[10]Now Zebah and Zalmunna were at Karkor with their army of about 15,000; these were all that remained of the entire host of the Kedemites, for the slain numbered 120,000 fighting men.[c] [11]Gideon marched up the road of the tent dwellers, up to east of Nobah and Jogbehah, and routed the camp, which was off guard. [12]Zebah and Zalmunna took to flight, with Gideon[d] in pursuit. He captured Zebah and Zalmunna, the two kings of Midian, and threw the whole army into panic.

[13]On his way back from the battle at the Ascent of Heres, Gideon son of Joash [14]captured a boy from among the people of Succoth and interrogated him. The latter drew up for him a list of the officials and elders of Succoth, seventy-seven in number. [15]Then he came to the people of Succoth and said, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you mocked me, saying, [a-]'Are Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hands,[-a] that we should give your famished men bread?'" [16]And he took the elders of the city and, [bringing] desert thorns and briers, he punished[e] the people of Succoth with them. [17]As for Penuel, he tore down its tower and killed the townspeople.

[18]Then he asked Zebah and Zalmunna, "Those men you killed at Tabor, [f-]what were they like?"[-f] "They looked just like you," they replied, "like sons of a king." [19]"They were my brothers," he declared, "the sons of my mother. As the LORD lives, if you had spared them, I would not kill you." [20]And he commanded his oldest son Jether, "Go kill them!" But the boy did not draw his sword, for he was timid, being still a boy. [21]Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, "Come, you slay us; for strength comes with manhood." So Gideon went over and killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and he took the crescents that were on the necks of their camels.

[22]Then the men of Israel said to Gideon, "Rule over us—you, your son, and your grandson as well; for you have saved us from the Midianites." [23]But Gideon replied, "I will not rule over you myself, nor shall my son rule over you; the

(They[g] had golden earrings, for they were Ishmaelites.) [25]"Certainly!" they replied. And they spread out a cloth, and everyone threw onto it the earring he had received as booty. [26]The weight of the golden earrings that he had requested came to 1,700 shekels of gold; this was in addition to the crescents and the pendants and the purple robes worn by the kings of Midian and in addition to the collars on the necks of their camels. [27]Gideon made an ephod of [h]this gold[h] and set it up in his own town of Ophrah. There all Israel went astray after it, and it became a snare to Gideon and his household. [28]Thus Midian submitted to the Israelites and did not raise its head again; and the land was tranquil for forty years in Gideon's time.

[29]So Jerubbaal son of Joash retired to his own house. [30]Gideon had seventy sons of his own issue, for he had many wives. [31]A son was also born to him by his concubine in Shechem, and he named him Abimelech. [32]Gideon son of Joash died at a ripe old age, and was buried in the tomb of his father Joash at Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

[33]After Gideon died, the Israelites again went astray after the Baalim, and they adopted Baal-berith as a god. He said, [2]"Put this question to all the citizens of Shechem: Which is better for you, to be ruled by seventy men—by all the sons of Jerubbaal—or to be ruled by one man? And remember, I am your own [a-]flesh and blood."[-a] [3]His mother's brothers said all this in his behalf to all the citizens of Shechem, and they were won over to Abimelech; for they thought, "He is our kinsman." [4]They gave him seventy shekels from the temple of Baal-berith; and with this Abimelech hired some worthless and reckless fellows, and they followed him. [5]Then he went to his father's house in Ophrah and killed his brothers, the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy men on one stone. Only Jotham, the youngest son of Jerubbaal, survived, because he went into hiding.

[6]All the citizens of Shechem and all Beth-millo convened, and they proclaimed Abimelech king at the terebinth of the pillar[b] at Shechem. [7]When Jotham was informed, he went and stood on top of Mount Gerizim and called out to them in a loud voice. "Citizens of Shechem!" he cried, "listen to me, that God may listen to you.

[9]But the olive tree replied, 'Have I, through whom God and men are honored, stopped yielding my rich oil, that I should go and wave above the trees?' [10]So the trees said to the fig tree, 'You come and reign over us.' [11]But the fig tree replied, 'Have I stopped yielding my sweetness, my delicious fruit, that I should go and wave above the trees?' [12]So the trees said to the vine, 'You come and reign over us.' [13]But the vine replied, 'Have I stopped yielding my new wine, which gladdens God and men, that I should go and wave above the trees?' [14]Then all the trees said to the thornbush, 'You come and reign over us.' [15]And the thornbush said to the trees, 'If you are acting honorably in anointing me king over you, come and take shelter in my shade; but if not, may fire issue from the thornbush and consume the cedars of Lebanon!'

16"Now then, if you acted honorably and loyally in making Abimelech king, if you have done right by Jerubbaal and his house and have requited him according to his deserts—17considering that my father fought for you and saved you from the Midianites at the risk of his life, 18and now you have turned on my father's household, killed his sons, seventy men on one stone, and set up Abimelech, the son of his handmaid, as king over the citizens of Shechem just because he is your kinsman—19if, I say, you have this day acted honorably and loyally toward Jerubbaal and his house, have joy in Abimelech and may he likewise have joy in you. 20But if not, may fire issue from Abimelech and consume the citizens of Shechem and Beth-millo, and may fire issue from the citizens of Shechem and Beth-millo and consume Abimelech!"

21With that, Jotham fled. He ran to Beer and stayed there, because of his brother Abimelech.

22Abimelech held sway over Israel for three years. 23Then God sent a spirit of discord between Abimelech and the citizens of Shechem, and the citizens of Shechem broke faith with Abimelech—24to the end that the crime committed against the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might be avenged, and their blood recoil upon their brother Abimelech, who had slain them, and upon the citizens of Shechem, who had abetted him in the slaying of his brothers. 25The citizens of Shechem planted ambuscades against him on the hilltops; and they robbed whoever passed by them on the road. Word of this reached Abimelech.

zens of Shechem gave him their confidence. [27]They went out into the fields, gathered and trod out the vintage of their vineyards, and made a festival. They entered the temple of their god, and as they ate and drank they reviled Abimelech. [28]Gaal son of Ebed said, "Who is Abimelech and who are [we] Shechemites, that we should serve him? b-This same son of Jerubbaal and his lieutenant Zebul once served the men of Hamor, the father of Shechem;-b so why should we serve him? [29]Oh, if only this people were under my command, I would get rid of Abimelech! One[c] would challenge Abimelech, 'Fill up your ranks and come out here!'"

[30]When Zebul, the governor of the city, heard the words of Gaal son of Ebed, he was furious. [31]He sent messages to Abimelech at Tormah[d] to say, "Gaal son of Ebed and his companions have come to Shechem and they are inciting[b] the city against you. [32]Therefore, set out at night with the forces you have with you and conceal yourself in the fields. [33]Early next morning, as the sun rises, advance on the city. He and his men will thereupon come out against you, and you will do to him whatever you find possible."

[34]Abimelech and all the men with him set out at night and disposed themselves against Shechem in four hiding places. [35]When Gaal son of Ebed came out and stood at the entrance to the city gate, Abimelech and the army with him emerged from concealment. [36]Gaal saw the army and said to Zebul, "That's an army marching down from the hilltops!" But Zebul said to him, "The shadows of the hills look to you like men." [37]Gaal spoke up again, "Look, an army is marching down from Tabbur-erez, and another column is coming from the direction of Elon-meonenim." [38]"Well," replied Zebul, "where is your boast, 'Who is Abimelech that we should serve him'? There is the army you sneered at; now go out and fight it!"

[39]So Gaal went out at the head of the citizens of Shechem and gave battle to Abimelech. [40]But he had to flee before him, and Abimelech pursued him, and many fell slain, all the way to the entrance of the gate. [41]Then Abimelech stayed in Arumah,[e] while Zebul expelled Gaal and his companions and kept them out of Shechem.

[42]The next day, when people went out into the fields, Abimelech was informed. [43]Taking the army, he divided it into three columns and lay in ambush in the fields; and when he saw the people coming out of the city, he pounced upon them and struck them down. [44]While Abimelech and the column[f] that followed him dashed ahead and took up a position at the entrance of the city gate, the other two columns rushed upon all that were in the open and struck them down. [45]Abimelech fought against the city all that day. He captured the city and massacred the people in it; he razed the town and sowed it with salt.

[46]When all the citizens of the Tower of Shechem[g] learned of this, they went into the tunnel[h] of the temple of El-berith.[i] [47]When Abimelech was informed that all the citizens of the Tower of Shechem had gathered [there], [48]Abimelech and all the troops he had with him went up on Mount Zalmon. Taking an ax[j] in his hand, Abimelech lopped off a tree limb and lifted it onto his shoulder. Then he said to the troops that accompanied him, "What you saw me do—quick, do the same!" [49]So each of the troops also lopped off a bough; then they marched behind Abimelech and laid them against the tunnel, and set fire to the tunnel over their heads. Thus all the people of the Tower of Shechem also perished, about a thousand men and women.

v. 41 א׳ נחה

[50]Abimelech proceeded to Thebez; he encamped at Thebez and occupied it. [51]Within the town was a fortified tower; and all the citizens of the town, men and women, took refuge there. They shut themselves in, and went up on the roof of the tower. [52]Abimelech pressed forward to the tower and attacked it. He approached the door of the tower to set it on fire. [53]But a woman dropped an upper millstone on Abimelech's head and cracked his skull. [54]He immediately cried out to his attendant, his arms-bearer, "Draw your dagger and finish me off, that they may not say of me, 'A woman killed him!'" So his attendant stabbed him, and he died. [55]When the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, everyone went home.

[56]Thus God repaid Abimelech for the evil he had done to his father by slaying his seventy brothers; [57]and God likewise repaid the men of Shechem for all their wickedness. And so the curse of Jotham son of Jerubbaal was fulfilled upon them.

After Abimelech, Tola son of Puah son of Dodo, a man of Issachar, arose to deliver Israel. He lived at Shamir in the hill country of Ephraim. [2]He led Israel for twenty-three years; then he died and was buried at Shamir.

[3]After him arose Jair the Gileadite, and he led Israel for twenty-two years. ([4]He had thirty sons, who rode on thirty burros and owned thirty boroughs[a] in the region of Gilead; these are called Havvoth-jair[b] to this day.) [5]Then Jair died and was buried at Kamon.

[6]The Israelites again did what was offensive to the LORD. They served the Baalim and the Ashtaroth, and the gods of Aram, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites, and the gods of the Philistines; they forsook the LORD and did not serve Him. [7]And the LORD, incensed with Israel, surrendered them to the Philistines and to the Ammonites. [8]That year they battered and shattered the Israelites—for[c] eighteen years—all the Israelites beyond the Jordan, in [what had been] the land of the Amorites in Gilead. [9]The Ammonites also crossed the Jordan to make war on Judah, Benjamin, and the House of Ephraim. Israel was in great distress.

[10]Then the Israelites cried out to the LORD, "We stand guilty before You, for we have forsaken our God and served the Baalim." [11]But the LORD said to the Israelites, "[I have rescued you] from the Egyptians, from the Amorites, from the Ammonites, and from the Philistines. [12]The Sidonians, Amalek, and Maon[d] also oppressed you; and when you cried out to Me, I saved you from them. [13]Yet you have forsaken Me and have served other gods. No, I will not deliver you again. [14]Go cry to the gods you have chosen; let them deliver you in your time of distress!" [15]But the Israelites implored the LORD: "We stand guilty. Do to us as You see fit; only save us this day!" [16]They removed the alien gods from among them and served the LORD; and He could not bear the miseries of Israel.

[17]The Ammonites mustered and they encamped in Gilead; and the Israelites massed and they encamped at Mizpah. [18]The troops—the officers of Gilead—said to one another, "Let the man who is the first to fight the Ammonites be chieftain over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

drove Jephthah out. They said to him, "You shall have no share in our father's property, for you are the son of an outsider."[a] [3]So Jephthah fled from his brothers and settled in the Tob country. Men of low character gathered about Jephthah and went out raiding with him.

[4]Some time later, the Ammonites went to war against Israel. [5]And when the Ammonites attacked Israel, the elders of Gilead went to bring Jephthah back from the Tob country. [6]They said to Jephthah, "Come be our chief, so that we can fight the Ammonites." [7]Jephthah replied to the elders of Gilead, "You are the very people who rejected me and drove me out of my father's house. How can you come to me now when you are in trouble?" [8]The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "Honestly, we have now turned back to you. If you come with us and fight the Ammonites, you shall be our commander over all the inhabitants of Gilead." [9]Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "[Very well,] if you bring me back to fight the Ammonites and the LORD delivers them to me, I am to be your commander." [10]And the elders of Gilead answered Jephthah, "The LORD Himself shall be witness between us: we will do just as you have said."

[11]Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him their commander and chief. And Jephthah repeated all these terms before the LORD at Mizpah.

[12]Jephthah then sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites, saying, "What have you against me that you have come to make war on my country?" [13]The king of the Ammonites replied to Jephthah's messengers, "When Israel came from Egypt, they seized the land which is mine, from the Arnon to the Jabbok as far as the Jordan. Now, then, restore it peaceably."

[14]Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites. [15]He said to him, "Thus said

Jephthah: Israel did not seize the land of Moab or the land of the Ammonites. [16]When they left Egypt, Israel traveled through the wilderness to the Sea of Reeds and went on to Kadesh. [17]Israel then sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, 'Allow us to cross your country.' But the king of Edom would not consent. They also sent a mission to the king of Moab, and he refused. So Israel, after staying at Kadesh, [18]traveled on through the wilderness, skirting the land of Edom and the land of Moab. They kept to the east of the land of Moab until they encamped on the other side of the Arnon; and, since Moab ends at the Arnon, they never entered Moabite territory.

[19]"Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon. Israel said to him, 'Allow us to cross through your country to our homeland.' [20]But Sihon would not trust Israel to pass through his territory. Sihon mustered all his troops, and they encamped at Jahaz; he engaged Israel in battle. [21]But the LORD, the God of Israel, delivered Sihon and all his troops into Israel's hands, and they defeated them; and Israel took possession of all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that land. [22]Thus they possessed all the territory of the Amorites from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the wilderness to the Jordan.

[23]"Now, then, the LORD, the God of Israel, dispossessed the Amorites before His people Israel; and should you possess their land? [24]Do you not hold what Chemosh your god gives you to possess? So we will hold on to everything that the LORD our God has given us to possess.

[25]"Besides, are you any better than Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he start a quarrel with Israel or go to war with them?

[26]"While Israel has been inhabiting Heshbon and its dependencies, and Aroer and its dependencies, and all the towns along the Arnon for three hundred years, why have you not tried to recover them all this time? 27I have done you no wrong; yet you are doing me harm and making war on me. May the LORD, who judges, decide today between the Israelites and the Ammonites!"

28But the king of the Ammonites paid no heed to the message that Jephthah sent him.

29Then the spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah. He marched through Gilead and Manasseh, passing Mizpeh of Gilead; and from Mizpeh of Gilead he crossed over [to] the Ammonites. 30And Jephthah made the following vow to the LORD: "If You deliver the Ammonites into my hands, 31then whatever comes out of the door of my house to meet me on my safe return from the Ammonites shall be the LORD's and shall be offered by me as a burnt offering."

32Jephthah crossed over to the Ammonites and attacked them, and the LORD delivered them into his hands. 33He utterly routed them—from Aroer as far as Minnith, twenty towns—all the way to Abel-cheramim. So the Ammonites submitted to the Israelites.

34When Jephthah arrived at his home in Mizpah, there was his daughter coming out to meet him, with timbrel and dance! She was an only child; he had no other son or daughter. 35On seeing her, he rent his clothes and said, "Alas, daughter! You have brought me low; you have become my troubler! For I have [b]uttered a vow[b] to the LORD and I cannot retract." 36"Father," she said, "you have uttered a vow to the LORD; do to me as you have vowed, seeing that the LORD has vindicated you against your enemies, the Ammonites." 37She further said to her father, "Let this be done for me: let me be for two months, and I will go with my companions and lament[c] upon the hills and there bewail my maidenhood." [38]"Go," he replied. He let her go for two months, and she and her companions went and bewailed her maidenhood upon the hills. [39]After two months' time, she returned to her father, and he did to her as he had vowed. She had never known a man. So it became a custom in Israel [40]for the maidens of Israel to go every year, for four days in the year, and chant dirges for the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite.

The men of Ephraim mustered and crossed [the Jordan] to Zaphon. They said to Jephthah, "Why did you march to fight the Ammonites without calling us to go with you? We'll burn your house down over you!" [2]Jephthah answered them, "I and my people were in a bitter conflict with the Ammonites; and I summoned you, but you did not save me from them. [3]When I saw that you were no saviors, I risked my life and advanced against the Ammonites; and the LORD delivered them into my hands. Why have you come here now to fight against me?" [4]And Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead and fought the Ephraimites. The men of Gilead defeated the Ephraimites; for [a-]they had said, "You Gileadites are nothing but fugitives from Ephraim—being in Manasseh is like being in Ephraim."[-a] [5]The Gileadites held the fords of the Jordan against the Ephraimites. And when any fugitive from Ephraim said, "Let me cross," the men of Gilead would ask him, "Are you an Ephraimite?"; if he said "No," [6]they would say to him, "Then say shibboleth"; but he would say "sibboleth," not being able to pronounce it correctly. Thereupon they would seize him and slay him by the fords of the Jordan. Forty-two thousand Ephraimites fell at that time.

[7] וַיִּשְׁפֹּ֥ט יִפְתָּ֛ח אֶת־יִשְׂרָאֵ֖ל שֵׁ֣שׁ שָׁנִ֑ים

a-a Meaning of Heb. uncertain.

[7]Jephthah led Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and he was buried in one of the towns of Gilead.

[8]After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem[b] led Israel. [9]He had thirty sons, and he married off thirty daughters outside the clan and brought in thirty girls from outside the clan for his sons. He led Israel seven years. [10]Then Ibzan died and was buried in Bethlehem.

[11]After him, Elon the Zebulunite led Israel; he led Israel for ten years. [12]Then Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried in Aijalon, in the territory of Zebulun.

[13]After him, Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite led Israel. [14]He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy jackasses. He led Israel for eight years. [15]Then Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite died. He was buried in Pirathon, in the territory of Ephraim, on the hill of the Amalekites.

The Israelites again did what was offensive to the LORD, and the LORD delivered them into the hands of the Philistines for forty years. [2]There was a certain man from Zorah, of the stock of Dan, whose name was Manoah. His wife was barren and had borne no children. [3]An angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, "You are barren and have borne no children; but you shall conceive and bear a son. [4]Now be careful not to drink wine or other intoxicant, or to eat anything unclean. [5]For you are going to conceive and bear a son; let no razor touch his head, for the boy is to be a nazirite to God from the womb on. He shall be the first to deliver Israel from the Philistines."

man of God came to me; he looked like an angel of God, very frightening. I did not ask him where he was from, nor did he tell me his name. [7]He said to me, 'You are going to conceive and bear a son. Drink no wine or other intoxicant, and eat nothing unclean, for the boy is to be a nazirite to God from the womb to the day of his death!'"

[8]Manoah pleaded with the LORD. "Oh, my Lord!" he said, "please let the man of God that You sent come to us again, and let him instruct us how to act with the child that is to be born." [9]God heeded Manoah's plea, and the angel of God came to the woman again. She was sitting in the field and her husband Manoah was not with her. [10]The woman ran in haste to tell her husband. She said to him, "The man who came to me before[a] has just appeared to me." [11]Manoah promptly followed his wife. He came to the man and asked him: "Are you the man who spoke to my wife?" "Yes," he answered. [12]Then Manoah said, "May your words soon come true! What rules shall be observed for the boy?" [13]The angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "The woman must abstain from all the things against which I warned her. [14]She must not eat anything that comes from the grapevine, or drink wine or other intoxicant, or eat anything unclean. She must observe all that I commanded her."

[15]Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "Let us detain you and prepare a kid for you." [16]But the angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "If you detain me, I shall not eat your food; and if you present a burnt offering, offer it to LORD."—For Manoah did not know that he was an angel of the LORD. [17]So Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "What is your name? We should like to honor you when your words come true." [18]The angel said to him, "You must not ask for my name; it is unknowable!"

[19]Manoah took the kid and the meal offering and offered them up on the rock to the LORD; b-and a marvelous thing happened-b while Manoah and his wife looked on. [20]As the flames leaped up from the altar toward the sky, the angel of the LORD ascended in the flames of the altar, while Manoah and his wife looked on; and they flung themselves on their faces to the ground.—[21]The angel of the LORD never appeared again to Manoah and his wife.—Manoah then realized that it had been an angel of the LORD. [22]And Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, for we have seen a divine being." [23]But his wife said to him, "Had the LORD meant to take our lives, He would not have accepted a burnt offering and meal offering from us, nor let us see all these things; and He would not have made such an announcement to us."

[24]The woman bore a son, and she named him Samson. The boy grew up, and the LORD blessed him. [25]The spirit of the LORD first moved him in the encampment of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Once Samson went down to Timnah; and while in Timnah, he noticed a girl among the Philistine women. [2]On his return, he told his father and mother, "I noticed one of the Philistine women in Timnah; please get her for me as a wife." [3]His father and mother said to him, "Is there no one among the daughters of your own kinsmen and among all our[a] people, that you must go and take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson answered his father, "Get me that one, for she is the one that pleases me." [4]His father and mother did not realize that this was the LORD's doing: He was seeking a pretext against the Philistines, for the Philistines were ruling over Israel at that time.

[5]So Samson and his father and mother went down to Timnah.

When he[b] came to the vineyards of Timnah [for the first time], a full-grown lion came roaring at him. [6]The spirit of the LORD gripped him, and he tore him asunder with his bare hands as one might tear a kid asunder; but he did not tell his father and mother what he had done. [7]Then he went down and spoke to the woman, and she pleased Samson.

[8]Returning the following year to marry her, he turned aside to look at the remains of the lion; and in the lion's skeleton he found a swarm of bees, and honey. [9]He scooped it into his palms and ate it as he went along. When he rejoined his father and mother, he gave them some and they ate it; but he did not tell them that he had scooped the honey out of a lion's skeleton.

[10]So his father came down to the woman, and Samson made a feast there, as young men used to do. [11]When they[c] saw him, they designated thirty companions to be with him. [12]Then Samson said to them, "Let me propound a riddle to you. If you can give me the right answer during the seven days of the feast, I shall give you thirty linen tunics and thirty sets of clothing; [13]but if you are not able to tell it to me, you must give me thirty linen tunics and thirty sets of clothing." And they said to him, "Ask your riddle and we will listen." [14]So he said to them:

Out of the strong came something sweet."

For three days they could not answer the riddle.

[15]On the seventh[d] day, they said to Samson's wife, "Coax your husband to provide us with the answer to the riddle; else we shall put you and your father's household to the fire; have you invited us here[e] in order to impoverish us?"

[16]Then Samson's wife harassed him with tears, and she said, "You really hate me, you don't love me. You asked my countrymen a riddle, and you didn't tell me the answer." He replied, "I haven't even told my father and mother; shall I tell you?" [17]During the rest of the seven days of the feast she continued to harass him with her tears, and on the seventh day he told her, because she nagged him so. And she explained the riddle to her countrymen. [18]On the seventh day, before the sunset, the townsmen said to him:

"What is sweeter than honey,
And what is stronger than a lion?"

He responded:

"Had you not plowed with my heifer,
You would not have guessed my riddle!"

[19]The spirit of the LORD gripped him. He went down to Ashkelon and killed thirty of its men. He stripped them and gave the sets of clothing to those who had answered the riddle. And he left in a rage for his father's house.

Some time later, in the season of the wheat harvest, Samson came to visit his wife, bringing a kid as a gift. He said, "Let me go into the chamber to my wife." But her father would not let him go in. [2]"I was sure," said her father, "that you had taken a dislike to her, so I gave her to your wedding companion. But her younger sister is more beautiful than she; let her become your wife instead." [3]Thereupon Samson declared, "Now the Philistines can have no claim against me for the harm I shall do them."

[4]Samson went and caught three hundred foxes. He took torches and, turning [the foxes] tail to tail, he placed a torch between each pair of tails. [5]He lit the torches and turned [the foxes] loose among the standing grain of the Philistines, setting fire to stacked grain, standing grain, vineyards, [and][a] olive trees.

[6]The Philistines asked, "Who did this?" And they were told, "It was Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, who took Samson's[b] wife and gave her to his wedding companion." Thereupon the Philistines came up and put her and her father[c] to the fire. [7]Samson said to them, "If that is how you act, I will not rest until I have taken revenge on you." [8][d]-He gave them a sound and thorough thrashing.-[d] Then he went down and stayed in the cave of the rock of Etam.

[9]The Philistines came up, pitched camp in Judah and spread out over Lehi. [10]The men of Judah asked, "Why have you come up against us?" They answered, "We have come to take Samson prisoner, and to do to him as he did to us." [11]Thereupon three thousand men of Judah went down to the cave of the rock of Etam, and they said to Samson, "You knew that the Philistines rule over us; why have you done this to us?" He replied, "As they did to me, so I did to them." [12]"We have come down," they told him, "to take you prisoner and to hand you over to the Philistines." "But swear to me," said Samson to them, "that you yourselves will not attack me." [13]"We won't," they replied. "We will only take you prisoner and hand you over to them; we will not slay you." So they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the rock.

[14]When he reached Lehi, the Philistines came shouting to meet him. Thereupon the spirit of the LORD gripped him, and the ropes on his arms became like flax that catches fire; the bonds melted off his hands. [15]He came upon a fresh jawbone of an ass and he picked it up; and with it he killed a thousand men. [16]Then Samson said:

[17]As he finished speaking, he threw the jawbone away; hence that place was called Ramath-lehi.[e]

[18]He was very thirsty and he called to the LORD, "You Yourself have granted this great victory through Your servant; and must I now die of thirst and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?" [19]So God split open the hollow which is at Lehi, and the water gushed out of it; he drank, regained his strength, and revived. That is why it is called to this day "En-hakkore[f] of Lehi."

[20]He led Israel in the days of the Philistines for twenty years.

Once Samson went to Gaza; there he met a whore and slept with her. [2][a]The Gazites [learned][b] that Samson had come there, so they gathered and lay in ambush for him in the town gate the whole night; and all night long they kept whispering to each other, "When daylight comes, we'll kill him." [3]But Samson lay in bed only till midnight. At midnight he got up, grasped the doors of the town gate together with the two gateposts, and pulled them out along with the bar. He placed them on his shoulders and carried them off to the top of the hill that is near Hebron.

[4]After that, he fell in love with a woman in the Wadi Sorek, named Delilah. [5]The lords of the Philistines went up to her and said, "Coax him and find out what makes him so strong, and how we can overpower him, tie him up, and make him helpless; and we'll each give you eleven hundred shekels of silver."

[6]So Delilah said to Samson, "Tell me, what makes you so strong? And how could you be tied up and made helpless?" [7]Samson replied, "If I were to be tied with seven fresh tendons that had not been dried,[c] I should become as weak as an ordinary man." [8]So the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven fresh tendons that had not been dried. She bound him with them, [9]while an ambush was waiting in her room. Then she called out to him, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!" Whereat he pulled the tendons apart, as a strand of tow comes apart at the touch of fire. So the secret of his strength remained unknown.

[10]Then Delilah said to Samson, "Oh, you deceived me; you lied to me! Do tell me now how you could be tied up." [11]He said, "If I were to be bound with new ropes that had never been used, I would become as weak as an ordinary man." [12]So Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them, while an ambush was waiting in a room. And she cried, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!" But he tore them off his arms like a thread. [13]Then Delilah said to Samson, "You have been deceiving me all along; you have been lying to me! Tell me, how could you be tied up?" He answered her, "If you weave seven locks of my head into the web."[d] [14]And she pinned it with a peg[e] and cried to him, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!" Awaking from his sleep, he pulled out the peg, the loom,[f] and the web.

[15]Then she said to him, "How can you say you love me, when you don't confide in me? This makes three times that you've deceived me and haven't told me what makes you so strong."

d Septuagint adds "and pin it with a peg to the wall, I shall become as weak as an ordinary man. So Delilah put him to sleep and wove the seven locks of his head into the web."

e Septuagint adds "to the wall."

[16]Finally, after she had nagged him and pressed him constantly, he was wearied to death [17]and he confided everything to her. He said to her, "No razor has ever touched my head, for I have been a nazirite to God since I was in my mother's womb. If my hair were cut, my strength would leave me and I should become as weak as an ordinary man."

[18]Sensing that he had confided everything to her, Delilah sent for the lords of the Philistines, with this message: "Come up once more, for he has confided everything to me." And the lords of the Philistines came up and brought the money with them. [19]She lulled him to sleep on her lap. Then she called in a man, and she had him cut off the seven locks of his head; thus she weakened him[g] and made him helpless: his strength slipped away from him. [20]She cried, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!" And he awoke from his sleep, thinking he would break loose and shake himself free as he had the other times. For he did not know that the LORD had departed from him. [21]The Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes. They brought him down to Gaza and shackled him in bronze fetters, and he became a mill slave in the prison. [22]After his hair was cut off, it began to grow back.

[23]Now the lords of the Philistines gathered to offer a great sacrifice to their god Dagon and to make merry. They chanted,

"Our god has delivered into our hands
Our enemy Samson."

[24][h]When the people saw him, they sang praises to their god, chanting,

"Our god has delivered into our hands
The enemy who devastated our land,
And who slew so many of us."

[25]As their spirits rose, they said, "Call Samson here and let him dance for us." Samson was fetched from the prison, and he danced for them. Then they put him between the pillars. [26]And Samson said to the boy who was leading him by the hand, "Let go of me and let me feel the pillars that the temple rests upon, that I may lean on them." [27]Now the temple was full of men and women; all the lords of the Philistines were there, and there were some three thousand men and women on the roof watching Samson dance. [28]Then Samson called to the LORD, "O Lord GOD! Please remember me, and give me strength just this once, O God, to take revenge of the Philistines, if only for one of my two eyes." [29]He embraced the two middle pillars that the temple rested upon, one with his right arm and one with his left, and leaned against them; [30]Samson cried, "Let me die with the Philistines!" and he pulled with all his might. The temple came crashing down on the lords and on all the people in it. Those who were slain by him as he died outnumbered those who had been slain by him when he lived.

[31]His brothers and all his father's household came down and carried him up and buried him in the tomb of his father Manoah, between Zorah and Eshtaol. He had led Israel for twenty years.

when he gave the silver back to his mother, his mother took two hundred shekels of silver and gave it to a smith. He made of it a sculptured image and a molten image, which were kept in the house of Micah.

[5]Now the man Micah had a house of God; he had made an ephod and teraphim and he had inducted one of his sons to be his priest. [6]In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did as he pleased.

[7]There was a young man from Bethlehem of Judah, from the clan seat of Judah; he was a Levite and had resided there as a sojourner. [8]This man had left the town of Bethlehem of Judah to take up residence wherever he could find a place. On his way, he came to the house of Micah in the hill country of Ephraim. [9]"Where do you come from?" Micah asked him. He replied, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem of Judah, and I am traveling to take up residence wherever I can find a place." [10]"Stay with me," Micah said to him, "and be a father and a priest to me, and I will pay you ten shekels of silver a year, an allowance of clothing, and your food." [d]The Levite went.[d] [11]The Levite agreed to stay with the man, and the youth became like one of his own sons. [12]Micah inducted the Levite, and the young man became his priest and remained in Micah's shrine. [13]"Now I know," Micah told himself, "that the LORD will prosper me, since the Levite has become my priest."

In those days there was no king in Israel, and in those days the tribe of Dan was seeking a territory in which to settle; for to that day no territory had fallen to their lot among the tribes of Israel. explore it. "Go," they told them, "and explore the land." When they had advanced into the hill country of Ephraim as far as the house of Micah, they stopped there for the night. [3]While in the vicinity of Micah's house, they recognized the speech[a] of the young Levite, so they went over and asked him, "Who brought you to these parts? What are you doing in this place? What is your business here?" [4]He replied, "Thus and thus Micah did for me—he hired me and I became his priest." [5]They said to him, "Please, inquire of God; we would like to know if the mission on which we are going will be successful." [6]"Go in peace," the priest said to them, "the LORD views with favor the mission you are going on." [7]The five men went on and came to Laish. They observed the people in it dwelling carefree, after the manner of the Sidonians, a tranquil and unsuspecting people, with no one in the land to molest them and [b]-with no hereditary ruler.-[b] Moreover, they were distant from the Sidonians and had no dealings with anybody.

[8]When [the men] came back to their kinsmen at Zorah and Eshtaol, their kinsmen asked them, "How did you fare?" [9]They replied, "Let us go at once and attack them! For we found that the land was very good, and you are sitting idle! Don't delay; go and invade the land and take possession of it, [10]for God has delivered it into your hand. When you come, you will come to an unsuspecting people; and the land is spacious and nothing on earth is lacking there."

[11]They departed from there, from the clan seat of the Danites, from Zorah and Eshtaol, six hundred strong, girt with weapons of war. [12]They went up and encamped at Kiriath-jearim in Judah. That is why that place is called "the Camp of Dan" to this day; it lies west of Kiriath-jearim. [13]From there they passed on to the hill country of Ephraim and arrived at the house of Micah. [14]Here the five men who had gone to spy out the Laish region remarked to their kinsmen, "Do you know, there is an ephod in these houses, and teraphim, and a sculptured image and a molten image? Now you know what you have to do." [15]So they turned off there and entered the home of the young Levite at Micah's house and greeted him. [16]The six hundred Danite men, girt with their weapons of war, stood at the entrance of the gate, [17]while the five men who had gone to spy out the land went inside and took the sculptured image, the ephod, the teraphim, and the molten image. The priest was standing at the entrance of the gate, and the six hundred men girt with their weapons of war, [18]while those men entered Micah's house and took [c]-the sculptured image, the molten image, the ephod, and the household gods.-[c] The priest said to them, "What are you doing?" [19]But they said to him, "Be quiet; put your hand on your mouth! Come with us and be our father and priest. Would you rather be priest to one man's household or be priest to a tribe and clan in Israel?" [20]The priest was delighted. He took the ephod, the household gods, and the sculptured image, and he joined the people.

[21]They set out again, placing the children, the cattle, and their household goods in front. [22]They had already gone some distance from Micah's house, when the men in the houses near Micah's mustered and caught up with the Danites. [23]They called out to the Danites, who turned around and said to Micah, "What's the matter? Why have you mustered?" [24]He said, "You have taken my priest and the gods that I made, and walked off! What do I have left? How can you ask, 'What's the matter'?" [25]But the Danites replied, "Don't do any shouting at us, or some desperate men might attack you, and you and your family would lose your lives." [26]So Micah, realizing that they were stronger than he, turned back and went home; and the Danites went on their way, [27]taking the things Micah had made and the priest he had acquired. They proceeded to Laish, a people tranquil and unsuspecting, and they put them to the sword and burned down the town. [28]There was none to come to the rescue, for it was distant from Sidon and they had no dealings with anyone; it lay in the valley of Beth-rehob.

They rebuilt the town and settled there, [29]and they named the town Dan, after their ancestor Dan who was Israel's son. Originally, however, the name of the town was Laish. [30]The Danites set up the sculptured image for themselves; and Jonathan son of Gershom son of Manasseh,[d] and his descendants, served as priests to the Danite tribe until the land went into exile. [31]They maintained the sculptured image that Micah had made throughout the time that the House of God stood at Shiloh.

In those days, when there was no king in Israel, a Levite residing at the other end of the hill country of Ephraim took to himself a concubine from Bethlehem in Judah. [2]Once his concubine deserted[e] him, leaving him for her father's house in Bethlehem in Judah; and she stayed there a full four months. [3]Then her husband set out, with an attendant and a pair of donkeys, and went after her to woo her and to win her back. She admitted him into her father's house; and when the girl's father saw him, he received him warmly. [4]His father-in-law, the girl's father, pressed him, and he stayed with him three days; they ate and drank and lodged there. [5]Early in the morning of the fourth day, he started to leave; but the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "Eat something to give you strength, then you can leave." [6]So the two of them sat down and they feasted together. Then the girl's father said to the man, "Won't you stay overnight and enjoy yourself?" [7]The man started to leave, but his father-in-law kept urging him until he turned back and spent the night there. [8]Early in the morning of the fifth day, he was about to leave, when the girl's father said, "Come, have a bite." The two of them ate, dawdling until past noon. [9]Then the man, his concubine, and his attendant started to leave. His father-in-law, the girl's father, said to him, "Look, the day is waning toward evening; do stop for the night. See, the day is declining; spend the night here and enjoy yourself. You can start early tomorrow on your journey and head for home."

[10]But the man refused to stay for the night. He set out and traveled as far as the vicinity of Jebus—that is, Jerusalem; he had with him a pair of laden donkeys, and his concubine [b]-was with him.-[b] [11]Since they were close to Jebus, and the day was very far spent, the attendant said to his master, "Let us turn aside to this town of the Jebusites and spend the night in it." [12]But his master said to him, "We will not turn aside to a town of aliens who are not of Israel, but will continue to Gibeah. [13]Come," he said to his attendant, "let us approach one of those places and spend the night either in Gibeah or in Ramah." [14]So they traveled on, and the sun set when they were near Gibeah of Benjamin.

[15]They turned off there and went in to spend the night in Gibeah. He went and sat down in the town square, but nobody took them indoors to spend the night. [16]In the evening, an old man came along from his property [c]-outside the town.-[c] (This man hailed from the hill country "Where," the old man inquired, "are you going to, and where do you come from?" [18]He replied, "We are traveling from Bethlehem in Judah to the other end of the hill country of Ephraim. That is where I live. I made a journey to Bethlehem of Judah, and now I am on my way *d-to the House of the LORD,-d* and nobody has taken me indoors. He mixed fodder for the donkeys; then they bathed their feet and ate and drank.

[22]While they were enjoying themselves, the men of the town, a depraved lot, had gathered about the house and were pounding on the door. They called to the aged owner of the house, "Bring out the man who has come into your house, so that we can be intimate with him." [23]The owner of the house went out and said to them, "Please, my friends, do not commit such a wrong. Since this man has entered my house, do not perpetrate this outrage. [24]Look, here is my virgin daughter, and his concubine. Let me bring them out to you. Have your pleasure of them, do what you like with them; but don't do that outrageous thing to this man." [25]But the men would not listen to him, so the man seized his concubine and pushed her out to them. They raped her and abused her all night long until morning; and they let her go when dawn broke.

entrance of the man's house where her husband was. 27When her husband arose in the morning, he opened the doors of the house and went out to continue his journey; and there was the woman, his concubine, lying at the entrance of the house, with her hands on the threshold. 28"Get up," he said to her, "let us go." But there was no reply. So the man placed her on the donkey and set out for home. 29When he came home, he picked up a knife, and took hold of his concubine and cut her up limb by limb into twelve parts. He sent them throughout the territory of Israel. 30And everyone who saw it cried out, "Never has such a thing happened or been seen from the day the Israelites came out of the land of Egypt to this day! Put your mind to this; take counsel and decide."

Thereupon all the Israelites—from Dan to Beer-sheba and [from] the land of Gilead—marched forth, and the community assembled to a man before the LORD at Mizpah. 2All the leaders of the people [and] all the tribes of Israel presented themselves in the assembly of God's people, 400,000 fighting men on foot.—3The Benjaminites heard that the Israelites had come up to Mizpah.[a]—The Israelites said, "Tell us, how did this evil thing happen?" 4And the Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, replied, "My concubine and I came to Gibeah of Benjamin to spend the night. 5The citizens of Gibeah set out to harm me. They gathered against me around the house in the night; they meant to kill me, and they ravished my concubine until she died. 6So I took hold of my concubine and I cut her in pieces and sent them through every part of Israel's territory. For an outrageous act of depravity had been committed in Israel. 7Now you are all Israelites; produce a plan of action here and now!"

[8]Then all the people rose, as one man, and declared, "We will not go back to our homes, we will not enter our houses! [9]But this is what we will do to Gibeah: [we will wage war] against it according to lot. [10]We will take from all the tribes of Israel ten men to the hundred, a hundred to the thousand, and a thousand to the ten thousand to supply provisions for the troops—b-to prepare for their going to Geba in Benjamin-b for all the outrage it has committed in Israel." [11]So all the men of Israel, united as one man, massed against the town. [12]And the tribes of Israel sent men through the whole tribe[c] of Benjamin, saying, "What is this evil thing that has happened among you? [13]Come, hand over those scoundrels in Gibeah so that we may put them to death and stamp out the evil from Israel." But the Benjaminites would not yield to the demand of their fellow Israelites.

[14]So the Benjaminites gathered from their towns to Gibeah in order to take the field against the Israelites. [15][d]On that day the Benjaminites mustered from the towns 26,000 fighting men, mustered apart from the inhabitants of Gibeah; 700 picked men [16]of all this force—700 picked men—were left-handed. Every one of them could sling a stone at a hair and not miss. [17]The men of Israel other than Benjamin mustered 400,000 fighting men, warriors to a man. [18]They proceeded to Bethel and inquired of God; the Israelites asked, "Who of us shall advance first to fight the Benjaminites?" And the LORD replied, "Judah first." [19]So the Israelites arose in the morning and encamped against Gibeah.

[20]The men of Israel took the field against the Benjaminites; the men of Israel drew up in battle order against them at Gibeah. [21]But the Benjaminites issued from Gibeah, and that day they struck down 22,000 men of Israel.

[22]Now the army—the men of Israel—rallied and again drew up in battle order at the same place as they had on the first day. [23]For the Israelites had gone up and wept before the LORD until evening. They had inquired of the LORD, "Shall we again join battle with our kinsmen the Benjaminites?" And the LORD had replied, "March against them." [24]The Israelites advanced against the Benjaminites on the second day. [25]But the Benjaminites came out from Gibeah against them on the second day and struck down 18,000 more of the Israelites, all of them fighting men.

[26]Then all the Israelites, all the army, went up and came to Bethel and they sat there, weeping before the LORD. They fasted that day until evening, and presented burnt offerings and offerings of well-being to the LORD. [27]The Israelites inquired of the LORD (for the Ark of God's Covenant was there in those days, [28]and Phinehas son of Eleazar son of Aaron the priest ministered before Him in those days), "Shall we again take the field against our kinsmen the Benjaminites, or shall we not?" The LORD answered, "Go up, for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hands."

[29]Israel put men in ambush against Gibeah on all sides. [30]And on the third day, the Israelites went up against the Benjaminites, as before, and engaged them in battle at Gibeah. [31]The Benjaminites dashed out to meet the army and were drawn away from the town onto the roads, of which one runs to Bethel and the other to Gibeah. As before, they started out by striking some of the men dead in the open field, about 30 men of Israel.

[32]The Benjaminites thought, "They are being routed before us as previously." But the Israelites had planned: "We will take to flight and draw them away from the town to the roads." [33]And while the main body of the Israelites had moved away from their positions and had drawn up in battle order at Baal-tamar, the Israelite ambush was rushing out from its position at Maareh-geba.[e] [34]Thus 10,000 picked men of all Israel came to a point south of[f] Gibeah, and the battle was furious. Before they realized that disaster was approaching, [35]the LORD routed the Benjaminites before Israel. That day the Israelites slew 25,100 men of Benjamin, all of them fighting men. [36]Then the Benjaminites realized that they were routed.[g] Now the Israelites had yielded ground to the Benjaminites, for they relied on the ambush which they had laid against Gibeah. [37]One ambush quickly deployed against Gibeah, and the other ambush advanced and put the whole town to the sword.

[38]A time had been agreed upon by the Israelite men with those in ambush: When a huge column of smoke was sent up from the town, [39]the Israelite men were to turn about in battle. Benjamin had begun by striking dead about 30 Israelite men, and they thought, "They are being routed before us as in the previous fighting." [40]But when the column, the pillar of smoke, began to rise from the city, the Benjaminites looked behind them, and there was the whole town going up in smoke to the sky! [41]And now the Israelites turned about, and the men of Benjamin were thrown into panic, for they realized that disaster had overtaken them. [42]They retreated before the men of Israel along the road to the wilderness, where the fighting caught up with them; meanwhile those [h]from the towns[h] were massacring them in it. [43][i]They encircled the Benjaminites, pursued them, and trod them down [from] Menuhah to a point opposite Gibeah on the east. [44]That day 18,000 men of Benjamin fell, all of them brave men. [45]They turned and fled to the wilderness, to the Rock of Rimmon; but [the Israelites] picked off another 5,000 on the roads and, continuing in hot pursuit of them up to Gidom, they slew 2,000 more. [46]Thus the total number of Benjaminites who fell that day came to 25,000 fighting men, all of them brave. [47]But 600 men turned and fled to the wilderness, to the Rock of Rimmon; they remained at the Rock of Rimmon four months. [48]The men of Israel, meanwhile, turned back to the rest of the Benjaminites and put them to the sword—towns, people, cattle—everything that remained. Finally, they set fire to all the towns that were left.

Now the men of Israel had taken an oath at Mizpah: "None of us will give his daughter in marriage to a Benjaminite."

[2]The people came to Bethel and sat there before God until evening. They wailed and wept bitterly, [3]and they said, "O LORD God of Israel, why has this happened in Israel, that one tribe must now be missing from Israel?" [4]Early the next day, the people built an altar there, and they brought burnt offerings and offerings of well-being.

[5]The Israelites asked, "Is there anyone from all the tribes of Israel who failed to come up to the assembly before the LORD?" For a solemn oath had been taken concerning anyone who did not go up to the LORD at Mizpah: "He shall be put to death." [6]The Israelites now relented toward their kinsmen the Benjaminites, and they said, "This day one tribe has been cut off from Israel! [7]What can we do to provide wives for those who are left, seeing that we have sworn by the LORD not to give any of our daughters to them in marriage?"

[8]They inquired, "Is there anyone from the tribes of Israel who did not go up to the LORD at Mizpah?" Now no one from Jabesh-gilead had come to the camp, to the assembly. [9]For, when the roll of the troops was taken, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was present. [10]So the assemblage dispatched 12,000 of the warriors, instructing them as follows: "Go and put the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead to the sword, women and children included. [11]This is what you are to do: Proscribe every man, and every woman who has known a man carnally." [12]They found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead 400 maidens who had not known a man carnally; and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.[a]

[13]Then the whole community sent word to the Benjaminites who were at the Rock of Rimmon, and offered them terms of peace. [14]Thereupon the Benjaminites returned, and they gave them the girls who had been spared from the women of Jabesh-gilead. b-But there were not enough of them.-b

[15]Now the people had relented toward Benjamin, for the LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Israel. [16]So the elders of the community asked, "What can we do about wives for those who are left, since the women of Benjamin have been killed off?" [17]For they said, "There must be a saving remnant for Benjamin, that a tribe may not be blotted out of Israel; [18]yet we cannot give them any of our daughters as wives," since the Israelites had taken an oath: "Cursed be anyone who gives a wife to Benjamin!"

[19]They said, "The annual feast of the LORD is now being held at Shiloh." (It lies north of Bethel, east of the highway that runs from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.)

There was a man from [a]Ramathaim of the Zuphites,[a] in the hill country of Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah son of Jeroham son of Elihu son of Tohu son of Zuph, an Ephraimite. [2]He had two wives, one named Hannah and the other Peninnah; Peninnah had children, but Hannah was childless. [3]This man used to go up from his town every year to worship and to offer sacrifice to the LORD of Hosts at Shiloh.—Hophni and Phinehas, the two sons of Eli, were priests of the LORD there.

[4]One such day, Elkanah offered a sacrifice. He used to give portions to his wife Peninnah and to all her sons and daughters; [5]but to Hannah he would give one portion [b]only—though[b] Hannah was his favorite—for the LORD had closed her womb. [6]Moreover, her rival, to make her miserable, would taunt her that the LORD had closed her womb. [7][c]This happened[c] year after year: Every time she went up to the House of the LORD, the other would taunt her, so that she wept and would not eat. [8]Her husband Elkanah said to her, "Hannah, why are you crying and why aren't you eating? Why are you so sad? Am I not more devoted to you than ten sons?"

[9]After they had eaten and drunk at Shiloh, Hannah rose.[d]—The priest Eli was sitting on the seat near the doorpost of the temple of the LORD.—[10]In her wretchedness, she prayed to the LORD, weeping all the while. [11]And she made this vow: "O LORD of Hosts, if You will look upon the suffering of Your maidservant and will remember me and not forget Your maidservant, and if You will grant Your maidservant a male child, I will dedicate him to the LORD for all the days of his life; and no razor shall ever touch his head."

[12]As she kept on praying before the LORD, Eli watched her mouth. [13]Now Hannah was praying in her heart; only her lips moved, but her voice could not be heard. So Eli thought she was drunk. [14]Eli said to her, "How long will you make a drunken spectacle of yourself? [e]Sober up!"[e] [15]And Hannah replied, "Oh no, my lord! I am a very unhappy woman. I have drunk no wine or other strong drink, but I have been pouring out my heart to the LORD. [16]Do not take your maidservant for a worthless woman; I have only been speaking all this time out of my great anguish and distress." [17]"Then go in peace," said Eli, "and may the God of Israel grant you what you have asked of Him." [18]She answered, "You are most kind to your handmaid." So the woman left, and she ate, and was no longer downcast. [19]Early next morning they bowed low before the LORD, and they went back home to Ramah.

Elkanah knew[f] his wife Hannah and the LORD remembered her. [20]Hannah conceived, and at the turn of the year bore a son. She named him Samuel,[g] meaning, "I asked the LORD for him." [21]And when the man Elkanah and all his household were going up to offer to the LORD the annual sacrifice and his votive sacrifice, [22]Hannah did not go up. She said to her husband, "When the child is weaned, I will bring him. For when he has appeared before the LORD, he must remain there for good." [23]Her husband Elkanah said to her, "Do as you think best. Stay home until you have weaned him. May the LORD fulfill

Men once hungry hunger no more.
While the barren woman bears seven,
The mother of many is forlorn.
[6]The LORD deals death and gives life,
Casts down into Sheol and raises up.
[7]The LORD makes poor and makes rich;
He casts down, He also lifts high.
[8]He raises the poor from the dust,
Lifts up the needy from the dunghill,
Setting them with nobles,
Granting them seats of honor.
For the pillars of the earth are the LORD's;
He has set the world upon them.
[9]He guards the steps of His faithful,
But the wicked perish in darkness—
For not by strength shall man prevail.

[10]The foes of the LORD shall be shattered;
He will thunder against them in the heavens.
The LORD will judge the ends of the earth.
He will give power to His king,

[11]Then Elkanah[d] [and Hannah] went home to Ramah; and the boy entered the service of the LORD under the priest Eli.

[12]Now Eli's sons were scoundrels; they paid no heed to the LORD. [13]This is how the priests used to deal with the people: When anyone brought a sacrifice, the priest's boy would come along with a three-pronged fork while the meat was boiling, [14]and he would thrust it into [e-]the cauldron, or the kettle, or the great pot, or the small cooking-pot;[-e] and whatever the fork brought up, the priest would take away [f-]on it.[-f] This was the practice at Shiloh with all the Israelites who came there. [15][But now] even before the suet was turned into smoke, the priest's boy would come and say to the man who was sacrificing, "Hand over some meat to roast for the priest; for he won't accept boiled meat from you, only raw." [16]And if the man said to him, "Let them first turn the suet into smoke, and then take as much as you want," he would reply, "No, hand it over at once or I'll take it by force." [17]The sin of the young men against the LORD was very great, for the men treated the LORD's offerings impiously.

[18]Samuel was engaged in the service of the LORD as an attendant, girded with a linen ephod. [19]His mother would also make a little robe for him and bring it up to him every year, when she made the pilgrimage with her husband to offer the annual sacrifice. [20]Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, and say, "May the LORD grant[g] you offspring by this woman in place of the loan she made to the LORD." Then they would return home. [21]For[h] the LORD took note of Hannah; she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. Young Samuel meanwhile grew up in the service of the LORD.

[22]Now Eli was very old. When he heard all that his sons were doing to all Israel, and how they lay with the women who [i]-performed tasks-[i] at the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, [23]he said to them, "Why do you do such things? I get evil reports about you from the people on all hands. [24]Don't, my sons! It is no favorable report I hear the people of the LORD spreading about. [25]If a man sins against a man, the LORD may pardon[i] him; but if a man offends against God, who can [i]-obtain pardon-[i] for him?" But they ignored their father's plea; for the LORD was resolved that they should die. [26]Young Samuel, meanwhile, grew in esteem and favor both with God and with men.

[27]A man of God came to Eli and said to him, "Thus said the LORD: Lo, I revealed Myself to your father's house in Egypt when they were subject to the House of Pharaoh, [28]and I chose them from among all the tribes of Israel to be My priests—to ascend My altar, to burn incense, [and] to carry an ephod[j] before Me—and I assigned to your father's house all offerings by fire of the Israelites. [29]Why, then, do you [k]-maliciously trample upon the sacrifices and offerings that I have commanded?-[k] You have honored your sons more than Me, feeding on the first portions of every offering of My people Israel.[l] [30]Assuredly—declares the LORD, the God of Israel—I intended for you and your father's house to remain in My service forever. But now—declares the LORD—far be it from Me! For I honor those who honor Me, but those who spurn Me shall be dishonored. [31]A time is coming when I will break your power and that of your father's house, and there shall be no elder in your house. [32]You will gaze grudgingly[m] at all the bounty that will be bestowed on Israel, but there shall never be an elder in your house. [33][i]-I shall not cut off all your offspring from My altar; [but,] to make your eyes pine and your spirit languish, all the increase in your house shall die as [ordinary] men.-[i] [34]And this shall be a sign for you: The fate of your two sons Hophni and Phinehas—they shall both die on the same day. [35]And I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest, who will act in accordance with My wishes and My purposes. I will build for him an enduring house, and he shall walk before My anointed evermore. [36]And all the survivors of your house shall come and bow low to him for the sake of a money fee and a loaf of bread, and shall say, 'Please, assign me to one of the priestly duties, that I may have a morsel of bread to eat.'"

Young Samuel was in the service of the LORD under Eli. In those days the word of the LORD was rare; prophecy was not widespread. [2]One day, Eli was asleep in his usual place; his eyes had begun to fail and he could barely see. [3]The lamp of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was sleeping in the temple of the LORD where the Ark of God was. [4]The LORD called out to Samuel, and he answered, "I'm coming." [5]He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me." But he replied, "I didn't call you; go back to sleep." So he went back and lay down. [6]Again the LORD called, "Samuel!" Samuel rose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me." But he replied, "I didn't call, my son; go back to sleep."—[7]Now Samuel had not yet experienced the LORD; the word of the LORD had not yet been revealed to him.—[8]The LORD called Samuel again, a third time, and he rose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me." Then Eli understood that the LORD was calling the boy. [9]And Eli said to Samuel, "Go lie down. If you are called again, say, 'Speak, LORD, for Your servant is listening.'" And Samuel went to his place and lay down.

[10]The LORD came, and stood there, and He called as before: "Samuel! Samuel!" And Samuel answered, "Speak, for Your servant is listening." [11]The LORD said to Samuel: "I am going to do in Israel such a thing that both ears of anyone who hears about it will tingle. [12]In that day I will fulfill against Eli all that I spoke concerning his house, from beginning to end. [13]And I declare to him that I sentence his house to endless punishment for the iniquity he knew about—how his sons committed sacrilege [a]-at will-[a]—and he did not rebuke them. [14]Assuredly, I swear concerning the house of Eli that the iniquity of the house of Eli will never be expiated by sacrifice or offering."

[15]Samuel lay there until morning; and then he opened the doors of the House of the LORD. Samuel was afraid to report the vision to Eli, [16]but Eli summoned Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son"; and he answered, "Here." [17]And [Eli] asked, "What did He say to you? Keep nothing from me. [b]Thus and more may God do to you[b] if you keep from me a single word of all that He said to you!" [18]Samuel then told him everything, withholding nothing from him. And [Eli] said, "He is the LORD; He will do what He deems right."

[19]Samuel grew up and the LORD was with him: He did not leave any of Samuel's[c] predictions unfulfilled. [20]All Israel, from Dan to Beer-sheba, knew that Samuel was trustworthy as a prophet of the LORD. [21]And the LORD continued to appear at Shiloh: the LORD revealed Himself to Samuel at Shiloh with the word of the LORD;

[a]Israel marched out to engage the Philistines in battle; they encamped near Eben-ezer, while the Philistines encamped at Aphek. [2]The Philistines arrayed themselves against Israel; and when the battle was fought,[b] Israel was routed by the Philistines, who slew about four thousand men on the field of battle. [3]When the [Israelite] troops returned to the camp, the elders of Israel asked, "Why did the LORD put us to rout today before the Philistines? Let us fetch the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD from Shiloh; thus He will be present among us and will deliver us from the hands of our enemies." [4]So the troops sent men to Shiloh; there Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were in charge of the Ark of the Covenant of God, and they brought down from there the Ark of the Cov-

5When the Ark of the Covenant of the LORD entered the camp, all Israel burst into a great shout, so that the earth resounded. 6The Philistines heard the noise of the shouting and they wondered, "Why is there such a loud shouting in the camp of the Hebrews?" And when they learned that the Ark of the LORD had come to the camp, 7the Philistines were frightened; for they said, "God has come to the camp." And they cried, "Woe to us! Nothing like this has ever happened before. 8Woe to us! Who will save us from the power of this mighty God? He is the same God who struck the Egyptians with every kind of plague in the wilderness! 9Brace yourselves and be men, O Philistines! Or you will become slaves to the Hebrews as they were slaves to you. Be men and fight!" 10The Philistines fought; Israel was routed, and they all fled to their homes. The defeat was very great, thirty thousand foot soldiers of Israel fell there. 11The Ark of God was captured, and Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain.

12A Benjaminite ran from the battlefield and reached Shiloh the same day; his clothes were rent and there was earth on his head.[c] 13When he arrived, he found Eli sitting on a seat, waiting beside the road—his heart trembling for the Ark of God. The man entered the city to spread the news, and the whole city broke out in a cry. 14And when Eli heard the sound of the outcry and asked, "What is the meaning of this uproar?" the man rushed over to tell Eli. 15Now Eli was ninety-eight years old; his eyes were fixed in a blind stare. 16The man said to Eli, "I am the one who came from the battlefield; I have just fled from the battlefield." [Eli] asked, "What happened, my son?" 17The bearer of the news replied, "Israel fled before the Philistines and the troops also suffered a great slaughter. Your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the Ark of God has been captured." [18]When he mentioned the Ark of God, [Eli] fell backward off the seat beside[b] the gate, broke his neck and died; for he was an old man and heavy. He had been a chieftain of Israel for forty years.

[19]His daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was with child, about to give birth. When she heard the report that the Ark of God was captured and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she was seized with labor pains, and she crouched down and gave birth. [20]As she lay dying, the women attending her said, "Do not be afraid, for you have borne a son." But she did not respond or pay heed. [21]She named the boy Ichabod, meaning, "The glory has departed from Israel"—referring to the capture of the Ark of God and to [the death of] her father-in-law and her husband. [22]"The glory is gone from Israel," she said, "for the Ark of God has been captured."

When the Philistines captured the Ark of God, they brought it from Eben-ezer to Ashdod. [2]The Philistines took the Ark of God and brought it into the temple of Dagon and they set it up beside Dagon. [3]Early the next day, the Ashdodites found Dagon lying face down on the ground in front of the Ark of the LORD. They picked Dagon up and put him back in his place; [4]but early the next morning, Dagon was again lying prone on the ground in front of the Ark of the LORD. The head and both hands of Dagon were cut off, lying on the threshold; only [a]Dagon's trunk was left intact.[a] [5]That is why, to this day, the priests of Dagon and all who enter the temple of Dagon do not tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod.

[6]The hand of the LORD lay heavy upon the Ashdodites, and He wrought havoc among them: He struck b-Ashdod and its territory-b with hemorrhoids. [7]When the men of Ashdod saw how matters stood, they said, "The Ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for His hand has dealt harshly with us and with our god Dagon." [8]They sent messengers and assembled all the lords of the Philistines and asked, "What shall we do with the Ark of the God of Israel?" They answered, "Let the Ark of the God of Israel be removed to Gath." So they moved the Ark of the God of Israel [to Gath]. [9]And after they had moved it, the hand of the LORD came against the city, causing great panic; He struck the people of the city, young and old, so that hemorrhoids a-broke out-a among them. [10]Then they sent the Ark of God to Ekron. But when the Ark of God came to Ekron, the Ekronites cried out, "They have moved the Ark of the God of Israel to us to slay us and our kindred." [11]They too sent messengers and assembled all the lords of the Philistines and said, "Send the Ark of the God of Israel away, and let it return to its own place, that it may not slay us and our kindred." For the panic of death pervaded the whole city, so heavily had the hand of God fallen there; [12]and the men who did not die were stricken with hemorrhoids. The outcry of the city went up to heaven.

Then you will be healed, and b-He will make Himself known to you; otherwise His hand will not turn away from you."-b 4They asked, "What is the indemnity that we should pay to Him?" They answered, "Five golden hemorrhoids and five golden mice, corresponding to the number of lords of the Philistines; for the same plague struck all of you[c] and your lords. 5You shall make figures of your hemorrhoids and of the mice that are ravaging your land; thus you shall honor the God of Israel, and perhaps He will lighten the weight of His hand upon you and your gods and your land. 6Don't harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts. As you know, when He made a mockery of them, they had to let Israel[c] go, and they departed. 7Therefore, get a new cart ready and two milch cows that have not borne a yoke; harness the cows to the cart, but take back indoors the calves that follow them. 8Take the Ark of the LORD and place it on the cart; and put next to it in a chest the gold objects you are paying Him as indemnity. Send it off, and let it go its own way. 9Then watch: If it goes up the road to Beth-shemesh, to His own territory, it was He who has inflicted this great harm on us. But if not, we shall know that it was not His hand that struck us; it just happened to us by chance."

10The men did so. They took two milch cows and harnessed them to the cart, and shut up their calves indoors. 11They placed the Ark of the LORD on the cart together with the chest, the golden mice, and the figures of their hemorrhoids. 12The cows went straight ahead along the road to Beth-shemesh. They went along a single highroad, lowing as they went, and turning off neither to the right nor to the left; and the lords of the Philistines walked behind them as far as the border of Beth-shemesh.

[13]The people of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley. They looked up and saw the Ark, and they rejoiced d-when they saw [it].-d [14]The cart came into the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh and it stopped there. They split up the wood of the cart and presented the cows as a burnt offering to the LORD. A large stone was there; [15]and the Levites took down the Ark of the LORD and the chest beside it containing the gold objects and placed them on the large stone. Then the men of Beth-shemesh presented burnt offerings and other sacrifices to the LORD that day. [16]The five lords of the Philistines saw this and returned the same day to Ekron.

[17]The following were the golden hemorrhoids that the Philistines paid as an indemnity to the LORD: For Ashdod, one; for Gaza, one; for Ashkelon, one; for Gath, one; for Ekron, one. [18][e]As for the golden mice, their number accorded with all the Philistine towns that belonged to the five lords—both fortified towns and unwalled f-villages, as far as-f the great stone[g] on which the Ark of the LORD was set down, to this day, in the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh.

keeping." [1]The men of Kiriath-jearim came and took up the Ark of the LORD and brought it into the house of Abinadab on the hill; and they consecrated his son Eleazar to have charge of the Ark of the LORD.

[2]A long time elapsed from the day that the Ark was housed in Kiriath-jearim, twenty years in all; and all the House of Israel [a]-yearned after-[a] the LORD. [3]And Samuel said to all the House of Israel, "If you mean to return to the LORD with all your heart, you must remove the alien gods and the Ashtaroth from your midst and direct your heart to the LORD and serve Him alone. Then He will deliver you from the hands of the Philistines." [4]And the Israelites removed the Baalim and Ashtaroth and they served the LORD alone.

[5]Samuel said, "Assemble all Israel at Mizpah, and I will pray to the LORD for you." [6]They assembled at Mizpah, and they drew water and poured it out before the LORD; they fasted that day, and there they confessed that they had sinned against the LORD. And Samuel acted as chieftain of the Israelites at Mizpah.

[7]When the Philistines heard that the Israelites had assembled at Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines marched out against Israel. Hearing of this, the Israelites were terrified of the Philistines [8]and they implored Samuel, "Do not neglect us and do not refrain from crying out to the LORD our God to save us from the hands of the Philistines." [9]Thereupon Samuel took a suckling lamb and sacrificed it as a whole burnt offering to the LORD; and Samuel cried out to the LORD in behalf of Israel, and the LORD responded to him. [10]For as Samuel was presenting the burnt offering and the Philistines advanced to attack Israel, the LORD thundered mightily against the Philistines that day. He threw them into confusion, and they were routed by Israel.

[11]The men of Israel sallied out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, striking them down to a point below Beth-car.

[12]Samuel took a stone and set it up between Mizpah and Shen,[b] and named it Eben-ezer:[c] "For up to now," he said, "the LORD has helped us." [13]The Philistines were humbled and did not invade the territory of Israel again; and the hand of the LORD was set against the Philistines as long as Samuel lived. [14]The towns which the Philistines had taken from Israel, from Ekron to Gath, were restored to Israel; Israel recovered all her territory from the Philistines. There was also peace between Israel and the Amorites.

[15]Samuel judged Israel as long as he lived. [16]Each year he made the rounds of Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, and acted as judge over Israel at all those places. [17]Then he would return to Ramah, for his home was there, and there too he would judge Israel. He built an altar there to the LORD.

When Samuel grew old, he appointed his sons judges over Israel. [2]The name of his first-born son was Joel, and his second son's name was Abijah; they sat as judges in Beer-sheba. [3]But his sons did not follow in his ways; they were bent on gain, they accepted bribes, and they subverted justice.

[4]All the elders of Israel assembled and came to Samuel at Ramah, [5]and they said to him, "You have grown old, and your sons have not followed your ways. Therefore appoint a king for us, to govern us like all other nations." [6]Samuel was displeased that they said "Give us a king to govern us." Samuel prayed to the LORD, [7]and the LORD replied to Samuel, "Heed the demand of the people in everything they say to you. For it is not you that they have rejected; it is Me they have rejected as their king. [8]Like everything else they have done ever since I brought them out of Egypt to this day—forsaking Me and worshiping other gods—so they are doing to you. [9]Heed their demand; but warn them solemnly, and tell them about the practices of any king who will rule over them."

[10]Samuel reported all the words of the LORD to the people, who were asking him for a king. [11]He said, "This will be the practice of the king who will rule over you: He will take your sons and appoint them as his charioteers and horsemen, and they will serve as outrunners for his chariots. [12]He will appoint them as his chiefs of thousands and of fifties; or they will have to plow his fields, reap his harvest, and make his weapons and the equipment for his chariots. [13]He will take your daughters as perfumers, cooks, and bakers. [14]He will seize your choice fields, vineyards, and olive groves, and give them to his courtiers. [15]He will take a tenth part of your grain and vintage and give it to his eunuchs and courtiers. [16]He will take your male and female slaves, your choice a-young men,-a and your asses, and put them to work for him. [17]He will take a tenth part of your flocks, and you shall become his slaves. [18]The day will come when you cry out because of the king whom you yourselves have chosen; and the LORD will not answer you on that day."

[19]But the people would not listen to Samuel's warning. "No," they said. "We must have a king over us, [20]that we may be like all the other nations: Let our king rule over us and go out at our head and fight our battles." [21]When Samuel heard all that the people said, he reported it to the LORD. [22]And the LORD said to Samuel, "Heed their demands and appoint a king for them." Samuel then said to the men of Israel, "All of you go home."

There was a man of Benjamin whose name was Kish son of Abiel son of Zeror son of Becorath son of Aphiah, a Benjaminite, a man of substance. 2He had a son whose name was Saul, an excellent young man; no one among the Israelites was handsomer than he; *a-he was a head taller-a* than any of the people.

3Once the asses of Saul's father Kish went astray, and Kish said to his son Saul, "Take along one of the servants and go out and look for the asses." 4He passed into the hill country of Ephraim. He crossed the district of Shalishah, but they did not find them. They passed through the district of Shaalim, but they were not there. They traversed the [entire] territory of Benjamin, and still they did not find them. 5When they reached the district of Zuph, Saul said to the servant who was with him, "Let us turn back, or my father will stop worrying about the asses and begin to worry about us." 6But he replied, "There is a man of God in that town, and the man is highly esteemed; everything that he says comes true. Let us go there; perhaps he will tell us about the errand on which we set out." 7"But if we go," Saul said to his servant, "what can we bring the man? For the food in our bags is all gone, and there is nothing we can bring to the man of God as a present. What have we got?" 8The servant answered Saul again, "I happen to have a quarter-shekel of silver. I can give that to the man of God and he will tell us about our errand."—9*b*Formerly in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, he would say, "Come, let us go to the seer," for the prophet of today was formerly called a seer.—10Saul said to his servant, "A good idea; let us go." And they went to the town where the man of God lived.

11As they were climbing the ascent to the town, they met some girls coming out to draw water, and they asked them, "Is the seer in town?" [12]"Yes," they replied. "He is up there ahead of you. [c]Hurry, for he has just come to the town[c] because the people have a sacrifice at the shrine today. [13]As soon as you enter the town, you will find him before he goes up to the shrine to eat; the people will not eat until he comes; for he must first bless the sacrifice and only then will the guests eat. Go up at once, for you will find him right away." [14]So they went up to the town; and as they were entering the town,[d] Samuel came out toward them, on his way up to the shrine.

[15]Now the day before Saul came, the LORD had revealed the following to Samuel: [16]"At this time tomorrow, I will send a man to you from the territory of Benjamin, and you shall anoint him ruler of My people Israel. He will deliver My people from the hands of the Philistines; for I have taken note of [e]My people,[e] their outcry has come to Me."

[17]As soon as Samuel saw Saul, the LORD declared to him, "This is the man that I told you would govern My people." [18]Saul approached Samuel inside the gate and said to him, "Tell me, please, where is the house of the seer?" [19]And Samuel answered Saul, "I am the seer. Go up ahead of me to the shrine, for you shall eat with me today; and in the morning I will let you go, after telling you whatever may be on your mind. [20]As for your asses that strayed three days ago, do not concern yourself about them, for they have been found. And for whom is all Israel yearning, if not for you and all your ancestral house?" [21]Saul replied, "But I am only a Benjaminite, from the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and my clan is the least of all the clans of the tribe[f] of Benjamin! Why do you say such things to me?"

[22]Samuel took Saul and his servant and brought them into the hall, and gave them a place at the head of the guests, who numbered about thirty. [23]And Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion which I gave you and told you to set aside." [24]The cook lifted up the thigh and [g]-what was on it,-[g] and set it before Saul. And [Samuel] said, [h]-"What has been reserved is set before you. Eat; it has been kept for you for this occasion, when I said I was inviting the people."-[h] So Saul ate with Samuel that day. [25]They then descended from the shrine to the town, and [i]-[Samuel] talked with Saul on the roof.

[26]Early, at-[i] the break of day, Samuel called to Saul on the roof. He said, "Get up, and I will send you off." Saul arose, and the two of them, Samuel and he, went outside. [27]As they were walking toward the end of the town, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to walk ahead of us"—and he walked ahead—"but you stop here a moment and I will make known to you the word of God."

about my son?' [3]You shall pass on from there until you come to the terebinth of Tabor. There you will be met by three men making a pilgrimage to God at Bethel. One will be carrying three kids, another will be carrying three loaves of bread, and the third will be carrying a jar of wine. [4]They will greet you and offer you two loaves of bread, which you shall accept. [5]After that, you are to go on to [d]the Hill[d] of God, where the Philistine prefects reside. There, as you enter the town, you will encounter a band of prophets coming down from the shrine, preceded by lyres, timbrels, flutes, and harps, and they will be [e]speaking in ecstasy.[e] [6]The spirit of the LORD will grip you, and you will speak in ecstasy along with them; you will become another man. Wait seven days until I come to you and instruct you what you are to do next."

[9]As [Saul] turned around to leave Samuel, God gave him another heart; and all those signs were fulfilled that same day. [10]And when they came there, to [d]the Hill,[d] he saw a band of prophets coming toward him. Thereupon the spirit of God gripped him, and he spoke in ecstasy among them. [11]When all who knew him previously saw him speaking in ecstasy together with the prophets, the people said to one another, "What's happened to [g]the son of Kish?[g] Is Saul too among the prophets?" [12]But another person there spoke up and said, "And who are their fathers?" Thus the proverb arose: "Is Saul too among the prophets?" [13]And when he stopped speaking in ecstasy, he entered the shrine.

14Saul's uncle asked him and his servant, "Where did you go?" "To look for the asses," he replied. "And when we saw that they were not to be found, we went to Samuel." 15"Tell me," said Saul's uncle, "what did Samuel say to you?" 16Saul answered his uncle, "He just told us that the asses had been found." But he did not tell him anything of what Samuel had said about the kingship.

17Samuel summoned the people to the LORD at Mizpah 18and said to them, "Thus said the LORD, the God of Israel: 'I brought Israel out of Egypt, and I delivered you from the hands of the Egyptians and of all the kingdoms that oppressed you.' 19But today you have rejected your God who delivered you from all your troubles and calamities. For you said, 'No,[h] set up a king over us!' Now station yourselves before the LORD, by your tribes and clans."

20Samuel brought forward each of the tribes of Israel, and the lot indicated the tribe of Benjamin. 21Then Samuel brought forward the tribe of Benjamin by its clans, and the clan of the Matrites was indicated; and then[i] Saul son of Kish was indicated. But when they looked for him, he was not to be found. 22They inquired of the LORD again, [j-]"Has anyone else come here?"[-j] And the LORD replied, "Yes; he is hiding among the baggage." 23So they ran over and brought him from there; and when he took his place among the people, he stood a head taller than all the people. 24And Samuel said to the people, "Do you see the one whom the LORD has chosen? There is none like him among all the people." And all the people acclaimed him, shouting, "Long live the king!"

Nahash the Ammonite marched up and besieged Jabesh-gilead. All the men of Jabesh-gilead said to Nahash, "Make a pact with us, and we will serve you." [2]But Nahash the Ammonite answered them, "I will make a pact with you on this condition, that everyone's right eye be gouged out; I will make this a humiliation for all Israel." [3]The elders of Jabesh said to him, "Give us seven days' respite, so that we may send messengers throughout the territory of Israel; if no one comes to our aid, we will surrender to you." [4]When the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul and gave this report in the hearing of the people, all the people broke into weeping.

[5]Saul was just coming from the field driving the cattle; and Saul asked, "Why are the people crying?" And they told him about the situation of the men of Jabesh. [6]When he heard these things, the spirit of God gripped Saul and his anger blazed up. [7]He took a yoke of oxen and cut them into pieces, which he sent by messengers throughout the territory of Israel, with the warning, "Thus shall be done to the cattle of anyone who does not follow Saul and Samuel into battle!" Terror from the LORD fell upon the people, and they came out as one man. [8][Saul] mustered them in Bezek, and the Israelites numbered 300,000, the men of Judah 30,000. [9]The messengers who had come were told, "Thus shall you speak to the men of Jabesh-gilead: Tomorrow, when the sun grows hot, you shall be saved." When the messengers came and told this to the men of Jabesh-gilead, they rejoiced. [10]The men of Jabesh then told [the Ammonites], "Tomorrow we will surrender to you, and you can do to us whatever you please."

[11]The next day, Saul divided the troops into three columns; at the morning watch they entered the camp and struck down the Ammonites until the day grew hot. The survivors scattered; no two were left together.

[12]The people then said to Samuel, "Who was it said, 'Shall Saul be king over us?' Hand the men over and we will put them to death!" [13]But Saul replied, "No man shall be put to death this day! For this day the LORD has brought victory to Israel."

[14]Samuel said to the people, "Come, let us go to Gilgal and there inaugurate the monarchy." [15]So all the people went to Gilgal, and there at Gilgal they declared Saul king before the LORD. They offered sacrifices of well-being there before the LORD; and Saul and all the men of Israel held a great celebration there.

v. 5 סבירין ומטעין לשון רבים

[14]"If you will revere the LORD, worship Him, and obey Him, and will not flout the LORD's command, if both you and the king who reigns over you will follow the LORD your God, [well and good]. [15]But if you do not obey the LORD and you flout the LORD's command, the hand of the LORD will strike you *[d]as it did your fathers.[d]*

[16]"Now stand by and see the marvelous thing that the LORD will do before your eyes. [17]It is the season of the wheat harvest.[g] I will pray to the LORD and He will send thunder and rain; then you will take thought and realize what a wicked thing you did in the sight of the LORD when you asked for a king."

[18]Samuel prayed to the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day, and the people stood in awe of the LORD and of Samuel. [19]The people all said to Samuel, "Intercede for your servants with the LORD your God that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins the wickedness of asking for a king." [20]But Samuel said to the people, "Have no fear. You have, indeed, done all those wicked things. Do not, however, turn away from the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart. [21]Do not turn away to follow worthless things, which can neither profit nor save but are worthless. [22]For the sake of His great name, the LORD will never abandon His people, seeing that the LORD undertook to make you His people.

[23]"As for me, far be it from me to sin against the LORD and refrain from praying for you; and I will continue to instruct you in the practice of what is good and right. [24]Above all, you must revere the LORD and serve Him faithfully with all your heart; and consider how grandly He has dealt with you. [25]For if you persist in your wrongdoing, both you and your king shall be swept away."

Saul was…[a] years old when he became king, and he reigned over Israel two years. [2]Saul picked 3,000 Israelites, of whom 2,000 were with Saul in Michmas[b] and in the hill country of Bethel, and 1,000 with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin; the rest of the troops he sent back to their homes. [3]Jonathan struck down the Philistine prefect in Geba;[c] and the Philistines heard about it. [d-]Saul had the ram's horn sounded throughout the land, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear."[-d]

[4]When all Israel heard that Saul had struck down the Philistine prefect, and that Israel had [e-]incurred the wrath of[-e] the Philistines, all the people rallied to Saul at Gilgal. [5]The Philistines, in turn, gathered to attack Israel: 30,000[f] chariots and 6,000 horsemen, and troops as numerous as the sands of the seashore. They marched up and encamped at Michmas, east of Beth-aven.

[6][d-]When the men of Israel saw that they were in trouble—for the troops were hard pressed—the people hid in caves, among thorns, among rocks, in tunnels, and in cisterns. [7]Some Hebrews crossed the Jordan, [to] the territory of Gad and Gilead. Saul was still at Gilgal, and the rest of the people rallied to him in alarm.[-d]

[8]He waited seven days, the time that Samuel [had set].[g] But when Samuel failed to come to Gilgal, and the people began to scatter, [9]Saul said, "Bring me the burnt offering and the sacrifice of well-being"; and he presented the burnt offering. [10]He had just finished presenting the burnt offering when Samuel arrived; and

Saul went out to meet him and welcome him. [11]But Samuel said, "What have you done?" Saul replied, "I saw the people leaving me and scattering; you had not come at the appointed time, and the Philistines had gathered at Michmas. [12]I thought the Philistines would march down against me at Gilgal before I had entreated the LORD, so I [d]forced myself[d] to present the burnt offering." [13]Samuel answered Saul, [h]"You acted foolishly in not keeping the commandments that the LORD your God laid upon you! Otherwise[h] the LORD would have established your dynasty over Israel forever. [14]But now your dynasty will not endure. The LORD will seek out a man after His own heart, and the LORD will appoint him ruler over His people, because you did not abide by what the LORD had commanded you."

[15] [i]Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal[i] to Gibeah[j] of Benjamin. Saul numbered the troops who remained with him—about 600 strong. [16]Saul and his son Jonathan, and the troops who remained with them, stayed in Geba of Benjamin, while the Philistines were encamped at Michmas. [17]The raiders came out of the Philistine camp in three columns: One column headed for the Ophrah road that leads to the district of Shual, [18]another column headed for the Beth-horon road, and the third column headed for the border[k] road that overlooks the valley of Zeboim toward the desert.

[19]No smith was to be found in all the land of Israel, for the Philistines were afraid that the Hebrews would make swords or spears. [20]So all the Israelites had to go down to the Philistines to have their plowshares, their mattocks, axes, and colters[l] sharpened. [21][m]The charge for sharpening was a pim[n] for plowshares, mattocks, three-pronged forks, and axes, and for setting the goads. 22 Thus on the day of the battle, no sword or spear was to be found in the possession of any of the troops with Saul and Jonathan; only Saul and Jonathan had them.

One day, Jonathan son of Saul said to the attendant who carried his arms, "Come, let us cross over to the Philistine garrison on the other side"; but he did not tell his father. 2 Now Saul was staying on the outskirts of Gibeah,[a] under the pomegranate tree at Migron, and the troops with him numbered about 600. 3 Ahijah son of Ahitub brother of Ichabod son of Phinehas son of Eli, the priest of the LORD at Shiloh, was there bearing an ephod.—The troops did not know that Jonathan had gone. 4 [b]-At the crossing-[b] by which Jonathan sought to reach the Philistine garrison, there was a rocky crag on one side, and another rocky crag on the other, the one called Bozez and the other Seneh. 5 One crag was located on the north, near Michmas, and the other on the south, near Geba.

6 Jonathan said to the attendant who carried his arms, "Come, let us cross over to the outpost of those uncircumcised fellows. Perhaps the LORD will act in our behalf, for nothing prevents the LORD from winning a victory by many or by few." 7 His arms-bearer answered him, "Do whatever [c]-you like. You go first,-[c] I am [d]-with you, whatever you decide."-[d] 8 Jonathan said, "We'll cross over to those men and let them see
